HASTINGS, July 10.— (Examiner Correspondence.) — Hastings nosed Baltimore out 5 to 4 for their eighth straight win in the Northumberland League on Wednesday afternoon before a fair-sized crowd. Hastings collected more safe hits than Baltimore but did not seem to be able to get hits when they meant runs. Baltimore got their four runs in the first four innings, getting two in the second, one in each of the third and fourth. Hastings opened up in their half of the fourth and got three runs on three hits, one a double, by the veteran Herrington.

Tie Count In 6th.

They tied the score in the sixth on G. Scriver's double, a stolen base and infield out. Going into the last half of the ninth the fans were looking for their first extra inning game of the year, but singles by Herrington, Gillespie and N. Scriver brought home the winning run. Hastings have only three more games to play. One of these is with Alderville next Wednesday, when a win will give them the Charles Rogers Cup.

TOURIST TRADE SHOWS INCREASE

HOPE FOR MILLION

Judging by the number of out-of-town cars, particularly those bearing U. S. license plates, seen about Peterborough streets these days, prophecies that "hard times" would materially diminish this year's tourist trade have not borne fruit to date.

From a quarter of a million dollars in 1925 to three-quarters of a million last year is the estimate of the revenue from tourist trade in this district, made by the local Chamber of Commerce. Hopes of a million-dollar harvest this year may yet be realized, it is believed.

Hundreds of letters pour into the Chamber of Commerce offices on George street bearing requests for all kinds of information and dated from all quarters of the globe. A business man of Cleveland, Ohio, wants a cabin on the Kawartha Lakes. He says: "My wife and I are planning on spending two weeks in your vicinity, and would appreciate having information on places where one can be oneself, not having to join a fashion parade."

A wholesaler of Bradford, Pa., has been speaking to an ex-Peterborough resident and wants to bring a party of 6 to enjoy the fishing here this month. A writer on the Toronto Star Weekly wants two canoes shipped from here to Kirkfield so that he can spend his holidays with friends paddling south to Peterborough through the Trent system.

A hurried New Yorker wires asking for "detailed information regarding hotels, lodges, and boarding houses located preferably directly on Kawartha or Simcoe lakes."

Road, rail, and water each supplies its individual share of local tourist and vacation traffic. By far the greatest numbers, the Chamber of Commerce states, come by road; but the quantity of those who come by water is more than compensated by the amount of money they spend. It is nothing, according to Frank Stinson, secretary of the Chamber, for a yachting party to tie up at the George street wharf for a day or two and spend anything up to five or six hundred dollars here before pulling out. A couple of fur coats and 400 gallons of gasoline were among the purchases of one party, Mr. Stinson remembers.

Plans are being made for converting the famous Maisons Laffite race track, in France, into an international passenger aviation field.

WALKED TO TORONTO TO OBTAIN DEED FOR LAND 100 YEARS AGO

John Nugent Recalls One of the Memories of Early Days in Victoria.

BORN IN 1849

From the farm in Ops, near Reaboro, which he himself had cleared and on which he had built his own farmhouse, the father of one of this city's oldest and most respected citizens, a hundred years ago walked all the way to Toronto and back to obtain the patent deed for his land. John Nugent, retired business man, residing at 555 Water Street, recalling for The Examiner some of his memories of earlier days in Peterborough and Victoria Counties, pointed with pride to the fact that the deed which his father had obtained still remained in the family, his sister and her husband still running the farm.

John Nugent was born on the farm in 1849. On January 18 of this year he celebrated his 81st birthday.

He served his apprenticeship in Fenelon Falls, where he remained 8 years. After returning for two years to Lindsay, to which place his father had by then retired, Mr. Nugent came to Peterborough, founding in 1885 the drug business on George Street which he carried on for more than a quarter of a century.

At the age of five years Mr. Nugent's father came from County Cavan, Ireland, of which county his mother was also a native.

The gradual shortening of distances was one of the things which had struck Mr. Nugent most during his lifetime. "It used to take me four hours to cover the distance between Lindsay and Peterborough," he stated, "though I had a good horse." After a moment's thought he added: "But I never trotted him up or down hill."

Mr. Nugent's father and grandfather had been elders in the Presbyterian church, and he himself was baptized in that church. After attending the Methodist Sunday school as a child in Lindsay, however, he had joined the Methodist church. He has been a member of George street United church for many years.

UNCLE WIGGILY'S WONDERFUL RIDE

(By Howard R. Garis)

"Don't be silly" squeaked Nurse Jane Fuzzy Wuzzy to Uncle Wiggily as the old rabbit gentleman was hopping out of his hollow stump bungalow one morning to go adventuring. "Don't be silly"

"What do you mean silly?" asked Mr. Longears.

"See how the sun is shining!" went on the muskrat lady housekeeper, and yet you are taking an umbrella! Silly!" she laughed showing all her teeth.

"But I might need the umbrella," said Uncle Wiggily. "It might rain!"

"It will not rain whether you carry an umbrella or not," spoke Miss Fuzzy Wuzzy with a laugh. "You don't suppose, do you, that the rain will stop falling just because you have an umbrella? Silly!"

"No, I don't suppose that," Mr. Longears answered. "But if I have an umbrella and it rains I will not get wet, as I would if I didn't have an umbrella. So I'm going to take it with me as I go looking for some adventures."

"All right, as you please!" squeaked Nurse Jane. "But it looks silly carrying an umbrella when the sun shines."

"It doesn't look half as silly as it does to see an old rabbit like me hopping through the rain getting all wet because he has no umbrella," spoke Mr. Longears.

"Check!" exclaimed Baby Bunty, who was hopping out to play lollypop tag with Jackie Bow Wow. To play this game you must have a lollypop and when you are "it" you have to let your chum hold your lollypop while you try to tag somebody else. And if you get back any of your lollypop back you are lucky.

Uncle Wiggily, with his umbrella, hopped over the fields and through the woods until he came to a large open green meadow where the white daisies and yellow buttercup flowers were growing. All of a sudden, in the air over his head, Uncle Wiggily heard a loud, throbbing sound.

"Maybe something is the matter with its engine!"

"That must be a big bumble bee buzzing," thought the rabbit. But when he looked up he saw a shadow moving over the grass and it was such a large shadow that the rabbit gentleman knew at once it could not have been made by a bumble bee. Then Uncle Wiggily took another look and he saw what had caused the loud, throbbing, buzzing sound.

"An aeroplane! Oh, it's an aeroplane!" cried the rabbit gentleman, so excited that his pink nose twinkled upside down. "And I believe it is going to land in this field!" went on Mr. Longears.

Eagerly he watched the aeroplane zooming overhead. Uncle Wiggily knew something about airships, once having had one of his own. True, it was but an old clothes basket, with top circus balloons tied fast to make it go up, and an electric fan for a propeller. But Uncle Wiggily had many adventures in it.

"Yes, that aviator is coming down right in this field where I am!" said Uncle Wiggily, speaking to a black cricket gentleman who was hopping around in the grass.

"Forced landing, very likely," chirped the cricket.

"Looks so," agreed Uncle Wiggily.

"Do you s'pose that can be Lindy?" asked the cricket, for he and others living in Woodland near Uncle Wiggily's bungalow often heard news of Colonel Lindbergh over the radio.

"No, I hardly think that is Lindy," said the rabbit gentleman. "There'd be a big crowd out here if he were going to land. I think that must be one of the mail pilots. Maybe something is the matter with the engine and he has to land to fix it."

"I hope he doesn't land on me!" chirped the cricket.

"And I don't want him on me," cried Uncle Wiggily. "We'd better get over to the edge of the field." Carrying his umbrella, Uncle Wiggily hopped to the edge of the field. The cricket came after him, but the bunny could take longer hops and soon had left the cricket behind.

With a swoop and a swish and a bump, the areoplane, with a real man pilot in it, made a fine three-point landing in the field, not far from where the rabbit was hiding. Uncle Wiggily saw the pilot get out and do something to his motor and propeller.

"Maybe a piece of cloud caught on the propeller blades," thought the rabbit. He hopped toward the back of the plane, near the tail skid and the rudders. And then, feeling very bold and wanting to see more, Uncle Wiggily hopped right up on the tail of the aeroplane. No sooner had he done so than, all of a sudden, the pilot climbed back in the cockpit, and before Uncle Wiggily could jump off, up and away started the plane, for the pilot had only slowed down his motor and had not stalled it altogether.

"Oh, I'm having a wonderful ride!" cried Uncle Wiggily as he went up in the air, higher and higher, faster and faster. The rabbit gentleman held tightly to his umbrella.

TARZAN OF THE APES No. 7 (Metropolitan Newspaper Feature Service, Inc.) By Edgar Rice Burroughs

They soon realized they could hope for no safety or peace of mind until four strong walls effectually barred the jungle life from them. Next morning, after their meager breakfast, Lord Greystoke commenced work on their house. The task was an arduous one, though he built but one small room.

Two months after, they were well settled and, but for the constant dread of attack by wild beasts and the ever-increasing loneliness, they were not uncomfortable or unhappy. At night great beasts snarled and roared around their tiny cabin, but they soon became accustomed to these oft-repeated, weird noises.

Thrice had they caught fleeting glimpses of great man-like figures, but never at sufficiently close range to know whether these forms were men or brutes. One afternoon while Greystoke was working with an addition to their cabin, a number of little frightened monkeys came shrieking and scolding through the trees.

Even as they fled, they cast fearful glances back of them and finally they stopped near Greystoke, jabbering excitedly as if to warn him of approaching danger. At last he saw it—the thing the little monkeys so feared—the horrible man-brute of which the Greystokes had caught occasional fleeting glimpses.

It was approaching through the jungle—a great anthropoid ape—and as it advanced it emitted deep guttural growls and an occasional low barking sound. Greystoke, who was at some distance from the cabin, was armed only with an axe, and the ferocious monster had cut him off from escape to his retreat.

Jabs and Jottings as Picked Up by an Examiner Reporter

NO REST FOR THE—.

The scarcity of conflagrations during recent weeks does not mean that the boys at the Fire Hall get a chance to catch up with their sleep. The greater part of yesterday, for example, was spent in testing the fire hose. Strenuous pumping and hauling is required for this operation. When new, the hose will stand a pressure of 400 pounds, but thereafter they are not subjected to a test of more than 150 pounds.

ALONE AND LOST

No stone cherubs adorn the exterior of our Public Library, but a flesh and blood one did this afternoon as The Examiner's errant reporter passed. Behind the big brick column at the front entrance stood in classic pose a flesh and blood cherub, dirty faced, chubby, and in a yellow-striped bathing suit. Far from water, he had evidently set himself to follow the sun-tan vogue.

The errant reporter suggested recourse to the city's supervised playgrounds, but the only answer he received was a dull squawk from the cherub's carnival horn. No supervised cherub he—perhaps a flash-back to ancient Hellas, despite the fact that his bathing suit was several sizes too large.

INTRODUCING POLITICS

Mrs. F. S. Greenwood, Liberal candidate for Lincoln County in the forthcoming general elections, will be the principal speaker at a garden party to be held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. J. Duffus on Monday, July 14. Mrs Greenwood will speak following the refreshments, which will be served from 5.30 to 7.30.

Owing to the unusual demand for speakers throughout the country, a series of exchanges is being arranged. Under this system, Mr. Duffus will speak at St. Catharines in the interest of Mrs. Greenwood's candidacy, on the evening of Saturday, July 19.

Y.M.C.A. CORNER FIXED UP

R. G. Kneller, professional horticulturist and landscape gardener, who recently appealed for employment through the columns of The Examiner, has, it is learned, received several offers from local concerns to give estimates for garden lay-outs and improvement work.

Already Mr. Kneller's skill has had marked effect on the south-west corner of Murray and George streets, on the Y.M.C.A. property, which is now a little beauty spot in place of the former bare patch of land caused by pedestrians cutting the corner at this point.

Would Place Benches On Harwood Wharf

Mrs. P. J. Corkery Hostess to Members of Women's Institute.

HARWOOD, July 10—Mrs. P. J. Corkery was hostess to the members of the Women's Institute for the July meeting. The president, Mrs. R. E. Drope presided for the meeting and the roll call was answered by my favorite vegetable and how to prepare it. Correspondence was read from Mr. Smith concerning the coaching class for girls which is to be held in Cook's Hall on July 16. Letters were also received from members to whom fruit was sent.

Mrs. W O. Havie and Mrs. G. U. Isaac were appointed to find the cost of swings for the park and Mrs. R. E. Drope and Miss Lillian McFarland were appointed to find the cost of benches for the wharf.

Miss Leita Payne gave a very interesting paper entitled, "Keeping out of ruts," Mrs. W. O. Havie read a reading entitled, "A successful failure," and a contest was given by Miss Helen Robson and Mrs. Al Lawton gave a reading entitled "Examination Time."

A dainty lunch was served by the hostess and her daughter at the close of the meeting. The August meeting will be held at the summer home of Mrs. T. F. Summerhayes.

Resigns Post

Hon. E. G. Theodore, former Premier of the State of Queensland, Australia, and at present Treasurer of the Federal Government, has resigned, following the report of the Royal Commission which inquired into the $5,000,000 loss involved by the State through purchasing the Mungana Mines.

RILEY-GIROUX NUPTIALS

An ideal warm summer sun furnished a pretty setting today for the wedding of two well-known young people of the city, when the marriage took place at eight o'clock this morning at St. Peter's Cathedral, of Florence Meta, youngest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George H. Giroux, Stewart street, to Edward Frances Riley of the Men's Wear firm of Riley and Hickey, and youngest son of Mrs. Mary Riley of Hunter street west and the late Hugh Riley.

The ceremony, which was performed by the rector of the Cathedral, the Rev. Paul Costello, took place in the presence of a large number of the friends of the bride and bridegroom.

The bride entered the church on the arm of her father, to the strains of the wedding march played by Miss Lillian Hurley.

The bride's dress was a striking French creation of point d'esprit lace and tulle in the pale yellowish green color that is named Chartreuse. The entire gown, posed over a slip of the same color, and touching the ground on all sides, was of lace. A circular flounce of tule commenced at the knees, foaming over satin slippers in the same soft shade of green, with eggshell silk hose. The frock, made in sleeveless style with rounded neckline, had a narrow belt finished in front with a small rhinestone buckle. A short casino jacket in bolero style with long sleeves, was of the same lace and was finished at the back collar line with a lace bow. At the top of the flounce of tulle, at the left side of the frock, was a double motif in contrasting colors; two flat taffeta roses, one orchid, the other pale rose, with long green leaves. A hat of rounded shape, with rolling brim, was of chartreuse mohair trimmed simply with a crown band of matching ribbon that was caught on the lower side of the right brim in a large bow. Short gloves of eggshell suede were worn and a harmonizing note with the entire costume was a necklet of pearl beads tinted in chartreuse, orchid and pale rose, to match the colors in gown and accessories. The bride's bouquet was of Madam Butterfly roses and maidenhair fern, tied with pink and white tulle.

The bridesmaid, Miss Irene Perras of Montreal, was in an ensemble of rose beige Irish lace. The gown, made longer in the back, with double tiers on the skirt, was sleeveless, and had a jacqueline of lace with long sleeves. A hat of natural mohair was trimmed with real lace. Crepe pumps, silk hose and suede gloves were of matching rose beige tones. Miss Perras wore a necklace of silver links and colored beads and carried a bouquet of Briarcliff roses.

Butler A. Hickey acted as best man.

During the progress of the Nuptial Mass, Mrs. L. A. Picard of Lansing, Michigan, sang Roswig's Ave Maria and several other hymns. Mrs. Picard wore a dress of Independence blue crepe romain trimmed with cream lace, a small blue hat of baku straw, blue shoes and platinum hose and platinum fox fur scarf.

After the ceremony, a dainty wedding breakfast, catered for by Messrs. Hooper and Son, was served at the home of the bride's parents to the immediate relatives. The table was centered by a large silver flower holder filled with pink roses and flanked by silver candles. The brides' cade was on a side table.

Later, Mr. Riley and his bride left by motor on a honeymoon trip to visit the latter's sister and brother-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Pelton, in Hampton Springs, Florida. On their return, they will reside at the Crown Apartments, Water street.

The bride's travelling costume was of midnight blue crepe, made in two-piece ensemble style. The collar and cuffs of the coat were trimmed with bisque colored georgette edged with Venetian lace. A close-fitting hat of navy taffeta was worn. Bisque kid shoes trimmed with inserts, matching hose, eggshell suede gloves, navy kid purse and fur scarf of cinnamon fox, completed a very smart outfit.

WEDDING BELLS

COOLING—MULLETT.

At St. Simon's Church, Toronto, a very pretty wedding took place when Miss Mae Marguerite Mullett, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Mullett, was married to Mr. John Herbert Cooling, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Cooling of Bond Street, London, England. Rev. F. H. Brewin officiated. The church was beautifully decorated with pink snapdragons, delphiniums, Easter lilies and pink roses. The wedding music was played by the church organist, Mr. Shaw. During the signing of the register a violin solo was played by Miss Gladys McCarthy.

The bride, who was given in marriage by her father, wore a white chiffon gown with long tight sleeves. In front a short coat effect formed a bodice, and in the back long tabs of chiffon were caught at the hip line. The skirt was very long and fell softly from a straight line about the hips to a full flowing line at the hem. Her hat was of white mohair, brimless across the forehead but folded back from her face on the sides and drooping over her shoulders. Her bouquet was of white roses, orchids and lily-of-the-valley. Her only attendant was her sister, Miss Anna Mullett, gowned in periwinkle blue chiffon, with inset bands of blue lace. Her dress was cut on long fitted lines with a soft flare at the hem, which was repeated in the Bertha-like cape. She wore a large mohair hat of the same shade, with a spray of blue gardenias on the right brim, and her shoes matched her frock. Her bouquet was of blue corn flowers and briarcliff roses.

The groom was attended by Mr. Gregory Merritt as best man, and the ushers were Mr. Walter M. Harris and Mr. Tony Brett.

A reception was held at the home of the bride's parents, when the bride's mother assisted in receiving, wearing a gown of beige chiffon with a short coat caught in front by a soft bow at the hip line. Her corsage bouquet was of Talisman roses and lily-of-the-valley. Her hat was of beige mohair and her shoes of matching shade.

Later the bride and groom left on a trip which will end at New York, from where they will sail on July 12 for their home in London. The bride's travelling costume was an ensemble, the frock of printed silk in blues, greens and reds, and the coat of Rodier material in red, lined with the same print as her frock. Her hat was of navy blue bangkok straw.

Mr. and Mrs. Mullett and daughters were former residents of Peterborough, and among the guests were their friends, Mr. and Mrs. A. Al Fowler of this city.

Commencing the program Howard Baker of Lindsay sang a solo unaccompanied.

Hon. Charles McCrea.

The Hon. Charles McCrea told of the increasing production of Ontario mines, thus adding directly to the wealth of the province by providing the metals necessary to commerce locally instead of having to send out of the country for them. It was the desire of the Government, said the speaker, "to see that everying possible was done to promote industry and see that the roads to prosperity were kept open." He detailed some of the things which have been done to that end, the bounty on iron ore to encourage the iron industry, the exploration of the new coal fields, the establishment of the Research Foundation, the building of a railroad into the James Bay district, the securing of electric power for further work in the mines in the north, and other activities all tending towards the development of the province.

W. W. Staples.

"I think these community picnics are a splendid idea," said Mr. Staples in his address, in which he exemplified the idea of friendships and unity being necessary for successful life. He urged that it was vitally necessary for this broader understanding and sympathy between all classes of citizens, and he reminded his hearers that no man was able to live within himself, but rather by co-operation with his neighbors.

Angus Twomey sang a solo. A dance followed the program, with Jakin's Orchestra of Lindsay supplying the music.

IN MEMORIAM.

WEAVER.— In loving memory of our dear mother, Mrs. Thomas Weaver, who departed this life July 10, 1922:

It's just eight years, how quick time flies,
Love's sweetest memory never dies,
We miss her help, her cheery ways,
With her we spent our happy days,
We miss her when we need a friend,
On her we always could depend.
She cheered our lives, she soothed our pain,
God grant some day we will meet again.

Troops Stand By as Bombay Riots Grow

60 VOLUNTEERS HURT IN CHARGE BY CONSTABLES

Bombay Congress Committee President Injured Leading Marchers.

POLICE EXTEND LINES.

Volunteers Continue to Swarm in Upon Maidan Esplanade.

BOMBAY, India, July 11. (C. P.) — Disorders of a serious nature broke out along the Maidan Esplanade this evening in which 60 civil disobedience volunteers were injured when the police forcibly broke up a demonstration in sympathy with soldiers imprisoned for offences in Peshawar.

Troops Stand By.

The Nationalist demonstrators thronged into the Esplanade from every direction by a pre-arranged movement. The demonstration had been forbidden by the authorities and large forces of native police and militia were on guard. British troops waited near the scene in case the riots got out of the hands of the police.

At six o'clock this evening the Gandhi followers still were arriving in the Maidan and preparations were made to extend the zone of policing.

The procession, which included 50 Sikh volunteers, was stopped by the police at the edge of the esplanade and ordered to disperse. As usual the marchers refused. The police charged. With their staves they knocked down great numbers of the volunteers. Many were taken to hospitals. Some simply sat on the street and refused to budge.

BATTERY STATION IS SCENE OF FIRE

DAMAGE NOT HEAVY.

A firse which broke out in the Battery Service Station at 184 Charlotte street early this morning called out all local fire apparatus shortly after one o'clock and kept firemen busy for an hour and a half before all danger was reported past. Two lines of hose were used.

The Service Station is located in the upper storey of a two-storey metal-veneered frame building owned by Louis Yeotes, of which the ground floor is tenanted by a shooting gallery and the Britannia Candy Shop. The blaze is believed to have originated in the west end of the structure but the exact cause is not known. The damage is reported as comparatively slight.

Despite the fact that paving operations are in full swing directly in front of the premises, the work of the firemen was not hampered to any appreciable extent. A considerable crow gathered.

Louis Yeotes reports that he spent $2,000 in renovating the shooting gallery last fall. No insurance is carried on the building, although much of the equipment is covered.

W. R. Wearham, of Dulwich, England, has just invented a portable piano player.

Wily Police Seize Camouflaged Wine

WINDSOR, Ont., July 11. (C.P.) A truck load of well disguised Quebec Commission liquor valued by the police at $10,000 was seized by Provincial Officers here early this morning. Four men were arrested. They gave their names R. V. Lackner, Norman Dickie, Charles M. Kaplan and Charles M. Monceri. The first two claim Riverside, Ont., as their home and the others, Detroit. Bail was set at $2,000 each.

The truck was loaded with 150 boxes of various sizes bearing the names of prominent manufacturers of Toronto. When opened they were found to be filled to the brim with liquor.

Spiritualists Believe Sir Conan Doyle May Appear at Memorial Service Sunday

LONDON, England, July 11 (Canadian Press). — Spiritualists have set the stage for Sir Arthur Conan Doyle's re-appearance before them during a memorial service to be held on Sunday at Albert Hall.

The author's favorite chair will occupy the centre of the platform, to the lay eye empty, but to devotees occupied by the spirit of the man who created Sherlock Holmes, and who died on Monday.

Lady Doyle, his widow, will sit at the left side of the chair, a place she always occupied during her husband's public lectures. She was said to-day to regard this as the last public demonstration that she would attend with him.

SCULLIN IS MEETING TROUBLE ON CENTRAL RESERVE BANK BILL

Outcome of New Measure Would Mean State Control of Currency.

BANKERS OPPOSED.

CANBERRA, Australia, July 11. — (C. P. Cable Via Reuters.)—The troubled state of Australia's finances became the immediate problem for consideration in Government and political circles to-day. Prime Minister James Henry Scullin announced that all questions of Australia's financing in London will be left in abeyance pending discussions with Sir Otto Niemeyer, leading financial expert.

Gov't Fighting Senate.

The Government is having a fight with the Senate over passage of the bill for establishment of a Central Reserve Bank. If the Senate does not pass the bill during the present session of parliament, which ends in August, the government will regard such attitude as tantamount to rejection of the bill, which it would then submit for a second time to the House of Represetnatives early next year.

The Senate yesterday decided to refer the bill to a select committee with instructions to report within a month, a course of action it had never followed before with similar bills. Senator Daly, vice-president of the Executive Council, announced the Government does not accept the Senate's amendment as a genuine offer of assistance, and the Government has consequently withdrawn Labor Senators from the select committee. As a result of this move, Major-General Sir Thomas Glasgow, Senator, declares the Labor men will be replaced with Senators of the Nationalist Party.

Means State Control.

The bill in question authorizes the establishment of a Central Reserve Bank, apart from the Commonwealth Bank, on lines similar to those of the South African Central Reserve Bank. The new bank is to have nine directors, appointed by the Governor-General, and under the bill would have extremely wide powers, including the right to issue currency, make loans and advances, buy and sell bills of exchange, and generally would mean State control of currency.

On this account it has aroused considerable opposition from bankers and members of the former Bruce administration.

DRIVERS ABANDON HUNT FOR BODIES

BLASTS PROVE FUTILE.

BROCKVILLE, Ont., July 11. — (C.P.)—After having made every effort to bring about the recovery of further bodies following the loss of the drill boat J. B. King at Cockburn Island, near here, on June 26 with a loss of 30 lives, divers gave up the work last night and operations were suspended. In the course of their work, the hull of the drill boat was thoroughly explored, as well as adjoining waters, in which yesterday 1,800 pounds of dynamite were exploded without anything coming to the surface except timbers from the wreck and a few articles of clothing. Seventeen bodies are still missing and municipalities lying to the east of Brockville along the shores of the St. Lawrence are being asked to keep close watch for any remains which may rise and float down stream. Capt. T. D. Caldwell, representing the Department of Public Works, is remaining here for several days in order to direct this search and to settle compensation with the families of the victims.

An automatic straw press with self-binding apparatus has been introduced in Germany.

Carstairs Speedster Makes 80 in Test

GRAVENHURST, Ont., July 11. (C.P.)—A speed of 80 miles an hour was attained by Miss Marian Carstairs, British boat enthusiast in trial with her "Estelle IV" on Lake Muskoka here yesterday. Miss Carstairs thinks she can get 90 miles an hour from the boat which she is entering in the Harmsworth trophy races next week at Detroit, Mich.

FOUR AFFIDAVITS ARE SWORN OUT

Injunction Against Paving Company to be Heard Saturday Morning.

ALLEGE NUISANCE.

Following the writ and notice of motion for injunction to restrain the Warren Bituminous Paving Company from causing or permitting smoke, dust and noxious fumes and gases to escape from their paving plant on the west side of the Otonabee River in this city, issued by J. W. Kenmure of 251 Engleburn Avenue through his solicitor, J. A. O'Brien yesterday, affidavits were also sworn out by Ernest Lillico, 227 Engleburn Avenue; Arthur Stanley Couper, 247 Engleburn Avenue; Allis Ann O'Brien, 245 Engleburn Avenue, and Mary Edwards, 7 Engleburn Place.

In effect all the affidavits complain of the alleged excessive and unreasonable amount of smoke, dust and noxious fumes and gases from the Warren Company's plant, which is so bad as to make the complainants' residences undesirable for habitation.

They all find it impossible, they state, to use their verandahs both on the west and east side of the house. It is also claimed that it is impossible to hang out washing by reason of the excessive dust and smoke. Noise is also complained of, and it is the belief of the complainants that there is available in other positions of the City of Peterborough a site upon which the said plant and machinery might be operated without causing the serious inconvenience and annoyance that it does as now operated.

Company Doing Its Best.

"There is not much we can do, beyond what we have already done to operate with the minimum amount of inconvenience to the residents of this city," said C. E. Rice, the Warren Company's local superintendent, when seen by The Examiner this morning," although, he also added, "we commenced to burn coke at seven o'clock this morning in place of coal, which has had the effect of cutting down the smoke some. On or about Tuesday next, he said the plant will be suspending operations for about three weeks, as by that time the paving will have been completed on Charlotte Street, and they will then move into East City, where there is considerable grading and concreting to be done before we commence paving operations again."

Mr. Rice thought possibly one of the company's officials will come from Toronto to be present at the hearing of the motion which comes before His Honor Judge E. C. S. Huycke at 11 a.m. to-morrow in the Judge's Chambers.

FRENCH NAVAL OFFERS MAY BE INSUFFICIENT

ROME, Italy, July 11 (Canadian Press). — Doubt was expressed in some circles to-day that France, in announcing that no new naval vessels would be begun within the next six months, has gone far enough to match Italian offers of indefinite suspension of the 1930 building program.

The French move ,announced by Foreign Minister Aristide Briand before the Foreign Relations Committee of the Chamber of Deputies, was regarded generally as insufficient answer to Foreign Minister Grandi's more sweeping proposals.

FREIGHTER SINKS IN LAKE SUPERIOR AFTER COLLISION

20 SAILORS RESCUED.

Montreal Bound Grain Vessel Struck in Heavy Fog Last Night.

SAULT STE. MARIE, Ont., July 11 (Canadian Press). — The steamer Yorkton, of the Matthews Line, was sunk off Whitefish Point last night at 10.30 o'clock in a collision with the steamer Mantadoc of the Patterson Line, which was proceeding to the lake head with coal.

Towed to Beach.

The Yorkton, down-bound with grain, was so badly damaged when hit abreast of the engine room that she sank after being towed to the beach inside the point by the Mantadoc. The crew of the Yorkton was taken aboard the Mantadoc, which limped into port here this morning and tied up at the Algoma Steel Company's dock. She is in a badly damaged condition.

After landing at the steel plant dock, the members of the Yorkton's crew went to a hotel, awaiting word of the owners as to their movements.

It is expected that they will leave the city this afternoon for the East.

"It was just a bit of hard luck," a member of the crew said this morning. "We got quite a wallop, and she sank of course. We can't talk about it."

Struck in Fog.

First Mate E. C. McConnell, of Kingston, declared he was asleep when the vessels collided, but that there was quite a fog.

The Yorkton was hard hit, he said, and didn't float long.

She now lies half a mile from the beach in 45 feet of water.

She was bound for Montreal with grain. There were 20 aboard the Yorkton, including one woman.

The crew: Captain F. M. Burmaster, Collingwood, Mr. and Mrs. Beckett, Verdun; E. C. McConnell, Geo. Farrell, Harry Gee, Kingston, John Dickson, Toronto, Gordon Vanstone, L. H. Warner, B. Furlong, Goderich, Fred Wisner, Chesley, S. Leagult, Montreal, Charles Lott, Toronto, Jack Dickey, Robert Burgess, Collingwood, William Evans, F. Furlong, James Grand, J. M. Karrie, S. H. Bay, all of Montreal.

The Yorkton, a canal size freighter, was built in 1911 for the Matthews Steamship Company by the Sunderland Ship Co., of steel construction. She was 256 feet in length, over all had a beam of 24 feet 8 inches, a draft of 14 feet, and a moulded depth of 18 feet 6 inches.

Her net tonnage was 1,771 and she could carry about 80,000 bushels of grain.

Her last visit to Toronto was June 25, when she brought in 80,000 bushels of wheat to the Toronto elevator.

AUSSIE PLAYER SETS NEW MARK

HAS TWO CENTURIES.

LEEDS, Eng., July 11 (Canadian Press Cable).—In a tremendous batting effort in the third cricket Test Match between England and Australia to-day, Don Bradman, youthful Aussie player, put up the highest score ever made by a batsman in international cricket. He scored 304 not out; thereby beating the best previous mark of 287 made by R. E. Foster, for England, at Sydney, in 1903. Other records by Bradman were: a century before lunch, equalling the record of C. G. McCartney of Australia, and two double hundreds in consecutive Tests, equalling scores made by Wally Hammond, the English player, in Australia in 1928-28. Bradman, with A. F. Kippax, put up new figures for a third wicket stand, beating the 207 of W. L. Murdoch and H. L. Scott, Australians, at the Kennington Ovel in 1884.

Australia to-day scored 458 for the loss of three wickets. Batsmen out are: Archie Jackson, 1; W. M. Woodfull, 50; and A. F. Kippax, 77. The match which will be continued to-morrow, will last for four days.

Wheat in Otonabee Sets Fine Example

A record beating sample of fall wheat came to the notice of The Examiner yesterday, through the kindness of Harry L. Finnie of George Street, this city, who had procured the specimen from the farm of R. H. Harrison of Otonabee Township.

Measuring a good six feet from root to head, the ears are well-filled and have almost reached maturity. It is understood that Mr. Harrison has five or six acres of fall wheat in this far-advanced and satisfactory condition.

OPINIONS VARY ON RESULT OF NORFOLK VOTE

Morning Post Claims Labor Success is Victory For Feudalism.

HEADQUARTERS TO BLAME.

Lord Rothermere, Elated, Claims It Is Great Triumph For Beaverbrook.

LONDON, Eng., July 11 (C.P. Cable).—Newspapers are drawing all sorts of conclusion, depending on their political leanings, from the North Norfolk by-election, the result of which yesterday showed Labor retaining the seat with a much smaller majority. It is generally recognized, however, that the name of Buxton carries enormous weight in the division. Rt. Hon. Noel Buxton, elected Labor member in 1929 by a majority of 1,883, was afterwards Minister of Agriculture, and the division is almost wholly agricultural. He was elevated to the Peerage and in his place Lady Buxton was elected yesterday with a majority of 179 over T. A. Cook, Conservative.

Feudalism Triumph

"Lady Buxton's success is a victory not for Socialism but for Feudalism, which is still strong in that medieval and wholly delightful corner of England," declared The Morning Post. The strongly Conservative Post remarks Lord Beaverbrook's campaign that Empire Free Trade is rather an aspiration than a policy. "The Norfolk farmer took it to mean protection of East Anglian wheat, and doubtless the Canadian farmer would take it to mean free entry for Canadian wheat." The Post says.

Lord Beaverbrook's own Daily Express delves away back into the political history of the constituency to find the reason for the Conservative candidate's defeat, and emerges with the opinion that the official cold-shouldering of the candidate by the Conservative Party headquarters was responsible.

Victory for Beaverbrook

Lord Rothermere, however, is greatly elated, regarding the result of the election as a wonderful triumph for Lord Beaverbrook, his erstwhile partner in the short-lived United Empire party. Many people were frankly bewildered to-day to read an interview in which Lord Rothermere went out of his way to express his admiration for Lord Beaverbrook. "Lord Beaverbrook is the only possible leader of the Conservatives," he declared, and he suggests he should be proclaimed such at an early date.

ADVISE EMPIRE TRADE FREED FROM POLITICS

LONDON, England, July 11 (Canadian Press). — "The problem of devising an economic policy for the Empire should be studied in a scientific spirit, and in an atmosphere free from all political bias." This is the flat dictum pronounced by a British committee preparing for the Imperial Conference of the autumn. The committee is composed of representatives of the Association of British Chambers of Commerce, the Federation of British Industries, and the Chamber of Shipping of the United Kingdom.

In its report to the Government the committee's main recommendation is that Empire trade should be "taken out of politics."

ITALIAN HANGS IN MONTREAL.

Because he had been playing poor cricket, Reginald A. Taylor, 16, hanged himself recently at Lincoln, England.

PRESIDENT OF KIWANIS CLUB OUTLINES CONVENTION DOINGS

THREE DELEGATES.

A wonderfully complete and entertaining resume of the International Kiwanis Convention recently concluded at Atlantic City was given to members of the local Kiwanis Club at its luncheon to-day at the Empress Hotel by their president, Carl S. Browne, who interspersed his address with a fund of humorous and witty recollections of the trip which was undertaken by him in company with I. P. McNabb, and John I. Allen.

The luncheon was presided over by Harry Boyle, vice-president.

Describing the journey to Atlantic City which was undertaken by automobile, the president said they crossed to the American side from Brockville and found that the Americans would not accept Canadian money, although when their party reached Atlantic City they found they could get rid of any kind of money—even Chinese.

Given Big Welcome

Arriving at the convention city, they were all greatly impressed with the tremendous preparations which had been made, which were apparent as soon as programs were placed in their hands. On Monday June 30th, the opening day of the convention, addresses of welcome occupied the major portion of the morning's proceedings. "The Atlantic City Kiwanians welcomed us with open arms" humorously observed Mr. Brown. "while the rest of the citizens welcomed us with open hands."

"We were able to buy the Toronto morning papers for 17c a copy."

The first important item on the program was a report of the years' work by the International secretary

TWO MINERS DIE IN SHAFT BLAZE

$1,000,000 DAMAGE.

LEAD, S. D., July 11.—(C.P.) — Two minesr were killed in a fire that destroyed three buildings at the Homestake gold mine last night.

Scotty Eastman and Sidney Wellman were the miners killed. They were trapped in the elevator cage when the engineer at the top of the shaft had to run from the flames.

The damage to the Homestake mines was upwards of $1,000,000. The mine, in the Northern Black Hills, is the largest producer of gold in the United States.

The buildings destroyed were the Ellison hoist, at the top of the largest shaft, the pressure room and the dry room, where the miners change their clothes.

Titleholder Loses In First Round of Ontario Golf Play

Don Carrick, Former Provincial and Canadian Champion, Wins From Jack Cameron 4 and 6 in a Struggle That Was Determined in First Nine Holes.

Scarboro Golf Club, Toronto, July 11. — (C.P.) — A startling upset occurred in the first round of the amateur golf championship this morning when the titleholder and winner of the medal qualifying round C. Ross Somerville, of the London, Ont., Hunt Club, was defeated in the first round by George Boeckh of Toronto. The match concluded on the 18th green with Boeckh one up. Somerville won the medal round with a score of 72, equalling par, yesterday, while Boeckh was sixth among the qualifiers with 76.

The first of the championship matches to finish in the Ontario Amateur Golf Tournament to-day was that in which Phil Farley, of Toronto, defeated T. L. E. Everitt, of Rouge Hills, 7 and 6. Farley shot a particularly hot brand of golf. He was one over par on the two par-three holes in the first nine but played the other seven according to par and was six up at the turn. Coming in the last the tenth where he took a seven but he then won the next two to terminate the engagement. They played out the round and Farley ended up with a strong of five threes, the last four being birdies.

Don Carrick Victor

Don Carrick, of Toronto, former Provincial and Canadian champion, accounted for Jack Cameron of Mississauga, Toronto, finalist in 1928, by a 4 and 6 margin. The struggle was determined on the first nine holes, Carrick won the first and then dropped the second and after the next three had been halved the Scarboro player won four in a row to make the turn four up, the tenth and eleventh were halved and then Cameron won the twelfth. The thirteenth was a half, but Carrick won the fourteenth to become dormie, and the fifteenth was halved to end the engagement.

Cameron blew up badly on the last three holes of the first nine, taking sixes, two over par on each.

MILLBROOK MAN BAILED FOR TRIAL AT COURT HEARING

Charge Against Hilliard Bristow is Dismissed By Magistrate Floyd.

BAIL IS SET AT $2,000.

Two Eleven Year Old Girls Give Evidence Against Young Men.

MILLBROOK, July 11 (By Staff Reporter). — Two 11-year-old girls, daughters of Hope Township farmers, in court here this morning told Magistrate W. H. Floyd of the manner in which they were induced away from home one evening by two married men, who offered them a car ride, and what occurred on the lonely road.

The two men, Basil Richards, 28, a printer by trade, and Hilliard Bristow, 24, a baker, both of Millbrook, appeared charged with a serious offence against one of the little girls. After the girls had told

HEAT WAVE TOLL MOUNTING FAST

OVER 2 SCORE DEAD.

CHICAGO, Ills., July 11 (C.P.) — With no prospect of immediate relief the worst heat wave of a decade hung heavily over the Central States today, drafting new names for its casualty list.

Already two score have died and many others have been prostrated by temperatures quite generally higher than 100 degrees. The area around Chicago was fairly cool with temperatures in the middle 70's.

Missouri seemed hardest hit; three more deaths to-day making 15 in the St. Louis area alone during the last few days as the mercury soared to 103. Five deaths and three drownings in St. Paul swelled the total, and nearly a score of persons in the gallery at the National Open Golf Tournament in Minneapolis were overcome.

In memory of Hallam, Lord Tennyson, the first Governor-General of the Australian Commonwealth, an alabaster tablet was recently unveiled in the Church of All Saints, Freshwater, Isle of Wight.

Inquest is Halted When Juryman Dies

KITCHENER, Ont., July 11 (Canadian Press). — During an inquest at Almira yesterday, John Schaefer, aged juryman, died suddenly of heart disease. Fellow-jurymen, believing that he was overcome by the heat, rushed to his side. The coroner, Dr. Wagner, adjourned the hearing for half an hour. But immediately upon his discovery that Schaefer was dead, declared the court adjourned until next Wednesday.

The victim was a well-known harness maker, and when he appeared for duty at the inquest, seemed in his usual health.

DROWNING TOLL NUMBERS 58 IN AFFECTED AREA

Scores Collapse on Streets and in Homes of 14 States.

TEMPERATURE NEAR 100.

Breezes From Lake Michigan Protect City of Chicago.

CHICAGO, Ill., July 11. (C. P.) — The mid-west's heat wave after baking the entire area in temperatures fluttering around the 100 degree mark, had accounted for 87 deaths to-night.

Of that number 29 succumbed to the heat itself while 58 were drowned in attempts to cool off in lakes, rivers and swimming pools; other scores collapsed on the streets and in their homes, while literally the whole population of the affected states sweltered.

Chicago Escapes.

Only in the Chicago area, protected by the breezes from Lake Michigan, was it reasonably cool. Elsewhere in the middle west the thermometers remained near the top of the column. Official weather reports indicated Miles City, Mont., was the hottest place in the United States, when the temperature there yesterday touched 108.

It was 104 in Omaha, Neb., and Pierre, S. D, 102 in Birmingham, Ala., Des Moines, It., Sheridan, Wyo., Sioux City, Iowa, and Yuma, Ariz., and 100 in Atlanta, Ga., Cairo, Ill., Evansville, Ind., Kansas City, Mo., Memphis, Tenn., Rapid City, S. D., and Shreveport, La.

The weather bureau indicated that the heat wave gradually was breaking up but that it would continue tomorrow in the southern half of the north central states, in the north-western portion, said the bureau. Temperatures will go somewhat lower while in most northern areas thunderstorms will serve to bring the thermometers bac kto normal.

PREMIER KING IS OUTSPOKEN UPON UNEMPLOYMENT

Declares Willingness of Gov't to Co-operate With Provinces.

FEW INTERRUPTIONS.

Claims Stewart Still Be Alberta Member After Election.

EDMONTON, Alta., July 11 (By Ray Brown, Canadian Press Staff Writer). — Plain talk on unemployment featured the Edmonton speech of Premier Mackenzie iKng. To an element in this great audience which demanded that he discuss the unemployment problem, the Prime Minister once more declared the willingness of the Government to cooperate with the Provinces in meeting the problem.

Not Making Promises.

But with the greatest emphasis, Mr. King asserted that he was not going to make promises of public buildings and other Dominion undertakings in order to gain the votes of the unemployed.

"I'm not going to deceive any man," he said. "If I've got to get into Parliament by deceit, then I would rather stay out." There was applause. "If I had wished to play politics on this matter of unemployment I could have asked Parliament to vote millions and then used them to get votes," he said.

"But, gentlemen," the Prime Minister went on with great emphasis, "when the day comes that I have to exploit the necessities of my fellowmen in order to get power, then I want to retire from public life."

There were only one or two interruptions while Mr. King was dealing with unemployment. A large parade of unemployed men which met the Prime Minister at the station had given rise to a feeling that there might be trouble at the meeting. The audience was, however, orderly and attentive.

Mr. King read a series of "demands" contained in a communication received from the unempolyed. The demand for a conference at which the unemployed would be represented, he said, was already met. He expressed his personal sympathy with unemployment insurance. Other points raised in the communication he referred to. He suggested that a means for giving employment would be to do away with level crossings by substituting subways.

BULLET WOUND FATAL

HAMILTON, Ont., July 11.—Albert Skurtis, 27, Buffalo, died in a hospital here yesterday from the effects of bullet wounds in the thigh. It is alleged he was shot on June 22 last by Buffalo police when apprehended in a garage in that city.

Skurtis escaped from the Buffalo officers, and it is said, no treatment had been given his wound until yesterday, when he was admitted to the hospital here in critical condition.

Acted in Self-Defence

J. L. Younghusband, Canadian-born wealthy Chicago cosmetic manufacturer, summer resident of Orillia, Ont., who faces a charge of assaulting Watson Walton, C.N.R. level crossing gateman, recently, when returning from a dance, terms the allegations absurd and states he struck the man merely in self-defence. Mr. Younghusband is shown above with his pretty four-year-old daughter, Judy.

FORMER HEAD OF TARIFF BOARD CRITICIZES BENETT FOR URGING ABOLITION OF AUSTRALIA TREATY

Claims Many Canadians Employed Making Goods Sent to Australia.

PRESERVE GOOD WILL.

Address in Interests of W. H. Frazer, Liberal Candidate For Northumberland.

COBOURG, Ont., July 11. (C.P.)—W. N. Moore, Liberal candidate for South Ontario and ex-chairman of the Tariff Advisory Board, upheld the Dunning budget in an address here last night in the interests of W. H. Fraser, Liberal candidate for Northumberland.

Criticizing Hon. R. B. Bennett's attitude towards the Australian Treaty, Mr. Moore stated the Leader of the Opposition, while deploring the present unemployment situation urged abolition of the treaty. Mr. Moore pointed out that a great many men were employed in manufacturing the goods shipped to Australia. He added that he wanted to preserve a state of good feeling with his Australian kinsmen.

Charges Denied

Denying the assertion of the Opposition that the admission of fruits and vegetables free from the West Indies originated with the Liberal party, Mr. Moore stated the suggestion came from the fruit and vegetable growers of Canada themselves and was presented to the Tariff Advisory Board.

Touching imperial preference, the speaker drew attention to the fact that Canada was the first to get responsible Government and the first country to give trade preferences to the Motherland. This, he said, was a record for the Liberal Government.

Mr. Moore urged a friendly cooperative spirit towards Great Britain and declared the policy of Mr. Bennett was tight-fisted when compared with what he called the open-handed attitude of the Liberal Party.

SIR CONAN DOYLE IS LAID TO REST

Burial Made in Garden of His Country Home With Utmost Simplicity.

FEW FRIENDS ATTEND.

WINDLESHAM, Crowborough, Sussex, England, July 11 (Canadian Press). — With the utmost simplicity and scarcely a visible sign of mourning, Sir Arthur Conan Doyle was buried to-day in the garden of his country home here.

A Union Jack, flying at half-mast above the club house on the golf course near by, was virtually the only conventional token accompanying the placing of the body of the noted author, creator of Sherlock Holmes, and exponent of spiritualism, in its final resting place.

Assistants on the Doyle place attended the burial in their working clothes and only a few of those present wore black neckties.

The committal ceremony was conducted by Rev. Dr. Brayton Thomas, Nonconformist clergyman and fellow-spiritualist of Sir Arthur, his assistant being Rev. Dr. C. C. Angell, a brother-in-law of the celebrated novelist.

Dennis Conan Doyle, eldest son was ill and unable to attend. Mrs. Doyle, her son Adrian, and two daughters were the other members of the family present. Sir Gilbert Parker, chairman of the Authors' Club, and several other members of that organization, motored out from London to pay their last tribute to their departed friend.

BENNETT GIVES HIS PROMISE TO PROVIDE WORK

Claims Under His Administration Consumers Always Be Protected.

END UNEMPLOYMENT.

Quotes Party Record in Sharp Reply to Premier's Challenge.

MONCTON, N.B., July 11 (By Thomas Green, C.P. Staff Writer).—In probably the most vigorous speech of his campaign, Hon. R. B. Bennett here last night sharply retorted to the challenge of Premier King to state what the Conservative party had done for Labor, warmly declaring that the Prime Minister was perhaps "unwise" to raise the question. Mr. Bennett dealt with the whole record of the two parties in regard to Canadian labor.

Action Promised.

"I promise you action, the Opposition Chieftain declared at one stage. "He promises you consideration of the problem of unemployment. I promise to end unemployment. Which plan do you like?"

Canadian consumers would ever be protected under any administration which he headed, Mr. Bennett emphatically assured his audience. He had reference for the coal and steel industries.

"This week," Mr. Bennett stated, "I have been in the country of the great coal and steel industries. I told the people of those parts what I have been telling the producers of natural and fabricated products in all the other parts of Canada, that when I was returned to power I would do my conscientious best to provide a permanent solution of their problems, fair alike to them and to Canada as a whole. In everything I do that must always be my guide."

Mr. Bennett dwelt at length on Labor. "The other night," he exclaimed, "Mr. King challenged — a strange word in the mouth of Mr. King—by which I suppose he means the Conservative party, to say what we have done for Labor.

"So that you may have the complete picture before you, let us first look at what Mr. King has done himself.

"1. He was Minister of Labor from 1909 to 1911. 2. He was employed by the Rockefeller Foundation in 1914-18 to deal with disputes between employers and employees.

U. S. Gov't Estimate.

'The following is the estimate of the United States' Government Commission of the value of his services to labor, and Mr. King should be the last to say that this estimate is unfair; "It is unnecessary to dwell here on the circumstances that Mr. King speaks of, the shadow of recognition —indicating that he sees the labor problem as merely one of securing for the workers a decent degree of physical welfare, and in no sense as a problem of democratizing industry, and freeing the wage earners from arbitrary economic control. Nor does Mr. King hesitate to advise Mr. Rockefeller as an employer how he may take advantage of a situation produced by the war to defeat the aspirations of the workers, and force them to take about what he desires to give.'

"Those are not my words."

"3—He and his government stopped the grants for technical and agricultural education, for building cheap homes and for highways.

"4—He denied the responsibility of the Federal government in respect to old age pensions by calling upon his friend, 'Mr. Constitutional Problem,' to support him agains' the plan.

"5—He did nothing for the hungry last winter, and added insult to that grave injury by a speech in Parliament which you have heard a great deal about.

"6—He showed his complete mis-

NO MERCY SHOWN REBELLING KURDS

TRAPPED IN VALLEY.

ISTANBUL, Turkey, July 11—Turkish troops, fighting rebellious Kurdish tribsemen in the region of Mount Ararat, Eastern Turkey, were last night reported to have exterminated a force of 1,000 Kurds, after a three-day battle north of Lake Van.

Despatches from the town of Van said that the tribesmen had been trapped in the Valley of the Zeylan River. The Turkish soldiers apparently gave no quarter.

Van is one of the Turkish provinces affected by the Kurdish insurrection.

TOO FEW POLICE CAUSE OF PALESTINE RIOTING

LONDON, Eng., July 11. (C.P.)—The Daily Telegraph publishes a report on Palestine by the Mandates Commission of the League of Nations, in which the limimted number of British troops in Palestine and inadequacy of the police force are blamed for the spread of last summer's disturbances.

The mandates commission, according to the Daily Telegraph, is of the opinion the Wailing Wall was the evident centre.

As regards the premediated aspect of the riots the Commission is not satisfied that the merciful view taken by the majority of the Palestine Inquiry Commission concerning the attitude of the Arab leaders is justified.

LIBERALS HOLD JOINT MEETING AT FRASERVILLE

M. J. Holyman and J. J. Duffus Address Audience in Orange Hall.

PREMIER'S RECORD.

Financial Record of Government Has Never Been Challenged.

"If Premier King is an issue in this election as some Conservatives have declared in their speeches, I would like to remind the electors that the Prime Minister and his colleagues in the Liberal government are able to present an unblemished record for their administration during the last seven years," said J. J. Duffus, the Liberal candidate at Fraserville last night.

Mr. Duffus and M. J. Holman, the Liberal candidate in Durham county held a joint meeting which was attended by more than one hundred men and women with Mr. Fred Clarke as chairman. Mr. Holman was accompanied by J. J. Gray of Bowmanville, secretary of the Durham Textiles Company, manufacturers of hosiery, who concentrated a short address on the advantages of the Dunning Budget. Mr. Holman reminded the women that they had already received a direct benefit from the new budget in the sharp reduction in the price of tea.

Referring to the record of the Mackenzie King government, Mr. Duffus said: "No one in this election has been able to point the finger of scorn at the record of the Premier and his colleagues. They have given us seven years of honest government without a taint of scandal, in addition to all the constructive measures which they have put through for the people of Canada.

The financial record of the government has not been challenged by any Conservative speaker for the simple reason that by reducing the national debt, cutting off various taxes and also reducing the cost of government they have demonstrated their efficiency to the satisfaction of every fair-minded citizen."

Success With Railways.

"On no platform have you heard any Conservative finding fault with the management of the Canadian National Railways," Mr. Duffus continued. "The record of the government in that department alone warrants the renewal of the people's confidence. They took the railways out of politics by placing them under the charge of Sir Henry Thornton whose success is a matter of pride to the Canadian people. In that de-

$100,000,000 IN TAXES SAVED IN 5 YEARS

MORDEN, Man., July 11 (C.P.).—One hundred million dollars is the tax-saving to the Canadian people effected during the last five years, stated Hon. Chas. Dunning, Minister of Finance, speaking here. In his second speech of the campaign in Manitoba, Mr. Dunning supported the candidature of J. L. Brown, Liberal-Progressive nominee for Lisgar constituency in the coming election.

Finances of Canada were never in a better condition, argued Mr. Dunning, mentioning that notwithstanding immense expenditure during the war years, Canada's debt had been decreased $260,000,000.

The rest of the Empire, he said, was looking to Canada for a lead in the forthcoming Imperial Conference.

HAIL OVER WEST COST MILLION

Insurance Paid Already Equals Whole Amount For 1929.

SASKATCHEWAN WORST.

REGINA, July 11. — The hail storms which early this week beat down thousands of acres of grain in the West, did a million dollars' damage to Saskatchewan crops, believes E. G. Higley, general manager of the Municipal Hail Insurance Association for this province. He bases his estimate on claims entered by insured farmers, totalling $500,000, and the opinion that losses to uninsured grain growers aggregate a similar amount.

Up until this week, and before the recent devastating storm, the association had paid claims this year aggregating $600,000, equal to the entire loss of 1929.

Saskatchewan's northern fields apparently suffered the greatest damage in the week's storms, a large number of claims from that section being for 100 per cent. loss.

CONSERVATIVES SCORE DUNNING BUDGET AS FARCE

Many Speakers Address Large Conservative Meeting at Campbellford Thursday.

BOY ORATOR MAKES APPEAL.

Unemployment Situation is Thrown on Shoulders of King Government.

CAMPBELLFORD July 11 (By Examiner Staff Correspondent).—The boy orator, Sandy MacDonald, was the feature speaker at a very enthusiastic and well attended Conservative meeting held last evening in the committee rooms, when the party candidate, Milton Maybee, was heard from, supported by J. F. McArthur, M.P.; S. Sykes, Campbellford; S. Nesbitt, Brighton, and H. Phillips, Brigton. The chair was occupied by C. VanVolkenburg.

"Sandy," who is the son of Dr. MacDonald of Hastings, proved his ability as a public speaker, in a stirring denouncement of Premier King and his government. He defined Mr. King as the master conciliator, and drew a picture of his attitude towards the United States, the New Zealand treaty, Australia, and the proposed Empire trade, especially the preference with Great Britain. "Is John Bull the sort of man who wants to be conciliated?" the speaker said, and went on to show that what was necessary was that this country should strike a trade bargain with the Motherland which would be a square deal. England had many things that Canada needed, and we in this country possessed many commodities that Britain needed, and a fair exchange of these goods was the solution of the question.

Of the Dunning budget "Sandy" pointed out that it was a mere platitude and consisted of generalities, and of the St. Lawrence waterways, he spoke very strongly showing how the government had gone back on its promise to go right aheda with the canal.

At the conclusion of his address, he presented Mr. Maybee with a Union Jack, stating, "Take this flag to Ottawa, Mr. Maybee, and don't bring it back until you get the canal," and ended with an epic appeal to carry on and fight until the struggle was won.

Conservatives Optimistic

Mr. Maybee spoke of the spirit of optimism that was felt in the riding and throughout the whole Dominion by the Conservative party, and extolled Mr. Bennett as the right man to head the government. He went on to give a record of the King Government, saying, "I think that King's five-cent policy has been portrayed in all his legislation." He said that King always gave the cold shoulder to any Conservative when asked for aid.

Of W. Fraser, his opposition candidate, he said that he had four years to demonstrate his willingness to do something for the county, and as yet had accomplished nothing. He had secured an airport but not in Northumberland, but in Hastings. He had had his opportunity, and failed.

Of the immigration policy, the speaker said that the government had made a complete failure. What Canadians has to do was to create jobs for their boys and girls, so that they had no need to go out of the country to seek a living. Of the Dunning budget, he thought that it was one of the biggest farces that was ever put on an unsuspecting public, and went on to explain the markets, and how they were controlled by the United States.

Mr. Maybee also spoke of the pensions question and the withdrawal of the grants that were given by the Conservatives to agriculture and education. Of the promises made by the opposition to Campbellford, regarding the building of a post office and a canning factory, he said that the people must not be led away by the promise of new schemes but must take care of the industries that they already had.

Unemployment Situations

Mr. Bennett delivered a strong address along the business lines of the government, dealing at length with the unemployment situation. He said that there should not be such a condition in this country. It did not exist in France, and Canada with all its resources should be free of it. Canadians do not want conciliation, but work, was the text of his argument, and explained that if a country would be prosperous it must have a prosperous working class. This could only be got by protecting the industries of this country, and giving Canadian manufacturers a chance to compete with other markets, and also supply its own market He drew attention to the decrease of the woollen industry in this country and the inability of Canada to complete, without a proper tariff with New Zealand, in the butter market.

Of Mr. Fraser's promises, Mr. Nesbett said that it was an insult to the intelligence of a Campbellford audience to expect them to accept them, and appealed to the people not to get caught.

Mr. Sykes, superintendent of the Campbellford Cloth Company, spoke at length on the woollen industry and stressed the fact that what was needed for prosperity was protection.

He said that the Campbellford plant was not busy because there was no protection for the industry, and went on to explain the condition of the industry in regard to imports, markets, and wages. Of competition with the Old Land, he said that the trade was as efficient in Canada as in England.

H. Phillips made a strong appeal for organization as being one of the salient features of the campaign. He stressed the fact that Conservatives must keep on working hard to pile up a good majority in the good old Conservative riding of Northumberland.

Mr. McArthur concluded the speakers with a brief survey of the several issues of the party, stressing the old age pension scheme, and condemning the Government for not taking the whole of the burden of it as the Conservatives intend to do should they gain the majority.

BENNETT GIVES HIS PROMISE

understanding of and lack of sympathy for to-day's growing problem of unemployment by describing it in his Brantford speech on June 16th, in these words: 'While conditions of employment in Canada might not be all that we might wish, they are, happily, many times better than is the case in the United States, or for that matter in Great Britain.

"7—He showed his incapacity to deal with an urgent situation by promising conferences of experts to consider the problem, instead of himself taking definite and immediate action to solve it.

These were some of the things, Mr Bennett declared, that Mr. Mackenzie King and his Government had "not done for Labor."

Tory Record

Mr Bennett declared that he gladly accepted the challenge of Mr. King to state what the Conservative party had done for labor. Proceeding the Opposition Chieftain summarized the acts of his party for the benefit of Canadian labor:

"1—It has made trade unions legal.

"2—It granted $1,000,000 a year for technical education to aid workers.

"3—It granted $1,000,000 a year for agricultural education.

"4—It established a fund of $25,000,000 for the building of moderately priced homes for workers.

"5—It established nation-wide employment bureaus.

"6—It took a Cabinet Minister from the Trade Unions.

"7—It first gave consideration to old age pensions and at the same time urged investigation of unemployment and sickness insurance.

"8—It bound Canada to the eight-hour working day and the six-day working week at the Peace Conference in Versailles.

9—It made available over $1,800,000 for relief during 1920-21 unemployment crisis.

"10—It gave $20,000,000 for highway construction."

These, Mr. Bennett said, were some of the things his party had done.

PREMIER KING IS OUTSPOKEN

The chairman, Hon. Charles Stewart, Minister of the Interior, who dealt with return of the natural resources to the Western Provinces. "It was a proud day in my life when I was permitted to introduce into Parliament the bills returning the natural resources to the Prairie Provinces," Mr. Stewart declared. He asserted that, as a result of policies advocated and acted upon by the King administration, there was unity and harmony throughout Canada.

National Party

"I am here to-night because the Liberal Party is a national party," Hon. Ernest Lapointe, Minister of Justice, told the audience.

Some time ago Premier Ferguson had said that the issue in the campaign was Mackenzie King, asserted Mr. Lapointe. If that was so he was pleased to accept the challenge and embrace Mr. Ferguson's issue. Mr. King had given to Canada leadership in all spheres of activity. "The Government of Canada to-day is a National Government," asserted Mr. Lapointe. Mr. King had taught the country that the only basis on which a country could be built was concord at home. Peace at home; peace among Canadians, industrial peace." That had been the aim of Premier King and he had achieved it.

Representation of Canada at the Imperial Conference was then touched upon by Mr. Lapointe. "We have shown to the world that friendship, union, association, does not mean absorption," Mr. Lapointe declared. The British Government and leaders of political parties in Great Britain were all in sympathy in Canada's views on national status.

"Who do you want to represent Canada at the Imperial Conference?" asked Mr. Lapointe.

"Bennett," sang out someone in the crowd.

"Those who want Bennett and do not want King do not want national status; they have the inferiority complex."

Then Mr. Lapointe turned to trade. Canada's life lay in the development of foreign trade, he asserted. In it also lay the solution of the unemployment problem. Canada must not erect a wall to shut out trade.

"Expansion of trade beneficial to all classes," declared Mr. Lapointe.

"Let the British Commonwealth remain true to the traditions of the past," he demanded. Canada was giving the lead. Let her continue so to do. The people must think very carefully on these matters. The British people would not be dictated to on matters of fiscal policy, but what Canada was doing was to show the way.

"I purpose to devote the first part of my address to the unemployed," said Premier King, when, during his preliminary remarks, a man in the audience shouted out, "What about the unemployed?"

Stewart To Remain.

During the last session of Parliament, said Mr. King, it had been announced that there would be a reorganization of the Cabinet. He understood that, as the natural resources were being returned and as Hon. Charles Stewart was Minister of the Interior, administering these resources, it was now suggested that Mr. Stewart's portfolio would disappear and he would cease to be a member of the Government.

"Now may I say that if there is any idea of that thing afloat, the sooner it is abandoned the better," Mr. King continued. Mr. Stewart would continue to be the Minister from Alberta after the election. There would have to be some re-organization, but Mr. Stewart would remain in the Cabinet.

Assertion was made by the Prime Minister that the Conservatives had opposed every step which had been taken by the Government in the direction of national status.

CATTLE, GRAIN, PRODUCE

TORONTO PRODUCE

TORONTO, July 11.—The local butter market showed good strength yesterday and sales were generally reported at 27½c for Ontario No. 1 and 26½c for No. 2. Some creameries were offering large-sized lots, and buyers were willing to pay higher than the above prices for those lots. Shipments were clearing up well, and there was a stronger tone throughout the day. Even better prices can be looked for in the near future if the demand continues and receipts remain on the same level as at present. But it would be advisable for some of the Ontario creameries to get their supplies moving a little more freely and not leave such a large share of the market to the Western shippers. Large lots of high-quality butter have been, and still are, in demand on the local market.

Cream

Churning cream prices have remained steady with the recent reduction, but a stronger butter market will mean better prices for cream real soon. Yesterday shippers were quoted 27c to 28c for special, 26c to 27c for No. 1 and 23c to 24c for No. 2, f.o.b. country points.

Cheese

The cheese market showed a steady tone, with prices to shippers at 16½c for new large, 16¾c for twins and 17c for triplets. Prices to retailers were unchanged.

Eggs

Better prices were obtainable for graded eggs yesterday, as receipts continued light and the demand was good. Dealers were offering graded eggs, in used free cases, at 30c for extras, 28c for firsts and 24½c to 25c for seconds. There were many buyers in the market for supplies, and altogether prospects appear much more favorable. Country shippers did not receive any higher offers, but they will probably on Friday, as the market can stand another cent to the shipper. Thursday they were offered 27c for extras, 25c for firsts and 21c for seconds, ungraded, delivered, cases returned. Prices to retailers will probably advance in a day or so, but yesterday they were quoted 33c for extras in cartons, 31c for extras loose, 29c for firsts loose, and 26c for seconds loose.

Poultry

Poultry prices were higher on the local market yesterday, and shippers were quoted an extra cent on fatted hens in the heavier classes, and another cent on spring broilers. Old roosters remained at the same prices, but young duckling dropped one to two cents per pound.

TORONTO LIVE STOCK.

TORONTO, July 11. — Live stock receipts at the Union Stock Yards yesterday morning were 111 cattle, 64 calves, 51 hogs, 68 sheep and lambs.

The few cattle offered yesterday cleared out at steady prices.

The market for the week was firm to strong on a fairly heavy supply. The strength is not expected to hold out next week.

Calves closed at $7 to $11 per cwt. according to quality.

Hogs were firm at $11 f.o.b. for bacons or at $12 w.o.c. per cwt. Collects were $1 premium.

Lambs closed 50 cents lower at $13 for good ewes and wethers and at $11 for bucks. Few sheep were offered.

WINNIPEG GRAIN.

WINNIPEG, July 11. — Traders disregarded a dry and heat-stricken wheather map of the West's wheat belt yesterday and allowed values to slip nearly two cents on the Winnipeg market. An absence of export interest and cables that did not respond to advances here on Wednesday were responsible for the downturns. At the close the market was off 1¾c to 1¾c a bushel.

Offerings were loaded into the pit in fairly large volume with slight buying interest. Early fractional losses expanded as the season advanced and the close was near bottom levels.

Cash wheat demand was light and only scattered business was reported. Coarse grains skidded back in the wake of the leader—wheat. Flax values, at one period, were 9c lower than the previous close.

CHICAGO GRAIN.

CHICAGO, July 11. — Kansas and Indiana reports of bigger yields than expected, together with predictions that Government crop estimates would prove bearish, pulled wheat prices downward late yesterday. Likelihood of cooler temperatures north-west promising some relief where wheat has been suffering from prolonged heat and drought tended also to induce many traders to switch to the selling side of the wheat market. On every dip in prices, however, buying broadened, and special notice was taken of despatches saying wheat crops are almost completely ruined in Montana from Havre to Great Falls.

Closing indemnities:

READ BEFORE YOU SIGN.

Judge Morson does the public a service when he draws attention to as very common cause of litigation, the signing of documents by people who have not read the contents.

It is advice that most people need.

In dealing with book agents and other salesmen as well as in many other business deals there is too great a tendency to take a chance, and as a result those who are too hasty in affixing their signature to a document often find themselves obligated to a degree that is a painful surprise to them when the terms of the contract or agreement become known.

Judge Morson in stressing the danger of the practice should do much to convince people that to "sign on the dotted line" before they have thoroughly acquainted themselves with the details of what they sign is a foolish and risky action that is likely to involve them in expensive litigation.

"Read before you sign" is advice that everybody would do well to bear in mind at all times.

Many people have found to their sorrow that failure to do so is both troublesome and hard upon the pocketbook.

THE FIGHT IN ONTARIO.

It is evident that all eyes will be on Ontario in the last quarter of the Federal election campaign, for both the Government and the Opposition are concentrating their strength upon the doubtful ridings of Canada's banner Province and the battle in this section of the Dominion will be the warmest fighting in the whole campaign.

Both Premier King and Hon. R. B. Bennett are billed to spend the last ten days of the long drawn-out election in Ontario, and it is likely that they will finish at top speed by addressing several meetings a day.

In addition, the Prime Minister will have the assistance of a large number of his Cabinet Ministers, while Mr. Bennett will be supported by some of his front-benchers, as well as by Premier Ferguson and Ministers of the Ontario Cabinet.

With the bringing in of the heavy batteries the battle in Ontario assumes a major place in the whole campaign strategy.

Apparently both parties are agreed that the election may be won or lost in this Province, and that upon the results in twenty-five or thirty ridings that are regarded as good fighting ground the result of the whole campaign is likely to hinge.

FORECASTS A STALEMATE.

Election forecasts when they come from party sources are discounted in advance.

It is considered sound campaign strategy for political headquarters to issue decidedly optimistic predictions as to the results expected.

These roseate-hued forecasts are largely valued for their effect upon the morale, note only of the party issuing them but with reverse English of the opposition as well.

The wise elector will take them therefore with a grain of salt.

On the other hand, independent forecasts are not without a considerable element of interest.

In this category comes the sizing up of the possible results made by the Financial Post, based on reports from over 3,000 bankers scattered throughout the country.

So far the Post has been unable to see anything but the very imminent danger of a stalemate.

Its reports up to this week leave neither Liberals or Conservatives the prospect of securing a majority independent of support from outside groups.

"Unless some remarkable upheaval in national sentiment is induced between now and election date through the introduction into the campaign of some outstanding national issue," says the Post, "virtual stalemate seems to be forecast by the summary of the opinions of Canadian bankers. Whether Liberals or Conservatives lead, a minority government seems certain, and that means a weak government, exposed to the menace of early defeat, followed by another general election."

THE SAFETY RESPONSIBILITY LAW.

The Canadian Automobile Underwriters' Association are doing a useful public service in educating motorists in regard to the Safety Responsibility Law of Ontario, which comes into force on September 1.

This is legislation of such great importance that every car owner should know its provisions and know what is required of him.

In the first place, it should be understood that it differs from a compulsory insurance law in a very essential detail.

Under this act a person applying for a license as an operator of a motor vehicle, or for a motor vehicle permit for a car or cars, is not required to prove financial responsibility unless and until he has brought himself under the operation of the law by some serious offence of driving, or through failure to pay judgment against him for damage he has done, through operation of a motor vehicle, to the person or property of others, in any of which events his license to drive, or permit to operate a motor vehicle, will be suspended until he has given proof of financial responsibility. When the suspension has been because of non-payment of a judgment, the license or permit will not be revived until a settlement has been made, as well as proof of financial responsibility given for the future.

Under this law, the license of an operator of a motor vehicle, and for the motor vehicle permit of the car or cars owned by the person who has forfeited his bail or who has been convicted of any of the following offences, will be suspended until such person gives proof of his ability to compensate financially those whom he may injure in the future.

THE SURPLUS OF WHEAT.

The United States Department of Agriculture's survey of the worlds wheat supply will do little to cheer American farmers. It foresees a period of about seven lean years in prices, and urges restriction of planting and reduction in production costs so as to meet the probable increase in foreign crops. There is no specific suggestion, as was at first indicated, that cutting down of wheat fields by Americans alone would push up the world-price. That would smack too much of the Stevenson rubber restriction plan or the Cuban attempt to limit production of sugar.

From the department's survey it is clear that there has been not only a steady increase in the acreage planted to wheat during the last decade, but that this has been accompanied by a decline in the world's consumption of the product. The New York Times thinks the only bright spot appears to be the Orient, where slowly the demand for wheat has grown. It is not impossible that this tendency will continue, as rice-eating peoples are only beginning to learn the advantages of the addition of wheat to their diet. In Japan and the Philippines, for example—two countries where rice has for ages been the staple diet—experiments with school children have shown marked benefits for those who have used wheat.

Expansion of the world's wheat acreage has apparently not ended. The department points to the fact that Russia is annually enlarging her area. While most of the wheat at present will be used for home consumption, the larger Russian wheat fields cannot but have an ultimate effect on the world's supply. — St. Thomas Times-Journal.

BRITAIN PAYS.

There are hard-headed people in Britain who have gone into the question of what the war cost that country. They are not so much concerned with figures which are readily available about costs and obligations. They go farther afield and try to find what it has meant to Britain to have departed from her former position in the field of world trade, and to have seen much of that trade taken by other nations.

In a recent issue of London Truth, a writer using the pen name of "Truthful Tory" says bluntly that United States took away Britain's foreign trade by not entering the war at the outset.

He reasons his way: "During the war there were 20,000,000 men under arms, drawn from every nation in Europe except Spain, Holland, Denmark and Scandinavia. They were withdrawn from the field of business and were engaged in the terrible business of manslaughter.

"England, that lives by its export trade, had 5,000,000 men, not actually in the field, but under arms.

"Meanwhile there was one very rich and populous country, with almost unlimited resources of food supply and manufacture, that was not engaged in fighting.

"On the other side of the Atlantic the United States suddenly found the vast continent of South America and the wide spaces of the Far East, where Great Britain had been, to say the least, a formidable competitor, thrown open as an undisputed field for the American salesman.

"Brazil, the Argentine, Chile, Uruguay, China, flung wide their arms to the motors, machinery, textile, and fancy goods of America."

* * * *

Very illuminating figures are furnished by the London writer showing the extent to which these markets were invaded by United States during a time when Britain was fighting the battle which United States was ultimately forced to enter. In part he says:

"Brazil, which is one of the most important of foreign customers took in 1913, 24 per cent. of British imports, against 16 per cent. from America. By 1928 the position had been reversed, and Brazil took only 22 per cent. from us, against 27 per cent. of the United States.

"In 1913 Australia's per centage for our goods was 52, against 14 from America, while in 1928 Australia took 43 per cent. from us, against 24 per cent. from the United States.

"British trade with Argentina is very important, for we have invested about £500 millions in that country, the interest of which is paid by the exchange of goods. The returns, unfortunately, show that the trade is only just being maintained, for whereas in 1928 our exports to Argentina were £631 millions, in 1929 they had fallen to £29 millions.

"Before the war Great Britain was the greatest exporting country in the world; that position has been filched from us by the Americans, whose exports in 1928 were computed to be half as much again as in 1922."

Nor could such a review be complete without reference to the question of war finance. When other Allied nations had exhausted their cash and credit, it was Britain that went into the United States money market and pledged her credit for five billion dollars, which amount was lent to France, Italy and Belgium.

It is a matter of almost current history that when the war was over Stanley Baldwin (after-war Premier) and Mr. Norman, governor of the Bank of England, went to United States without any preliminary negotiations, and announced that Britain was prepared to pay the account to the last dollar of principal and interest. That trip has cost the British taxpayer $150,000,000 a year ever since 1922, and will continue to do so for years to come.

Britain pays—United States is sure of her money—but Britain's European allies, France, Italy and Belgium, who had the U. S. loan passed on to them in its entirety, have repudiated three-fourths of their liability.

On Britain's back has fallen the burden of the Allied war debt—she pays much but collects little.

She has seen her foreign markets slip during the days she was fighting for her life with her back to the wall.

It is well to look behind the scenes a little now and again to get a fair idea of the position which Britain has had to face and is facing to-day. A people of less courage and of fainter spirit would have broken beneath the load.—Stratford Beacon-Herald.

EDITORIAL NOTES AND COMMENT.

Another very large carry-over of wheat is forecast by the statistician for the Board of Grain Commissioners, which isn't exactly good news for the country generally.

Most electors will agree with the Financial Post that this at least is a very promising election.

24,373 stills were seized in the United States last year. You can write your own ticket as to the number that were not discovered.

Golfers may come and golfers may go, but there is only one Bobby Jones.

Karl Homuth, Conservative candidate in North Waterloo, is one of the few candidates in Canada who can't vote for himself. He lives in South Waterloo.

Burnham of Peterborough, nine years a Tory M.P., has switched to the Grits. W. T. R. Preston, fifty years a Grit henchman, has switched to the Tories. Oh, well, it is an election, but we would like to know the personal reasons for this apostasy.—St. Catharines Standard.

A Thought

FALLEN LIVES

Recently a man, prospecting in the mining regions of Arizona, found a remarkable natural bridge. It spans a deep canon, forty-five feet in width. The bridge is made by a great petrified tree that lies across the gorge. Scientific men say that, many ages since, this tree was prostrated by some terrific storm, and fell across the canon. By the effects of the water and of time, it has passed through many stages of mineralisation, and is now a wonderful tree of solid agate. And there it lies, making an agate bridge over which men may pass from side to side. This tree seemed to be a failure when, the day in its prime, it was broken off by the storm and hurled to the ground. But, instead of being a failure, to what nobler use could it have been put than thus to become a bridge of agate, to stand for ages, and on which countless human feet may walk across the chasm? The fallen tree is an illustration of countless human lives which have fallen, and seemed to fall, but which in time have proved to be bridges over which others can walk to honor, success and triumph.—Rev. J. R. Miller, D.D.

What To-day Means To You

"CANCER."

If July 11th is your birthday, the best hours for you on this date are from 11 a.m. to 1 p.m. and 7 p.m. to 9 p.m. The danger periods are from 9 a.m. to 10 a.m. and 4 p.m. to 5:30 p.m.

Influences on this date will tend to make one over-confident and daring. There will be an inclination to be led into things which will only lead to regret. Complete travel, work and business before 4.30 p.m. if possible as dangerous forces will prevail after that hour.

Children born on this date will be inclined to fluctuating moods. They will have inquisitive natures, and a great respect for knowledge and persons of position, learning or authority. They will excel in any pursuit depending upon energy and force of character.

You are unconsciously one of the joy-givers of the world. You never leave people depressed or bored. You study your audience, and try to interest them. If sympathy is needed, you have plenty to spare; if a helping hand is wanted, yours is readily extended. You can clothe the smallest incidents, the every day happenings, with words of humour and appeal. You can rob a truth of its commonness or sordidness. You take the pains to be always courteous, to please, to pat the other fellow on the back—no matter how much it may bore you.

You are a superior being, who shows no sign of being conscious of the fact. Your own accomplishments and bits of good fortune surprise as well as please you. You are always more than anxious to hand the honors to someone else. You do not hate your competitors, and are anxious that they win with you. The sufferings of others grieve you. You will never be old in spirit, and will always keep in contact with the visions and outlook of youth. You do not hang on to out-grown idols. From choice, your companions will always be younger than yourself and they will help to keep you up to date. You will never engage in strife without good cause, and never bear malice. You will have a long and useful career.

THE GRINGO PRIVATEER

By PETER B. KYNE

CHAPTER 12

That's been Art Graydon's policy," the king retorted bitterly, "and where has it gotten us? I had an idea when I made you general manager that I was hiring a fighter, not a pacifist."

Oh!" Ken Burney was faintly amazed. Am I your general manager?" now."

"You are. I'm going to take a chance on you—for a while, anyhow,"

In that event," the other replied, "the dignity of my new job indicates that 'I should sit down, even though I haven't been asked."

And forthwith, he dragged up a chair and sat down.

You remarked that you have concluded to take a chance on me," Ken Burney went on. That decision does infinite credit to your well-known reputation for sagacity. Of course I know you are not taking a chance on me at all, but that remains to be seen, as the monkey remarked when he dropped the kitten down the well."

Three days—or the butt end of three days—have passed since you collected your wages from Martin Bruce—How have you spent those three days?" the king persisted.

Since I am not, as yet officially, on your payroll, you will pardon me, I'm sure, if I ask you not to press that question."

You were on my payroll," His Majesty assured him wearily, from the moment I watched you jump your horse over my gates and fences and cut corners to have an interview with me."

Well, if I've been drawing salary since that night, you are, of course, entitled to my confidence. You have a right to know what I do on your time. Well, I've been down in El CajonBonita making bad medicine for the hombre that has a habit of branding your calves down there. There seems to be some doubt, as near as I can gather from the local gossip, whether Martin Bruce and Miguel Gallegos are partners in crime or operating independently, and as this is a point that must be cleared up before I proceed farther, I went down there and set my trap. In a short time we should discover that which we shall inevitably discover."

Tell me about your trap, son."

So Ken Burney told him. Har!" roared the king. But in all probability, you'll never get back that five dollars' worth of new quarters you planted on those calves, so put it on your monthly expense account."

Thank you, sir. I'll credit you with whatever salvage I recover. When my films are developed they should show the Double B brand on the cows and no brand on the calves. And I have been careful to photograph all my test calves in the act of nursing their mothers, the idea being to establish maternity to the exclusion of any reasonable doubt in the minds of twelve good men and true."

You forget the trial of the thieves, if any, will occur in Mexico."

It will," Ken Burney replied enigmatically, it certainly will. However, I'm going also to put a number of your El Ranchito calves north of the Line on a free-silver basis, and if Martin Bruce's brand should appear on them a little later, why, we'll just have Mr. Bruce arrested the first time thereafter he steps across the state line. We'll have a secret indictment all ready for the old gentleman, and he'll be tried in New Mexico where the crime has been committed. In his own county of Cochise, Arizona, where he is sheriff, he would have an advantage over us, in that he could have his chief deputy select the right kind of jury—and thereafter whenever his men decided to run the Triangle B iron on a Double B calf, they'd examine the hide first for hidden treasures; if they found any they'd leave your calf alone."

No, they wouldn't, the king contradicted. Those petit larceny skunks would just help themselves to the evidence and brand the calf anyhow. By the way, Burney, your salary as general manager is five hundred dollars a month."

That isn't enough money for a bright young fellow like me," Barney replied, but it will do very nicely for the present and I thank Your Majesty from the bottom of a heart that, of late, has been somewhat heavy. However, I warn you that once I have corrected the situation which annoys you do not be surprised if I quit your employ on short notice. I'm the Knight of the Wandering Hoof. I'm one of those fellows who just naturally has to go and find out."

Seems to me you've made commendable progress in my employ," His Majesty retorted dryly. If your ability is at all commensurate with your ego you'll be running me off my job before the month is out."

Yes—and you'll let out a few shrill yips of satisfaction if I succeed in doing it. You're tied to your job, and unless you can get somebody to handle it as well as you handle it yourself you'll live out the remainder of you life just scared to death at what's going to happen to your kingdom when you leave this vale of tears. You haven't a son to take your place, have you?"

The king sighed. He was touched on a tender spot. It is the tragedy of my life that I have not, Burney."

"I can understand your tragedy and sympathize with it. But that's only tragedy. No. One. If that lovely daughter of yours should marry some fellow without sufficient cow sense to tail a calf ,your kingdom might eventually find itself threatened from within. I have observed frequently how supermen have built up great enterprises; then when age or death snatched the reins from their capable hands that enterprise slowly withered and decayed under the management of mediocre man . . . Yes, you've got your troubles."

"You bet I have," the king admitted, strangly confidential under the stimulus of this young man's understanding and sympathy. "They do not call me the cattle king without reason. Uneasy lies the head that wears a crown. You fortunate fellow, Ken Burney. Not a liability in the world except your impulsiveness and a faint strain of Spanish blood, and not an asset in the world except a pack horse, a top cow horse and the clothes you stand in. Only one life to worry about, your own, while I have thousands of lives—at least the happiness and prosperity of thousands of lives—dependent upon my continuous energy and ability to beat the bandits who are busy trying to take a dollar away from me as fast as I can make it. What a hell of a world."

"Did you ever, sir," Ken Burney pursued, "test your ability to assimilate electricity? You remember those contraptions they used to have at country fairs? You took a steel handle in each hand and pulled them toward you—and the farther you pulled them the more voltage you gave yourself, until finally you reached a point where your brain sent a hurry-up message through your nerves to the muscles of your arms, saying: 'Let go!' Then you discovered you couldn't let go and had to yell for somebody to tear you loose, and of course the instant that somebody took hold of you he had to split the charge of electricity with you, but between the two of you the job was done."

The king chuckled. "A very apt description of my predicament, son. Yes, I'm looking for a good man to tear me loose—to split the voltage of my high-powered existence with me.

"Well, take a free look at me, sir," Burney suggested.

"I have. That's the reason you're general manager.

"Oh, no, it isn't, Your Majesty. I'm just a pinch-hitter. You've hired me and made me general manager for one reason only, and that is to rid you of Martin Bruce and Miguel Gallegos.

"Well," said the king unashamed, "what objection have you got to that program?"

"I object to your effort to hand me what is practically a fatal problem, under the guise of being nice to me—under the pretense of having seen in me a future executive of your company—a smart young fellow who ought to be given his chance. Unfortunately for your reasoning I don't want your job of general manager for more than sixty days, and I think I would be less than fair not to tell you this."

"It's a mighty good job, son."

"It isn't. It's a terrible job. I've got to kill two men to make good on it."

"Oh, I see. Squeamish, eh?"

"Not at all. I can and will rid you of Bruce and Gallegos, but it will cost you more than a general manager's job at five hundred a month. Don't you realize that after doing that little thing for you I'd never again dare to cross before the window of a lighted room; that I'd have to resign my general managership immediately and lose myself to save funeral expenses?"

"Yes, I had thought of that phase of the enterprise," the king admitted. "It was in my mind to move you to another ranch immediately—say one in Oregon."

"There's only one ranch I want to move to and that's my father's. Cattle are cheap now and while they are cheap I want to stock my father's ranch again and be my own man. I have a feeling that within two years we'll be getting twelve cents for beef, and I want to get in on the gravy?"

"What's your proposition, son?"

"You make me one, sir."

STILL A CONSERVATIVE

To the Editor, The Examiner.

Sir:

I have been asked if I have left the Conservative party. I say "No." I did not leave the Conservative party because and when I voted against Meighen. It left him and I went with it. You will find that this is a similar occasion. Bennett was not authorized at Winnipeg when he was appointed leader, to cut adrift from the Empire and to proclaim any such fancy policy as "Canada First." The party has never dreamed of losing its identity with the Empire. Empire has always been one of the planks of the party platform. When, therefore, in a moment of mental aberration or brainstorm, Mr. Bennett determined to oppose and found himself in a position of actual hostility to the Empire, all Conservatives of the old party had to do just as they did with Meighen, get another captain and leader. Anybody above the level of a party heeler knows that the Conservative party never authorized and could not possibly continue marching under Bennett's motto as expressed by him both in parliament and out of it. The lesson taught by the Meighen episode was never absorbed by Bennett although he was one of those who repudiated Meighen for his indiscretion. Bennett started floundering and being out of his depth and unable to stem the tide of King's sudden declaration of Empire, grabbed at the first slab that came drifting towards him and it proved to be "No preferences for anybody—Canada only, Canada First and Canada Last." That this left him actually opposed to the London Conference and its recommendations which have to be answered next September made no difference to him but it has made a tremendous difference to others. I am still with the Conservative party, therefore, and I would respectfully warn those who follow Bennett that they were forgiven or forgotten by that party after Winnipeg but may have to suffer for another blunder of the same dangerous kind. I have seen a very large number of Toronto Conservatives lately and I can assure you that they are mightily displeased with the turn things have taken.

J. H. BURNHAM

RE CLASSIFIED.

Peterborough, July 9, 1930.

To Editor of The Examiner.

Sir,—I would suggest that The Examiner would make an effort to have its advertisers take out their classified advt. when their object is attained. It is annoying when a reader of advts. looks up one of them and is told that the object was attained perhaps the day before yesterday. The advt. is still allowed to remain in the paper, simply because the cost is the same, so why trouble to have it taken out. I, the meantime a procession of disappointed advt. answerers is being turned away with the befors-named reply. The only way to ensure this, as far as I can see, is to rebate them or else charge so much per word per insertion.

SUB.

NOTE.—Outside of this week's special campaign, a rebate is allowed on advertisements paid for and ordered out before expiration. The regular rate for cash classified advertisements is 1c per word each insertion or 1½c per word when charged. The suggestion to advertisers outlined above is a timely one.

Comment on morning stock markets over Biggar and Crawford wire:

Trading was dead on the Toronto exchange this morning and most of the traders spent their time reading newspapers. City Dairy featured the market by moving up four points to $61 on small turn over. Page Hersey Tubes was also in demand. Pivotal issues were fractionally lower with small declines registered in Int Nickel, Brazilian Traction and Noranda.

Thursday's advances in New York stocks carried the averages up more than 5 points to 227, surpassing resistance levels established on the upside on June 30, and again on July 2. Reactionary tendencies developed during the late morning and continued on realizing sales by traders who had bought stocks in anticipation of a technical recovery. However volume lightened on price recessions and the leaders showed a disposition to settle down into a narrow range around noon.

FINLAYSON IS COMING TO CITY

Conservatives to Hold Rally in Grand Opera House on July 22.

E. A. Peck, Conservative candidate in Peterborough West, announced today that his big urban meeting of the campaign will be held in the Grand Opera House on Tuesday evening, July 22, and that the principal speakers will be Hon. Wm. Finlayson, Ontario Minister of Lands and Forests and Mrs. Howard Falls. Mr. Finlayson, who has been taking a prominent part in the Federal campaign, is widely known as one of the best platform orators in the Ferguson cabinet and his local address should be an interesting contribution to the battle in this riding.

FINANCIAL NEWS AND BRIEFS

A SPECIAL SERVICE TO THE EXAMINER

It's a pretty lean week when there are no rumors circulated about the City Dairy Company and despite official denials, these stories quite frequently crop up and appear in print. The latest is that the much talked of and very much denied deal for the sale of City Dairy to Borden is on again, this time backed up by a statement that representatives of the Borden Company are in Toronto making an appraisal of the assets of City Dairy. President J. Moore reiterates his denials and again explodes the myth. It is true an appraisal of the companys assets is being made but the statement that this is being done for the Borden Co. is untrue. The appraisal is being made under instructions from City Dairys own directors and has nothing whatever to do with the Borden Co. It appears that the board about a year ago, decided to have an appraisal made of the plant and equipment and this was only delayed by the illness and subsequent death of the late president, W. J. Northgrave, the appriasal being made at this time is the one decided upon a year ago and is merely carrying plans out made at that time. The results of this appraisal should be very interesting to the stock holders themselves. Each year liberal provision for depreciation has been set aside out of earnings and substantial additions to buildings and equipment made. In 1929 the entire plant was rehabilitated at a large expense and an appraisal now will do much to indicate the actual worth of the fixed assets of the company.

Bond Market Review.

No matter how unsatisfactory Canadian financial and business conditions have been during the past few months, individuals and institutions holding or buying high grade bonds may consider major recent developments as distinctly in their favor, says Matthews and Co. in reviewing the bond market. Briefly, it may be said that the outlook for continued ease is the credit situation is more clearly defined than it was at the beginning of this year. The prospects for gradual liquidation of security loans in Canada and the United States are now more definitely assured. The bond buying power of institutions is likely to increase. Individuals are turning increasingly to bonds as a substitute for their previous policy of stock speculation, and in the background there still exists the process of declining price level in commodities. While the aggregate of new Canadian bonds issues for the year to date is approximately 25 per cent in excess of the same period in 1929, the offerings, particularly of high grades, have been readily taken by investors and prices have improved slowly but steadily since the first of the year. The amount of new issues of government and municipal bonds during the remaining months of the year will probably be in smaller than average volume for that period. All of these factors should exercise a favorable influence on Canadian bond prices, and while it may be dangerous to attempt to look too far ahead. It may now be said with more assurance that bond buyers may pursue their purchase of seasoned high grade securities, at present prices, with the expectation that priest will be higher and available interes yields lower before the end of 1930.

Thurdsay's rally is considered technical and not marking the upturn in the stock markets. The recovery was the result of the failure of professional selling and the decision of the shorts to cover under the circumstances to carry the recovery much further would only mean that the bears would again attack and that the market would have to absorb further selling. The advance served to show, however, that any movement toward lower levels will be stoutly resisted and the best that can be expected for the immediate future is breaking and filing of prices New York brokers this morning are going so far as to advise purchases on all weakness and selling on bulges. The market will not experience the rise that many look for until such time as public participation increases. A rally such as yesterday's is not expected to attract a large public following and hence the advance to take advantage of weakness and sell on bulges for a few points profit.

THURSDAY GAINS REMAIN STEADY

British American Oil Holds Unchanged at 17; Imperial Moves Up to 21.

BRAZILIAN STEADY.

TORONTO, Ont., July 11 (C.P.).—This morning's session on Toronto Stock Exchange was a repetition of that of Thursday morning. The quiet of the tomb hung over the floor and traders looked abashed at the sound of their own voices.

Gains made in the final hour of Thursday were pretty well held, scarcely any liquidation following today. The oils were about the firmest spot on the board. B. A. Oil was unchanged at 17, but Imperial moved up to 21. International Petroleum to 19, and Supertest to 34.

International Nickel was still above 24, but showed no sign of going further. The same applied to Brazilian at 39½. Ford was slightly higher at 31, the advance coming without any appreciable increase in turnover. Foods were slow and mostly unchanged. Steels were inactive. Walker's was unchanged.

AJAX SETTLES AFTER EARLY PERIOD GAIN

Unusually Few Changes Made During To-day's Trading on Standard.

BIG MISSOURI FIRMER.

Nickel and Noranda Fractionally Easier at $24 and $23.50 Respectively.

TORONTO, Ont., July 11.—(C.P.)—An unusually few changes were made on the mining market prior to noon to-day, the general list of issues remaining practically at a standstill from the standpoint of both trading and price movements.

Ajax Oil showed early strength but at midday was back to $1.80, unchanged from last night. Other oils were only lightly dealt in and held steady.

Waite-Ackerman failed to hold yesterday's advance, receding 15 to $1.75. Big Missouri and Abana were firmer, however, both stocks moving up 3 to 59 and 42, respectively.

Nickel and Noranda were fractionally easier at $24 and $23.50, respectively, while Hudson Bay was holding at $8. Sudbury Basin gained 10 to $1.55, but other Lindsleys were stationary. Vipond appeared to receive early attention but did not add to yesterday's gain. Hollinger and Teck Hughes eased 5 each, and Howey was off a point to 53.

SYDNEY BUSINESS MEN OBJECT TO INCREASES

Ask Australian Government to Consult them before Continuing Tariff Changes.

SYDNEY, Australia, July 11.— (C. P. Cable via Reuters). — The attitude of Australian business interests to the new Australian budget was exemplified to-day when the Sydney Chamber of Commerce, in the largest meeting of its history, passed a resolution protesting against the increase in customs tariff and in internal taxation announced in the budget.

The resolution also urged the Federal government to consult leading business men and financiers before proceeding with further legislation along these lines. A delegation will go to Canberra to present these views to Prime Minister James Henry Scullin.

Mrs. M. Polk, aged 73, of New York, recently made her ninety-second crossing of the Atlantic.

ARTICLE LXVII.

Q.—What is the significance of the new developments in the McFadden Act in relation to the Federal Reserve System?

A.—The working of the new sytem revealed certain weak points which had to be corrected. For this reason the McFadden Act was passed in 1927.

Due to certain restrictions placed on National Banks, their number was becoming smaller and their resources were decreasing compared with State Banks. This spelt destiny for the Federal Reserve System.

When the McFadden Act was adopted if a State Bank and a National Bank, amalgamated, the branches of each could be retained by the newly formed bank. New Branches could be established wherever State laws permitted, so long as they were confined to the city in which the parent bank was located—the number of branches to be determined by the size of the City.

National banks were allowed to have savings departments. Some of the restrictions on real estate loans were removed. They were thus able to complete more favorably for this business with State banks and Trust companies.

The charters of National banks were made perpetual thus enabling them to take advantage of long term trusts. National banks could now buy real estate mortgage bonds and investment securities.

The capital requirements for National banks in smaller cities were reduced.

Certain restrictions relating to shipping documents were modified.

Shares of capital stock could henceforth be divided into smaller units.

These changes proved beneficial and were the most important alterations made in the original act.

LARGE DEPRESSION MINE OPERATIONS

Plants in All Parts of the Globe Closed Down at Present Time.

TORONTO, July 11. (Special to Examiner.)—One fact that stands out more than any other after a perusal of the mining journals of the world, technical and otherwise, is the number of base metal and silver mines that are being closed down at the present time in all parts of the globe. Mining effort even in the prospective stage, is being curtailed, Australia, New Zealand, Rhodesia and South America all reporting instances of suspended operations. Compared with conditions in these countries, local effort could almost be said to be flourishing.

Across the border affairs are in about the same position. About 900 men were laid off recently at the mines and smelter of United Verde Copper Co. in Arizona, as construction work and development program of the last year or so have been completed. Nevada Consolidated has cut 200 men off its payroll, due to the depression in copper. The reduction affects the mines at Ruth and the smelter and concentrator at McGill, but one of the three smelting units is still in commission. A ray of hope for the silver mining industry is contained in the proposed gathering of interest in Mexico. By order of the president of the country, the organizing committee of the world silver congress that is to be summoned in Mexico City, probably this fall, to study the international silver situation, comprises representatives of the ministries of industry, commerce and labor of finance, of foreign relations and of communications and representatives of mining interests in the republic. The committee which will make all plans preparatory to inviting silver producers, bankers and government officials of the worlds leading silver producing nations.

COBOURG HERE ON SATURDAY

Lakeshore League Victory For Rays Will Be Help to Local Entry.

IBEY ON MOUND.

The Haybastos ball team meets the Cobourg Ponies in a big Lakeshore League ball tilt at Exhibition Park at 3.15 to-morrow afternoon. If the Rays can defeat the Cobourg team it will further strengthen their position and aid them in catching the pace-setting Oshawa Arabs.

Fans will likely see Toey Ibey back on the mound for Cobourg for this game, since the former Deloro star has now fully recovered from the injuries he received in a motor accident four weeks ago. Ibey has always been a puzzle to the Rays, and he should give them considerable trouble.

"Sailor" Maudsley is the choice of the Rays' pitching squad for tomorrow's effort. Al. Heckman will again be seen on first base for the Brakeliners.

RAILS RE-ACT TO-DAY AFTER BRIEF UPTURNS

ON WALL STREET.

Commodity Prices Give Good Account of Themselves Despite Recent Government Report.

NEW YORK, N.Y., July 11 (C.P.)—The stock market appeared frightened to-day in viewing in retrospect its boldness in advancing three days on end for the first time since May, moderate though the advances were, and recession was again in order.

There has been circulated some bullish but unconfirmable rumors this week of plans to revive the long dormant bull market, but traders appeared unconvinced, and anxious to take profits on shares bought at the recent low levels.

The rails, in particular, reacted after their brisk upturn yesterday.

There was no aggressive bear selling however, and market was about as loath to decline as it has been to rise.

Loss in pivotal shares were held to small proportions, and trading was again dull. The opinion was held in brokerage circles that the market had reached an impasse which would not be broken without important news from business.

Commodities Firm.

The commodity markets again gave a relatively good account of themselves, despite the Government's July 1 estimates indicating increases in output of most farm products.

After renewing at 2½ per cent call money sank to 2 for the first time in a week, and tended to discredit predictions based on a firmer tone in the longer maturities of acceptances and time money lately that the credit had again turned upward. Last night's Federal Reserve statements showed no inclination on the part of out of town banks to withdraw duns because of the low rates at this centre. The decline in brokers' loans, while amounting to only $16,000,000, was not viewed unfavorably, as it occurred over the holiday suspension.

Such issues as Atchison, Baltimore and Ohio, New Haven, Chesapeake and Ohio, North American, Consolidated Gas, American Radiator, Eastman Kodak, and Johns Manville sold off about 2 to 4 points. U.S. Steel, General Electric, Westinghouse Electric, Radio, American Telephone, and Standard of N.J. encountered moderate pressure, but offered considerable resistance.

McLAREN QUALIFIES FOR NALACO CLUB

For Sixth Time in Succession J. A. McLaren is Member of Club.

J. A. McLaren, of the North American Life, has again been successful in qualifying for the Nalaco Club—this for the sixth time in succession.

To qualify for this club, it is necessary to have $150,000 of paid-for business within the year, and Mr. McLaren is to be congratulated on such a good performance.

He has also been successful in winning the special prize of the gold pen and pencil from the company in a recent competition put on by them, in which he came first in the whole Dominion of Canada.

He is leaving on Sunday for Ottawa, where he will attend the annual company convention of Nalaco members at the Chateau Laurier for the coming week, along with other members of the Nalaco Club of the North American Life.

Croydon, England, recently refused to permit a Sunday concert by Kreisler, the violinist.

More than $7,500,000 worth of American tractors were imported into Argentina last year.

their story, Richards was bailed for trial by order of the Magistrate, bail being fixed at $2,000, and the charge against Bristow was dismissed because of insufficient evidence.

Comes Up Before Judge O'Connor.

Colonel F. D. Boggs, Crown Attorney, prosecuted, and J. A. O'Brien, of Peterborough, defended. Richards will be tried before Judge O'Connor at Cobourg, in County Criminal Judge's Court at some time later.

The daughter of Herbert Scott, one of the girls who was out with Richards and Bristow, in giving her evidence, stated that on the evening of July 4 she was at the home of her brother-in-law, Ernest Dew, a farmer in Hope. Many people from the neighboring farms had gathered there, she said, because a bridal shower was being given Ernest Dew and his wife, who had but recently been married.

She in company with her chum were playing in the lane leading to the house, she said. About 10 o'clock Richards and Bristow drove up and asked the children if they would like to go for a car ride. "We'll just go out of the gate and come right back in again," she told the court the men had said.

"We got in and they drove down the road," she continued. "Basil Richards wanted me to have a drink of whisky. Yes, he asked me if I'd have a drink several times."

"How did you know it was whisky?" asked the Crown prosecutor.

"Well, it was in a big brown bottle and looked like whisky," was the answer.

The men had taken them down the road about a mile and stopped, she said. They turned out all the lights. Then Basil Richards made advances toward her and Mary Dew, and again offered them a drink, she stated.

Later, Bristow drove her chum back to Dew's place, but Richards got out of the car and kept her with him, she said, promising her that he would take her home. He walked her away from home and she began to cry and scream.

Taken Home By Father.

A few minutes later her father, Ernest Dew, and his wife, came along in a car and took her home, she said.

Cross-examined by Mr. O'Brien, the little girl said that Richards didn't get rough with her nor say anything that wasn't nice. He held her hand on the road and prevented her from running home, she said.

The second girl, who was the next witness, substantiated her chum's evidence as the manner in which the girls had been asked to take a ride. She rode part way in the front seat with Richards, and it was then that the offence was committed, she said.

She said that the next morning she told her brother what had occurred.

Cross-examined, she said that as the cars bringing the people to the shower drove up the lane, she and her friend would jump on the back and get a ride. She denied that either of them had asked Richards and Bristow for a ride or jumped on the running board of their car.

"I told Basil Richards at that time that I was going to tell daddy on him," she stated. "He said he didn't care what I told."

Herbert Scott, one of the fathers, next testified. He told of missing his daughter from the house about 10 o'clock. He searched for her in the barn and in the neighboring fields. Later he walked as far as the road. While standing there he heard screams from the top of a nearby hill. He ran up the hill and called but there was no answer and he saw no one.

He returned to the lane and was walking up to the house when a car, bearing Eddie Richards and another man drove past him. He asked for a ride in order to find his daughter, he said. The ride was refused and Eddie Richards told him, he said, that there was no use of him going over the hill to find his daughter, since there was no one there.

Later he, in company with Ernest Dew, in the latter's car, drove over the hill and found his daughter and Richards standing on the side of the road.

Girl Was Crying

"She was crying," he said. "I asked Richards what he was doing there And then I guess I let him have a few slaps."

Cross-examined, the father admitted striking Richards three or four times.

"You asked Richards what he was doing and then didn't wait for an answer before striking him?" queried Mr. O'Brien.

"Yes, I didn't wait for his answer."

"You feel pretty strongly against Richards?"

"Yes, and you would, too, if you say your little girl crying."

"I suppose any father would feel sore, wouldn't he?" asked Magistrate Floyd.

"Well, I think so?" stated the witness.

Ernest Dew told of being in company with Herbert Scott when the girl was found crying on the road with Richards.

"I couldn't see much about Mr. Scott striking Richards," he admitted in cross-examination. "I stayed in the car. I was mad and I didn't want to do anything so I sayed in the car. I guess Mr. Scott hit him a couple of times."

Witness said that Richards and Bristow never came to the party that night, but after the affair on the road. They drove away, presumably to Millbrook.

This closed the case against Richards, who was immediately ordered bailed for trial by the magistrate, Richard's father, Charles W. Richards, and Henry Elson, a resident of Millbrook, supplied his bail.

The case against Bristow was dismissed for lack of evidence.

The case has aroused great interest in Millbrook and throughout the district, and before the court opened this morning there was a group of farmers and villagers waiting to hear the case. They were barred from entrance to the court room, however, by order of the Magistrate, at the request of Mr O'Brien.

and the announcement of a new field service department at headquarters to promote the building and education of Kiwanis Clubs and to render assistance to the weak and wavering ones.

They listened to an address entitled Unity, by Dr. Glen Frank, president of the University of Wisconsin. Mr. Browne described it as most scholarly. During the afternoon of Monday they attended a delightful musical conference, and learned that quartette and duet singing is one of the big features of club activitiy across the line. The evening was given over to an "All Kiwanis' program and the addresses were broadcast. The theme of the addresses was that, 'If Kiwanis has done nothing more than create good will, to promote tolerance and establish friendship it would be decidedly worthwhile. That, Kiwanis is friendship in action and that we must not forget that only as we get our idealism in the abstract, into realism of practical results, is it that our organisation can have any real significance."

Dominion Day

On Tuesday, July 1st, all the Canadian delegates celebrated Dominion day. And during the session the President of the International asked all Canadians to come forward to the platform when they sang "O Canada" while the Americans stood to attention. A fine address on "leadership" by Dr. J. T. M. Anderson, Premier of Saskatchewan followed. The afternoon was left free for the delegates to follow their own inclinations and a good time was spent at the amusement park.

The outstanding event on the program was the "All Canada" dinner in the evening at which Dr. Anderson was the principle speaker. He appealed for a better understanding among the people of the east and west of this great continent. Other prominent speakers also addressed the gathering.

Two Issues Not Related

On Wednesday morning two fine addresses were delivered by Dr. T. Grayson, dean of the School of Finance, University of Pennsylvania, who claimed that the trade depression and the stock market crash were not related. One of the major causes of trade depression, he thought, was overproduction of basic commodities. Commenting on the tariff, he said, "If we (the U.S.) having a reasonably moderate tariff wish to undertake reciprocation, both countries can sit around the conference table and work out a system to be an example to the world."

Dr. William Mather Lewis, president of the Lafayette College, was the second speaker and deplored the present day hectic rush, saying "the welfare of the American depends on the leisure time for serious thought."

Mr. Browne also fully described some of the more outstanding features of the entertainment during the convention and spoke of the International ice hockey match, Allan Cup winners, Montreal Athletic Club vs. Pennsylvania Athletic Club. He gave some idea of the tremendous size of the building in which the convention was held, saying that a thirteen storey sky-scraper could be erected on the floor without touching the ceiling.

A description of a monster carnival parade was also very entertaining and instructive.

On Thursday, the final day of the convention, the invitation to hold the 1931 convention at Miami was accepted, after which the election of officers followed.

The return to New York was made by airplane. The journey from Atlantic City to Newark being accomplished in 55 minutes, while the journey from the air field to the centre of New York City took one-and-a-half hours.

Isaac McNabb, in a few well-chosen remarks thought the international conventions justify their existence. He thought they were a big factor in promoting international good will.

Included among the visitors was Rotarian Rev. J. R. Webb of Kitchener, a former minister of Murray Street Church, who was introduced by Joe Wearing.

PLAY PRESENTED AT LAWN SOCIAL

"The Arrival of Kitty" Presentation Feature Event at Fallis Line Gathering.

TABLES DECORATED

MILLBROOK, July 10.—(Examiner Correspondence).—Mr. and Mrs. Austin Sutton, Fallis Line, generously extended the hospitality of their comfortable home and grounds for the garden-party, under the auspices of the Fallis Line United church, held on Monday evening, July 7, with tea served from five-thirty until all comers had been satisfied. The attendance ran up into the hundreds, scores of cars being parked in the large orchard convenient to the driveway, and set apart for this purpose.

The tea tables were laid on the east lawn, well sheltered from the breeze, and were abundantly supplied with good things to tempt the most fastidious appetite, the ladies in charge of the service at the tables being particularly careful to see that all guests were given every possible attention. Runners of emerald green centred the tables, and vases of summer blossoms placed at intervals, were an added decorative feature. Streamers of gold and green were draped between the pillars of the wide verandah, and flags were in evidence also adding to the attractiveness of the grounds.

A soft ball game between Pontypool and Fallis Line created plenty of entertainment and interest during the earlier part of the evening, the visiting team coming off victors with a score of 19-17.

Play Presented.

The feature of peculiar interest in connection with the program was the presentation of the play, "The Arrival of Kitty," by the Springville Dramatic Club. The wide verandah on the east side of the homestead, well lighted with gasoline lanterns, and attractively furnished, made an excellent stage, while the lawn in front, with plenty of fairly comfortable seating accommodation, and well sheltered by the house and adjacent buildings, provided the audience with a pleasant meeting-place, and all that could be required in the way of facilities both to hear and see the performers.

Only one stage setting was required for the three-act comedy, the chairman, Rev. W. W. Jones, B.D., giving a brief introduction to the entertainment to follow, after he had extended a warm welcome on behalf of the Fallis Line church to the large number of guests, and a prolonged burst of applause from the audience had testified to their appreciation of Mr. and Mrs. Sutton's gesture of hospitality in giving their home and grounds for the out of doors event.

Story of the Play.

Mrs. Melville Johnston, of Springville, gave a brief outline of the play before the curtain was drawn for the opening act, the scene throughout being laid in the living-room of the Halycon Hotel, a summer boarding place that apparently attracted a goodly number of tourists.

The bell boy, Ting (Norman McBain) was left in charge of the Halycon House during the absence of the proprietor, his assistant being Sam, a colored porter (Melville Johnston), and the two conspire together to add to their bank roll while they have this extra responsibility, the exchange of coats when Ting has to have a pillow buttoned inside Sam's black cutaway to fill the space, and Sam can scarcely get into the bell boy's blue jacket, being a ludicrous feature of the opening act. Both played their roles remarkably well.

Among the summer boarders who arrive are William Winkler (Walter Brown) who schemes to marry his niece, Jane (Miss Helen Staples) to Benjamin Moore (Robert Armstrong) in order to secure a good slice of the fortune involved, according to the terms of her father's will, but is foiled by the fact that Jane is really in love with Bobby Baxter (Bruce Heron) and at first refuses to be sacrificed to satisfy her guardian's greed.

Mr. Winkler's sister-in-law, whose name is likewise Jane (Miss Jessie Shafer) pays his bills, and the skein of events is further tangled up when he tries to find a husband for this lady also, her uncertain age and assumption of a very girlish manner, together with her strong aversion to strong drink and the stage, leading to some ludicrous situations. However William is promised ten thousand dollars by his sister-in-law the day he secures for her a husband, and he is determined to earn the money.

Baxter, who is determined no one shall have Jane for a bride but himself, kept the audience convulsed when he impersonated Kitty (Miss Whittington), an actress to whom Mr. Winkler has secretly been making love, and whom he is distressed to find at the hotel, though he had sent a telegram to stop her. When the real Kitty appears affairs become so complicated, and so many ridiculous situations develop, it seems things will never be properly straightened out, particularly as Benjamin Moore falls deeply in love with the supposed Kitty, who pretends to ardently return his affection.

However, "all's well that ends well yet", and eventually Aunt Jane is married to Benjamin, Niece Jane and Bobby Baxter make up their quarrel and are ready for their wedding, and Mr. Winkler and the real Kitty are apparently on the way to a happy marriage also. Aunt Jane's French maid (Miss Hall) has a small part in the play, and all characters filled their several roles with marked ability.

Between the acts vocal selections were supplied by Miss Hazel Hall and Mr. Heron, Mrs. James Fowler presiding at the organ. Financially the receipts were well over one hundred dollars, and when all debts are met the balance goes toward a fund for church renovation.

REV. DR. EDWIN SMITH INDUCTED INTO CHARGE WARKWORTH CHURCH

Impressive Service Carried Out Under Charge of Rev. Mr. Tait of Campbellford.

SEVERAL SPEAKERS.

WARKWORTH, July 11.—(Examiner Correspondence).—The Rev. Edwin Smith, M.A., Ph.D., F.R.A.S., was on Monday night inducted into the pastoral charge of Dartford and Warkworth United church. The service was in charge of the Rev. Mr. Tait, of Campbellford, and was most impressive as well as interesting.

The Rev. F. G. MacTavish of Seymour read the scriptural lesson from Ephesians 14: 1-16, after which the Rev. Mr. Tait explained the steps which led to the induction which stated that a unanimous call had been extended to Dr. Smith of Carleton Place and this was sanctioned by the Settlement Board of the Presbytery. Following the formal induction the members of the Presbytery extended the right hand of fellowship.

The Rev. G. W. Gardiner of Castleton addressed the congregation pointing out their duties to their pastor and also clearly and cleverly explaining obstacles which stand in the way of success. "To accomplish success all must pull together and also there must be "co-operation." Ths address was based on I Cor. 3.9.

In addressing the minister the Rev. D. R. Clare, B.A., B.D. of Norham, congratulated Dr. Smith and pointed out that his presence and induction was God's answer to the call which he had heard years ago. "The servants of God in olden times as well as now who accomplished much for the Kingdom of God find that it was done through prayer. Prayer is exceptionally important."

The Rev. Mr. Tait also extended congratulations and best wishes and a social hour was enjoyed with the serving of refreshments. The choir rendered an excellent selection which was greatly appreciated.

Tweed Costumes Present Many Diversions

The woman of limited income is always searching for variety within a single costume. The tweed costume in the Vogue sketch at the RIGHT can present four versions of itself. The foundation costume is a blouse and skirt. The blouse is of white piqué with a double-breasted closing and short kimono sleeves. The skirt has a slightly circular section inserted at each side and finished with buttons. The small view directly below shows it as a tailored suit by the addition of a jacket, collarless and fitted at the waist. A third costume is shown at the lower RIGHT of the sketch, here a top-coat has been added to the blouse and skirt. The costume complete is shown in the larger figure, where both jacket and top-coat are worn. On the LEFT is a smart ensemble of sudanette crash tweed with strapped underarm bag of the same material.—Sketch is by Vogue.

BIG IMPROVEMENTS BEING MADE TO THE HARBOR AT COBOURG

Department of Public Works is Spending a $137,000 on Construction.

COMPLETED IN OCTOBER

COBOURG, July 9 (Examiner Staff Reporter).—Harbor improvements undertaken by the Department of Public Works in the spring of this year, at a cost of $137,000, are being rapidly and expeditiously carried into effect by the Russell Construction Company Limited of Toronto, who hope to have completed the contract by October.

The undertaking, which consists of the erection of an esplanade, between the jetty at the eastern entrance to the harbour and the ferry landing stage, will when completed add the finishing touch to a beautiful little lake port, whose natural beauty has been in the past somewhat offset by the tardy appearance of its waterfront.

It will provide a fitting adjunct to the natural beach which slopes down from the greensward of the park on the lakefront, and which provides a vista of unexcelled beauty across the landlocked harbor of the Lake Ontario waters.

Interest in the construction work, is evident by the inevitable little group of interested spectators are drawn daily to the scene of operations, where all the latest appliances of modern engineering inventiveness are being utilized in the race against time—the race against the seasons. So far good weather conditions have prevailed, which have materially assisted in the task of clearing the sand and silt from the bed of basin—a task which is being performed by the dredge "Jack Canuck No. 3," in readiness for the sinking of the massive stone-filled cribs which are to provide the foundation on which will be built the concrete abutments and span of esplanade.

Rough weather, the one dread of the construction superintendent, would possibly have the effect of undoing in a comparatively short space of time the patient work of months on the part of dredgermen and the diver.

Diver Big Drawing Card

Incidentally the diver is a big drawing card for the spectators. Incongruously attired in deep-sea diving equipment, his descent into the seventeen feet deep waters of the harbor each day are watched with a certain amount of awe and admiration and it is with a breath of relief that after about four-and-a-half hours, the top of his globular brass helmet is to be seen breaking the surface of the milky coloured water. Signalling for his attendants to open the plate glass observation window in his helmet, he stands on the ladder partly submerged while with a mighty twist the window is removed allowing a free inflow of the life-giving oxygen, which must come as a balm to his bursting lungs.

His long spell on the bed of the harbour is spent in company with a water jet having a pressure of 135 pounds, with which he dispels the shoals of dirt and silt, out of reach of the dredge. At times he is called upon to use pick and shovel and crowbar. While four-and-a-half hours is the average time for the diver to be submerged, it is stated that he has in emergency worked beneath the surface of the waters for seventeen surface of the waters for seventeen hours at a stretch.

The diver Joe Leroque is a French-Canadian, one of the six divers retained by the Russell Construction Company, who in addition to construction work do a great deal of marine wrecking.

The diver's equipment consists of a tight-fitting rubber suit worn over his ordinary working apparel, a spacious brass helmet with breastplate, which is attached with large wing nuts and is made watertight by the use of large rubber washers, a pair of sturdy canvas overalls to protect the rubber suit from injury and a pair of leaden-soled boots fitted with large copper toe caps. The air lines are attached to the helmet and the life-sustaining air is supplied from a pump manned by two attendants who ceaselessly swing on the handles, while another attendant grasps the life line, ever on the watch for a distress signal from their charge down in the depths.

Old Peterborough Boy

It is interesting to note that the superintendent H. A. Hines, is a former Peterborough boy, having left that city seventeen years ago to commence his association with the Russell Company. He informed the Examiner that he used to live on Charlotte street and was in the employ of the late Hon. J. R. Stratton.

Other equipment includes Derrick No 1 and the tug Joe Goodwin. The local men eat and sleep at their respective homes while sixteen employees bunk and eat on the dredge.

Gangland—
Yesterday, To-Day And To-Morrow

BY DARO NEAL

Former Parole Agent of the New York State Reformatories

In the opinion of the writer the boys who control the Chicago gangs are merely lying low at present — cautious, as it were, but not at all worried or fearful.

While civic organizations, newspaper and public officials are uniting enthusiastically to give Chicago the greatest clean-up campaign it ever had, gangland is confident that "everything will blow over" before long.

There have been other clean-up drives in Chicago and not one has been permanent. To be sure, the city today is aroused as never before. It is giving every indication of being in dead earnest at last. But the gangsters remember the past and are quietly waiting.

Their confidence may be justified. The chance that a real house-cleaning will result from the present turmoil is very small. There are too many things in the way. The invisible ties that bind gangland and politics together are too strong to be cut overnight; and until they are cut, Chicago's gangs will continue as they have in the past—bold, defiant and insolent.

Right now the big shots have either gone out of town or have dropped into hiding.

But the quiet is only temporary. Gangland is waiting for things to blow over. The friends who have shielded it in the past still have the political power they always had.

Here is the way, briefly stated, that one well known gangster expressed it during a recent conversation with the writer having to do with the present situation as it pertains to gangs and gangsters in Chicago:

"The boys are lying low right now, waiting to see how the police captains are going to be shifted around. As soon as the shakeup is over, they'll know where they stand and go ahead again."

The big point to bear in mind is just this: Chicago has gangs, and these gangs are powerful and unrestrained, simply because the gang leaders have close, profitable connections with the city's political overlords. The man who runs a speakeasy, the man who makes and delivers beer, the man who is in any sort of racket—all have these "connections."

Here is a case in point. Not long ago a certain patrolman—a red-headed cop with an Irish name—was assigned to a beat in one of the city's negro wards. This patrolman discovered that his district was full of small gambling houses, and began raiding them.

One day he happened to enter a gambling joint owned by a colored woman who was a friend of a Chicago alderman. This woman followed the officer to the police station, poured a shower of profane abuse on him there, boasted of her political connections and announced loudly that she would have him removed from the force.

The next day the officer was ordered to appear before the police trial board to answer a set of trumped-up charges. It just happened that that a civic-spirited lawyer heard of the case, volunteered his services and threatened to make such a vigorous defense that the charges were dropped; but if this had not happened the patrolman probably would have lost his job.

That is just a sample. It is the sort of thing that happens over and over again. It is a small-scale illustration of the thing that keeps gangsters out of jail.

Another problem arises from the fact that political control of Chicago shifts back and forth between the two parties. Mayor Thompson is a Republican; his predecessor, the late Mayor Dever, was a Democrat. Neither party has anything approaching a permanent grip on the city.

As a result, the gangs come pretty close to holding the balance of power. They ally themselves with one party, or with one faction in one party; if that party or faction tightens up on them, they shift to the other side. In New York City, my contrast, one party—Tammany Hall—has things its own way. The result is that the gangs in New York can be, and are, controlled—as much as gangs can be.

You could sum it up by saying that in New York the politicians control the gangs, while in Chicago the gangs control the politicians.

There is still another complication—arising, oddly enough, out of the fact that Pennhylvania, a year ago last Winter, put Al Capone in prison for a year.

At that time Chicago's gangs were enjoying an era of comparative peace. The booze, gambling and vice rackets were working, full tilt, but there was harmony in the air. Murders were relatively few.

Then Capone was jailed. Immediately his Chicago rivals concluded that the time had come for self-expression. One after another they began to "muscle in." The Moran gang, on the North Side, began to extend the scope of its operations. In the west the O'Donnells did likewise.

But Capone had left his affairs in the hands of his right bower, Jack Guzick. Guzick, according to the gossip of the underworld, is "just as tough as Capone, and twice as smart." The challenge was met very promptly, with the usual gangland weapons in the usual way.

The musclers retaliated. Scalisi and Anselmi, two of Capone's most prized shot-gun artists, were killed. Reprisals were speedy, including the famous St. Valentine's Day massacre. Free and unrestricted killing became the order of the day. The reign of harmony died speedily, and the resultant epidemic of shooting continued down to the murder of Alfred Lingle, reporter.

Right now Chicago is more aroused than ever before. The new police commissioner, John Alcock, has given the customary pledges of a relentless war on the gangs. State's Attorney Swanson is planning to establish a downtown office where all investigating agencies—his own, headed by the famous Pat Roche, the "secret six" of the Chicago Association of Commerce, and the police—can work in unison, co-ordinating their efforts.

But it is very, very hard to be optimistic about the clean-up efforts. The longer one looks at the situation in Chicago the harder it gets. The veil is too deeply entrenched. Prohibition will have to be voided before gangland can be abolished.

NEW C.P.C. PEA CANNING VENTURE IS PROVING HIGHLY SUCCESSFUL; DAILY OUTPUT OVER 1,500 CASES

Latest Industry May Necessitate Extensions to Plant in Near Future.

350 ACRES UNDER CROP.

Most Up-to-date Methods Used —Tomato, Bean Canning Later.

"Great possibilities lie ahead for the canning industry and it is quite probable that this branch of the business will surpass all our expectations and necessitate extensions to our present Peterborough plant, in the none-too-distant future," said Gordon Matthews, referring optimistically to the Canadian Packing Company's latest venture—Pea canning.

Mr. Matthews also expressed his satisfaction in the perfect co-operation which exists between the C.P.C. and the farmers of this district who are growing and threshing peas under contract, and explained that the farmers are being paid $55 per ton for peas, delivered at the thresher.

The history of the canning operations at the Canadian Packing Company's local plant, takes one back to the initial venture in this direction, which was made last year with tomatoes. So successful were the results that it was decided to go into the business more extensively, and consequently machinery and apparatus was installed this spring at a cost of $35,000, which permits of the canning of peas and beans in addition to tomatoes, and ensures employment for forty additional hands in the factory and thirty men in the field and vining stations.

Bright Prospects

"The plant is putting in a lot of overtime just at present," observed Mr. Matthews, who also expressed the belief that this satisfactory state of affairs will persist for some months. Following the pea canning season the tomato canning operations will commence at the end of August, and during the short interval which will intervene, the time will be fully occupied canning beans.

The pea crop in this district is a particularly heavy one this year. The manager of the American Canning Company and one of the chief chemists who were in the district recently remarked that the crop here is the finest they have ever seen either in the United States or Canada.

The Canadian Packing Company have 350 acres of peas under crop, by contract with farmers in three districts and have erected vining stations in the centre of each section, where the pea-vines are transported from the fields for threshing.

The stations are situated at the following points: F. E. Wilson's farm in Cavan township; Charles E. Moore's farm in Smith township, and Frank Young's farm at Ennismore.

The present capacity at the local plant is 1,500 to 2,000 cases of canned peas per days. Each case contains two dozen cans, which will in due course be retailed all over the Dominion of Canada under the name of the National Canned Foods, while those sold locally will bear the C.P.C. label.

Through the courtesy of the manager of the plant, an Examiner representative was permitted to follow the operation through from field to can, and consequently a visit was paid to the Springville vining station, where S. S. Staples, a farmer of that district, supervises the work of the harvesters. As each truck load of pea vines arrives at the viner, it is either dumped direct onto the conveyor which carries it to the threshing machine, or is dumped on the ground; in either case the load is carefully checked or tagged in order that each farmer under contract with the C.P.C. is given credit for his load.

Entering the separator the peas pass through a large drum revolving at high speed, inside of which are a number of propellers attached to the main shaft and a large perforated rubber sheet through which the peas drop into containers, while the straw is ejected and transported along conveyors to the immense stack which is ever growing and which will be used for cattle feed during the coming winter.

Splendid Quality

The peas as seen at the Springville vining station, were of remarkable size and exceedingly luscious and fresh looking. Prior to being sent to the canning factory, they are boxed in 35-lb. lots. Ten men are employed at this station, and will be kept busy for at least another month. The outfit which is operated by a 40 h.p. tractor, commences at 4 o'clock each morning and suspends operations each day early in the afternoon.

Mr. Matthews pointed out the necessity for complete co-operation and understanding between the C.P.C. and the farmers in this venture on account of the fact that the peas must be cut at precisely the right time, otherwise they are of little use for canning. In order to determine the correct time at which to cut the crop, the C.P.C. employs a field man in each district who has given much valuable advice to the farmers concerned, as to the seeding, growing and threshing of peas. Mr. Matthews paid tribute to the perfect way in which the farmers had followed their instructions and expressed complete satisfaction at the way in which the work is now progressing.

At the factory the trucks unload the boxed peas at the loading platform, where they are placed on a conveyor, which carries the peas through a cleaner, wherein all the foreign matter is excluded. Passing through the cleaner the peas are automatically loaded into an endless chain of small buckets, and commence a long journey to the fourth floor of the packing house, where they are ingeniously dumped into a machine which grades the peas according to size.

Thorough Inspection

As the peas come over an endless belt from the graders, they are carefully inspected by girls, who pick out any foreign matter which may have escaped the attention of the automatic cleaner. Incidentally this operation is the only one throughout the whole process, in which the peas come into contact with human hands. The girl operators at the inspection bench are attired in spotless blue overalls with while caps.

After passing through another washing tank and steamer the peas are fed from a shoot into the tin cans, as they are fed continuously onto the filling tables, from an ingeniously contrived magazine.

On the occasion of The Examiner representative's visit to the plant the peas were being canned at the rate of 100 tins per minute. The liquid used in the pea canning consists of certain percentages of sugar, salt and water. After filling, the tins pass along in a steady stream, under a machine which quickly and efficiently places an airtight lid in position after which the cans are placed in large iron baskets and are transported along an overhead rail to the cooking retorts, wherein they remain for 30 minutes at a temperature of 240 degrees Fahrenheit. Cooking completed, the baskets of canned peas are hoisted out of the retorts by an electric hoist and are placed in a cooling tank for twenty minutes in continual motion. From the cooling tank they are transported on the overhead rail to the storage room, where they are kept in readiness for labelling.

A striking feature of the whole operation is the entire lack of waste. The straw from the peas is used for cattle feed while the foreign matter which is extracted at the packing plant is used for hog feed.

Some idea of the extensive nature of the Canadian Packing Company's canning operations can be gauged from the fact that a car load of cans is shipped in from Niagara Falls every other day.

Dr. Margaret Patterson, in addressing Institute Workers, says, "We realize that it is necessary as conditions are to-day, to organize the industries of our country. It is important, but it is ten times more important to organize the recreations of our country. To a great extent, the future of our country depends upon teaching children the proper use of leisure."

An English Educationalist says: "It is a most important, though often forgotten function of education to teach the use of leisure.

She says, "we must be just about as careful and solicitous over the welfare of a boy to-day as over our girls, but if we instil in our girls, the proper idea of their responsibility as leaders, we would not have a single boy problem to solve. If we can just solve the girl problem there would not be a boy problem. If the girls set high standards, the boys will endeavour to measure up to them.

It seems to me that if youth has made a mistake to-day, it is in the misinterpretation of the word "Freedom." The only real freedom is in adapting yourself to the needs of your community. In short, it is playing the game, and if we do have the proper kind of recreation, all our young people will know how to play the game.

If a child is not brought up to obey the laws in its own home, how can we expect it to obey the laws of the land, when it goes into the world? If it is not taught to regard the rights of others, as it grows up, it is not all at once going to develop the habit.

A lack of reading shows itself in so many ways, a lack of general information. In a good many Institutes, they have lending libraries, circulating libraries and reading circles. This is commendable, and it would be well if it could be extended and the old debating societies and singing schools revived.

Our young folks are looking for life. They will never find life that issatisfying apart from the One who said, "I am come that ye might have life and that ye might have it in abundance."

She gives the following prescription to live by:

"Whatsoever things are true,
Whatsoever things are honourable,
Whatsoever things are just,
Whatsoever things are lovely,
Whatsoever things are of good report,
if there be any virtue, if there be anything worthy of Praise, think on these things."

WHITFIELD SCHOOL TEACHER IS HONORED BY THE RATEPAYERS

Miss Ethel McKnight Severing Connections After 12 Years as Teacher of District.

PRESENTATION MADE

MILLBROOK, July 11 (Examiner Correspondence)—A pleasant surprise was prepared for Miss McKnight recently when a large number of friends and neighbors called at her home, Seventh Line, Cavan, to enjoy a social gathering together, and to express to her their sincere regret at the severing of her connection with the parents and ratepayers of this district as teacher at Whitfield's School, after serving successfully for twelve consecutive years in that capacity.

When all had assembled, and the unexpected guests had been warmly welcomed by Mrs. McKnight and her daughter, Miss Ethel, Hilliard Lang acted as chairman and the following brief program was given, community singing preceding and following its items: piano solo, Miss Mary Armstrong; recitation, Miss Irene Davidson; piano solo, Miss Marie Douglas.

Presentation Made

At this point a pleasing interruption occurred when the chairman invited Miss McKnight to take a seat in the midst of the company, W. B. Williamson, on behalf of many friends, presenting her with a handsome solid leather "Aeropack" bag, and beaded purse, William Williamson reading the following address:

To Our Former Teacher, Miss Ethel McKnight,

Dear Miss McKnight,—The ratepayers of the Section, having learned with deep regret of your resignation, and at the conclusion of your twelve years of the most faithful and efficient service, we have gathered here this evening at your home to express to you our humble appreciation and thanks.

We frankly acknowledge, and deeply appreciate the responsibility that rests upon the teachers of our public schools. For a number of years the boys and girls, the coming manhood and womanhood of the nation, at a very impressionable stage of their lives, for a considerable time and to a very large degree are under the guiding and moulding influence of the teacher.

Those teachers have not alone endeavored to impart an education to the young, that would develop their intellects and help them learn the more readily through life, so they may be better equipped to carry on their chosen work, but the true teachers are always ready, at every opportunity, to point out and impress on the minds of their pupils, the great moral lessons that are found and portrayed in many of their studies. There are many of us, to-day advancing along the pathway of life who will ever cherish the moral lessons that we received from the teachers in our public school days. And as we look back to-night over these past twelve years of your work in our school, we feel that you have lived up to the highest traditions of your chosen profession. You have put life into it and given of your best, and the fruits of your labor are beyond computation, indelibly impressed upon the minds and hearts of the boys and girls who happily and fortunately came under your influence.

You have not alone brought credit to yourself and pupils, but you have brought honor and distinction to our school and community. For three years in succession, at our School Fair, in competition with other schools of the township, our school under your direction won the silver cup which itn ow holds in permanent possession. And in the few years that the Margaret Baptie Scholarship has been awarded you have succeeded in training three pupils who secured the first prize, and one who secured the second; a record for which you, your successful pupils, and the section should feel justly proud.

As a symbol of our appreciation of your past efforts, and of our best wishes toward you, as you labor on through the journey of life, we present you with this "Aeropack" and purse. We sincerely trust and pray that under the guiding Hand and Inspiration of the Great Teacher, you may long live to hold aloft the "Torch of Learning," and with His blessing continue to discharge the duties of your chosen calling which you have so eminently proven your capability to perform.

Signed on behalf of the ratepayers of School Section No. 8,

William Davidson
William R. Williamson

Taken completely by surprise Miss McKnight requested her brother Deputy-Reeve R. J. McKnight, to reply for her which he did in a few well-chosen words, others who spoke briefly being H. C. Argue, H. Lang, and W. B. Williamson.

Tribute Paid

The chairman then called upon Colonel Odell, Public School Inspector, who was included with the guests by special invitation, and made an appreciative address stating: "During the past twelve years I have had the pleasure of inspecting the work of Miss McKnight in your school, and I always found it decidedly marked by a wonderful degree of efficiency, eminently confirmed by the remarkable results in the annual township competition for the Baptie Scholarship.

Conscientious, efficient work is the chief characteristic in a successful teacher's life, as well as any other life, whether it be industrial agricultural, or professional, efficiency is what counts.

During the war when the best results in time, quality, and quantity were urgent, a new class of engineers was envolved, called "efficiency engineers," whose duty it was to minutely inspect all manufacturing plants with regard to cost, quality and quantity of production so as to effect the greatest efficiency of all concerned. One of these efficiency engineers was touring Switzerland professionally, and on making a freindly call, found the housewife rocking a full cradle with one foot and with the other operating a revolving churn. "Surely," said he "here is efficiency." On further observation he noted she was busy with both her hands knitting socks for her husband. "Double efficiency," he remarked to himself. He saw an open book on her lap which she had been reading, and he heard her croon a soft lullaby to the disturbed occupants of the cradle. "Surely this is the climax of efficiency," he noted. In the meantime the butter came. The engineer expressing his fondness for buttermilk the lady rose to give him a glass of it, and he saw she had been sitting on a small, Swiss cheese press.

"Miss McKnight, I am sure, has been equally active in hands, feet, and brain as this Swiss housewife, and I am equally certain she hasn't sat on the chair of ease while at her work."

No matter how capably efficient a teacher may be, the best results can only be when the spirit of active co-operation exists among all concerned, namely, first, between parents and teacher; second, between teacher and pupils; third, among the pupils, and fourth, among the parents. To ensure the first parent should avoid discussion of school difficulties with their children, but rather first interview the teacher. Most troubles, real or imaginary, are much magnified and made almost impossible of adjustment by not following this course. Parents should always avoid the possibility of strained relations between teacher and pupil, for if this exists proper progress is impossible.

With regard to the second, pupils should always be encouraged in the way of friendly relationship with the teacher. Co-operation among the pupils themselves is an essential factor, for if one or two do not co-operate with the rest the harmony of the school is spoiled, and the general progress retarded.

Lastly, the lack of co-operation of parents in the welfare of the school is very soon noted by the children and has a baneful effect on the school's discipline and progress. In view of this, do not blame the teacher because some other child advances faster than yours. Remember that all children are not born with equal mental capacity, not even in the same family. The degree of mental intelligence varies considerably — I have known it to vary as high as thirty per cent even in the same family. In cases of this kind talk to the teacher reasonably about them, and doubtless improvement will be noted in time."

Colonel Odell was warmly thanked for his imrormative address, and concluding the program were a piano duet by Misses Dorothy and Mary Armstrong, and a reading by Mr. Hilliard Lang.

Refreshments were served by the committee in charge, and the remainder of the evening passed pleasantly with card playing and other entertainment.

Mrs. Sarah J. Still, aged 71, who was recently fined $100 at Birmingham, England, for being an unlicensed money lender, was said to have charged 600 per cent interest.

NEW ISSUE OF POSTAGE STAMPS

New Issue is Claimed to be Inferior to the Old.

NONE IN CITY YET

No supply of Canada's new postage stamps has been received at the local Post Office as yet, according to authorities there. It is understood that the entire series of postage stamps issued from Ottawa 18 months ago is to be superceded by a re-engraved set, of which to date only two denominations have appeared, namely, the 2 cent green and the 5-cent purple.

Much criticism has been aroused by the engraving of the King's head on the new stamps. A quality of distortion renders the new issue vastly inferior to the old, in the opinion of many.

In the July bulletin for collectors by the Marks Stamp Co. of Toronto, the following note appears regarding the new issue: "Rather poorly executed, hence there is a possibility of short life."

The stamps are printed on a rotary press with a perforation of 11 millimetres. In addition to the head of King George, the design includes two maple leaves placed in the upper corners, the word "Canada" in a curved arch, and the words "Postes" and "Postage." The latter word supplants the "Post" of the former design and is believed to be one of the reasons for the new issue. The lower part of the design remains as before.

STIRLING INSTITUTE PLANS JOINT PICNIC

Mrs. M. W. Sine Reads Report on Address Given by Mrs. Wright at River Valley.

STIRLING, July 11.—(Examiner Correspodence).—At the meeting of the Women's Institute held on Thursday evening in the Community Hall Mrs M. W. Sine gave a report of the address given recently at River Valley by Mrs. Wright of Odessa.

After the opening exercises were completed, letters were read regarding the Kemptville household science school and fire protection. A committee was appointed to confer with the River Valley Institute concerning a joint picnic to be held in the near future at Oak Lake.

Slips of paper containing useful hints were passed around and read, the meeting concluding with a vegetable contest.

Property Changes.

Fred McKee has hold his property at the corner of Front and North streets which was badly damaged by fire some months ago, to the Imperial Oil Company, who intends razing the walls and erecting an up-to-date service station and rest room.

Mr. McKee has purchased the corner block across the street now occupied by J. S. Morton, as a drug store. The building will be remodelled, Mr. Morton to occupy one-half as a drug store and Mr. McKee will re-establish his harness business in the other half.

W. S. Martin has purchased the corner lot at the centre bridge recently occupied by Hiram Ackers, as a garage and which was completely destroyed by fire a few weeks ago. Mr. Martin will erect an up-to-date building on his adjoining lot to extend to the Ackers property. The land not covered by buildings will be converted into a beauty spot with shrubs and flowers.

Many Attend Re-union.

The "get together" days have passed and with good results, as far as attendance of old boys and girls was concerned as more than 400 visited the women's rest room at the Community Building and registered in the book provided for the purpose.

The financial side is better than other towns have experienced on like occasions and the balance is on the right side according to the report of officers in charge.

Tatooing is being used by European beauty specialists to produce permanent rosy cheeks and ruby lips and to tone down noses of too-vivid hue.

WATCH THE POISONS.

When you swallow Carbolic Acid or Tincture of Iodine, by mistake, you at once become alarmed and say, "Send for a doctor, I have been poisoned." For one person poisoned from these preparations, there are thousands of persons poisoned daily from faulty elimination of poisons produced by the body itself. When the kidneys or the liver are not working well, they fail to carry away these dangerous poisons and the result is that you wake up in the morning with a headache, a stiff back or stiff joints, caused by poisons that remain in the system. If you wish to correct this condition, procure a box of Dr. Banta's Kidney and Rheumatic Pills and they will enable the kidneys to eliminate these poisons from your body and will make you feel fit and active for any kind of work.

Dr. Banta's Kidney and Rheumatic Pills are on sale by W. H. Semple, Druggist, Cobourg, and if they fail to do what we claim for them your money will be refunded.

W.M.S. MEETING OF MADOC CHURCH

Good Program Given at Home of Mrs. Hugh McMechan—Militia Leaves For Camp.

MADOC, July 11.—(Examiner Correspondence). — Members of the W.M.S. of Trinity United church held their July meeting at the home of Mrs. Hugh McMechan, when an interesting part of the program was the reading on "Poisoned Arrows" conducted by Mrs Rivers.

Mrs. S. S. Ashley, the president, occupied the chair and Mesdames J. Henderson and W. Ludbrook were in charge of the program. Mrs. Henderson read a devotional leaflet entitled "The Christian and Temperance" and Mrs. Fair read the scriptural lesson with Mrs. Rivers and Mrs. Lowery leading in prayer.

The roll call was answered by scripture verses containing the word "love." Reports were received from the treasurer, corresponding secretary and finance committee." A duet, "Moment by moment, evermore thine" was sung by Miss N. Fair and Mrs. Fair, with Mrs. Ludbrook at the piano.

Mrs. L. Ashley contributed a beautiful reading, "Thirty pieces of silver" followed by the usual closing exercises.

Entertains Young People

Mrs. L. Ashley of West St. Lawrence street entertained the members and friends of the young people's league at afternoon tea recently when about fifty-five were in attendance. A good program was presented by the young people consisting of solos by little Miss Sadie Tumulty and Miss Helen Wellman. Choruses were sung by the Misses Jean Whytock, Margaret Moon and Jean Nickle; also by the Misses Reta Smith, Madeline Bailey, Helen Wellman and Kathleen Phillips.

Quartettes were given by Mesdames Hulin, Whytock, Ashley and Miss N. Fair, while instrumental numbers were given by the Misses Ludbrook and Mrs. Ludbrook.

Leave For Camp.

A full number of vounteers for military training left here on Tuesday morning for Barriefield under the charge of Major Newell Broad, of the Hastings and Prince Edward Regiment. Accompanying them were those who attended military classes in Belleville during the winter, and were successful in their examinations: Capt. Rupert, Lieut. Nayler, Lieut. Whytock, Sergeant-Major Mackenzie and Sergeant H. J. Nickle.

partment alone the King government has saved the people of Canada $80,000,000 a year, for that is what the railways of the national system were costing us before Mackenzie King was elected head of the government. That money was a direct charge upon the taxpayers of this country, and from a heavy liability our railways have become a great national asset.

The Tariff Board.

Have you heard any one finding fault with the Tariff Board? That is another outstanding achievement of the Liberal government. Mackenzie King took the tariff out of politics as he had promised the people and placed it in the hands of experts. Since this Board came into existence, any application for a change in the tariff was referred to the Board of which Mr. H. Moore, the Liberal candidate in Ontario county, was the brilliant chairman. Every application was thoroughly investigated by experts, and it is a fact that some of the steel men admitted that they learned from the Tariff Board some things about their industry which they had not known themselves."

"I could go on reviewing the record of the Liberal government, for example in the establishment of Old Age Pensions and so on, but I have mentioned sufficient of the outstanding measures which I think should appeal to the good judgment of the electors and win a renewal of their confidence at the polls on July 28.

Hired Man or Reeve.

If you had a hired man on your farm who took care of your business to your complete satisfaction, would you not keep him in his position? Or if you have a reeve who looks after the affairs of your municipality in a way that is economical and at the same time attending to all the needs of the township, surely you would elect him for another term, and for as long as he gave you such good service

In the same way, only on a far greater scale, the affairs of the Dominion should receive your closest attention, and if a government and a Premier like Mackenzie King have made such a record of administering the affairs of this country as I have mentioned don't you think you should retain that government in office? I think you will, and to my Conservative friends here I would like also to remind them that there is a decided swing to the Liberal party in this election because of the Dunning Budget Three members of the Conservative party in the last House voted for that budget; a former Conservative member of Parliament is running as a Liberal candidate in this election; you have also read that very significant letter of Col. MacKendrick who this week declared in the Toronto press that because of the opportunities of the Dunning Budget for a larger measure of trade within the Empire he was going to cast his first Liberal vote on election day.

And I don't need to tell you that Mr. J. Hampden Burnham of Peterborough, whom you all know, and who was the Conservative member for West Peterborough for quite a number of years is also going to vote for the Dunning Budget, and is speaking on Liberal platforms, endorsing it as a great forward step in promoting a stronger relationship within the Empire, especially in the trade opportunities which it affords. These are facts which I ask you to think over before election day, and I believe that you will vote for the Liberal candidate in this riding. If you elect me as your representative I assure you that I shall give the affairs of this city and county of Peterborough and all its people my very best attention."

J. J. Gray.

"The attitude of the Liberal party in extending the British Preference," said Mr. Gray, "is we'll trust the Englishman and Scotsman of the Old Land in the fullest confidence that they will treat us as fairly as we are treating them. That is the spirit in which Canada's representatives to the Economic Conference of the Empire in London this fall will go to London if the people return the Liberal government to power.

On the other hand Hon. R. B. Bennett, leader of the Conservative party, speaks of driving a hard bargain with the British people Have you not experienced in your own business that the better you treat a man with whom you are doing business the better he will treat you. You establish friendly relations, and surely if there should be friendly business relations between any countries they should be between Canada and Great Britain and also with the other dominions of the Empire. That in a nutshell is the spirit of the British Preference extensions which Hon. Mr. Dunning has set before you in his first budget."

"Mr. Bennett and other Conservative speakers who are repeating his opinions say that the Dunning Budget is only an empty gesture," Mr. Gray remarked. "On the other hand the leaders of the three great political parties in Britain, the British newspapers and British business men promptly welcomed the budget as opening the way to better things. Some of the sister Dominions have already shown their appreciation by granting Canada trade favors. They evidently don't regard the Dunning Budget as "an empty gesture."

There is still a Canadian tariff against most British goods which should amply protect our industries. But we say by the preferential tariff that we will give Britain a lower tariff than we give other countries. We have had the British Preference for more than thirty years, and our industries have flourished so that today Canada is a great manufacturing nation."

EXPERIENCE

Annabelle was, without a doubt, the loveliest girl at the junior prom. Her slim figure, curved like the hull of a racing yacht, her hair of burnished gold, her wide, not too innocent eyes made all the lads' hearts beat faster. She was the center of a crowd all evening. Oh, for a dance with this beautiful creature—or even a smile—a look of recognition—anything! But my evening was miserable; I was unable to approach her.

I know better now, though. Never again will I take a beautiful girl to the junior prom.

Ozone
the ideal water purifier

Drink Coca-Cola Delicious and Refreshing

WATER PURIFICATION is the starting point of all sanitation. In the past two thousand years nations and communities have spent fabulous sums fn their efforts to insure pure water for their peoples.

Almost everybody is familiar with the healthful properties of ozone in sea breezes and in the pure, clean air of the pine forests. Ozone, after centuries of research, has finally been recognized by scientists as the ideal and complete water purifying agent.

Independent of the measures taken by health authorities to insure pure drinking water, this water, used in making Coca-Cola (syrup), is subjected to a final and absolute purification by passing it through an ozone generator, which, by means of a powerful electric discharge, takes the oxygen from purified air and converts it into ozone. The water is then subjected to the action of this "ozonized air". Such treatment insures absolute purity.

Just Between Us Women

A daily chat with Examiner neighbors conducted by Anne Wilcox

IF I WERE TO ASK you the question, "What is charm?" what would be your answer? I am sure everyone of you would not give the same answer, yet what is it?

• • • • • • •

Should we look the word up in the dictionary we find it has many meanings—"a spell or enchantment; an allurement; a trinket; influence by magic, give exquisite delight to."

• • • • • • •

Just recently while discussing this subject someone described it as "generosity of judgment coupled with kindness."

• • • • • • •

And the generosity seemed so true that I am passing it along for your consideration!

• • • • • • •

From the meanings I have given we see the dictionary gives fascination as a synonym for charm, and further states charm to be a power of alluring or delighting.

• • • • • • •

These, of course, are only descriptive without being helpful in attaining charm, but the definition I give you is suggestive of ways by which charm can be acquired.

• • • • • • •

I don't know whether you have noticed it particularly or not, but the person who has generosity of judgment is never severe or censorious.

• • • • • • •

She realizes that there may be extenuating circumstances, even when evidence indicates that someone has been most unwise, and perhaps has acted very strangely.

• • • • • • •

These circumstances have to be reckoned with. They may alter the whole aspect of an affair. Without knowing what these circumstances are, no one is in a position to judge another's actions harshly!

• • • • • • •

Yet we know only too well that this is being done continuously!

• • • • • • •

If you meet a person who is generous in judgments towards others—who is willing to believe the best of anyone—you may be sure he or she will be equally kind in summing up your own actions, and you are drawn towards whoever it is.

• • • • • • •

You are charmed, and by doing the same thing you, too, can become charming.

• • • • • • •

Leaving the word "charm" for a moment, let us think of the word "generous," and what it means. It is defined as "liberal, bountiful, open-hearted, magnanimous."

• • • • • • •

Put any of these words before judgment, and it infuses leniency into what is a rather severe word. No one would shrink from an open-hearted judgment, a liberal judgment, etc.

• • • • • • •

Neither does one withdraw from a personality that uses such kindly judgments. Instead others are drawn to individuals of this calibre.

• • • • • • •

And the good thing about it is that such a power lies within the reach of all who will temper their judgment with kindly generosity.

• • • • • • •

There is a fine reactionary effect upon persons who use a kindly generosity of judgment. They cannot exercise kindness without becoming kindly, tolerant and sweet.

• • • • • • •

A mother uses generosity of judgment, coupled with kindness, in the treatment of a child. To him, she is the most wonderful and charming person in the world. An over-indulgent mother loses influence over him, because she does not exertise judgment.

• • • • • • •

A child respects good judgment—not harsh, but kindly judgment—the true sort that is defined as the power to decide correctly.

• • • • • • •

When a correct judgment is tempered with kindness and benevolence, it is a rather appealing thing. It has a winning aspect and appeal. It lends charm.

That Body of Yours

By James W. Barton, M.D.

EATING WHEN NOT HUNGRY.

You have heard some one say that you should only eat when you are hungry, and eat only the kinds of food that you like. That if you eat when you are not hungry, and eat foods you don't like, that the food will not be digested and ill do you no good; you'll get no nourishment from it.

Now unfortunately this is not true. All your stomach needs to get it to give out its juice for digestion is some weigh on it. In fact as mentioned before a rubber ball has been pushed down the throat into the stomach and the weight of this ball has been sufficient to start action by the stomach digestive juice.

During the war some research men caused a number of volunteers to eat food that was prepared, so as to be repulsive, and found that in most cases it was broken up by the digestive juices and properly absorbed.

This means then that even if you do not feel hungry, and even if the food placed before you is not appetizing, nevertheless Nature knows that your body must have food to give it the necessary heat for all its various processes—the beating of the heart, the circulation of the blood, breathing and so forth—and consequently it digests the food for you.

Of course it takes a longer time to do it, but it will do it.

This is the reason that the Weir Mitchell system of shutting a person up in a quiet darkened room, free from any annoyances, and simply crowding food into him was often beneficial to the nervous and undernourished individual.

However, when you are not hungry and the food is not inviting, you should spread the meals well apart, as much as six hours if possible.

When you are hungry and you like the food, digestion is often complete in two or three hours because the hunger and the smell and the sight of food starts the juices flowing long before you start to eat. It is like a runner getting a "running start' past the starting mark instead of starting from the mark itself. Or as some one has put it, it acts somewhat like kerosene in a cold stove; without it the fire would eventually get started, but with it a half hour of blowing and waiting can be saved.

The thought then is that you need food, must eat it even if not hungry, and Nature will help to digest it if you keep the meals five or six hours apart.

Uncommon Sense

By John Blake

LEARN TO RECOGNIZE YOUR FRIENDS.

People are afraid of missing opportunities.

The picture in the minds of most of us is the figure of Opportunity quietly stealing up to a closed door and giving one insistent knock.

If there is no one there to open the door and bid the golden guest enter, he departs never to return again.

That he is always at the door, that his knock is constant, that he will batter down the door to force his gifts upon us is furthest from our hopes.

And yet it is so with Opportunity.

The name we call him often is Hard Luck.

You have heard many times a complaining voice say, "Wouldn't you know I'd be the one to get this tough job? No soft snap for me."

But if the eyes were only quick enough, wouldn't the whiner see old Opportunity standing with his gift outstretched?

Every difficulty is just an opportunity for learning and growth.

If we do not use our arms we know that they will wither.

If we do not exercise our strength of mind or body we are perfectly aware that it will go from us.

Every hardship is a chance to increase our knowledge. If we surmount one, we have increased power for conquering the next.

I know a man who said that whatever he feared to do he instantly did.

This man ran to meet Opportunity and his reward was the conquest of fear.

If this attitude of mind could be constant with us, how cheerfully we would welcome all our tasks.

"This is my opportunity to learn how to do this job in the best and most efficient way," we would say when we encountered a hard situation.

Without being hampered by a sense of abuse that we had so disagreeable a piece of work to do, our minds would function easily and instantly.

Hard Luck has turned out so often to be our disguise for Opportunity that it is strange that we still fail to see behind the robe.

Only our willingness to excuse our weakness and laziness hides his face.

Most people must be forced unwillingly to their achievements.

Few seek difficult or dangerous work.

If we were left to our own choice, few would seek work at all.

And yet we all know people who have been ruined by the lack of necessity to work.

Only genius, which is driven by the hardest taskmaster of all, can get far without the goad.

If we were not obliged to labor or exert ourselves we should never know our capacities. Welcome Opportunity, who brings you the chance to use all your powers.

Do not close the door, thinking it is only Hard Luck.

OUR CHILDREN

By Angelo Patri

SLOW DRESSING.

It takes an eternity for some children to dress. They undo a button and then make an excursion about the house. Somebody asks why and they undo another button or so. The next thing somebody discovers them half naked sitting in the chill breeze and hustles them off to dress. A suit of underwear is draped on and partly buttoned. One foot gets into a stocking. An hour or more has passed since the first effort and nothing has been accomplished yet. Mother in desperation jerks the remaining stocking into place, snaps the garter and hustles the other garments into place.

"If you don't learn to dress yourself any faster than this I'm sure I don't know what is going to happen to you. How are you going to get ready for school? How are you ever going to be ready for anything?"

By learning to dress himself, of course. But how are we to get this child to learn when every effort fails? There is no way but the old way of keeping at it. Insist upon a stated hour for rising. Pull the child out of bed if necessary, being as gentle in the process as you can. There must be no temper in the matter because that makes things worse. We have to be as calm and as impersonal as possible.

Set the alarm clock to ring at the end of fifteen minutes. The child must be washed and dressed by that time. In the beginning, help a lot. Put on one stocking while he puts on the other and race to it. Hold the trousers while he gets into them. Help button them, but leave him his own share every time. Don't be so fast about it that he fumbles and loses his head and starts to cry. Keep at a steady rhythm and pretend to disregard him. As he gets hold of the idea, lessen your share and keep him for helping himself so well. Make luch of any sign of self-help.

Usually such children are lacking in rhythm. They have long lapses into dreamland. When wakened up they go ahead for a few minutes, gradually slackening to idleness once more. For them a stirring march is a good stimulant. Turn on the victrola and let the slow child dress to Sousa's marches.

It is necessary to give the child firsthand experiences in this matter of slowness. He must be allowed to take the inconveniences that follow his dawdling. It is not always possible to do this because some of the penalties would cost him too much. But we can watch for a convenient time and let the full weight of his bad habit fall upon him. If he is not ready at the time set for the car ride he stays at home—even if you have to stay too. Nothing makes so deep an impression as an unpleasant experience of that kind.

Dawdling over meals is part of this trouble. Serve the meal on time, remove it promptly and if the slow child has not finished, so much the worse for him. Serve him nothing between meals, and hunger will soon teach him the sanity of promptness.

Preparation is always a great help. If all clothing is laid ready to put on, in the exact order of need, the child will go at the job with better grace and make greater speed. If meals are served at set times everything ready in its place, that will speed the desire for eating as well as the process.

NINE SUCCUMB AS HEAT WAVE SWEEPS WEST

Seven Drowned, One Hit By Lightning, Heat Takes Other in Toll.

TWO NEAR DEATH.

Respite Looms To-day For First Time After Three Record Days.

WINNIPEG, July 11. — Sundown brought relief last night to a sweltering Westland, and the morrow promised a respite from the oppressive heat of the last few days. Two drownings in Saskatchewan, indirectly due to the record high temperatures of the last 48 hours, swelled the heat wave death toll to nine within three days.

Moderately warm weather in Manitoba showed lower mercury listings yesterday than Wednesdays record marks. But in Saskatchewan and Alberta the sun refused to cease frowning down on parched wheat lands. A few scattered rainstorms brought but meagre relief. Increased crop damage due to burned out grain stands was being reported, and indications of rust danger were recorded in some sections. Dorothy Airey, aged 14, and Harold Longman, aged 8, drowned near Watrous, Sask., when sultry heat forced folks to the swimming holes. Five other drownings have been reported from the Prairie Provinces within the last three days, and one man was killed in Saskatchewan by lightning during the height of the heat spell. A woman succumbed at Moose Jaw, Sask., when the hot wave began, and yesterday an aged man and a babe were near death from heat prostration.

CANADIAN HELD IN U.S. HOSPITAL

SHERIFF ASKS $7,500 BAIL.

GRANBY, Que., July 11 (C.P.) — Friends and relatives of a sick Canadian motorist are experiencing difficulty in getting him out of an American hospital and back to his home in St. Hyacinthe, Que. Laurent Pontbriand, weak from illness and a recent operation, fell unconscious at the wheel of a light delivery truck Monday afternoon, and the truck crashed into one of the cars of a wedding party heading for Newport, Vt. Six occupants of the American car suffered slight injuries, among them a ten-year-old girl who had a fractured jaw.

An ambulance was called from Knowlton, Que., and the injured Pontbriand taken to a Newport hospital across the border, which was 15 miles south of the spot where the accident occurred. Now he is in the hospital under arrest. His father went to Newport yesterday with a Canadian ambulance to bring his boy home, but the car was stopped at the border by the Vermont sheriff, who detained the injured man and sent him back to hospital. It is charged that the ambulance did not report at the customs' house on the way to the hospital. A bond of $7,500 is required by the American authorities to release Pontbriand on bail.

SQUARE DANCING IS BECOMING POPULAR

Red Moncrief and Haymakers Go Over Big at Melody Inn.

"Dip and dive in the ocean wave. That fair lady you must save."—

"The outside under, the inside over. The same over here and the same over yonder."—

Through a megaphone, the "caller-off" sent his commands to his devotees of the square dance, last night, at Melody Inn, Lakefield. It was "square" night, with alternate modern and old-time dance numbers, and the pavilion was filled with people who tripped and slid on the polished center floor, who stood in rows outside the red and green railing, to watch the dancers, and who sat at the little red and yellow tables and took in the sights from a comfortable location.

Red Moncrief and his Haymakers provide the jolly music for the square dances at the Inn. They play old favorites like "Jingle Bells" which makes wonderfu music for a square number, and "Turkey in the Straw", 'Soldiers' Joy" and "The Irish Washerwoman."

Rick Roberts with his Melody Men play for the round dancing, with all the old and new favorites: "If I Had a Girl Like You", "Keepin' Myself for You", "Tea for Two", "April Showers" and 'Happy Days." "When They Cut Down that Old Pine Tree" is a good number, with Stewart Widdess and Joe Watson singing the refrain. Joe and Tap Thirnbeck have another popular tune, in "The Song Without a Name."

The big dancing pavilion, with its bright lights, its splendid and careful management by Rick Roberts, its brilliant crystal ball and its colored decorations, is a favorite rendezvous through the warm summer nights. Each Thursday night sees a step dancing contest there, with a crowded gallery to watch and applaud.

Sam Houlihan, of Peterborough brought down the house last night with his clever fancy steps. Other competitors, who represent, with Mr. Houlihan, winners in previous weekly contests, were also present to do their stuff; Jack and Vincent McManus of Lakefield and D. Sullivan of Ennismore. C. JURY FINDS WILLIAM CROWDER MEETS WITH ACCIDENTAL DEATH

CIVIL ENGINEER IN FINE SHAPE NOW

"My wife got me started on Sargon after I had gone through a two-year siege of bad health and now I feel like a new man.

W. BRAGGINS.

"I suffered terribly with indigestion that made me so nervous I'd frequently sit up half the night until I could compose myself. I lost weight rapidly and my strength and energy were far below normal. Sargon made me a changed man! I've had a gratifying increase in strength, weight and energy, my appetite is hearty, I sleep splendidly and get up strong and feeling fine.

"I have never in all my life tried any laxatives that work like Sargon Pills. They regulate the bowels and stimulate the liver without any unpleasant effects, and their good results are lasting."—W. Braggins, No. 7 Chesterfield St., Apartment No. 4, Toronto, well-known civil engineer with the Canadian Highway Department.

Sargon may be obtained in Peterborough at Bond's Drug Store.

MARRIED IN 1927.

(Examiner Correspondence.)

OMEMEE, July 11. — An inquest into the death of William Crowder, whose mangled body was found on the C.N.R. track just east of Omemee on Saturday morning, was held in the Council Chamber on Wednesday evening. Crown Attorney A. E. Anderson of Lindsay, together with Coroner G. N. Earle conducted the hearing as follows:

Russell McQuade, who was the first witness called, told of finding a sack west of the crossing with feathers in it, and saw dead hens east of the crossing between the rails, at about 7 a.m. Then he saw a man's hand on the ties and a pair of boots close by between the rails, and later discovered a man between the rails with his head cut off, and his clothes practically torn off. A watch, pocket-book and iodine bottle, also cap and shirt, were also found.

Constable D. H. Porter of Lindsay, gave evidence of being called to the scene of the accident on Saturday but when he arrived the body had been moved. He picked up $3.27 in silver scattered along also a bottle of iodine and a watch and chain. A note was found, also a shaving brush. He saw deceased three or four days before his death, and knew him, also his clothes. He had obtained the numbers of engines which passed through during the night, three in all, but none of the train crews had seen anything on the track.

Married in 1927.

Mrs. Crowder was next called, and said she was married August 22, 1927. She last saw her husband Thursday night at 10 o'clock. He lived with her when not working, but he was not accustomed to staying at home. She did not see him after the accident but recognized the purse and the watch. He had had insurance in the Prudential Life but it had been dropped.

E. Marsh, of Omemee, who knew the late Mr. Crowder to see him, said he was in the Commercial House about 11 o'clock on Friday night and bought a bottle of pop.

The C. N. R. was represented by Claims Agent but he did not ask any questions.

The jury, composed of H. Lamb, foreman, H. McGinness, G. Newman, W. Douglas, J. Magee, R. McConnell, and G. Tripp, brought in the following verdict:

"We, the undersigned jurymen empanelled to inquire into the death of William Crowder, beg leave to report as follows: That Mr. Crowder came to his death purely accidentally, and that no blame whatsoever can be attached to the C.N.R. From what evidence we have been able to hear we are all of the opinion that Mr. Crowder came to his death by trying to catch an east bound freight train, and carrying too much of a load was dragged under the train, and met his death on the early morning of July 5, 1930

"All right chum. Shake hands. We are the best of friends," were the last words of Walter Bennett to Albert McKay after he had been knocked down and fatally injured by the bicycle ridden by McKay at Edmonton, England, recently.

These Six Rules for the Safety of Children on streets and highways are issued by this Committee so that they may be taught by parents to every child in the Province.

Clip them out. Read them to your children. Explain them. The need for care on the part of children grows with the increasing traffic every year.

Six Rules for Children's Safety on Streets and Highways

1. Don't play on streets or highways.
2. Don't cross busy streets except at crossings—always LOOK BOTH WAYS whenever you cross a street or highway.
3. Don't dart from behind a parked car.
4. Don't ride on the back of trucks, wagons or cars.
5. Don't ride your bicycle without both hands on the handle bars, and both feet on the pedals. Don't swerve in and out—keep close to the curb. Be careful at cross streets. Don't hang on to trucks, wagons or cars.

Toronto Leafs Climb Nearer Second Place Berth

O'NEILLS DEFEAT SKEETERS 1-0 FOR 26TH VICTORY IN 36 GAMES

WINGS BOW TO KEYS.

A month of brilliant play has once more carried the Toronto Maple Leafs into a position where they are giving the International League leaders, Baltimore and Rochester, cause for serious worry.

Nosing out Jersey City, 1—0, in a great pitcher's battle yesterday, the Leafs won their 26th victory in 36 games. That figures out as .733 baseball; good enough, if maintained, to win the pennant in most any league.

Dave Miner of Jersey City gave Sam Gibson a hot argument all the way down the line in yesterday's encounter, but the Leafs' managed to win out in the seventh inning. Joe Harris, who used to murder curve balls in the majors, walked to start the frame and went to second on an infield out. Here Pete Cote inserted a single that scored Harris from second and gave the Leafs the only run of the game. Miner allowed seven hits, while Gibson was reached for only two, a single by Wera in the second and another by Walker in the seventh. The Toronto triumph put the Leafs within one game of the second place Red Wings, with Baltimore only a step ahead.

Kings Bow to Keys

Rochester bowed to Reading 5 to 2 because Berly couldn't keep his home-run ball away from Scott and Davis. Scott connected for a round trip wallop with two on in the first inning and Davis with one on in the fourth. Berly was touched for only six hits in the seven innings he worked, but as related, the Keys made full use of their opportunities. Bill McAfee, recruit hurler from the University of Michigan, kept Rochester's seven hits well scattered.

Roy Parmalee was wild and ineffective and Newark bowed to Montreal, 9—6. The Royals took advantage of four passes and a hit batsman and an error by Parm Lee himself. Montreal scored six runs in the third inning, but Newark tied the count at 7-all in the first half of the eighth. Chambers had relieved Parmalee in the fourth and had himself been removed in favor of Faulkner who failed to hold the Royals in the last half of the eighth when the Canadian scored two runs and won the game.

Easy Win for Bisons

Baltimore lost a chance to increase its lead over Rochester as Buffalo slugged out an easy 10—7 decision in a night game. The defeat left Baltimore holding on to its one-game margin over Rochester. The game was not nearly so close as the score would indicate. The Bisons pounded Roy for three runs in the first inning and two in the second and later added three in the fifth and two in the sixth. Freddy Fussell, former Pittsburgh Pirate southpaw, had only one bad frame, the second, when the Orioles scored four runs. Fussel tightened up, however, and did not ease up again until the Bisons had given him a safe lead. Baltimore made only eight hits as compared with fourteen for Buffalo.

48 REMAIN IN GOLF FLIGHTS

Sandy Somerville Matched Against George Boechk in To-day's Play.

FOR ONTARIO TITLE.

TORONTO, Ont. July 11. (C.P.)—After playing under a scorching sun yesterday the majority of players welcomed the overcast skies that greeted them this morning when they prepared to tee-off in the first round of match play in the eighth annual Ontario Golf Championship over the Scarboro golf club course.

Of the 140 who started in the qualifying round but 48 remain to compete in the championship, second and third flights to-day.

The feature round yesterday was the splendid exhibition of C. R. Somerville, who led the field with a par equalling 72. He was a bit erratic going out and turned in a 39 for the first nine holes. On the homeward journey, however, the defending champion struck his real stride and by the assistance of birdies on the tenth, twelfth, thirteenth and sixteenth holes, he finished with a par smashing 33.

To-day the Londoner will match strokes with George Boechk Toronto, in the sixth match of the championship flight. The latter finished with 76 in the qualifying round to land in sixth place.

J. B. Nash, another London entrant, who finished second yesterday with 74, opposes Ken Ashman, Toronto, in the championship flight. The Torontonian scored a 79 in the qualifying round to finish thirteenth.

John S. Lewis, one of the two remaining Brantford golfers, is drawn against Basil Murphy, Toronto, in the second flight. The former turned in a card of 80 yesterday while Murphy was three strokes higher.

E. C. Gould, the other Brantford competitor, did not do so well as Lewis in the qualifying round and to-day is bracketed in the third flight with J. G. Hyland, Toronto. Both took 85 to complete the first 18 holes.

ODE TO A FRESHMAN PLEDGE CAP

I love you, my darling, like no man can say,
You stay near me at night and on me by day;
Though small and round-like, you're intense as the deuce,
And you cover the spot e'en though a bit loose.
When it's cold in winter, you're cozy and warm.
And even in summer you don't do no harm,
But when it rains, my gawd!, you don't think,
Just tay out'n get wet, and, oh, what a stink!
But after casting bad habits aside,
I'll think it all over, 'n I'm bound to decide,
Though in nine months you'll fade and shrink,
Yet still I'll love you, my sweetie, my Dink.

GIANTS WINNERS IN HITTING SPREE

Defeat Philadelphia 19-8 in Only Game Played in National League.

The National League had but one game on its schedule yesterday and there was some doubt as to whether it was baseball that New York and Philadelphia played. The Giants won by a score of 19 to 18, hardly an ordinary baseball result, and some of the fielding looked far out of place on a major league diamond. The New Yorkers had their biggest hitting spree in the third inning when they batted around twice, made nine hits and scored ten runs. They finished with a total of 26 hits, to which the Phillies added five errors. Pete Donohue yielded 16 blows, including the feature clout of the game, Chuck Klein's 25th home run of the season, but had no trouble going the route.

Plan Clean-Up Of Country Cemeteries

Motion Passed at Regular Meeting of Dummer Council —Hydro By-law Accepted.

The municipal council of Dummer Township met in the Town Hall at Warsaw on Friday, July 4, with members present, Reeve J. R. Hawthorne, Councillors E. Baptie, J. Drain, Wm. Darling and E. M. McDonald.

Pay list voucher showing an expenditure to the amount of $1,693.36 for roads was accepted and authorized to be signed.

A communication from the Hydro Electric Commission read advising that the by-law and agreement authorizing the operation of the Hydro within the municipality had been accepted.

Mr. Nixon, Weed Inspector, interviewed the council in regard to neglected cemeteries located within the municipaliyt. He pointed out that all unclaimed cemeteries had to be taken over by the municipality and put in a proper condition.

The council decided that owing to the dilapidated condition that some of the cemeteries are in to arrange to have them cleaned up and put in a more respectable condition and delegated the following councillors to oversee the work: E. N. McDonald to take charge of the old Baptist cemetery on the fifth line; James Hawthorne to take charge of the English Line cemetery, and John Drain to take charge of the Third Line cemetery.

Any wishing to contribute in memory of departed friends in the repair and beautifying of either of these cemeteries may do so by forwarding their donation in care of the municipality

WESTERN TEAMS IN TIGHT RACE

WIN FOR YANKEES.

Three eastern clubs are about all that is left in the American league pennant race, but the four western members are putting on a struggle of their own that is close enough to stir up some interest. Cleveland, holding fourth place by diminishing margin over Detroit, is having a great rivalry with the Tigers, while Chicago and St. Louis are staging an equally close struggle for sixth place.

The Indians went one up on their nearest rivals yesterday with eight victories against seven for Detroit by winning yesterday's opening game of an abbreviated series, 6 to 5. Cleveland got off to a fast start and just lasted to gain the decision and to improve their shaky hold on third place to gain a 4½ game margin. There was not much difference between the teams, each using three pitchers and each making 12 hits, but Cleveland had the extra punch to make it three victories in a row for the first time in nearly a month.

St. Louis again moved ahead of Chicago's White Sox, taking sixth place by a half game margin and gaining a 7-6 margin in the games played between the two clubs by winning a ten inning game 7 to 6 The insertion of Ted Gullic into the lineup turned the tide in favor of the Browns. As a pinch hitter he singled to bring in the tying run in the eighth and in the tenth he hit a home run to win the game.

Washington recovered rapidly from the break in its winning streak by taking the final encounter from the Boston Red Sox, 7 to 2 as Ossie Bluege drove in four runs with two doubles and a home run. George Earnshaw pitched the Athletics to an easy triumph over the New York Yankees, allowing only three hits for a 9 to 1 triumph. Two of the Yankee hits were made in the final inning.

OSHAWA RINK WINS TOURNEY

C. C. Stenhouse Winner of Annual Matches Held on Lakeshore Greens.

DISTRICT REPRESENTED.

COBOURG, July 11. — An Oshawa rink skipped by C. C. Stenhouse won the annual tournament held by the Cobourg Lawn Bowling Club, and in which 33 rinks were entered this year. The Motor City rink defeated the Cobourg rink, skepped by Maurice Booth, by 19 to 5. Members of the Oshawa rink were: J. R. Luke, O. M. Alger, Harry Black and C. C. Stenhouse, and of the Cobourg rink: O. F. Allison, W. Corbett, James Watson and Maurice Booth.

Toronto was represented in the semi-final by a Rusholme club rink, skipped by Clayton Smith, and composed of J. Lackie, vice-skip; A. Keith and A. J. Keeler, lead. It was defeated in the semi-finals, as was the Cobourg team composed of Ed. Guillet, Les. Wilson, J. Parker and Jack Fluker, skip.

Rinks were entered in the tournament from Peterborough, Port Hope, Oshawa, Toronto, Deseronto, Belleville, Lindsay, Warkworth, Norwood, Stirling and Bowmanville.

The consolation group decision was undecided at a late hour last night. In the semi-finals H. Freeman of Peterborough, was beaten after a close game, 8—6, by J. Fluker of Cobourg; while W. H. Hopper of Cobourg and C. Mason of Bowmanville were fighting it out in the other game.

GALBRAITH HOLDS SUGAR BOWL TO 13-5 DECISION

Clubmen Hurler Restricts Candymen to Seven Hits—Issues One Walk.

DORMER OFF FORM.

Playing excellent ball behind Scotty Galbraith's sterling pitching, Belmont Club defeated the Sugar Bowl 13-5 at Central School grounds last night.

Galbraith twirled great ball for the Clubmen. He had a world of stuff and kept the Bowlrites popping them up. He restricted them to seven hits and issued only one walk. It was a great win for the left-hander against his former teammates.

Dormer pitched for the Sugar Bowl and was away off form. He issued nine walks and allowed nine hits. His support was none to good, which did not help him any.

How It Happened.

The Belmonts opened the scoring in the first. Ward walked. Delehaye doubled, scoring Ward. Delahaye scored on two wild pitches.

Belmonts came right back in their half of the second with another. Holyman doubled and scored when Grant dropped Board's fly to centre.

Sugar Bowl added another in the third when Westbrooke walked, advanced to third on two infield outs and then stole home.

The Club got one more tally in their half of the third on Batten's single and Holyman's double.

The Sugar Bowl made it three runs in the fifth when H. Dormer doubled and Weese singled.

The Belmonts put the game on ice in the sixth scoring four runs. Galbraith, first up walked, as did Holyman and Mather. Board was also walked forcing in Galbraith. Softball Notes.

To-night's softball fixture at Cenbattle, Harrison's and Brinton Carpet are the teams, and both have one win in the second half of the schedule. A great deal depends on to-night's game and should find both teams out for a victory. The game will start at 6.30.

"Scotty" Galbraith southpawed his former teammates into submission last night. It was a nice win for the left-hander, who has only allowed ten hits in the last fifteen innings he has pitched.

Last night's Belmont win was the first loss for the Sugar Bowl in nine games.

All the teams are right on their toes in the second half, with Harrison's and Brintons right in the race. The fans should see some real ball before the league ends.

It looks as if the Sugar Bowl team is like the New York Yanks. The Yanks go the way Ruth goes and the Bowlrites seem to go the way the Great (Gillespie) Shires goes. Their three losses have been sustained when Gillespie has been away.

Fred Batten is playing heads up ball for the Belmonts. He covers miles around second base.

Dormer suffered his first loss last night after winning five straight.

The Sugar Bowl-Apsley game on Wednesday night was rained out. But the boys had a nice trip.

• • •

The supervisor of the playgrounds has requested that the fans not leave papers lying around the grounds. After each game a lot of papers are left lying around at Central School grounds and if it is the least bit windy they blow all over the lawns in the vicinity. Fans will be doing a real service if they pick them up after the game.

Scores Century in Opening Stages of Third England-Aussie Series.

SOME GOOD BOWLING.

Australia Scores 305 Runs For Two Wickets Before Tea Time To day.

LEEDS, Eng., July 11. (Canadian Press Cable)—The third cricket test match between England and Australia got under way at the Headingley grounds to-day. Australia batted first and at tea time had scored 305 runs for two wickets. England began well by capturing the wicket of Archie Jackson, one of the younger members of the Australian team, brought in when W. H. Ponsford, the noted Antipodean batsman, was pronounced too ill to play. Jackson only scored a single, but W. M. Woodfull, the Australian captain, and Don Bradman, who performed so remarkably for the Aussies at Lord's made a stand and were together at the interval.

Don Bradman, who helped set up a number of new records at Lord's equalled another high water mark to-day. He scored a century before lunch, which had been accomplished by only one other Australian, C. G. McCartney, Bradman batted ninety-five mintues for his three figures and his innings was punctuated by lusty smashes to the boundary.

AT THE CAPITOL

GARY COOPER IN "ONLY THE BRAVE"

The old South come into this picture that illustrates the old adage: "Only the brave deserve the fair." Its lovely women with smoothly slurred accents; its gay abounding hospitality; its old negro servitors and white mansions; its magnolia blossoms, color the tale of the love story of Captain Jim Braydon and Barbara Calhoun. Gary Cooper is the tall, tactiturn Yankee captain of the drama and Mary Brian is the dark-haired Southern girl who falls in love with him. Cooper uses just about as much language in this picture as he did in "Seven Days' Leave," and his tall, spare figure dominates the screen in much the same way. It is a good part and he does it well, while the girl is an attractive foil for his dashing courage.

Braydon is the Yankee captain who goes forth as a Northern spy to carry false despatches and be caught with them. He is doing his best to have someone capture him, but the girl works hard to save him. It is a curious situation. Finally he is discovered and is about to pay the spy's debt when the Northern forces arrive, just in the nick of time, and the clatter of the firing squad is changed to the rattle of artillery and the blaze of guns.

The drama has a very dramatic commencement with the smoke and fire of battle clouding the screen, and the sounds of "Dixie" behind it.

The comedy shows Charlie Chase in "50 Million Husbands." It is a typical Chase comedy. The action becomes strong at one point when the star attempts to cut his throat with a blunt safety razor. Just here yesterday a very small boy in the audience howled with fear as he watched the ridiculous performance.—Jeanette.

STRONG ENTRIES IN BISLEY SHOOT

FIRST DAY'S RESULTS.

BISLEY CAMP, England, July 11. (C. P. Cable)—Canadians marked up some fine scores when they got down to real competition in the National Rifle Association's meet to-day. Lieut. J. Bowen, of Edmonton, Alta., scored highest possible, 35, in the Donegal Challenge Cup qualifier, and in the Dongal competition itself there were three Canadian scores of 34.

The weather was very cold for the first day of real heavy shooting on the two-week program. The sky was overclouded, there was a strong wind to further hamper marksmanship. And thefe was every probability of rain. A strong list of entries was shown for the Donegal and Conan Doyle shoots, the day's features.

Marksmen were firing for the Conan Doyle silver statuette while the donor of the prize, Sir Arthur Conan Doyle, was being buried.

The Canadian team turned out in full force for the Donegal Challenge Cup, seven shots at 200 yards. A number of them however, were not eligible by virtue of not having Donegal bronze badges from former competitions, and these uneligibles took part in the Donegal qualifier at the same time and same distance.

CLEVELANDERS COME BY PLANE TO KAWARTHAS

Two Airmen Are Spending a Few Days at Chemong.

PLANS TO DO SOME STUNTS.

Four Hours and 25 Minutes Flying to Reach Destination.

Pilot Harry Hutchinson accompanied by Russell Glass both of Cleveland paid a flying visit to Chemong yesterday, with the intention of staying in this district until Sunday next. Their plane, a Fleet equipped with a 100 h.p. radial motor, is the type used by the U. S. Navy and Army as a primary training ship and is a trim little craft with a sky blue fuselage and yellow wings. It is fitted with the latest type of airwheels, taking an air pressure of from 10-15 lbs, specially designed to facilitate landing on a ploughed field, or very rought ground with complete safety. The machine, built by the Consolidated Aircraft Company of Buffalo, has a cruising speed of 95 miles per hour and a maximum speed of 115 m.p.h. Its cruising radius is 450 miles. Another feature which adds to the safety of the craft is the fact that it has a landing speed of 32 m.p.h. Two Irvine parachutes are carried as standard equipment in keeping with the U.S. air regulations.

4 Hours 25 Minutes Flying

Leaving Lake City Airways, Cleveland at 8.30 a.m. yesterday, the journey up here was completed in 4 hours, 25 minutes actual flying time. A stop was made at Buffalo and Toronto en route in order to clear the customs authorities.

"We were flying at 5,000 feet when we left Toronto," said the pilot, "and we followed the Lake Ontario shore for quite a distance, until we located Rice Lake when, after a while we could see Lake Scugog and Chemong As soon as I saw the floating bridge I knew exactly where we were as I have been in this district previously. Although we were buffeted by a head wind most of the way the weather was clear and we made good time."

"What do I think of Peterborough City as seen from the air? Well! It's just as charming a city as I have seen anywhere.

Mr. Hutchinson's home is in Cleveland, while his business is located in New York City. "I have been flying for about eighteen months," he exclaimed, "and took my training on the same field as used by Lindbergh.

Mr. Hutchinson during his stay here is the guest of Clayton Telford of Chemong, while he is using Garbutt Mann's field at Chemong as his flying headquarters. He plans to do some stunt flying this evening.

Russell Glass was joined here after his arrival by air, by his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Robert W. Class of Cleveland, who had been on a motor trip to visit Dean Udy at Pickerill and who came on here, on their way back to Cleveland. Also included in the motor party is Samuel Glass, Russell's grandfather and incidentally a former resident of this district, having been born in Omemee. He has the distinction of being one of the few remaining survivors of the Fenian Raids, during which campaign he served with the 66th. He is a personal friend of Colonel J. W. Miller, also a Fenian Raid veteran. The remainder of the tourists includes Mr. and Mrs. Glen R. Brennan of Wadsworth, Ohio, who are all the guests of Clayton Telford.

Husband And Wife Have Equal Scores

Bisley, England, July 11. (C.P. Cable.) — Equality between the sexes was illustrated on the Bisley ranges to-day when Mrs. J. N. Down of Saint John, N.B., had the same score in the same competition as her husband, Lieut. J. N. Down, member of the Canadian Bisley team. Both scored 33 out of a possible 35 in the Donegall challenge cup qualifier, of seven shots at 200 yards.

A BEDTIME STORY

by Howard R. Garis

UNCLE WIGGILY'S PARACHUTE.

Sitting on the tail of the aeroplane, Uncle Wiggily was having a wonderful ride through the sky. That is, it seemed wonderful for a time, but as the rabbit gentleman looked down on the earth where he lived, and where he had built his hollow stump bungalow, he said to himself:

"How am I ever going to get back home."

Well might Uncle Wiggily ask this, for he was being carried farther and farther away all the while. The pilot in the mail aeroplane did not know he had a rabbit gentleman for a passenger on the tail of his machine. And Uncle Wiggily had no way of telling the pilot he was there. Uncle Wiggily could not shout against the wind that almost blew him away. He did not dare start crawling up toward the cockpit where the pilot sat.

"If I tried that I would be blown off!" said Uncle Wiggily with a queer little shiver. So all he could do was to hug his big umbrella close to him and wait.

Uncle Wiggily had gone out to look for an adventure with his umbrella, as I told you in the story last night. In a meadow he saw a mail aeroplane come down for a forced landing while the pilot mended his motor. And Uncle Wiggily, just for fun, hopped up on the tail of the plane when the pilot wasn't looking. Then, all of a sudden before the rabbit gentleman could hop off, up went the machine toward the sky and Uncle Wiggily went with it.

"Yes, it's a wonderful ride I'm having all right," thought Mr. Longears, "but what about getting back home? My wife will be worried about me, and so will Nurse Jane, and Baby Bunty and all my little bunny boys and girls. I wish this mail pilot would turn around and take me home."

But the pilot of the aeroplane never thought of doing such a thing as that. He wanted to get away as fast and as far as he could with the bags of letters he had to carry through the sky.

Then Uncle Wiggily, looking down to the earth, could hardly see his hollow stump bungalow. It was being left farther and farther back of him. He began to feel homesick.

"Oh, if I could only jump down and see my dear wife and Nurse Jane and Baby Bunty and all the others, how happy I would be!" sighed Uncle Wiggily, holding fast with one paw to his umbrella and with his other paw to the side of the aeroplane's tail.

After a while Mr. Longears began falling more gently.

Then, all of a sudden, Uncle Wiggily remembered something he had read in the paper about pilots jumping out of aeroplanes, either for fun, or when they were in danger.

"The pilots jump out with a parachute over their heads and they come down so easily they don't get hurt," said Uncle Wiggily to himself. "I have seen pictures of them doing that. A parachute is like a big white umbrella and—and—"

Uncle Wiggily looked at his own umbrella. It was not as large as a parachute nor was it white.

"But perhaps it will let me float gently down to the earth if I jump," thought the rabbit. "Maybe my umbrella will be a parachute for me. I'm going to try. If I don't jump pretty soon I'll be carried so far from my bungalow that I'll never get back."

Giving his pink nose a brave twinkle, Uncle Wiggily stood up on the tail of the aeroplane. He took one look at the ground far below him, opened his umbrella, and, holding tightly to it with his two paws, off he jumped.

The rabbit gentleman began falling so swiftly that, for a moment, he almost lost his breath. But he closed his lips to keep all the wind from being blown out of him and felt himself going down. He fell very fast at first. But, after a while, the umbrella parachute began to hold him up, because there was so much air under it, and Mr. Longears began falling more gently.

"This is better," said Uncle Wiggily, smiling. "I want to come down like a feather." And that's just what he did. Down, down, down he fell with his umbrella parachute. The wind began to blow him back toward his bungalow over the chimney of which he had flown in the aeroplane. Down, down, down, until, all of a sudden, Mr. Longears gently landed in his front yard just as his wife and Nurse Jane came out to look for him, as he had been gone a long time.

"Well, my goodness sakes alive!" cried Mrs. Longears. "Where have you been, Wiggy?"

"Ha! Ha!" laughed the rabbit gentleman, who was happy to be back home. "I have been for an aeroplane ride and I jumped off with my umbrella parachute! It's lucky I had it with me!" And, indeed, it was, don't you say so? Well, that's how it happened.

WIND DAMAGE IS EVERYONE'S CONCERN

Second only to fire in capacity for destructiveness, high winds wreak damage almost everywhere, at almost any time.

June, "Month of Roses," has a bad record for windstorms. And there is no insurance against such destruction as may be wrought by gales and tornadoes except a specific Windstorm Policy. However, the cost is very moderate, as we'll be glad to prove.

ORANGEMEN WILL PARADE IN CITY

On Arrival of Train Saturday Night Parade Will Be Held From Market.

12 CITY LODGES.

The roll of drums and the pipe of fifes, will echo in Peterborough streets to-morrow, July 12. Although the big district celebration is being held in Lindsay, the more than six hundred Orangemen of the city will hold a parade of their own on their return here in the evening.

The special train will arrive back from Lindsay about nine o'clock and the twelve lodges of the city will form up on the Market Square immediately on detraining, and march through the principal streets. Officials of the local lodges said that the neighboring lodges, including Lakefield, will likely join in the parade, and it is fully expected that at least eight hundred will march.

The Orangemen will officially pay their tribute to the glorious sacrifices of the Peterborough County men who sleep in Flander's Fields, by marching to the Memorial at Confederation Square and laying a wreath upon it. There will be a short ceremony at the memorial, in which the Salvation Army Band will take part.

With the local lodges are ten bands, several of which annually win prizes in the Twelfth competitions and these along with the Salvation Army band, will supply music for the parade here. Officials are planning that this parade will be one of the smartest ever seen here.

A special train coming through here from Port Hope, will carry part of the Peterborough contingent to Lindsay. Special buses have been chartered to make the trip. Members of the respective lodges will assemble in their lodge rooms and then march to the station and the bus depot

Lord Greystoke knew his chances with this ferocious monster were small. He thought of his wife—what would become of her? There was yet a slight chance of reaching the cabin. He ran, shouting to his wife to close the great door should the enraged ape cut off his retreat.

The brute succeeded in intercepting Greystoke. He stood at bay, grasping his axe with both hands, ready to swing it upon the infuriated animal when it made its final charge. "Close and bolt the door, Alice," cried Greystoke. He knew he was facing a horrible death—and so did she!

Over the brute's shoulder Greystoke saw with horror and fear his young wife come through the cabin door, armed with one of his rifles. Always before she was afraid of firearms, never touching them. Now she rushed toward the ape with the fearlessness of a lioness protecting its young.

"Alice," shouted Greystoke, "for God's sake—go back!" The ape charged—the man swung his axe with mighty strength, but the powerful brute tore it from Greystoke's hand, hurled it far to one side and with an angry snarl closed upon its defenseless victim.

Came a sharp report and a bullet entered the ape's back! The beast turned upon its new enemy. Lady Greystoke, terrified, tried to fire another bullet. Greystoke, regaining his feet, rushed to drag the ape from his wife's prostrate form. The bullet had done its work. The ape was dead.

OBITUARY

DAVID H. MOORE

The funeral service of the late David H. Moore will take place at St. Paul's Church tomorrow afternoon at 2.00 o'clock. This will be preceded by a private service at Mr. Moore's late residence at 1.30, to which place the body will be taken from Comstock's Funeral Parlors this evening.

The service will be conducted by the Rev. William Allan of St. Paul's. A eulogy of the deceased will be presented by James Dutton, the ruling elder.

A contralto solo, "O, Rest in the Lord," will be sung by Miss Jessie Pattison. Two choirs of which the late Mr. Moore had been an honored member over a period of many years will render their tribute—the Peterborough Male Voice Choir in "Abide With Me," and the choir of St. Paul's Church, in "Crossing the Bar."

The interment will take place in the Little Lake cemetery.

SAMUEL OLIVER.

Called in yesterday noon to do some work at the home of a Mr. Elliott on the first concession of Smith Township, Samuel Oliver of Smith, formerly of this city, died suddenly early last night. Mr. Oliver, who was 63 years of age, had been ailing for several months, but appeared in perfect health when he reported for work yesterday. He was taken ill about 8.00 o'clock and died before medical aid could reach him.

Born in Brantford, Ontario, Mr. Oliver lived for 50 years in this city, before moving out to Smith 8 years ago, where he resided alone. He is survived by two sisters, Mrs E. Trotter of Buffalo and Mrs. A. Evans of Toronto, and by one brother, David Oliver of this city.

The funeral will be held from his brother's residence, 38 Edison avenue, to-morrow afternoon at 2.00 o'clock (D.S.T.) The Rev. Mr. Harton of Park Street Baptist Church, of which church the late Mr. Oliver was a member, will officiate. The interment will take place in Little Lake cemetery.

Jabs and Jottings as Picked Up by an Examiner Reporter

SUMMER COTTAGE INVADED.

The classic repose of the lower precincts of Chemong Park was rudely shattered one evening this week when an animal of the species that the unsuspecting and innocent traveller is often made to refer to, in movie comedies as a "pretty striped kitty," invaded the home of a summer resident. The family left in haste to spend the night in town until the premises might be fumigated. The skunk remained.

SCREEN ENLARGED.

At the Capitol Theatre, they have enlarged the screen considerably and the effect is noticed at once in the picture. The big silver sheet is now three feet wider than formerly and one foot higher.

CHASED TO SHORE.

W. E. Cotton of New York City, who is holidaying in this district with his brother, Alderman R. S. Cotton, reports that they landed a 10-lb. lunge at Chemong Lake last evening.

"The fish put up quite a fight," they state, and as they were fishing from a canoe it was necessary to paddle for land in order to capture their finny prize.

HEAVY PROGRAM.

Hon. G. N. Gordon, K.C., is undertaking a strenuous speaking tour to-day, in which he will address three meetings in the eastern part of this district.

This afternoon he spoke at Belleville in support of Chas. E. Hanna, Liberal candidate for Hastings South, while this evening he will address a second Belleville meeting at 8.30, after which he will travel on to Trenton to speak on behalf of W. A. Fraser, Liberal candidate for Northumberland Riding, and will incidentally answer the Hon. G. Howard Ferguson, who addressed a meeting in Trenton two nights ago.

TRY TO BEAT THIS.

At intervals during the spring, James L. Fair of Monaghan Road has reported to The Examiner the progress of his potato crop, and recently he brought into the office evidence in the form of thirteen fine and well-developed potatoes from his garden. They were planted on April 30th, and were hoed for the first time on May 11th. He raised them on July 6th.

The samples are on exhibition in The Examiner window, and if there are any better specimens in this district, the only way to prove it is to bring in a sample and The Examiner will judge them.

SPLENDID COURSE.

William Knox, agricultural live-stock improvement field representative for Peterboro County, who has recently returned from the three-day course at the Dominion Experimental Farm, Ottawa, reports that the course was the most successful in the annals of short courses for the Ontario Department judges.

The three-day session consisted of a series of lectures and discussions carried on by experts attached to the Department. The classes were divided into those for standing field crop judges and those for judges of heavy horses and beef cattle.

In Police Court

Electing to be tried summarily by Magistrate O. A. Langley in police court this morning a young man pleaded guilty to a charge of theft of $100 from his employers. On the request of Police Chief Samuel Newhall, the prisoner was remanded for sentence in custody until Wednesday, July 16th.

Pleading guilty to infractions of L.C.A. a local man appearing on an adjourned charge was fined $100 and costs of $5.00 or in default three months' imprisonment.

A charge against another man for supplying liquor to persons under eighteen years of age brought a fine of $50 or in default thirty days in jail.

IN MEMORIAM.

WATKINS.—In loving memory of Hannah Watkins, who died July 11, 1927.

—Lovingly remembered by Joe and Lou and Grandchildren.

IN MEMORIAM

WARD.—In loving memory of our dear Mother, who departed this life July 11, 1929.

God knew that she was suffering,
He knew she was in pain,
He knew she never would be better
In this old world again.
He saw the road was getting rough,
The hills were hard to climb,
So he gently closed her loving eyes,
Whispering: "Peace be thine."

—Sadly missed by her Husband and children, Muriel and Willard.

IN MEMORIAM.

LANE.—In loving memory of Clara Alice Crowe, wife of Wm. F. Lane, who passed away on July 11th, 1929.

She is not dead.
What seems so is transition.
This life of mortal breath
Is but a suburb of that life Elysian
Whose portals we call Death.

—Sadly missed by Husband and Daughters.

MYSTERY PLANE SHOWERS MILAN WITH LEAFLETS

CRASH THROUGH ROOF.

Flyer Believed From France or Switzerland—At Great Height.

MILAN, ITALY, July 12.—(C.P.)—A strange airplane apparently from Switzerland or France flew over Milan yesterday showering the city with leaflets of a Communistic character which the police seized.

The messages were manifestos against the Fascist and military authorities particularly. One package of them weighing 12 pounds crashed through a factory roof.

The plane was at a great height. It remained over the city about fifteen minutes.

The tracts were printed in Italian. The authorities could obtain no clue to the identity of the flyer.

Airplane Is Wrecked.

BERNE, Switzerland, July 12. — (C.P.).—Out of the wreckage of a mysterious airplane which crashed in the night at St. Gothard the authorities to-day pieced the story of an anti-Fascist propaganda raid over Milan, Italy, yesterday.

The plane, piloted by a man called Basseni, left Bellinzola yesterday at midday, carrying a load of unlabelled parcels. Just after nightfall a machine, apparently the same, crashed up at St. Gothard. In the wreckage were found a few pamphlets containing manifestoes against the Italian Fascist party and the military.

OPPOSITION UN-UNITED.

PARIS, France, July 12. (C.P.)—Premier Andre Tardieu, who upon accession nine months ago was considered widely to be slated for but a brief interim of power, to-day was assured of continuation in office until November, when Parliament meets again.

In that time, friends of his regime hoped, he may be able to repair his political fences and gird himself even more strongly for further battle with the vigorous, though un-united opposition which in the past week came near unseating him.

Dollar for Dollar Is King's Promise On Unemployment

SASKATOON, Sask., July 12 (By Ray Brown, C.P. Staff Correspondent). — The basis upon which the Dominion Government is prepared to contribute to unemployment relief is one of dollar ftr dollar with the Provinces and the municipalities. This has been laid down by Premier Mackenzie King. There is this proviso, however: that the particular Province converned must give the Dominion formal notification that the unemployment condition is beyond its power to cope with, and ask for assistance. The Prime Minister has stated that assistance will be forthcoming.

Manitoba Celebrates Diamond Jubilee on July 15

The Province of Manitoba will celebrate its diamond jubilee as a province of Canada on July 15 next. Manitoba (which is derived from a Cree word meaning The God That Speaks), was created a province in 1870, when it consisted of only a comparatively small section of land on both sides of the Red River, and had a population of about 25,000. To-day Manitoba covers an area of 251,832 square miles, and has a population of 638,000. Winnipeg, the capital of the province, had a population of 241 when the official census was taken in 1871. Now it is one of the most modern cities of the world, with a population of over 200,000. Above (top, left) is a picture of Main Street, Winnipeg, one of the main thoroughfares in the city, while (right) is a map of the province as it is to-day. CANADIANS MAKE FOUR POSSIBLES IN SERVICE SHOOT

BIG EVENTS ON.

Weather Turns Cool Forcing Shooters to Perform in Overcoats.

BISLEY CAMP, Bisley, England, July 12 (C. P. Cable).—Four Canadians had perfect scores in The Times service rifle shoot to-day. There were several big shoots on the day's card as the great meeting of the National Rifle Association reached the half-way mark. The Canadian scoring was uniformly good and promised well for next week, when marksmen from all over the Empire get into serious competition for historic prizes.

Burke Makes a 34

Lieut. J. Bowen of Edmonton, Alta.; Lieut. A. C. Carter of Toronto; Capt. W. G. Holland of Victoria; and Lieut. J. N. Down of Saint John, N.B., all scored 35, highest possible, in The Times, fired at 200 yards. Lieut. Desmond Burke of Ottawa, former King's Prize winner, and three more Canadians had 34's.

The weather, which had been perfect while unimportant events were being fired in the earlier part of the week, turned colder to-day simultaneous with the opening of real competition. The sky was completely clouded and a keen northerly wind made conditions poor, both from the viewpoint of marksmanship and comfort. The marksmen, some of whom have travelled thousands of miles for the meet, went to the firing points in some cases with heavy overcoats, shivering in the wind.

GANG WARFARE CLAIMS VICTIM

Veteran Bootlegger Shot Down in Detroit Pistol Duel.

DIES WITHOUT TALKING.

DETROIT, Mich., July 12. (C.P.) Gang warfare claimed another victim here early to-day.

Sam Cilufo, who police say was a veteran bootlegger and racketeer, was killed in a gun battle on East Jefferson Avenue about 12.30 a.m.

Cilufo and a companion were riding in a small coupe. Another car followed, and its occupants opened fire. Their bullets pirced the tires of Cilufo's automobile, forcing him to stop. His companion leaped out and escaped on foot.

Cilufo gave battle but several bullets entered his body. One shattered his arm and silenced his pistol. The assassins drove away. Police who arrived a few minutes later, found the mortally wounded gangster in his car still clutching a revolver. He died without speaking.

Hearing Held Over Until Wednesday By Judge Huycke

Paving Company Will Be Allowed to Continue Operations Until Wednesday When Job It Is Expected Will Be Completed.

F. D. KERR, K.C., APPEARING FOR THE WARREN COMPANY SAYS EVERYTHING POSSIBLE BEING DONE TO CURB SMOKE

Notice of Motion and Affidavits Claimed Residents of Engleburn Avenue Having Homes Filled With Noxious Fumes and Dust.

The application for an injunction to restrain the Warren Bituminous Paving Company from operating its asphalt plant on the west bank of the Otonabee River, because of the consequent nuisance of smoke, dust and noxious fumes caused to residents of Engleburn Avenue, was heard this morning by His Honor Judge Huycke, and was adjourned until Wednesday morning.

This means that the paving company will be allowed to continue using the asphalt plant on its present site until Wednesday. By that time, according to officials of the company, the resurfacing work on the downtown area will have been wholly completed.

J. A. O'Brien appeared for his client J. W. Kenmure, a resident of Engleburn avenue, and he also read at the hearing four affidavits from other residents of the same district which further emphasized the discomfort they suffered because of the smoke, dust and the noxious fumes.

F. D. Kerr, K.C., appeared for the paving company and with him was G. E. Rice, local superintendent of the company, and J. N. Gordon, of the company's head office at Toronto. All three stated that the company was doing everything possible to curb any smoke, dust or fumes that might be escaping from the asphalt plant.

Presents Affidavit

The city as a whole was represented by J. Wearing City Solicitor, who submitted an affidavit signed by Harry C. Huffman, chairman of the Board of Works in the City Council in which it was stressed the city and especially the stores on Charlotte street would be seriously inconvenienced if the paving work was halted at the present time.

Mr. Kerr moved for an adjournment to allow time for him to examine the affidavits. In granting the adjournment, His honor stated this morning he had noticed a marked improvement in the nuisance from the plant and it was apparent that the company was making every effort to curb the smoke and dust. He declared, however, that if the nuisance had been as bad to-day as it was on Tuesday of this week he would not have hesitated for one moment in granting that injunction closing the plant.

Suffered in Previous Years

Having read the notice of motion and the affidavits, in which it was strongly stated that the residents of Engleburn Avenue were having their homes filled with the noxious fumes and dust so that they were almost uninhabitable and that furniture was injured, Mr. OBrien pointed out that the nuisance was much worse.

Immediately Mr. Kerr moved for an adjournment of the hearing, so that he might examine the affidavits.

His Honor stated that should the case go into court he had arranged that Judge O'Connor, of Cobourg, should hear it, since as a resident of Engleburn avenue, he knew too much about the case.

It was pointed out by Mr. Kerr that the plant had been in operation on the same site for several years, and that this was the first time that there had been any complaints.

In replying to this, Mr. O'Brien declared that other years there had been complaints made to the City Council on several occasions.

That the smoke from the C.P.C. factory, Quaker Oats and Gas Works converge at a point on the west bank of the river and then sweepe across to Engleburn avenue and that this smoke was all being attributed to the asphalt plant, was the theory advanced by Mr. Kerr.

This suggestion was denied by Mr. O'Brien.

Merchants Would Suffer

Further, Mr. Kerr pointed out that there was unemployment in the city and that if the work of paving was stopped some sixty local men would be thrown out of a job, and also that the merchants would suffer.

"How would you like to eat tar with your meals?" demanded Mr. O'Brien, who stated that the object of the injunction was not to secure money for damage suffered, but to stop the continuance of the nuisance and the damage.

Judge Huycke stated that last Tuesday the situation along Engleburn avenue was unbearable. "It was like a volcano," stated His Honor, who described his lawn and trees as being a grey color due to the dust. He also spoke of the noise in the early morning and late evening from the plant.

"But we must remember," continued

PECK ANSWERS HON. G. N. GORDON IN N. MONAGHAN

Conservative Candidate Declares Mr. Gordon Supported Australian Treaty.

U. S. IMPORTS INCREASE.

Dunning Budget Will Do Little to Help Matters Mr. Peck Says.

In reply to questions on the butter issue directed toward him in the public press by the Hon. G. N. Gordon, K.C., of this city, E. A. Peck, Conservative candidate for Peterborough West, speaking at North Monaghan last night declared: "Mr. Gordon's position is this—he himself voted with his party for the continued sale and importation of oleomargarine against, as he says, the dairy interests of Canada; and in his last session in the House he voted for the Australian Treaty, also detrimental to the dairy interests."

Mr. Peck declared himself amused with the picture of himself presented by the Gordon letters as a dangerous member of a party which had forced a thing called oleomargarine on an unwilling Canadian people. "Mr. Gordon jumps into the defence of the helpless people" said Mr. Peck.

At the end of the war the scarcity of fats and butter made the passage of a bill permitting the importation and manufacture of olemargarine as a substitute an absolute necessity, asserted Mr. Peck. The measure had been passed for one year in 1919 by the Conservative government and had been renewed by the same government in 1920 and 1921 for the same period and for the same reasons. Then, in 1922, the newly-returned Liberal government, of which Mr. Gordon formed a part, had renewed the

BOYLE, County Roscommon, Irish Free State, July 12. — (C. P.) — At last the statue of William Prince of Orange, erected by Earl of Kingston fifty years ago, has reached the last stage of its chequered career. It has been sold to a metal dealer for a few shillings and will be melted down and used for building purposes.

The statue, which originally stood on the bridge in the centre of this little town, was known locally as "King Billy." For half a century it has stood as a challenge to the inhabitants, few of whom adhere to the same faith as did William III. Many a time in recent years the statue has been tarred and feathered and painted in the new national colors overnight.

74 DIE IN WEEK IN HEAT SPELL

Weather Reports Show "Continued Hot" Over Middle States.

IOWA TOLL IS 25.

CHICAGO, Ill., July 12.—(C.P.) — Again to-day the weather news for Middle America read: "Continued hot."

Weather reports would indicate that the ceaseless sun had an eye on a new heat endurance record. To-day's forecast for Illinois, Michigan, Indiana and Missouri said "warmer," in the burning northwest however, a more hopeful note sounded with predictions of showers and slightly cooler.

The number of deaths directly attributable to the week's heat in the Middle West was 74 early to-day, including drownings as well as deaths resulting from prostration.

In Iowa alone there have been 25 deaths in the past three days and in Missouri 24 in the same period. Illinois, Kansas, Nebraska, the Dakotas and Minnesota also reported deaths due to the heat.

Temperatures reading of 100 or above have become usual rather than the exception in most of the Middle American States.

SIXTY ARE KILLED WHEN STREET CAR FALLS INTO RIVER

53 BODIES RECOVERED.

Only Three Passengers Are Able to Save Themselves From Drowning.

BUENOS AIRES, Republica Argentina, July 12. (Canadian Press).—At least sixty persons lost their lives to-day when a street car fell into a small river called "Riacho" which separates Buenos Aires from the town of Avellaneda.

The street car should have crossed a cantilever bridge made of two sections, one of which was raised at the time the accident took place. It was believed that the motorman, owing to a heavy fog, failed to see that the bridge was open, and ran the street car into the river.

Trapped Within Car.

All the passengers were trapped within the car and only three, who were seated on the rear platform, managed to escape.

The accident took place at 6.15 o'clock this morning, and most of the victims were labourers on their way to work. Firemen and police were organized into rescue crews, and were kept busy taking the bodies out of the wreckage. The car was completely covered by water, only the trolley pole standing out.

Up to 10.45 this morning, 53 bodies had been removed.

Moving scenes took place as the bodies were identified by relatives of the victims.

All manufacturers within the district allowed their men to return to their homes, as their families were very much alarmed since the names of the victims were not yet fully known.

ORANGEMEN ARE CELEBRATING GREAT VICTORY AT THE BOYNE

Fifes Shrilled and Bands Blared as City's Lodges Leave For Lindsay.

BIG PARADE TO-NIGHT.

Exactly 240 years ago to-day William of Orange, by winning a victory on the banks of the River Boyne in Ireland, ensured a Protestant succession to the British throne, and this morning over a thousand Orangemen of Peterborough County entrained for Lindsay to help commemorate it.

Fifes shrilled and bands blared "The Protestant Boys,' as Peterborough Countys twelve Loyal Orange Lodges boarded the special train which had come through from Port Hope and pulled out of the C.N.R. Station at 9.47 a.m. (D.S.T.). Lindsay this year plays host to the Orangemen of this district. Many who did not go by train travelled by bus or motor car over King's Highway No. 7.

Leaving their lodge rooms, those who were going by rail marched in contingents through the streets of the city shortly after 9 o'clock this morning. The regalia—top-hats, white gloves, long coats, bands, and aprons—and the insistent beating of drums, all familiar to Twelfth of July celebrations, were in evidence.

When the Peterborough delegation returns around 9 o'clock (D.S.T.) this evening, the men and women of the city lodges, together with many from neighboring towns, will parade through the streets. A mass meeting in the Market Square at 10 o'clock will complete the day's festivities.

FOREIGN LABOR IS FLOODING CANADA FERGUSON SAYS

Claims Protests at Ottawa Have All Proven Futile.

SUPPORTS THOMPSON.

Liberal Attempts to Explain Unemployment Termed Childish.

SMITHS FALLS, Ont., July 12. — (C.P.)—Along the line of the National Transcontinental Railway, trainload after trainload of Southern Europeans were being transported into the heart of Canada at public expense to displace, with cheap labor, workmen who had lived in this country all their lives, charged Hon. G. Howard Ferguson, Premier of Ontario, in an address delivered here last night in the interests of T. A. Thompson, "official Bennett candidate" in Lanark County. A Toronto delegation had urged him a few days ago to protest against this influx of immigrants, and he had done so both to Ottawa and England. But, continued Mr. Ferguson, his protests had been of no avail. He did not know if official Ottawa was aware of this condition; if not, it did not speak well for administrative efficiency.

King Government Helpless.

Premier Ferguson spoke of the unemployment problem and charged the King Government with being helpless to do anything to better conditions. The Liberal administration apparently could only promise conferences, he said, and at times even deny that unemployment existed.

"Is it that Mr. King and his ministers are so busy during these hectic days that they are unaware that unemployment exists" he asked. "He tells us now that unemployment exists, but that things are not so bad as they might be and that conditions are world-wide. To be told that conditions are world-wide does not help hungry workemn, however, and I am wondering if the Premier is admitting that nothing can be done to better conditions.

"He promises to call a conference, but talk and inaction will get Canada nowhere. R. B. Bennett says that the wheels of industry must be started moving. He intends to protect those industries, to put Canadian workmen to work and to give them sufficient protection so that they may compete with other countries."

Explanations Childish.

The Liberal ministers made many futile attempts to explain away the unemployemt conditions, he said, and some of their attempts are rather childish.

Mr. Ferguson condemned the government as "importing labor" at a time when thousands of Canadian workmen were unemployed. "The thing that is worrying me to-day," he said, "is not conditions as they are, but conditions as they will be this winter if the King government is returned to power.

PALESTINE IS NAMED JEWISH NATIONAL HOME

LONDON, Eng., July 12 (C.P.).—Great Britain's Palestine mandate did not envisage the establishment of a Jewish state, but only of a Jewish national home in Palestine, Lord Passfield said to a deputation from the Board of Deputies of British Jews, according to a Colonial Office statement made public last night.

Lord Passfield, who is Secretary of State for the Colonies, added that the establishment of the Jewish national home must not interfere with the position and rights of the Arab population.

There was no suspension, he assured the deputation, of Jewish immigration into Palestine.

Judge Called In To Rule on Will

BROCKVILLE, Ont., July 12 (Canadian Press). — Two men of the same name, both nephews of the late Mrs. Charlotte Veance of Brockville, sat in court yesterday and heard Judge Reynolds decide which of them was the "Hiram Flanigan" to whom the deceased woman had bequeathed $400. In her will, Mrs. Veance stipulated that her nephew, Hiram Flanigan, was to be paid that sum of money, but she did not specify which of her two nephews, both bearing the same name, was the one referred to. Judge Reynolds directed that Hiram Flahigan of Brockville, and not his cousin and namesake from Cornwall, was to receive the money.

KING'S FIVE CENT SPEECH SCORED AS UNDIGNIFIED

Women's Liberal Conservative Club Organized at Campbellford on Thursday.

MILTON MAYBEE PRESENT.

Mrs. S. Henderson, of Colborne, Strongly Denounces King Administration.

CAMPBELLFORD, July 12 (By Examiner Staff Correspondent). — Featuring the organization and election of officers, a branch of the Women's Liberal-Conservative Club was formed at Campbellford on Thursday, when a very enthusiastic meeting was held in the Conservative committee room. Mrs. Norton Weese of Picton was in charge of the gathering, which she addressed, as also did Milton Maybee, Conservative candidate for the riding of Northumberland, Mrs. S. Henderson of Colborne and S. Nesbitt.

The election of officers resulted in the following slate: President, Mrs. William Hall; First Vice-President, Mrs. J. McEachern; Second Vice-President, Mrs. William Smith; Secretary, Miss Hazel Atkinson; Chair Ladies: Ward One, Mrs. A. Haig; Ward Two, Mrs. A. Redden; Ward Three, Mrs. W. Abernethy; Ward Four, Mrs. Walter Henson. The Honorary Presidents are: Mrs. C. C. Owens, Mrs. Milton Maybee and Mrs. W. H. Ashton.

Mrs. Weese made a strong appeal for the ladies of Campbellford to organize, stressing the fact the election results were more satisfactory in those districts that had the combined efforts of the women. There were several reasons why an organization was necessary in the speaker's opinion, and she went on to state that unity was one of them. It was essential that the women link up with the men in a combined effort to gain the desired end. Speaking of the silent vote, and the need to use it, Mrs. Weese said: "We women have a right to consider the issues of the day, and to vote on them," and went on to explain that many women do not vote because they do not understand the issues of the day, and are indifferent to the vote, and demanded to know why it was that mothers especially took this attitude. It was the duty of all mothers to consider their children, and the state of the country in which they would have to live would spell success or failure to those children, and the mothers, through their votes, had the power to create the condition of Canada in the future. This was why Mr. Bennett took the stand of "Canada First." Some people had called it selfish, the speaker said, but the Conservatives were dealing with all provinces, creeds and walks of life.

"It is not for ourselves alone, but it is for the future of our boys and girls, and for the betterment of life as a whole, to carry on the work for which our boys laid down their lives

HECKLERS ANNOY PREMIER KING ON UNEMPLOYMENT

"We Are Prepared to Assist," is Prime Minister's Promise.

NATIONAL STATUS UP.

Urges Co-operation of Gov't and Municipalities to End Level Crossings.

SASKATOON, July 12 (By Ray Brown, C.P.) Staff Writer). — Once more the question of unemployment assumed the centre of the stage for a time at Premier Mackenzie's King's meeting last night. It arose after a member of his audience had addressed to Mr. King the question: "What about digging up some work for the boys?"

The Prime Minister responded immediately. He could, he said, understand a representative of the unemployed pressing for an answer.

Prepared to Assist

"We are prepared to assist. I'll give that answer now," Mr. King asserted, and there were loud cheers. Also there were some jeers from an element in the audience.

Mr. King paused in his unemployment discussion.

"I would ask those who are interrupting whether they are interested in the solution of unemployment or whether they have come as agents of the Tory party," he said.

He went on to declare emphatically that his government was ready to assist immediately any Province which reported that the situation was too great for it to handle, and requested assistance.

"We have had no request from Saskatchewan," he declared. "Indeed there had been no formal request from any Province of Canada.

"I am prepared to assert that if a national emergency exists, we will assist," repeated Mr. King. But until word came from the Provinces, he was not prepared to spend the money held in trust by the Government.

"Remember," and Mr. King emphasized his statement, "Remember, in dealing with public money we are trustees," the Government must spend the taxes of the people, and he did not proposed to spend it in a way which was not right, even for the sake of winning an election," he asserted.

A practical suggestion of the Prime Minister was that the municipalities and Government co-operate in doing away with level railway crossings by constructing subways, if the municipalities embark on such a program the Government stands ready to aid financially.

He then went on to deal with the return of the natural resources to the Western Provinces. Mr. King mentioned the name of Sir John Macdonald and there was some applause.

"I am glad to hear the name of Sir John Macdonald applauded," Mr. King remarked. "I wish we had a statesman of his calibre at the head of the Conservative party to-day."

Canada As a Nation.

"A lot of us like to refer to Canada as a nation," said the Prime Minister. The first man who had used that word in respect to Canada was Sir Wilfrid Laurier, who had referred to the British Empire as "a galaxy of nations," he continued. But when Sir Wilfrid Laurier said that there were objections that he was advocating separation. And the point of view had existed to a smaller degree ever since.

Efforts of the Government in the direction of achieving national status had met with opposition, and sometimes ridicule, from the Conservatives. This opposition had been seen in the assertion of Canada's right to negotiate her own treaties. It had been the case when Canada appointed Ministers to Washington, Paris and Tokio.

"What about the five-cent piece?" sang out a man.

"Well, if my friend hasn't got one, I'll give him a quarter," said Mr. King, and there was a laugh.

Already 11 countries have announced they will send representatives to compete and it is considered certain close to 2 000 athletes will participate in the various events.

INCREASED TRADE KEY TO SITUATION

Crerar Upholds Budget Policy to Parry Sound Audience.

BENNETT ATTACKED.

PARRY SOUND, Ont., July 12 (C.P.)—Increased trade with Great Britain and the other nations of the British Empire is the solution of Canadian economic ills, Hon. T. A. Crerar, Minister of Railways and Canals, told an audience here last night. This is being brought about by the Dunning budget, which increased the tariff preference accorded a wide range of products from Great Britain. Were the Liberals returned to power the policy which found its expression in the Dunning budget would be continued, Mr. Crerar said.

On the other hand if the Conservatives gain power, intra-Empire trade would sustain a set-back, the Minister continued. Hon. R. B. Bennett, Conservative leader, had declared his policy on the question; to be no preference, except in exchange for a preference. But Great Britain now admitted the great majority of Canadian products free of duty, and to give this country a preference, would have to impose a tariff against the rest of the world. As food products we re the principal commodities Canada wished to export to Great Britain this meant that that country would have to impose a tax on food, a thing not likely to happen. Moreover, he went on, Mr. Bennett had said he would "blast a way to markets" for Canadian products."

"Trade is not war," said Mr. Crerar. "My impression of trade is that it depends to a very large extent on goodwill." Mr. Bennett's blasting, he stated, "would be a poor way to create the goodwill necessary to increase trade."

The excessive heat throws the little stomach out of order so quickly that unless prompt aid is at hand, the baby may be beyond all human help before the mother realises he is ill. EMPIRE TRADE TO BE DISCUSSED

EXHIBITS ON DISPLAY.

TORONTO, Ont., July 12 (C.P.)—The promotion of reciprocal trade relations between the British and Canadian Co-operative movements, the reconciliation of the interests of producers' and consumers' co-operatives societies, and the development of Canadian wholesale societies, probably will be the outstanding subjects for discussion at the Annual Congress of the Co-operative Union of Canada, to be held here, July 15, 16 and 17.

The Co-operative Wholesale Society, England, will be fraternally represented by Sir William Dudley, A. Pickup and W. Dodds, directors of that great British co-operative federation. T. B. Stirling and W. Gallacher, directors of the Scottish Co-operative Wholesale Society, Glasgow, with Canadian headquarters at Winnipeg, will be the delegates of that institution. The Scottish Society is a member of the Canadian Union.

The directors of the Co-operative Wholesale Society, with Canadian headquarters at Montreal, are also recommending their shareholders to become similarly interested in the Canadian movement, and the Society is likely soon to be admitted.

The Scottish Co-operative Wholesale Society will exhibit a comprehensive range of commodities produced in its numerous factories and mills, and will display moving pictures showing some of them in working operation.

Dr. J. P. Warbasse, president of the Co-operative League of the United States, the sister organization in the republic, will also be in attendance, representing that body.

THE TIME HAS COME

—A Causerie by "Auditor"

The time has come the Walrus said,
To talk of many things—
Of shoes—and ships—and sealing wax—
Of cabbages—and kings
—Lewis Carroll.

Jesus advised His disciples to be fishers of men, and earnest efforts are made by the churches to draw into the net of religion the child who is to be the man or woman of to-morrow.

New ways of interesting the child in religion are being considered. Church recreational activities are growing wider; services for juniors are being adopted by more and more congregations.

These are, I think, signs of vitality. Conditions are changing; the church, which is alive, changes with them. It is encouraging rather than otherwise, that doubts should arise about the efficiency of the older Sunday school methods.

In principle the newer methods are not really new; but they are fresh, and this makes them interesting. A research into our ancestors' plans to hold the attention of the child in the church might reveal experiments even more interesting.

For instance, there is an unusual experiment to be found in the slums of Birmingham, England. This is no less than a real children's church. Only on certain occasions are adults allowed into it.

CHILDREN'S CHURCHES.

It is run by children for the benefit of children; governed by boys and girls in the 'teen age. The ages of the choir range from eight years to fourteen. The organist is sixteen. The church wardens are a boy of thirteen and a girl of fourteen. A fifteen-minute address is given by one of the older children, and the lessons are read by a boy or girl.

On special occasions when adults are allowed to attend the services there is never an empty seat. Grown-ups declare they prefer attending this unusual church to any other.

It is not the only one of its nature. In Kew, near Richmond, is a church with a royal gallery. Queen Victoria and Queen Mary have often worshipped in it. Leading to the royal gallery is a corridor, which has been dedicated by the Bishop of Kingston as a children's church. Here the children have everything to do with their services but preach.

In Bournemouth another children's church has been started, following, I understand, the general lines of the church in Birmingham.

CHURCH CORNERS.

In some churches there have been dedicated children's corners. For example, in St. Columbia's Church, Montreal, a part of the church belongs to the children. They stay after worship and read the juvenile religious books which they find there.

There is a shelf in Truro Cathedral, England, on which are Biblical stories, vases of flowers, and little models of religious objects, such as a carpenter's shop, Noah's ark and the crown of thorns.

Close by is a notice for the boys and girls:

"These books and pictures are here for you to enjoy. You may take the books and sit down and read them. After you have finished you will put them back very carefully and neatly.

"If you like to bring some flowers you may put them into the vases on the table. Always try to be quiet and reverent in God's house and before you leave the church kneel down and pray.

Children are not always quiet in church and they cannot be blamed when the sermon is over their heads. We wonder if in the days of the old-fashioned pew the indignation youngsters caused sometimes rose less from the disturbance of the service than from the disturbance of the nap of the head of the family.

SLAPSTICK HUMOR.

In many churches to-day children leave before the sermon, and the long stick with a feather at the end is not carried by the ushers any more to waken drowsy adults.

People are better behaved in church than they used to be. Sermons are shorter and the preaching, generally, has improved. Then, perhaps, the people who would go to sleep in church, stay away. We do not have to attend worship now because we fear Mrs. Grundy.

Compared with conditions in the Middle Ages, church worship has improved almost out of recognition. The things which used to be done in churches in the olden time would hardly be tolerated in a theatre by the present generation.

To illustrate, I quote the following extract from the mandate of Bishop Grandisson to the dean and sub-dean of Exeter Cathedral in 1330:

"Those who stand at the upper stalls in the choir, and have lights within their reach at mattins, knowingly and purposely throw drippings and snuffings from the candles upon the heads or the hair of such as stand at the lower stalls with the purpose of exciting laughter, and perhaps of generating discord."

PROBING DEATHS IN CHURCH.

In Thomas Hardy's "The Well-Beloved" reference is made to the old days in England when sales of property were convenanted in the parish church in the face of the congregation. The agreements were completed in the porch where there was sometimes an altar for witnesses taking oath, or for sellers giving a warranty.

Before the coroner took to holding his sittings in the public house he used to sit in the church porch, which was generally to the south of the church because it was built to the north of the village.

It used to be the habit of princes, in the Middle Ages, to give audiences all the time mass was being said, while at Strasbourg the civic authorities and the law courts did business in the cathedral during solemn ritual.

Perhaps it was in these days that there originated the phrase, "The nearer the church the further from God."

But let the pessimists pause and reflect if the world is not progressing, at least, as far as religious worship is concerned.

"LOVE YOUR ENEMIES"

A Passage from a Great Religious Classic)

If we could be impartial and lay aside prejudice, we might, perhaps, discern several lovely qualities in him who hates us—and virtue is to be owned and praised and loved even in an enemy. And perhaps his enmity towards us is not so great and inexcusable a fault as we apprehend; he is not perhaps our enemy to that degree, nor so altogether without cause as we imagine. Possibly we have provoked him, or by his own mistake or possibly through the malicious representation of others he may be induced to think so. And are we not ourselves liable to the like misapprehensions concerning others, of which we are many times afterwards convinced and ashamed? And so may he; and then his enmity will cease, if we will but have a little patience with him, as we always wish that in a like case others would have with us.

At the worst, though never so sore and causeless an enemy, though never so bad a man, yet he is a man, and as such has something in him which the blindest passion cannot deny to be good and amiable. He hath the same nature with ourselves, which we cannot hate or despise without hatred and contempt of ourselves.

Consider further that an enemy, even whilst he is exercising his enmity towards us, may do us many acts of real advantage, which, though they do not proceed from kindness, yet in truth are benefits. The malicious censures of our enemies, if we make the right use of them, may prove of greater advantage to us than the civilities of our best friends. —From the sermons of John Tillotson. English archbishop (b. 1630-d. 1694), confidant of William of Orange and Queen Mary.

MISSIONARY SHORTS

Will Medically Instruct Chinese Via Screen—Dubbing Tongues

HOLLYWOOD, July 12.—Missionaries have gone talker. Representatives of one of the leading denominations are here, with talking shorts in view as an adjunct to their missionary work.

Intention is to make a series of shorts to help in the teaching of sanitation and medical work among natives, chiefly in China.

Officials of the sect, which considers more than half its work of amedical nature, see in sound a valuable instrument in training native nurses. Plans is to shoot the films here silently and dubb in the languages and dialects.

"I THINK: THEREFORE I AM"

A Passage from a Great Religious Classic)

But since we treat of the nature of the mind, let us remove from our consideration all knowledge which is received from without through the senses of the body; and attend more carefully to the position we have laid down, that all minds know and are certain concerning themselves. For men certainly have doubted whether their power of living, of remembering, of understanding, of willing, of thinking, of knowing, of judging, be of air, or of fire, or of the brain, or of the blood, or of atoms, or besides the usual four elements of a fifth kind of a body, I know not what; or whether the combining or tempering together of this our flesh itself has power to accomplish those things. And one has attempted to establish this and another to establish that. Yet who ever doubts that he himself lives, and remembers and understands, and wills, and thinks, and knows, and judges? Seeing that even if he doubts, he lives; if he doubts, he remembers why he doubts; if he doubts, he understands that he doubts; if he doubts, he wishes to be certain; if he doubts, he thinks; if he doubts, he knows that he does not know; if he doubts, he judges that he ought not to assent readily. Whosoever therefore doubts anything else, ought not to doubt of all these things; which if they were not he would not be able to doubt of anything.—On the Trinity by Saint Augustine.

The Question ? ? Box ? ?

In this corner the enquiries of readers on Biblical and religious problems are answered. Address "The Q. B. Editor c-o The Examiner.

Q.—What are apologetics?

A.—Not apologies as we commonly understand them, but the branch of theology which scientifically defends Christianity from the attacks of its enemies. The Greek word "apologia" means "a speech in defence" and this is the meaning of apologetics.

The early Christian apologists developed an offensive rather than a defensive attitude towards the criticisms of their opponents.

One of the most famous Christian apologists was Bishop Butler, who in the 18th century replied to the scepticism of the age in which he lived by his classical work, The Analogy of Religion. So able was his argument that the doubters were silenced.

In modern times Christianity has had capable defenders, though they are not so well known. The present-day agnostics of the rationalist school have really no argument. They shut there eyes to the new scientific discoveries which have undermined their position.

Q.—It seems hard for me to find time to do the religious study and work I wish to do. Can you advise me?

A.—You have taken the first step towards solving your problem by putting it squarely before you. You are on the way to become your own efficiency expert, and the Christian should be efficient.

The trouble is, very likely, that you do not organize your time, but it is easy to map out what you will do during the day, and hard to carry out your intentions.

Here is a plan which will help to overcome this difficulty:

Sit down quietly in the morning and make a list, mentally or on paper, of the things you mean to do during the day, and make up your mind to do them.

Do not attempt too much, at first, or you will be discouraged.

During the day you will have some time to spare, and if you have not made up your mind to use it you will, of course, waste the precious moments. You will probably have time to yourself at noon. Let the coming of noon serve to remind you of what you have to do. Recalling your resolve, do the thing you want to do.

At night tick off these things you have done, criticize yourself if you are to blame for not doing the things you have failed to accomplish, and resolve, without fail, to do them tomorrow.

Keep the practise up day after day, and you will be surprised at the number of things you can accomplish.

Q.—Is there a society which believes that the British races are the lost tribes of Israel?

A.—Yes. The British Israel World Federation teaches this idea. The Canadian branch of the federation presents the belief in these words: "The people of the British or Saxon race within the British Isles and their offspring beyond the seas, including the United States of America, are of the stock of Israel."

It claims that "the said belief is supported and confirmed by the Holy Scriptures (and in particular by the prophetical portions thereof) and by historical events.

Large numbers of the "ten tribes" forming the kingdom of Israel were deported by Sargon, King of Assyria, on the fall of Samaria. They are supposed by the Anglo-Israelites to have reached Britain as the Saxons and Celts.

Objections to the theory are, that Jewish authorities say the ten tribes went east, that the Anglo-Saxons differ more from the Jews in language and physical characteristics than they do from the people of India, and that the religion of the ancient Celts and Saxons differed very considerably from the religion of Israel.

ROYAL ENGAGEMENT.

DUFFUS HOLDS LIBERAL RALLY AT ENNISMORE

Liberal Candidate is Supported By R. R. Hall, K.C.

THREE BIG ISSUES.

Hon. R. B. Bennett Being Given Little Support Says Liberal Candidate.

ENNISMORE, July 11. (Examiner Staff Correspondence).—"No one is helping Hon. Mr. Bennett at the present time with the exception of Hon. Howard Ferguson, a person responsible for more debt in this province than any other man" said J. J. Duffus, Liberal candidate for this constituency in the course of an election address at Ennismore last evening in which he criticized the policy of the Conservative Party and gave a masterly resume of the record of the administration of the Mackenzie King Government.

Mr. Duffus was supported by R. R. Hall, K.C., while the meeting was presided over by Thomas Cavanagh, reeve of Ennismore. The main hall of the village school was packed to capacity, many of the electors being crowded at the rear of the hall where they stood up during the meeting and keenly followed the speeches, which appeared to have a marked impression.

There are three great questions, said Mr. Hall—the record of the Government, the Dunning budget and the matter of who is going to represent Canada at the Imperial Conference.

He continued to trace the administration of the Mackenzie King government from the time they came into office, and spoke of the way in which the National debt had been materially decreased during that period, a reduction of $250 million in the last five years. He dealt with the completion of the Welland Canal, the Hudson Bay railway and the fact that the Government had supplied these great national needs without borrowing money or increasing the National Debt. He was of the opinion that the financial affairs of this country could not possibly be in better hands.

Discussing the Dunning budget, Mr. Hall stated, the United States had built a tariff wall so high that we have been deprived of our most economic market and it is to the vital interest of every farmer in Canada to find a means of providing other markets for his products. The Dunning budget provides for that by increasing British Preference with the idea of seeking to build up trade with the British Dominions overseas.

Voted Against Budget

The speaker pointed out that all but three Conservatives voted against the May Day budget, including Hon. R. B. Bennett, Dr. Manion and E. A. Peck. "Bennett is not the man to be entrusted to represent Canada at the Imperial Conference." (Voice from audience)—"He's not going to anyway."

This is not what I would term a party question concluded the speaker, "It is a matter which concerns every farmer no matter what his politics, we should see to it that we vote solidly for British Preference and see to it also that every single voter in this constituency gets out on election day and marks the ballot in favour of J. J. Duffus."

The candidate, who dealt comprehensively with all the issues, both major and minor of the election, also pointed out the seriousness of voting and was of the opinion that party is being forgotten in face of the vital question of British Preference. Many Liberal-Conservatives are supporting Mackenzie King because they believe that the policy of the Liberal Party is in the best interests of the country. I am absolutely in favour of the Dunning Budget, the speaker emphatically averred, adding that it is the means whereby we will be able to dispose of our surplus farm products and manufactured goods. We will have Empire trade and by raising the tariff to foreign countries will be able to bring back increasing prosperity to this country. It is the only solution.

Consider the Past

In going to the polls the conduct of the government in the past should be carefully considered. Do you know of any instance where the finger of scorn has been pointed at Mackenzie King or his colleagues during their term of office or on the platform in this campaign?

Touching on the unemployment question, Mr. Duffus alleged that this is one question the Conservatives are drawing across the trail, trying to make the unemployed think that the persent administration is responsible for it. "My friend and opponent has referred to unemployment as the issue in this campaign, and while I do not deny the existence of such conditions, stated Mr. Duffus, I do know that Canada is in a much sounder condition than any other country. Dealing with the causes of unemployment the speaker, mentioned the wheat tie-up, the stock market crash, and the continued use of labour saving machinery. Can you blame the Mackenzie King Government or any other Government for such conditions, he asked in conclusion, and answered the question by saeing, "assuredly no!"

The Cheerio entertainers of Peterborough, under leaders F. R. Clark and W. James, provided a fine program of harmonica, banjo and piano selections.

WEDDING BELLS

PLUNKETT—ANDERSON

CHESLEY, July 12. — A very pretty wedding was solemnized in the Chesley Baptist church, Saturday, June 28, at 2 o'clock, when Bessie, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Alexander Anderson of Scone, was united in marriage to Hamilton, son of Mr. and Mrs. Plunkett, of Havelock.

The ministers officiating were Rev. W. B. Walker of Chesley, and Rev. A. J. Schultz, of Port Burwell. The bride was given in marriage by her father, and was attended by Miss Patrick, of St. Thomas. The best man was Mr. L. J. Garvey of Lakefield.

The church was prettily decorated with peonies, roses and ferns. The wedding march was played by Miss Margaret Sinclair.

The bride wore a gown of white georgette trimmed with shadow lace, and cap-shaped veil with a crown of orange blossoms. She carried sweetheart roses and lily of the valley. Miss Patrick wore a gown of pale pink georgette, lace trimmed, and hat to match.

After the ceremony a reception was held at the home of the bride's parents.

Among out of town guests were Mr. and Mrs. Plunkett of Havelock, and Mr. L. J. Garvey, Lakefield.

The bride and groom left later on a motor trip to Muskoka. On their return they will reside in Port Arthur where Mr. Plunkett teaches in the High School.

SATURDAY, JULY 12, 1930

THE ASTOUNDING BRADMAN.

Britishers the world over must have been stirred when they read of the astounding batting performance of Don Bradman, youthful Australian cricketer who in the first inning of the third Test match yesterday piled up the record-breaking score of 304 not out, the highest tally ever made by a batsman in international cricket.

The British people take their cricket seriously, and when a player puts on such a tremendous batting effort as that of Bradman yesterday his place in the hall of fame is secure for all time.

The Motherland, always a country of real sportsmen, is incidentally experiencing a run of ill-fortune.

The American golfers and tennis players made almost a clean sweep, the Diamond Sculls were captured by Jack Guest of Canada, and now it looks as if Australia was going to capture the cricket honors, the visitors compiling 458 runs for the loss of only three wickets.

But Britishers will applaud the winners and cheerfully get ready for the next contest—which is the British way and the only true sporting way.

OBJECT TO DAYLIGHT SAVING.

The Town Council of Lindsay is to be called upon to deal with a somewhat unusual request—that is, that the daylight saving system adopted some weeks ago should be abandoned.

There have been cases in which municipalities have tried out the summer time experiment for a year and then decided to adhere to standard time thereafter, although most urban centres after a summer's experience have been permanently converted to the advantages of daylight saving.

Lindsay, however, offers the first case of an agitation for the scrapping of summer time after a few weeks' trial.

Merchants who support the request for a return to standard time declare that their business has materially decreased since the alteration in time, and they credit the loss to the introduction.

Whether or not the pressure in favor of the abandonment of fast time is strong enough to secure a repeal of the daylight saving by-law remains to be seen.

If the effort is successful Lindsay will make history as the first municipality to scrap daylight saving in mid-season.

TO SAVE CHILDREN.

It is to be hoped that the parents of Peterborough's children did not fail to read the advertisement of the Ontario Highway Safety Committee which appeared in last evening's Examiner and which stressed a number of safety-rules designed to protect children from traffic dangers.

As the advertisement pointed out, the need for care on the part of children grows with the increasing traffic every year, and it might have said, too, with the noticeable stepping up in speed on the part of motorists generally.

The six rules emphasized by the committee are worth repetition. Parents should read them to their children and explain them so that the little folks will realize the necessity of being careful.

Here are the points emphasized by the committee:

1. Don't play on streets or highways.
2. Don't cross busy streets except at crossings—always look both ways whenever you cross a street or highway.
3. Don't dart from behind a parked car.
4. Don't ride on the back of trucks, wagons or cars.
5. Don't ride your bicycle without both hands on the handlebars and both feet on the pedals. Don't swerve in and out—keep close to the curb. Be careful at cross streets. Don't hang on to trucks, wagons or cars.
6. Don't walk on the right side of a highway. Walk on the left side with eyes front, facing the on-coming traffic.

CLASSIFYING THE CARELESS DRIVER.

Under the Ontario Safety Responsibility Law, which comes into force on September 1, the careful driver is not penalized in the least.

So long as he has due regard for the provisions of the Highway Traffic Act and for the rights of others, he is immune from the penalties prescribed under this legislation.

On the other hand, those who show recklessness in driving and a disregard of the rights of others or who fail to pay judgments rendered against them will be punished and will in many cases be driven from the highways.

The registrar under this act will keep records and will be authorized to classify the offending driver or motor vehicle owner when requiring him to give proof of financial responsibility, such classification to be based on the seriousness of the offence.

The classifications are Class A for minor offences, Class B for offences more serious and Class C for still more serious offences.

If after such classification the person gives proof of financial responsibility by a policy of an insurance company, that company will be required to increase the ordinary premium which they would charge for the particular car according to its use and location, by increasing the premium for those classed A by 10 per cent., Class B by 25 per cent. and Class C by 50 per cent.

And further, if any person who while in Class C commits a further offence, his license or permit must then be suspended for not less than twelve months. On the other hand, if no new offence be committed for twelve months after such classification, the rating shall be improved by the removal from Class C to Class B and from Class B to Class A, and if in Class A by the removal of classification.

It seems there are certain things your best friends won't tell you, but they will give you a dirty look.—Des Moines Register.

THEIR EXPERIENCE, TOO.

(St. Thomas Times-Journal)

We didn't think there were any of them left, but here we read in The Peterborough Examiner that with the greatest reluctance, following several years in which the financial returns did not justify a continuance of the weekly issue, the owners have abandoned the publication of a paper that has been printed every week since The Examiner was established in 1847. The experience of The Examiner has been the same as that of The Times and The Journal before weekly editions were given up here, namely, the chief circulation of the weekly for some time was among former residents now living in the Canadian Northwest and in the United States. Now many of those old subscribers read The Times-Journal every day.

TEN TESTS OF A MAN.

A wise observer can tell a lot about a man if he knows how to look and what to look for. He can tell a lot about a man by watching how he acts under stress, under pressure, under fire. He can tell a lot about a man by watching what he does with his leisure hours, when he is free to uo as he pleases. The wise observer can get a pointer or two about a man by noting the kind of associates he chooses. He can tell a lot about a man by the way he takes criticism, adversity, hazing, oppression, injustice.

The wise observer can learn something about a man by noting his front—the way he speaks, dresses, acts. He can tell yet more by finding out to what extent he drives, works, actually gets things done. A great deal about a man shows in his attitudes, his disposition, his affections. An eighth test of a man is his handling of his own money and property. Another is his treatment of the weak, the subordinate, of animals, of unfortunates.

But one of the greatest tests of a man is his manner of dealing with his own obligations. Does he keep his word, his bond, his note, to the letter Does he accept obligations that should be his? Does he go even beyond his legal obligations, and own his moral duties to society, to humanity, to his generation? Does he scrupulously pay his debts, without a quibble, without an exaction, without a whimper?

By these 10 tests a wise observer can learn much. It is indeed a compliment if after such a scrutiny he can say of one: There is a Man!—J. G. C. in Farm and Dairy.

"POISONED WITH MISTRUST AND SUSPICION."

Speaking at the banquet of the International Congregational Church Council, which has been holding its sessions at Bournemouth, former Premier David Lloyd George delivered a message that ought to be equally interesting and convincing, not only to the church to which he was speaking, but to the world at large. The great Liberal statesman began his address by declaring that the peace of the world depended upon good understanding, good-will and co-operation between Great Britain and the United States. Then he uttered the following significant warning:

"It is vital in the interests of the human race that Britain and America should march side by side solving the great problems that await us. Peace is by no means secure. In spite of treaties, man has not yet given up the idea of war. Preparations for war are going on in every country of the world. There are more men trained for war in Europe, Asia and America than before the great catastrophe of 1914. Except for countries like Germany that were forced to reduce their armaments, Great Britain is the only country that has diminished its forces to a point where they were at least no more than before the war. I speak from personal experience," Lloyd George continued, "when I say that although I have gone to live in a quiet place in Surrey, I hear every day the rattle of machine-guns in one camp, the hoarse roar of cannons in another, and, carried by the westerly breeze, I hear the boom of naval artillery from the direction of Portsmouth, and the drone of aeroplanes. That is going on in every civilized land on earth. It is really time the churches took this thing in hand. I don't know who else can do it. We have got covenants against war, we have got pacts, we have all signed that there shall be no more war, and we are spending more preparing for things that we have determined should never happen again. The international situation is bad. We are building up barriers against each other, putting up fences against each other, and restrictions against each other. We are blockading each other and we are trying to starve each other. Trade is treated as if it were contraband. The atmosphere is poisoned with suspicion and mistrust. Let us have brotherhood. It is only the Christian churches that can do it. It is for you to do it."

This utterance is undoubtedly one that ought to arouse the consciences not only of all the leading statesmen, but of all those who are interested in the great organizations that are working for the peace of the world. Whatever faults Lloyd George may have, it cannot be denied that he is an intensely keen observer of international affairs, and that he is particularly quick to catch the significance of current events. His plea to the church to intervene in the struggle for peace was exceedingly timely and cogent. If peace is to be maintained and war banished it is absolutely necessary that the conscience of the world shall be aroused against the horrors, iniquities and destruction of war. Statesmen can do their part, and have done great things in promoting peace pacts, but there is room for a mighty and insistent moral crusade on the part of the churches of Christendom against war. Now is the time to take action before the horrors of the Great War have faded from the minds of the people.—Brantford Expositor.

EDITORIAL NOTES AND COMMENT.

Jones and Smith are two common enough names, but they mean a lot on the golf links.

A New York show has been raided because the girls didn't wear enough clothes. Well, the stage has to go a long way to outstrip the street parade these days.

A minister of radio is hinted at by Premier King. It is to be hoped that he will have full control of static.

There are complaints in Cobourg of speeding through the streets of that town by tourists and others. Probably every other municipality along any of the provincial highways has a similar story to tell.

Non-swimmers who spend the week-end away from home should be careful not to bathe in places where the conditions are unknown to them. The week-end drowning lists show how dangerous it is to risk the perils of unfamiliar waters.

A Hollywood paper runs the headline, "Public to See Stars Eating." Will this also be a sound film?—Los Angeles Times.

A Thought

THE WATCHER

There is a Deity. I have felt his presence. I have heard his voice. I have been cradled in his imperial robe. All that is or can ever be, is he but "the visible garment of God." I ask no written covenant with God, for he is my Father. As I write my little son awakes, alarmed by some unusual noise and comes groping through the darkness to my door. He sees the light shining through the transom, returns to his trundle-bed and lies down to peaceful dreams. He knows that beyond that gleam his father keeps watch and ward and he asks no more. Through a thousand celestial transoms streams the light of God. Why should I fear?—Brann.

THE GRINGO PRIVATEER

By PETER B. KYNE

CHAPTER 13.

"Well angels couldn't do more. You're right, it will be worth a great deal to me to have you put this job over, so I'll tell you what I'll do. Your father's ranch will run a cow to every fifteen acres—three thousand head—without overgrazing. I'll stock the ranch for you with two thousand head of heifers that will be two years old next spring. They'll be good, smooth, grade Herefords. In addition I'll put in a hundred and fifty pure-bred Hereford bulls and twenty head of well-broken saddle stock. I'll bill this livestock to you at a fair market value, based on present prices, and take your promissory note for five years, at five per cent, secured by the livestock.

"You should have eighty per cent calf crops and I agree with you that the cattle business, due to the extraordinary shortage of cattle not only in this country but all over the world, is due to come back with a bang. We shall have very high prices and they should continue for many years. Within five years you should be able to repay me and own three thousand head without a dollar's indebtedness on them. For operating expenses I suppose your father would be willing to place a first mortgage on the ranch for you. It's worth half a million dollars—if you could sell it, which isn't an easy job nowadays."

"I expect to lease the ranch from my father, of course, as soon as the lease of the present tenant has expired, Your Majesty; but, unfortunately, the ranch is already mortgaged! I'm afraid I'll have to ask you to loan me fifty thousand dollars for operating capital. If you'll do that, the deal is made."

"By the bones of Moses, I thought you were going to ask me to give it to you. Har! Har-har! Har! Very well, son. I'll furnish the operating capital at five per cent, but I'll not furnish it all at once. No sir. Only as you need it, and I'm to have access to your books at all reasonable times and my representative is to have the privilege of looking over your operations with a view to deciding whether you're operating like a fool or a wise man. If I think your methods will lead to ruin you must agree to pursue my methods."

"I quite realize your right to protect the loan in every reasonable way, sir, provided you promise not to be capricious."

"When I make a promise, I keep it—the letter as well as the spirit, young man."

"All right, sir, we've traded."

"You've got a good set up," the king warned him, "and if you fail to make good, sweet Christian thoughts will be wasted on you. By the way, while you were absent I had you and yours looked up, The man who leased your father's ranch couldn't make good, so the Bardin Land & Cattle Company has taken over his lease. But don't let that worry you. The day you make good on this deal we'll cancel our lease and turn the ranch back to you, at cost. I can get another general manager for El Ranchito, and you can drag your brisk young tail out of New Mexico a minute after completing your contract. Tom Bledsoe, the riding boss, is next in line and he'll rejoice to see the dust of your going."

"I guessed as much, sir. I passed him at the corral gate as I rode in, and judged, by the look in his eyes, the he wasn't pleased to observe the dust of my coming. How long has he been the riding boss?"

"Twenty long, hot and cold, labor-ridden years, Kenneth."

"What a disappointment for the poor devil."

"Yes, indeed. However, in industry, as in war, it sometimes becomes necessary to replace a good, steady conservative old general with a forceful, aggressive, radical colonel. I'm sorry for Tom, but my interests come before his. However, I'll give him a raise in wages."

"You'll do nothing of the sort, Your Majesty," Ken Burney replied smilingly. "I'm the general manager and the day you butt in on my right to hire, fire, raise salaries or lower them, that day any excuse for my existence as general manager of El Ranchkito vanishes and I'll be headed down the road, leaving you to the tender mercies of Martin Bruce and Miguel Gallegos."

"Right you are," the king admitted. "I admire you for sticking up for your rights, although at the same time I'd like to give you a cuff on the ear. You're too infernally touchy for a Johnny-come-lately. Let me put it this way: 'It would please me very much, Mr. Burney, if you would, in your wisdom, condescend to give poor old Tom Bledsoe a raise of twenty-five dollars a month."

"I shall be most happy to oblige my kind, generous and indulgent boss, but I must remind you that until I discover whether Tom Bledsoe is worth the raise or not he'll not get it. He may be dead timber, for all you know, and if he is, I'm going to hire a new riding boss and you can transfer Mr. Bledsoe to your dead timber department."

"Well, I could promote him to general manager of a little ranch that any fairly efficient cattleman could run," the king admitted. "But be kind to old Tom. He's sound timber; he's been faithful and true and I wouldn't hurt his feelings for anything except the vital necessitys of getting this important job done. It's a task old Tom isn't quite up to. He has a strong religious streak in him. In the round-up he sits around the fire every night and plays hymns on the harmonica. He's a Quaker and it's a strain on his gentle nature to spur a horse."

"I will remember your solicitude for his welfare, sir. By the way, where do I sleep to-night?"

"I thought Art Graydon had a spare room in his house, but it seems his sister-in-law is visiting him. So I've had a cot put in the ranch office for you. By the way, just before you turn in, tack this notice on the bulletin board that hangs on the wall outside of the office entrance," and the king handed his new general manager a sheet with some typewriting on it. Ken Burney read:

July 4th, 19

To all employees of El Ranchito:

On and after this date Mr. Kenneth Burney will be the general manager of this ranch. I bespeak for Mr. Burney the same loyal co-operation you have hitherto accorded his predecessor, Mr. Graydon, whose services in the employ of this company have earned him promotion.

Bardin Land & Cattle Co.,
By Bradley Bardin,
President.

"Any further orders, sir?" he queried.

"None. I fire general managers to whom I have to issue orders. Good night, Ken."

"Good night, sir." He moved off the porch and the gloom swallowed him.

"Well, King," a sweet voice spoke from a distant corner of the veranda, "it looks to me as if you have a bearcat by the tail."

"It looks that way, Muriel I'll be hanged if I know what to make of that fellow. One minute he's so cocksure I want tothrow a rock at him and the next minute I'm certain he's of the breed of men made for bosses. He's a pretty easy talker, but—he knows when to quit talking. And while he's talking he makes you like it. I couldn't stand a blatherskite."

"Neither could I," his daughter replied.

"The devil you couldn't!" The words popped out, leaving His Majesty in the position of one who has already talked too much and may not say more. A soft little laugh answered him tantalizingly.

What To-day Means To You

"CANCER."

If July 12 is your birthday, the best hours for you on this date are 8 a.m. to 9:15 a.m., noon to 1 p.m. and 6 p.m. to 7:30 p.m. The danger periods are from 5 a.m. to 6:30 a.m. and 11 p.m. to midnight.

Astrological forces on this date are favorable in the a.m. and uncertain in the p.m. Good news through a letter, and friendship received from an unexpected source. The day's profits depend a great deal on self; no ropes will be pulled for you.

The children born on this July 12th will be fond of study, and will be most honest and upright. They will be mechanically inclined, and very neat and orderly in their work. They will pay much attention to personal appearances.

The two living forces in your life are your faith and hope. No matter how gloomy your to-days may be, you always visualize the sun shining on your to-morrows. You meet your calamities face to face, for the first time; they are never anticipated. You are one of the few fortunate people who are able to minimize your misfortunes, and to swell your fortunes. Others are usually much more concerned about your hard luck than you are yourself.

You have rather a pronounced economical strain, and as a result your "rainy days" are automatically cared for, in a material way. You have the art of spending wisely—you usually get your money's worth. You are never stingy, however, in your expenditures on other people. You have the usual caution of the Cancer people. You are content with your sure returns, no matter how small they may be; wild-cat schemes do not entice you. You are suited for a public or commercial life rather than one in the family. Family influence, however, will play an important part in your life—whether you wish it or not.

You are affectionate, but it is difficult for you to express your inner feelings, and you are often not given credit for being as kind and thoughtful as you really are. You feel more gratitude than you are able to express.

CAVAN

Miss Mildred Rowen, of Peterborough is holidaying at the home of her aunt, Mrs. David White.

Mr. and Mrs. David White attended the funeral of a cousin in Kendall on Thursday.

The Rev. J. E. and Mrs. Whitham and Master Francis have returned after spending a short vacation in Toronto.

Fruit is scarce in this district, cherries were a failure and there is a very poor prospect of plums. Harvest apples are plentiful but there are very few fall and winter apples. Haying is well advanced and the root crop is looking well.

Gypsies passed through Cavan this week they were from Oklahoma.

EMBARRASSING MOMENTS

THOMAS FLAHERTY RETURNS TO BIRTHPLACE AFTER ABSENCE OF NEARLY FORTY-TWO YEARS

Former Resident Motors Twenty-four Hundred Miles From Pitcher Creek, Alberta.

VISITS OLD HOMESTEAD.

Comments on Different Appearance of the City Since His Departure.

The town clock spoke its welcome this week to one of the city's returning sons, when, after an absence of forty-two years, he halted the automobile that had brought him over twenty-four hundred miles to his native province and looked up at its friendly face.

When Thomas Flaherty of Pitcher Creek, Alberta, came into Peterborough, with his wife and sixteen-year old son, Thomas, Junior, he stayed his course on Water Street and, looking up at the clock, said: "I know where we are now. Let's get something to eat." They had come a long way that day. In fact, every day in the car averaged four hundred miles on a journey that brought them from the foothills of the Rockies to Peterborough, with Thomas Flaherty's fifty-nine year old hand at the wheel all the way.

Born in Emily, on the boundary line between that township and Ennismore, Mr. Flaherty came into the little town of Peterborough, and left it at the age of seventeen years to seek his fortune in Seattle and Minneapolis, where he lived for many years before moving to Pitcher Creek, Alberta, where he runs two hotels in the town of twelve hundred inhabitants, who live at the foot of the Rockies and can look up to see the snow on the Crow's Nest Pass.

Back in Emily, Mr. Flaherty found the old well of his childhood and the old trees, around which he put his arms when he saw their friendly trunks once more. The house where he was born is gone long ago, but the rail fences still remain.

"I think they are terrible, but my wife thinks they're wonderful," he says, commenting on the lack of these familiar landmarks in western prairie districts.

In the Town Clock grocery and liquor store that was in charge, forty-two years ago of W. J. Morrow, now of New York City, Mr. Flaherty worked for some time before leaving Peterborough. It was situated under the town clock which was then placed north of its present location and had a position directly over the Arcade which used to connect George Street with the Hay market, as it was called, when the farmers brought their loads to the Toll Clerk of those days, John Doherty, for weighing on the scales located just about where the fish vendor now has his stall.

Mr. Flaherty also drove the private hack maintained in those days by Harry Drake, on Water Street, and he remembers many of the older residents: John Sullivan, who ran the Peterborough House where the American Hotel now stands; J. B. McIntyre, first proprietor of the Oriental Hotel on Hunter Street, Mick Halpin, who had the American House near the creek on Hunter Street, which was at that time the site of the old tannery, Ted Cavanagh, proprietor of a hotel on Water Street, Dolan's store at the corner of George and Hunter Streets, where the late Pete Simons and his son, Young Pete, learned the tailoring business, and where Dan Simons also made acquaintance with the tailor's goose before his foot became adventurous and he went forth to make his name on the stage.

Mr. Flaherty ,whose brother Edward, died suddenly during the past year, has a brother John, who lives on the old homestead, another brother, Martin, living on Sherbrooke Street, and a sister, Mrs. M. J. Murphy, on Aberdeen Avenue.

Commenting on the different appearance of the city since his departure forty-two years ago, Mr. Flaherty said: "I think Peterborough is wonderful." He remarked on the many factories and buildings and the manner in which the city has gone forward generally. With his wife and son, he will remain for about a week longer. He enjoyed himself immensely on Tuesday evening, when he visited Melody Inn at Lakefield and has some real old-time square dances to the music of the Merrymakers.

The party will motor home by way of Niagara Falls, which they have never seen.

ANIMALS BORN OLDER UNDER NEW METHOD

COLD SPRINGS HARBOR, N. Y., July 12.—(C.P.)—A method for having animals born 'older" and less helpless was disclosed to-day at the Cold Springs Harbor biological laboratory.

Births are delayed, and apparently to the benefit of the young, by an extract of corpus luteum, a sex hormone, isolation of this extract was announced at these laboratories a year ago, and to-day some of its first results were made public at a lecture before a gathering of scientists.

FLOWERS FOR SALE ON LOCAL MARKET

Basket Produce Sells Quickly in Early Morning—New Potatoes Plentiful.

Supplies in the basket section of the farmers' market were depleted at an early hour this morning, although the patronage was not as large as usual.

Flowers colored the market everywhere to-day. A nickel, or a dime or fifteen cents would buy large bunches; black eyed Susans for dark verandahs, and white "cup and saucer" flowers that resemble a double Canterbury bell, and lovely bouquets of red bergamot and gypsophila or the same delicate baby's breath, mixed with bronze-red gaillardia.

Eggs were priced from 32 to 40c a dozen in the upper market. One man had them for 30c a dozen in the open mart.

Butter was 32 to 35 cents a pound. Little broiling fowl of two to three pounds apiece were 30 and 35 cents a pound and hens were 25 cents.

Strawberries, scarce in a bad season, were 25 cents for the quart box Red and gold currants were 10 cents a quart and black currants were 25 cents a quart.

Blueberries were 25 cents a quart, gooseberries 15 cents and stemmed red cherries were 20 cents a quart box.

New potatoes sold at 50 and 60 cents a peck with very small samples at 40 cents a peck. Cauliflowers were 2 for 25 cents. Shelled green peas had a good sale at 40 cents a quart.

Little Yorkshire pigs were $14 a pair, small White Leghorn chicks were 25 cents apiece and silver Chinchilla rabbits were 75 cents a pair.

In the basket section, brilliantly coloured artificial flowers in pretty red containers were offered at 75 cents for the lot.

JEAN ASSALANT GIVEN DIVORCE IN PARIS

PARIS, France, July 12.— (Canadian Press). — Jean Assolant, transatlantic flyer and Pauline Parker, whom he married at Old Orchard, Me., on the eve of his flight to Europe, to-day were divorced by the court here.

The blame was attached to both, the court ruling that the aviator abandoned his wife, while she wrote letters to him of a disrespectful nature. The temporary alimony was discontinued.

HOOVER'S NOTE-HOLDING MAY BE TREATY DELAY

WASHINGTON, July 12.—President Hoover's refusal to give the Senate all the notes leading up to the London Naval Conference has provoked the introduction of the first reservation to the Treaty and drew a spirited denunciation.

Around the reservation—offered by Senator Norris (Republican, Nebraska)—there was a gathering of considerable strength, and upon this issue may be made the big attempt either to reject the Treaty or to postpone its consideration until Fall.

CANADIAN EXCHANGE MOVEMENT COMES ALMOST TO STANDSTILL

Present Market Offers Good Chance For Long-hold Buying.

PUBLIC REFUSE TO BUY.

CANADIAN EXCHANGE—C WAZ
(By A. D. O'Halloran.)

Special to The Examiner, Copyright 1930.

TORONTO, July 12.—Gauged by sales, there is no other Canadian industry hit so hard by the world-wide depression as the Canadian stock exchanges. Daily sales that were running around hundreds of thousands of shares have shrunk to thousands of shares each day, and the list is moving back and forth unable to get out of the rut or shake off the Wall Street influence. Machinery improved upon and speeded up to take care of capacity operations is to-day turning over slowly and coming almost to a complete standstill at times. The vast public playing the market a year ago is acting the role of spectator only with apparently no intention of participating in the most recent cycle of events. That the public will display interest later when general conditions improve is an understood fact but in the meantime speculative activities are not at a standstill with the market given over to investors who are making the best of their opportunities and accumulating the best seasoned dividend paying Canadian securities at prices that permit of greater income return than for some years past.

On surface the market failed to show much change this week but to those following affairs closely there was a slight firming, easing off in liquidation and stouter resistance to further decline. Stocks were no longer under pressure with buying and selling evenly divided. When the market showed a tendency to rally the effect of the accumulation of the popular leaders and investment issues was noticeable by the manner in which these securities were carried higher on but few sales. The decrease in the floating supply and the completion of liquidation is a step in the right direction, yet not exactly marking an upturn. General conditions are not conducive to a sustained advance and attempts to raise the level much higher would only invite further selling. It would be much better to wait definite signs of improvement in the business world and restoration of public confidence that will again start buying on a large scale.

An immediate advance to higher levels would only court trouble and undue part of the good work accomplished by the recent inactivity. It is not that the market is dangerous but the effect another reaction would have. The public first experienced years of rising prices. Then came the crash of last autumn and a recovery built upon false optimism in the early months of 1930. In May the markets struck another corrective period that was necessary to deflate values and before any substantial rally was reached there was another sinking spell in June. From then on the exchange had to absorb liquidation that is only now showing signs of abatement.

From an investment standpoint the Canadian exchanges offer many attractive purchases. There is no doubting the fact that values in a great many cases are too low just as they were too high at the height of the bull market. The list always goes to both extremes. There always comes a time when good securities can be bought for a long hold. When this time arrives good judgment naturally has to be exercised in the stocks chosen and the purchaser prepared to hold them for an extended period. There is evidence to be had that this stage has been reached. This type of buying is based upon the ability of the company to pay dividends that will permit of a fair income return. Price appreciation is not anticipated immediately with the investor expecting compensation through dividends and the return on his money which he more or less intends to keep employed indefinitely. Speculative buying comes at a time when business is booming and prospects are for a high rate of industrial earnings. In good-times companies utilize excess earnings for expansion and improvement of liquid position so that the equity behind their security is increased.

To-day the markets have come through a series of reactions following a bull market. The technical position has been improved, liquidation of speculative holdings completed and there is plenty of evidence of accumulation by investors. It is the speculative activity that is lacking. Traders find a market of this kind a most difficult one in which to make profit. The only way is to buy on dips and sell on bulges and to operate successfully one must have a wealth of experience or in other words be a professional trader.

The present attitude is one of waiting. It is anticipated the fall months will see sufficient improvement in business to warrant higher prices for securities. When this takes place many of those who have forsaken the market will come back again, realizing that the present depression is only temporary and a necessary readjustment after four years of market appreciation.

CROP "CONDITIONS" GOT THEM GUESSING

Hot Weather Upsets Former Estimates on Both Sides of the Market.

(By T. W. Banton.)
Special to The Examiner, Copyright 1930.

TORONTO, July 12.—What the wheat growers of western Canada, and of the United States, may not be willing to do voluntarily, "old Sol" this week has been threatening to do for them, whether they were willing or no. That is to reduce the wheat acreage to be grown this season.

Four or five days of continuous hot weather without any rain in sight, but with hailstorms more or less severe, as able allies in the work of destruction, have, if the reports coming from the affected areas are to be believed, made serious inroads into the acreage sown, and put to a crucial test those districts in particular that have generally been supposed to be lacking in the necessary reserves of sub-soil moisture.

Making Allowance.

There is of course always a certain amount of allowance to be made for some exaggeration as to the probable extent of damage done to the growing crops, either by excessive heat, or the accompanying hailstorms. But after all due allowance is made there has doubtless been, as a result of this week's first real hot spell for the season, some considerable reduction in the possible yield to the acreage sown.

While the markets in the past week have reacted to the sensational reports of crop damage, as seen in the fitful though moderate price advances that have been recorded, there has been at the same time a feeling, at the back, or somewhere in the market's nervous system, that when the season's total yields come to be made up, there will be no very serious shortage in the world's available supplies of wheat.

ARTICLE LXVIII.

Q.—What are the purposes of farming an Underwriting Syndicate and its benefits to the corporation and investor?

A.—Underwriting syndicates are formed for several reasons. In the first place they form the means of getting securities to the public. They guarantee the company being underwritten, the sale of its securities and assume any loss that may be incurred through the securities not being sold. They supply capital in sufficient amounts to finance large corporations, which would otherwise be impossible.

The securities are capable of being well sold and widely distributed. Syndicates are usually able to dispose of their securities quickly, thus eliminating loss incurred when much time elapses in selling them. They are able to protect the secondary market by means og buying in on the market when securities fall below certain levels. By guaranteeing a fixed price to the corporation syndicates often protect the stock of a corporation when bad breaks in the market tend to lower its price.

Syndicates assist corporations in refunding, converting, consolidating or in reorganizing. Their concentration of capital makes this possible.

The syndicate acts as an attorney and a financial expert for the investor in that it investigates the legal and financial status of companies before they are underwritten.

The syndicate benefits in that the risk involved is shared by the various members.

For these various reasons both the corporation and the investor benefits by the formation of syndicates.

He is a director of The London Times and is one of the principal supporters of movement for closer linking of the Empire, having been especially active in wireless and cable developments.

JONES SHOOTS UNDER PAR TO LEAD GOLFERS

Atlanta Ace Has Spectacular Score of 33 in Third Round.

45 HOLES IN 177.

Jones Has Trouble With Approaches But "Sizzles" in the Putting.

INTERLACHEN CLUB, Minneapolis, July 12.— (C.P.)—, Bobby Jones shot a spectacular 33, 3 under par, to-day, for the first nine holes of his third round. Following his previous 36 hole total of 144, this gave him a 45 hole figure of 177 and leadership at that stage of the battle for the United States open golf championship.

Jones was having trouble with his approaches, but his putting was 'hot." On the 178 yard fifth he was just off the carpet and his approach bounded 12 feet past the pin. He saved with one putt for a par 3. It was his third one putt green. He bagged his second birdie 3 on the 343 yard sixth and went under par. A spectacular pitch, travelling 90 yards, stopped two feet from the sixth cup.

Lacey Blows Up.

Lacey, the sturdy young British star from Philadelphia district, was the first leader to get away. He started his third round 5-5-2, going a stroke over par on each of the first two holes and bagging a birdie on the 180 yard third.

Lacey took a four on the seventh after his tee shot caught the rough. He went over par with 5 on the eighth and blew up entirely in the ninth, taking seven. About the only thing he didn't do was go in the lily pond. His tee shot caught the rough, he slammed it out, and then his iron for the green caught a trap.

He exploded short and three putted for a 42.

SHARE PRICES AGAIN GAIN

Trading Continues at Extremely Modest Pace on Wall Street.

NEW YORK, N.Y., July 12 (C.P.)—Share prices again turned upward in to-day's brief session of the stock market, imparting a more cheerful attitude in speculative quarters, as the market closed the third week of relative stability.

Trading continued at an extremely modest pace, and commission house comment was still inclined to be uncertain, but with the return from Europe of a prominent bull operator, somewhat sooner than had been expected, many shorts were inclined to close out their commitments and await developments.

The week-end business news as a whole could hardly be interpreted bullish, but as nothing very impressive can be expected at this period of summer lull, the fact that the downward curve of activity appeared to be flattening out was at least reassuring

A wide assortment of important industrials and utilities moved up about 2 to 5 points, but there were a few slight recessions from the day's best in final few minutes of trading, a normal Saturday development.

Radio Corp. was active and strong, rising more than 2 points to above 39, compared to a recent low of the year at 2⅛, and a peak during the bull movement which culminated in early March of 69 3-8.

Nershey Chocolate was also a favorite, rising nearly 5 points. Such issues as U.S. Steel, General Electric, American Water Works, Standard of N.J., National Biscuit, New York Central, Consolidated Gas, and Loews rose 2 to 3 points. Some stocks were inclined to sag in the early trading, but soon turned upward.

REVIVAL OF EXPORT TRADE WILL SET BUSINESS RIGHT

Domestic Business in Canada Shows Decided Improvement in First Half Year—Foreign Countries Not Able to Buy as Many Canadian Goods as Formerly.

(Special to Examiner, Copyright, 1930.)

TORONTO, July 12.—The first half of 1930 is now history. Complete returns from the Canadian business world are not yet available and it will be the end of July before the June figures are all out. An idea of what happened can be gleaned, however, from the July Monthly Review of Business Statistics published by the Dominion Bureau Ottawa which carries statistics up to May 31st.

Casting an eye over the data which has so far come in for the first six months of the year we find several bright spots in the darkness of the depression which Canada is standing better perhaps, than any other country in the world. As pointed out last week by the Financial editor of the Star Weekly, three of our leading oil companies, the only three to make a report, say that sales in the first half of 1930 were as good or better than for the corresponding 6 months of 1929 and it may be assumed that the other leading oil companies have enjoyed the same business prosperity. The imports of petroleum in May and June indicate the strong demand for gasoline and petroleum products by Canadians. Other lines of business such as some of the chain food store organizations report a less dollar volume of sales, but increases in net profits in the first half of the year.

Statistics Show Improvement.

The Dominion Bureau of Statistics says that the trend of business in Canada for May showed improvement. The gain in the index for the total volume of manufacturing production was considerable, indicating that at least some of the important industries are expanding their operations. It is surprising to learn that applications for employment at the employment offices were 4,088 less than in May 1929. The index of employment in the manufacturing industries in June was 113.6 compared with 112.4 in May; 111.3 in April; 110.9 in March; 110.0 in February; and 106.5 in January. The employment index for all industries combined was 116.5 in June compared with 111.2 in January. These figures show a definite trend upward in employment in Canada in the first six months. A seasonal improvement in the employment situation was of course to be expected but the gains in Canada are considerably in excess of those made in the United States and other countries.

Of course these bright spots do not tell the whole story, but they do speak for themselves. Calamity howlers stress the sharp decrease in car loadings over last year. This of course is true especially as 1929 was a year of abnormal rather than normal prosperity. What is of more importance in guaging improvement is that in every month of this year except February, car loadings in Canada showed an increase after allowing for the ordinary seasonal improvement which always occurs. They may be expected to show continued gains from now until October with the harvesting of the crops.

Industrial production as shown by the Bureau of Statistics was lower in May than in January, but higher than it was in February, March or April. The index for May stood at 186.7 compared with 187.3 in January; 164.3 in February; 167 in March and 169.8 in April. The physical volume of business was at the highest points it had been in 6 months and almost as high as in September, 1929.

Exports Are Dark Spots.

The returns compiled by Ottawa indicate that domestic business in Canada is fairly good. It is when we come to the export figures which reflect conditions abroad that we see significant declines A motor manufacturer recently told the writer that his domestic Canadian business showed unfilled orders on his books and if it were not for the export trade he would be well satisfied. It is the foreign situation that has affected our wheat and most other commodities. We do not export petroleum products and in the sale of these, an improvement over last year is reported. Exports of merchandise in May were in round numbers only $79,000,000 compared with $109,000,000 in May of last year. Exports of wheat, vegetables, textiles, animal products, newsprint, automobiles and nonferrous metals are all seriously down. Imports are down also, but not to the same extent.

ORANGEMEN ARE CELEBRATING

Worshipful Master E. F. Reid of Peterborough will not take part in the celebration at Lindsay to-day, having left for Brockville yesterday to participate in the special centennial observation there.

One hundred years ago the Grand Orange Lodge of British America was founded at Brockville, Upper Canada, by Ogle Robert Gowan. Two years previously he had come to Canada from Ireland, where he was born in 1803, and where he had been a member of the Orange Order in County Wicklow.

Through the efforts of this man, who became First Grand Master of the British North American body, scattered groups of unofficially organized Orangemen were united under one head.

That there had been Orange activities in Canada previous to 1830 is evidenced by the fact that there were extensive Orange factions in the army, navy and militia during the war of 1812, and that Orange societies had been formed by little groups of isolated Orangemen from the Old country, who had come together in the new settlements.

The first Orange parade recorded as having taken place in this country appears to have occurred in Little York—now Toronto—on July 12, 1822. The York Weekly Register for July 18, of that year, reports:

"The members of York Lodge assembled in their lodge rooms on the 12th inst., to celebrate the anniversary of King William III., Prince of Orange, at two o'clock. They marched in procession to the church, accompanied by the band of the West York Militia where the Honorable and Rev. Dr. Strachan gave an eloquent and appropriate discourse on the occasion. After divine service they repaired to Mr. Phair's tavern where upwards of one hundred members sat down to an elegant dinner, prepared for their reception They remained until a late hour, the greatest harmony prevailing."

To the delegates assembled to-day at the Ogle R. Gowan Memorial Temple, Brockville, Ont., to observe the one hundredth anniversary of the founding of the Canadian Orange Association have come personal messages of congratulation from the Imperial Grand Master, Sir Edward Archdale, Bart., of Ulster; from Lord Carson of Duncairn, Ulster leader; from the Rt. Hon. Viscount Craigavon, Prime Minister of Northern Ireland; and from the Grand Master of Scotland, Col. A. D. McInnis Shaw, D.S.O., D.L., J.P., of Glasgow.

100th Anniversary.

KINGSTON, July 12.—On the occasion of the hundredth anniversary of Orangeism in Canada, greetings were to-day sent out by Col. Hon. T. A. Kidd, grand master and sovereign of the Grand Orange Lodge of British America, to all members of the order.

Col. Kidd's message said: "The Grand Orange Lodge of British America has completed 100 years of patriotic service to Canada and the British Empire.

"Loyalty to the crown of Britain and the empire has been so outstanding a characteristic of the order that it has never been questioned by its bitterest enemies.

"It is entering upon the second century of its history numerically more powerful than ever. It has spread into every province and to Newfoundland. Its lodges are numbered by thousands and its members by hundreds of thousands.

"It affords me the greatest possible pleasure to pen a message of affectionate good wishes to the Orangemen and Orange women of British America and their many friends on this eventful occasion.

"The existence of the order is as necessary to-day as ever and I hope that in vigor and influence it will continue to grow and extend."

KING'S FIVE CENT

on the fields of Flanders."

Mrs. Weese scored the King government on the way they had administered during their term of office, the state of the markets, the unemployed situation, the refusal of grants to education and agriculture, and the statement by Mr. King that this condition was not brought about by legislation, and asked the audience why a country so rich in natural resources should be in the plight it is to-day.

The speaker explained the industrial situation, and showed how they needed a protective policy to enable them to sell in the home markets, and create more labor for Canadians. She also spoke on the Hydro question, and scored the government for its American attitude. "Bennett's slogan, "Canada First," said the speaker, "is going to be carried out that we may have cause to believe that our country is more to us than any country in the world."

Mr. Maybee, during the course of his address, praised the women for the work they had done, and for that he knew they would do in the future. Speaking of the depression in Canada to-day, he said that despite what the Liberals say that it is unavoidable, in his opinion, it should never exist in a country that was so full of natural resources. Of the unemployment question, he thought that the government's policy of immigration was a lot to do with it. In the past nine years forty million dollars had been spent in bringing people into this country, while over a million and a half Canadians had left it for other countries. This was due to the lack of industries, and the work shortage, which was in turn caused by the lack of proper industrial protection.

Mr. Maybee also spoke of the way the government had cut off the grants to education, agriculture, highway expansion, and deplored their policy of refusing to bear the whole burden of the old age pension scheme, a thing that the Conservative party pledged itself to do if elected to office.

Speaking of the tactics of the opposition Mr. Maybee said that many promises had been made but none fulfilled.

No Post Office Yet.

Mr. Fraser had had the patronage of the government for the past four years, and had failed to bring the oft-talked of post office to Campbellford. Mr. Maybee had pressed the matter several times but with no effects. He went on to state that during the past four years there had been thirty post offices built in Canada, only two of which had been in a Conservative riding. Only eight of these had a revenue larger or as large as Campbellford, which is $10,000, and many of them were less than $2,000.

In conclusion the speaker appealed to the women to consider the responsibility as voters, and urged them to work in co-operation with the men in winning the fight for the Conservative party.

CHICAGO GRAIN.

CHICAGO, July 12. — Suddenly reversing an upward flight, wheat values late yesterday plunged to below the bottom level reached heretofore this season, or for seventeen years back.

Reports of rains, affording some relief from drought, both in Canada and in domestic spring wheat territory, were to a great degree responsible for a quick switch that many traders made to the selling side as the day drew to an end.

WINNIPEG GRAIN.

WINNIPEG, July 12.— The brave front presented by bulls for most of yesterday's wheat market crumbled before a late bear assault, and early gains were turned into losses at the close that ranged from 2c to 2¼c. Reported rains in the Western wheat belt, scattered though they were, and unconfirmed, brought about the selling rush.

Values sank to their lowest points of the year, all three trading months closing under the dollar-a-bushel post. Export sales of about 700,000 bushels and strong Liverpool cables were responsible for the early day gains.

Demand for cash wheat was light, spreads remaining unchanged. Practically no business was reported done in the coarse grain pit.

TORONTO PRODUCE

TORONTO, July 12.—Wax beans have not been the easiest thing in the world for the local fruit and vegetable dealers to get rid of during the last day or so, and the price of 40c to50c for 11 quarts was cut in some cases yesterday, though most sales held to the regular prices. Green beans were more in demand and prices ranged all the way from 60c to $1 per 11 quarts, with quite a number of baskets bringing 90c. There was a wider spread in cucumber prices also, and 11 quarts sold from $1 to $1.35, according to quality, and fullness of basket quality and quantity in baskets are the main factors on this market. There was a great range of prices in cauliflower; dealers were selling from 50c to $1.75 per hamper. Celery, which has just started to come in fair-sized amounts, sold at 65c to 90c per dozen. Green onions have become too plentiful and dealers have been receiving more than they can clear at 10c to 20c a dozen. Green peas were down 5c to 10c, and sold at 25c to 30c for six quarts, and 45c to 60c for 11 quarts. Head lettuce was more in demand and brought anywhere from 50c to $1 per hamper. Hothouse tomatoes were lower at 18c to 20c per pound.

Red currants were lower at 30c to 40c per six quarts, and quarts were down at 9c to 10c. Black Currants were also lower at 75c to $1 for six quarts. Red raspberries were selling at 18c to 20c a pint, though the black variety held steady at 15c to 20c per pint. Blueberries had a wide range, and sold all the way from $2.50 to $3.25 per 11 quarts. Some blueberries show very poor packing and poor fruit.

WHEN LANGUID AND ANAEMIC

When a girl is languid, dull and irritable; when her color fades you may be sure her blood is impoverished. When a girl's blood is poor her nerves are starved and there is serious danger of a decline. Rebuild the blood, strengthen the nerves and good health will follow.

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are of untold value as a blood-builder. Concerning them Mrs. John Finin, Howlan Station, P.E.I., says: "My daughter was badly run down; pale, nervous and under weight. We decided to give her Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. After a few boxes she gained in weight, her appetite improved and color came to her cheeks—in fact she fully regained her former good health."

You can get these Pills at all medicine dealers or by mail at 50 cents a box from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

NORHAM

After the minutes were read, Mrs. West, herald for China, gave an account of the rescue of Rev. Bridgeman of China from the bandits.

Mrs. O. Larver gave the devotional leaflet, "The Temperance Teaching of Paul the Apostle."

The temperance study, "Poisoned Arrows," was introduced by the leader, and parts were taken by Mrs. Harry Wilson, Mrs. Lorne Evans and Miss Edna Evans.

"The Army of Temperance" was sung and the meeting closed with prayer by two of the members.

E. R. PEACOCK DENIES SIGNING MANIFESTO

LONDON, Eng., July 11 (C.P.) Cable).—E. R. Peacock, Canadian-born financier, announced to-day he was not a party to the recent manifesto in favor of greater inter-Empire trade by means of tariff against foreign products, issued over the signatures of a number of leading bankers. Mr. Peacock's name was used in error.

Mr. Peacock, who has been Receiver-General of the Duchy of Cornwall since 1929, is a native of Glengarry, Ont., and was educated at Queen's University, Kingston. He was a Master at Upper Canada College before becoming associated with Dominion Securities of Toronto, with which firm he was attached when he came to London.

measure for a period of one year and nine months.

Liberals Made Treaties

The act confirming the Australian treaty had been passed in 1925 by the Liberal administration of Mackenzie King, permitting the passing of the New Zealand Order-in-Council by which 14 million dollars' worth of cheap butter had been permitted to enter Canada last year. Australia and New Zealand were permitted to send lard, tallow, eggs, cheese, and onions, duty free, canned meat at 15 per cent., ad valorum, fresh meat at one-half cent a pound, and butter at one cent a pound. In return, Canada was permitted to export to the Antipodes such commodities as linotype and printing machines, wagon wheels and machine parts. This was the measure which had paralyzed the Canadian dairy-farming industry, as was evidenced by the alarming decrease in dairy cattle here since the treaty.

Regarding recent Liberal accusations of disloyalty to the Empire on the part of the Conservative leader, Mr. Peck stated: "Mr. Burnham and others have been distorting Mr. Bennett's 'Canada First' speech. There is no greater imperialist in Canada than Mr. Bennett—but he is practical, too."

Backs the Conservatives

The British Bankers' Manifesto backed the Conservative leader in his stand for reciprocal trade agreements within the Empire, Mr. Peck declared. Despite hopes, foreign nations had continually raised their tariffs against us. The Empire was now our only hope. But the Dunning budget was "a mere gesture."

Imports from the United States had been increasing yearly under the King administration, Mr. Peck pointed out. Canada's unfavorable trade balance with the U. S. amounted in one year to 332 million dollars, and much of Canada's export was in the form of raw material which returned in manufactured form.

"Our dependence upon the United States for manufactured goods which protection would permit us to manufacture here," asserted the speaker, "is one of the principal causes of unemployment. Even getting tourists over here to drink our booze doesn't compensate for this."

The government had known for a long time, he claimed, that measures must ultimately be taken to stem the time of U. S. manufactured goods, but they had taken no steps even when they "knew the United States was going to take another jab at us Canadian by raising their tariff still further."

The Dunning budget, Mr. Peck felt, would do little to help matters. "It looks good at first glance, but on examination proves quite innocent." Many provisions should have gone through years ago. On the eve of an election, the government has taken off the tea tax, instituted seasonal tariffs for the benefit of fruit and vegetable growers, and given protection for the primary production of iron and steel.

"But after all is said," declared the candidate, "there is nothing in the tariff to cover the great class of manufactured goods brough in from the United States." Although calculated to increase Canada's trade in the British market, the budget made only a slight reduction in British as against U. S. goods. It was unlikely that Britain would take advantage to any market extent.

Mr. Peck scored, what he termed, the Prime Minister's "want or heart" in dealing with the acute unemployment situation. He quoted a speech reported in yesterday morning's Globe, in which the Premier had declared that, if the government had wished to play politics, it would have been easy to vote a few millions for relief; that it would have been so many millions well spent for votes.

Mr. Peck felt that the Opposition would have been only too glad to co-operate in relief legislation. Even half a day's governmental income—half a million dollars—would have done much to alleviate hunger and want.

Wholesale immigration from Central Europe was blamed to a large extent by the speaker for the unemployment situation. The government, he declared, had "brought them in, but made no provision for fastening them to the soil." Millions had been spent of immigration, while Canadians were finding it difficult to get jobs.

ST. ANDREW'S BIBLE CLASS ENTERTAINED

Dr. and Mrs. W. J. Mark Are Hosts at Pleasant Function on Thursday.

CAMPBELLFORD, July 12 (By Examiner Staff Correspondent).— A very interesting and pleasant evening was spent at St. Andrew's Presbyterian Manse on Thursday, when the Rev. Dr. W. J. Mark and Mrs. Mark were hosts to the Bible class of St. Andrew's Church. All the members were present with the exception of two, who were attending camp with the Northumberland Regiment.

Two contests were enjoyed, "Parts of the Human Body" and "A penny for your thoughts." These were entered into very keenly, the winners being, the first contest, Mr. Bradford and Mrs. T. Kerr; consolation prize, Mr. T. Kerr and Miss E. Innes; second contest, Mrs. Bradford and Miss Mary Macgregor, and consolation Mr. R. McCulloch and Mrs. T. Kerr.

A dainty lunch was served by Mrs. Mark before the guests dispersed.

Benefit Program In Marmora Hall

MARMORA, July 12 (Examiner Correspondence).—For the benefit of Marmora Community Band, "The Chorus Lady," a three-act comedy drama, preceded by a one-act sketch from "Abie's Irish Rose," was presented at the Town Hall on Friday morning by the Avon Players of Toronto.

The acting was good throughout, and with the band playing selections between the acts an enjoyable evening was spent by the many patrons. At the conclusion dancing was enjoyed, with music furnished by a local orchestra.

Judge the Government On Its Record And You'll Vote Liberal

NEVER has a Government gone before the electors of Canada with a better, cleaner or a more progressive record than the present Liberal Government.

Premier King has rightly pointed out that the present Government, during its tenure of office from December, 1921, has brought the country out of a period of the deepest depression to years of prosperity unequalled in the Dominion's history. If for no other reason than that alone, the present Government deserves to be returned to power. But you'll find other reasons aplenty in the brief resume that follows of the Government's record of achievement.

Reduction of Debt

Every year since 1924 the Government has paid off annually a substantial portion of the National Debt which had reached the staggering total of $2,427,000,000 when the MacKenzie King Government assumed office. At the rate the Liberal Government has been paying off the debt, the total Public Debt of Canada would be wiped out in 41 years.

Surpluses over Expenditures

The Liberal Government has been a very businesslike one. Expenditures have been kept down to a minimum. The sum total of annual surpluses under the present Liberal regime total $273,000,000. Surpluses instead of deficits have been the Liberal record.

Reduction in Taxes

Since 1924 the present Government has not only reduced the National Debt but has reduced the taxation burdens of the people.

The Dominion income tax has been reduced to such an extent that today the masses of the people pay very little income tax to the Dominion Government. The average income-taxpayer is now paying 80 per cent. less than he did five years ago. Great numbers pay nothing at all.

The Sales Tax which was 6% in 1923 has been reduced year by year until it now amounts to but 1% and that is likely to disappear next year if the King Government is returned to power.

Taxes on cheques below $10., taxes on receipts, on railway and steamship tickets, on telegrams and cablegrams, on insurance premiums, have all been abolished.

Penny Postage has been re-established from Canada to all parts of the British Empire.

It is estimated that the present Government has reduced the tax burden on the people of Canada to such an extent that we are paying $118,000,000 less taxes to the Dominion Government this year than in 1926. A truly remarkable achievement.

Government Railways Put On Their Feet

The present Liberal administration took over a group of bankrupt railways, consolidated them into one system and put them under the control of Sir Henry Thornton, with the result that Canada possesses, under government ownership, one of the most efficient railway systems in the world, with former operating deficits changed into operating surpluses.

Besides establishing the Government Railways on a sound foundation, the Liberal Government has also succeeded in securing far-reaching reductions in railways rates in all parts of Canada.

Completed the Welland Canal

Under the present Liberal Government the great new Welland Canal has been completed. This will enable the very largest steamers and freighters to travel from Lake Ontario to the Upper Lakes. With the completion of the St. Lawrence waterways project, of which the present Liberal Government stands squarely in favor, ocean liners will be able to ascend the St. Lawrence, thence through the Welland Canal to all ports on the Great Lakes.

Generous Treatment o War Veterans

Colonel Lafleche, Dominion President of the Canadian Legion, says Canada now leads the British Empire in treatment of returned men. The War Veterans Allowance Act, the revised machinery for dealing with pension claims, the broad and generous methods of giving veterans the benefit of any doubt as to the cause of disability, exemplify the Liberal policy of doing justice to and helping returned men.

Check Migration to the States

The migration from Canada to the States which was proceeding at such an alarming rate when the Liberal Government took office has been checked and a return flow of Canadians back to Canada has been established.

Old Age Pensions

The present Liberal Government established Old Age Pensions, a great humanitarian measure, from which nearly 50,000 aged people in the Dominion are benefitting.

Revisions in Tariff

The latest and most ambitious achievement of the present Liberal Government has been the recent revisions in the tariff, with the object of diverting a large proportion of our imports from United States to Great Britain and other Empire dominions and in that way making it possible for Britain to buy more of our wheat and other products that the United States has shut out of her markets. This new King-Dunning Budget has created a tremendous impression in Britain, and has given an impetus to the great intra-Empire Trade project to be discussed at the Empire Economic Conference to be held in London, England, this Fall.

A Record to Be Proud Of

Any fair-minded man or woman will agree that the MacKenzie King Government has a record of which all Canadians are proud. It is a record of financial and businesslike statesmanship that no other government or no other country has equalled since the war. It is a record that merits the endorsation of the people of Canada. A record that deserves an overwhelming verdict in favor of MacKenzie King and his Government at the polls on July 28th.

SLIGHT SOUNDS SPOIL TALKIES

Visitors Not Welcomed to First Film Sets.

WHIMS OF MICROPHONE

There was a time, and not so long ago, when talking-picture performers worshiped a tin god with the name of microphone. It was with a good deal of trepidation that the actors, standing on a comparatively fixed spot on a sound stage, spoke only tors, standing on a comparatively fixatus and it was not uncommon for the director to urge a clearer enunciation, a better pronunciation and an immobility of action that made the players resemble figures in a wax museum.

Today, in a fashion characteristic of motion pictures, a complete reversal has occurred. There is a continual hushing of lines, a naturalness of diction found only in soundproofed rooms and a swiftness of action typical of the most spirited of the silent films.

A Knock or a Tap.

At Paramount's New York studio Nancy Carroll was reciting the lines in the first or second scene to be shot for her production "Laughter," which Harry D'Arrast is directing and which Donald Ogden Stewart has written the dialogue. The pitch of voice in the talking sequences was remarkably low and in the inflection, recorded with every nuance by the diaphragm, was barely audible to the ear. Thus, when Miss Carroll's slippers, the soles of which had been padded with green felt, barely scraped the floor with a sound that in real life would amount to as much importance as the beating of a fly's wings, the scene had to be stopped and remade because of the mechanical disadvantage of the microphone in selection. The squeak in the completed film would have amounted to as much sound as the "Good night, dear," of the player and would have distracted the ear from all other important speeches.

At another moment it was a matter for debate whether a knock at the door, a most padded knock that ordinarily would not have served to announce a caller, was too loud and whether a mere tapping of the finger tips would not serve as well. Soon breathing may be difficult because of the noises attendant to expiration and inhalation.

Visitors Not Wanted.

The first day of production is no simple matter, the technique of filmmaking demanding that the story be broken into from almost any angle—sometimes, as in the case of "Laughter," in the midst of a dramatic interval for which the players have been groomed only skimply in an unfriendly rehearsal hall.

Visitors are frequently admitted to the first sets, but not tolerated for long. Players are not well enough versed in their parts, and distractions caused by visitors are de trop. Harry D'Arrast, the director, is responsible for the story, one which, strange to motion pictures, opens with the young Miss Carroll appearing as the second wife of a middle-aged banker, played by Frank Morgan, and with a child of 16 years to take care of as a foster mother. There are other departures that will appear later in the film.

Mr. D'Arrast is a Spaniard and a close friend of Charlie Chaplin.

AFRICANS ON STRIKE

Ringling Exotics Demanded Rubber Boots.

Officials of the Ringling-Barnum circus have recovered from the effects of a temperament strike by the big-lipped Ubangis, the African natives featured in the show.

The rice and raw fish eating prima donnas of the troupe refused to get out of bed in time for the afternoon performance unless each received a pair of rubber boots, such as they had seen the Negro razorbacks wear during the rainy spell in Pennsylvania the preceding week. The boots were finally procured with a stipulation they were to be shined twice a week.

Mr. Harstone Extols The Dunning Budget

(The following letter by Robert Harstone of Peterborough was published in the Toronto Globe, Friday, July 11. His large interests and experience in western Canada have given Mr. Harstone a broad, national outlook and understanding of Canada's essential economic problems from which he is enabled to see the incalculable importance of the Dunning Budget and the extension of the British Preference).

Permit me to defend the British Preference and the Dunning Budget as the only hope of the farmer and the business and industrial communities of Canada, and condemn the action of the Leader of the Opposition in leading the Conservative Party among the rocks and ruts of generalities, nothing constructive, and also trying to persuade his followers that unemployment is an issue in this election—something that affects the whole world at the present time and Canada the least of any country.

Why should the Conservative Party following a leader whose effort is to destroy a Government which has done so much during its term of office in constructive legislation and the upbuilding of the Dominion of Canada? I would suggest to all citizens of this Dominion to stand firmly behind the Mackenzie King Government and its policy of British Preference and the Dunning Budget.

What are the contributing causes for devising the Dunning Budget? There are at least three contributing factors. The first of which was the action of the President of the United States, who declared for higher prices for the grain of the American farmer. This action was followed by a large Federal grant to purchase grain (particularly wheat) and keep it at a normal price level—with the result that most of the grain purchased is at present in the hands of the purchasing board. The second contributing factor was the action of the European countries who resented the action of the United States and Canadian Wheat Pool and grain men in their effort to hold up prices of grain. These countries placed import duties on all the wheat from North America and other exporting countries.

And they were very fortunate in having fairly good crops in 1929, and in many cases exported their surplus wheat to Great Britain, and in the case of Germany they paid the farmer a bonus to ship wheat to Great Britain, and their people were forced to use rye bread and other substitutes. in the meantime no Canadian wheat was exported in any quantity to these countries, France, Italy, and Germany, or even Great Britain, which was well supplied by Argentina at low prices (during the months of October, November, and December), with the result that, while the West had only half a crop, very little of it was sold on the first day of January, 1930.

What was the third contributing factor to the Dunning Budget? The action of the United States in raising the tariff against our farm products which had for years been finding a market in the United States. What has the Government of Hon. Mackenzie King done in the matter? It established the countervailing duties—which said: We will seek trade with those countries that will trade with us—preferential trade within the Empire.

This is by far the most forward step taken to extend trade throughout the Empire ever brought before the people of the Dominion of Canada. It is not a mere gesture, as has been represented by the Opposition, whose Leader does not stand for a British preference; it is a most constructive piece of legislation designed to permit Great Britain to sell in Canada goods that we do not make, such as structural steel, iron and commodities, and in turn enable Great Britain to purchase our surplus grain and other food commodities.

What about the unemployment presented as an issue in this campaign? There is no doubt whatever in the minds of business men and heads of industrial plants throughout Canada that the contributing factor throughout Canada was, in the first instance, caused by the small crop produced in the West, large areas without even feed for the stock. In the second instance, it is the fact, as already stated, that the pool and the grain men failed to sell their grain until recently, when the price is very much lower. Therefore, the pool certificates issued to its members have little or no value. In other words, when the farmer has hard luck it affects almost every industry in Canada. It affects the industries of Peterborough. Orders for the West are cut down or cancelled. Men are laid off work for this reason. But, with a good crop in the West this year and also in the East, trade will improve, orders will come to the factories, the farmer will have money to spend, labor will find employment, and the current trade will become active as in former years.

I wish to say in closing that trade between Canada and the United States will always be of a large volume. We purchase in large quantities cotton, oils, coal and other commodities, and also other lines of merchandise.

What has happened was the action of the American farmer, who wanted the whole of the market of the United States for himself. We in turn are making it possible for Great Britain to purchase our wheat, cattle, cheese and many other surplus food products by reason of the British preference. The British market is the greatest market in the world for the Canadian farm produce.

I say to the electors of the Riding of West Peterborough, and of Canada generally. Make this a patriotic effort in behalf of the Motherland and in behalf of Canada and support the policy of the Right Honorable Mackenzie King, the most outstanding statesman in the Dominion of Canada, whose policy has been for progress and for the upbuilding of this great Dominion of which we all are so justly proud. Put patriotism before party in this great event in Canadian history—the British Preference—the Dunning Budget.

WELCOMES SOUND TRUCK

Canada Loosens Red Tape of Customs.

TORONTO, July 12.—U.S. newsreel sound cars are to be allowed to come into Canada to shoot any worthwhile event without the red tape that has been keeping them out of the country to date. While the government wanted more Canadian items they put a huge duty on the expensively equipped cars that shoot the news.

Fact was that the duty was so high that Fox was the only one to bring in a car.

Newsreel cars have had a tough time getting into Canada even for a couple of days. They have been held up at the border numerous times so they stayed out.

Now they have been given the same privileges as any U.S. motorist coming in.

NEW STARS SOUGHT

Opportunity Wide Open for Talented Youth.

Although the producers admit a few old timers' names are irreplaceable as box office attractions, it is stressed that new blood must be built up into star material.

Some of the companies, recognizing this demand for new talent and youth are attempting to lift undiscovered artists up to featured and ultimate star rating.

Paramount has taken Frances Dee, extra, for the role opposite Maurice Chevalier in "The Little Cafe," as one. Others placed under contract are Margaret Breen, who has done bits in musicals for "Heads Up" (Rogers); Marcia Manners, extra; Rosita Moreno, from vaude; B. H. Rogers, Buddy's brother, and Marion Schilling, from legit, all unknown.

UA is raising Una Merkel, Chester Morris and Constance Bennett to star rating.

Columbia is telling everyone that anybody young, good looking, able to sing, dance or speak lines, has a chance with that company. It is definitely committed to plenty of "young blood," according to an executive, figuring the public wants the new faces now more than ever.

Most Effective Advertising Medium for Theatres.

CHICAGO, July 12—Newspaper advertising is the best source of revenue for the B. & K. houses, according to W. K. Hollander, advertising director of the circuit, in a speech at the convention of the Chicago-Detroit division of Publix.

All other forms of advertising combined do not bring B. & K. the returns gotten from the newspapers, Hollander declared. His figures showed that in 1929 B. & K. spent $1,700,000 on advertising, $1,150,000 going to the dailies and $550,000 for other forms.

"Little Johnny Jones" Star and Wife Apart.

HOLLYWOOD, July 12—Hollywood friends of Ona Munson and Eddie Buzzell have been surprised to hear that they have been living apart. Some of their most optimistic friends say it is just a temporary disagreement. Others say that Ona and her husband have decided to separate.

She is playing the lead in "Hot Heiress" and has been appearing in various films.

Both of them have many friends who have always looked upon them as being congenial and happily married.

ANOTHER "GESTE"

R.K.O. Want "Beau Ideal" for Brennon.

R.K.O., it is whispered loudly, is trying to buy rights to "Beau Ideal" for Herbert Brenon. What could be a better vehicle than another Percival Wren drama? "Beau Geste" is still mentioned among the finest of the silent pictures, and if Mr. Brenon can repeat himself it is hoped negotiations will be completed without delay. Another bit of R.K.O. news concerns Betty Compson. Arrangements were almost completed for Betty to play opposite George Bancroft in "Rolling Down to Rio" when R.K.O. suddenly decided there was work for Betty at her own studio. She was recalled pronto and Helen Landis was given the part by Paramount.

RELEASE IS DELAYED

HOLLYWOOD, July 12.—Release date on Gloria Swanson's "What a Widow" has been held up until September.

Object is to cash in on proposed transatlantic flight from Geneva, Switzerland, to New York by Dornier 100-passenger aeroplane in August.

THE CURSE

HOLLYWOOD, July 12.—What is probably the season's top unintentional gag is credited to an eastern producer now out here on a picture.

Scanning the world for a comic and having turned down plenty of names, the casting director triumphantly and finally submitted the name of Jack Haley as the solution to all problems.

Which the producer seriously turned down by saying:

"He's too funny for the part."

SCREEN AND STAGE NOTES

The New Zealand censor has banned "All Quiet on the Western Front" from exhibition.

An appeal has been lodged and the case will be fought to a final test.

It is understood Universal had to pay Genieve Tobin $2,500 a week before she would consent to leave the New York stage to play the lead in "Sincerity," which Johh Stahl is slated to direct.

Fox studios has lifted the studio bars to permit agents to visit a maximum of five producers or directors a day under guard.

To prove that she could step out of heavy parts and play straight leads, Dorothy Burgess studied the script for "Painted Desert," then paid for a 1,000-foot roll of test to show Pathe executives she could play the part. Test was okay.

Latest addition to the datalog of Hollywood hobbies is by Lucien Littlefield, who maintains a semi-pro baseball team and pays all expenses. He's doing it to cinch center field.

Max Hart's suit against Walter Catlett for $12,000 in back commissions and money loans was settled out of court. Agent is reported to have received $4,000.

Marilyn Miller, Anita Murray and Mrs. Hugh Murray motored to Santa Barbara to spend the Fourth of July with friends.

Lila Lee has been ordered to take a complete rest for eight weeks by her doctor. She has appeared in 17 pictures during the past 18 months and was due to appear in "Little Caesar", starting next week, for Paramount.

First National has decided to spot Lawrence Grey opposite Marilyn Miller in "Sunny."

Lydell Peck, husband of Janet Gaynor, has been elevated from a story writer at Paramount studios to assistant associate producer to Lloyd Sheldon.

San Francisco, July 12.—Walter G. Mathewson, chief of the division of statistics of the Department of Industrial Relations, has discovered that the average weekly earnings of moving picture employees between May, 1929, and May, 1930, were $54.49.

He says this is an increase of 37½% over previous conditions.

Universal's new five-year option contract with Slim Summerville calls for an aggregate of $600,000, if all the options are taken up.

SEPARATED BY DEATH

Team of Van and Schenck Is No More.

Joseph Thomas Schenck, 39 (Joe Schenck), for 18 consecutive years the vaude and stage partner of Gus Van (Van and Schenck) the best known of all 2-men singing combinations, died suddenly of heart disease in the arms of his beloved pal, Van, in the Book-Cadillac Hotel, Detroit, at 11.40, June 28.

Van and Schenck were playing an engagement at the Fischer theatre there and had expected to go to Romona, Mich., for a club date from Detroit. The team had engaged a suite of rooms. At 10.30 Schenck managed to call Van and tell him that he was pretty sick. Efforts to save his life were futile.

When mere boys they appeared in a Myrtle Avenue picture house, Brooklyn, with Schenck serving as accompanist (it was Schenck who played the piano in the act). They were planning a stage act when they got a street car job. Schenck was the conductor and Van was the pilot.

Van and Schenck ran their salary from $40 a week to $3,500 weekly. They were a standard act for Keith for years and later as a headliner for all the circuits, including R-K-O and Loew.

They were among the first of the big vaude acts to play picture houses and later to be engaged in the making of shorts for Vitaphone (Warners). They appeared in a full talker feature with Bessie Love, "They Learned About Women" (M-G-M), now playing on general release.

ARTICLES OF INTEREST TO THE FARMER

REPLACING CORN WITH BARLEY IS BEING ADVISED

Tests Show Barley More Efficient for Egg Production.

HULLESS OATS GOOD

Use of Home-Grown Feed Prove Great Saving in Money.

The value of imported feeds used in poultry rations runs into millions of dollars annually. Of these feeds, corn and corn products make up a large proportion and represent one of the higher priced grains used in poultry feeding work.

The saving in money and time which could be attained should this importation be greatly reduced by the use of barley, a grain grown almost universally in Canada, in place of the more expensive corn product needs no elaboration.

At the present time corn products make up from twenty to thirty per cent. of the scratch grain and mash mixtures commonly used as high as 70 per cent. in certain types of all mash rations which are used considerably in the United States and have been in some cases recommended for use in this country during the past few years.

In view of these facts, the poultry departments of several Dominion Government Experimental Farms and Stations in almost all Provinces of Canada have been carrying on experiments for a few years past in an endeavour to ascertain the comparative value of barley and corn in poultry rations.

In the experiments under consideration the Experimental Farm concerned substituted barley for corn on a pound per pound basis in almost every instance.

Six-Month Test.

The results of this work covering periods of six months' duration and repeated each year for three and four years in some cases, are interesting. With one or two exceptions only, barley proved more efficient than corn for egg production, producing almost as many or a greater number of eggs, and on account of the low cost of the home-grown grain, at a greater profit per bird over the cost of feed. In one instance hulless oats in contrast to corn also gave more economical production. In the few cases in which corn was superior the difference was slight on the average.

It must be borne in mind that where barley was used in place of corn care was taken to otherwise supplement the ration with foods well fortified with certain vitamins in which barley is lacking. In most cases the supplements used were green alfalfa or clover or the dried leaves and blossoms of these plants and crude cod liver oil, the last mentioned fed usually at the level of one per cent. of the mash consumed.

Although considerably more experimental work along this line is required before the value of this grain as a substitute for corn can be accurately understood, it would appear from the results so far obtained that barley may substitute for corn in poultry feeds for egg production to a considerable extent. In those localities where corn products are difficult to obtain and high in price the above statement would particularly apply.

NEW GREYHOUND OF THE SEAS

LONDON, July 12 (C.P.) — A new greyhound of the seas will come from the Clyde, it is announced. John Brown and Co., shipbuilders of Clydebank, have been given an order for the construction of a Cunard liner, to cost $28,000,000, for express service between the Channel ports and New York. The construction will provide employment for thousands of men for at least three years.

The engine of the new liner will be constructed to develop 600,000 horsepower. The length of the vessel over all will be 1,000 feet, and there will be accommodation for 4,000 passengers and a crew of 800. This is the latest of a series of ships which have been begun or launched recently; the German liners Bremen and Europa gained fame for their speed, while royalty watched the new Canadian Pacific flagship, The Empress of Britain, when it was launched a few weeks ago.

Canada is Free of Elm Tree Blight

The importance of the work done by the Plant Inspection Service of the Dominion Department of Agriculture is shown by the fact that although European Elm Blight has been rampant on the Continent of Europe for some ten years now it has not yet made its appearance in Canada. Elm Blight was first observed in Holland in 1919, and has since been found in Belgium, France, Germany, Norway and England. The external symptoms of the injury are the withering and discoloration of foliage at the crown or ends of branches, following which the leaves die or drop off. The disease gradually extends until the whole tree is involved and eventually killed. In small trees the disease kills in a few weeks, while in larger trees it may take several years. All elm stock imported into Canada is subjected to a careful examination, and it is believed that the blight has not entered Canada yet.

CLOSE GRAZING PASSES TESTS

New System Provides Continuous Supply of Pasture Feed.

STARTED IN GERMANY

Very interesting results have been secured through tests on the new system of close-grazing pasturage being conducted by the division of animal husbandry of the Dominion Department of Agriculture.

The object of the "close-grazing" system is to provide a fairly continuous supply of pasture feed containing a high protein content. The general scheme is to have a field area laid out in a series of pastures of a size suitable to the number of animals being grazed and which will permit of one week's feeding alternating with three week's growth for the herbage. At the same time particular regard has to be paid to a liberal application of suitable fertilizers to induce and maintain plant growth.

The system was instituted in Germany some years ago and has been practised with varying degrees of success by dairymen on this Continent. The success of the system in operation depends more on sound judgment and close observation than on any fixed rule. Seasonal conditions also have a direct bearing on the quality of feed developed.

The work at the present time is still very much in the experimental stage in Canada, but the system holds much of promise for the future from the dairyman's standpoint.

Three weeks has been found the most satisfactory period for herbage growth. Animals are grazed on one section of the pasture for a week at a time and with the use of four sections a fresh section is available each week with three weeks' growth of herbage rich in protein content.

WESTERN CANADA WHEAT CROPS SHOWING SLIGHT IMPROVEMENT

Best Results in Manitoba, With Alberta Varying Greatly.

JULY DANGEROUS MONTH

By T. W. BANTON.

(Special to The Examiner. Copyright, 1930.)

"To beard the 'Lion' in his den."

He would be a bold Scot. Of course, all Scots are bold—but then all Scots are not speculators and all speculators are not Scots; so he would be a bold speculator in the wheat markets who at this stage in the crop season dares to beard the ramping, roaring July "Lion."

For of all months in the year, the month of July is liable to be the most dangerous, and the most hazardous one for crops and speculators to face.

As the month this year opens, it has so far been anything but a rampant "Lion." Cool days and nights, with rains varying from scattered showers to heavy downpours over wide areas, a good deal of the damage to crops earlier in the season, occasioned by drought, wind and cut worms, has fortunately, in part at least, been rectified and remedied. But only in part. For, according to the latest Government report on the condition of crops in the West, there has been considerable improvement in Manitoba except perhaps in one little corner, the southwest. For the rest of the Province, Manitoba, is pretty well assured, from present appearances, of good crops.

For Saskatchewan, the report is not quite so hopeful. Conditions, says the report, vary greatly, but an improvement is noted in some regions of the north and east, while the central and southern districts, more specialized in wheat production, are still complaining of drought, the rains being barely able to keep the crop up to average promise.

In Alberta the crops show a tremendous variation, from virtual failure to promise of bumper crops. The central area of Alberta, it is said, has been too severely damaged to be greatly relieved by the recent showers.

The southern area of Alberta is reported to have deteriorated considerably in the last two weeks.

Rain Not Sufficient.

In general, for all three Provinces, there is a concensus of opinion among all those who have investigated conditions in the West, that while recent rains have relieved the situation temporarily, they have not been sufficient to make up for the lack of reserve sub-soil moisture upon which the crops must usually depend to enable them to withstand the attacks of the hot July days.

It is this very lack of a sub-soil moisture which makes the situation in the Canadian West so ticklish and uncertain.

Assuming that July this year runs to form, providing the usual spells of hot dry weather and other dangers and pests of one sort or another lurking around the corners, then the crops in their present state are not in the best of condition to resist attacks.

As for the situation across the line, where in the Southern States the harvest is now in full fling, it seems to be pretty certain that crops will be well up to the average. Yields in most of the States appear to be coming better than expected.

The new harvest, on top of a possible carry-over from last season's crop of around two hundred to two hundred and fifty million bushels, makes it certain that the inhabitants of that country are not facing a prospect of starvation, for lack of wheat in the elevators at all events.

The Dominion Bureau of Statistics reports a production of processed cheese in 1929 of 17,707,832 pounds. The plants making this cheese also show an export of 3,800,160 pounds. Processed cheese is made from ordinary Cheddar cheese and the process is stated to consist of grinding the cheese, heating it in a jacketed container and filling it into the proper containers either directly or with specially designed machinery.

Compared with the preceding year, the figures for 1929 show a decrease of 2,073,244 pounds in the quantity produced and a decrease of 2,919,268 pounds in the quantity exported.

BUMPER CROPS ARE EXPECTED

Farmers in Ontario Optimistic Regarding This Year's Yield.

WHEAT LOOKS GOOD.

LINDSAY, July 11.—(Special to The Examiner).—As a result of interviews with farmers residing in different parts of Ontario county, it is learned that this year's crop will be the best for several years. Fall and spring wheats never looked better. The stalks have grown to unusual heights, and as a result the yield of grain as well as the straw crop will be most satisfactory.

It is reported that the fruit yield will be disappointing. The yield of strawberries, it is reported, will be very light.

The farmers are very busy filling silos with alfalfa and sweet clover, which are said to be excellent crops. There is only a fair crop of timothy, while the alsike yield will be lighter than last year. Barley, oats and buckwheat never looked better, while corn and roots are progressing favorably.

NELSON CHOSEN NEW CONSTABLE

Succeeds Provincial Constable Wetherell For Lindsay and Victoria County.

GREAT WAR VETERAN.

LINDSAY, July 11.—(Special to The Examiner).—Provincial Constable J. Nelson of Walkerton, Ont., has been appointed Provincial Constable for Lindsay and Victoria County, as successor of Provincial Coustable Wetherell, who resigned from the force about three weeks ago. The new officer is a veteran of the Great War and served as a police officer in Toronto, St. Catharines, Cornwall, Orangeville, etc. He was the officer who captured the notorious "Bob" Cook, the Orangeville desperado.

HOW TO KEEP GOOD EGGS GOOD IN THE GOOD OLD SUMMER TIME

KEEP EGGS CLEAN

With an audible "Whew!" a perspiring old fellow deposited his week's "catch" of eggs on the store counter. "By golly!" he exclaimed, "it may be the good old summer time for some folks, but it sure don't do the egg business a mite of good!"

"Why, what's the trouble, Mr. Withers?" inquired the white-aproned clerk.

"Well," drawled the older man. "I've got just 15 dozen eggs for you today and by rights it ought to be 20, but the darned weather just ruins 'em."

"Let your roosters run with the hens, Mr. Withers?" asked the clerk.

"Sure," was the reply. "What else are you going to do with them?"

Then the young man, who happened to be recently graduated from the agricultural college, explained to his rather incredulous one-man audience that by allowing eggs to become fertilized he reduced their keeping qualities to an almost unbelievable extent. He concluded his impromptu lesson with this good advice: "If your roosters are of no special value, kill them and eat them. If you don't want to do that, pen them up until you need eggs for hatching. A rooster does more harm than good any time outside the breeding season if allowed to run with the hens."

I think most people realize the correctness of the young clerk's statement, but his advice is not followed as generally as it should be. Hens will continue to lay eggs if there isn't even a rooster in the same county. What is more, eggs produced under such conditions will keep much longer and at considerably higher temperatures than the fertile eggs that result from permitting male birds to run with the flock at all times.

A fertile egg will soon begin to show chick development if exposed to a temperature of over 70 degrees. Higher temperatures cause faster development and any egg will become absolutely unfit for human food within four or five days after development starts. Since temperatures even higher than those mentioned are not uncommon during the summer months, the desirability of "swatting the rooster" at that time is very important.

Keep Eggs Clean.

By keeping eggs infertile, the difficulty of handling them is greatly reduced. Another of the rules for pro-

Kill Poison Ivy By Cultivation

Cultivation is the most effective means for the eradication of poison ivy, observes H. T. Gussow, Dominion Botanist. Poison ivy grows generally throughout Canada, and it causes considerable annoyance and inconvenience to people who are susceptible to the poison oil which comes from its leaves and berry when injured by contact. It can be readily identified by its leaves which occur in threes after the manner of those of the strawberry, but unlike them poison ivy leaves are quite smooth and firm, with the edges sparingly coarse-toothed. The use of salt, kerosene and cheap fuel oils are helpful in killing the vine about camp sites; or its roots may be dug or pulled up. Many people are immune from the effects of the poison of ivy, but with all it is a plant which it is well to avoid.

DO NOT PLANT RYE TOO EARLY

Experts Advise Sowing Between Dates of August 15 to September 15.

USE SUMMER FALLOW

From August 15th to September 15th is found by the experts of the Dominion Department of Agriculture to be the best dates for the sowing of fall rye in Western Canada. Best results were obtained at the Dominion Experimental Station at Indian Head, Sask., from rye sown between September 1st and September 15th.

Planting rye too early appears to result in loss in yield, while planting too late in the season often results in retarded germination. Between the dates indicated the young plants seem to germinate properly and acquire a growth which enables them to become established sufficiently to withstand winter. When sown as late as October 1st rye seed frequently does not germinate until the following spring, with the result that the crop very often fails to mature.

It is also found that the best yields are secured from rye sown on summer-fallow. At the same time, in a normal year when plenty of moisture is available in the soil during the growing season, fall rye sown on disked wheat or oat stubble gives very satisfactory yields. In a year when soil moisture is deficient disappointing results may follow. A good yield of rye on stubble is very largely a matter depending on the good judgment of the grower as to the condition of the soil.

LAMBS' WEIGHT VERY IMPORTANT FOR BEST PRICE

Effort Made to Promote Marketing Between 75 and 95 Pounds Weight.

CUT STARTS AUGUST 4

In Past Large Percentage Shipped From County Have Been Heavy.

"In no farm animals are marketing weights of more importance than in lambs," reads a bulletin released from the office of J. B. Nelson, agricultural representative for Peterborough County, this week. "During the season of plentiful supplies a few pounds increase in weight makes a great difference in the classification and price of the dressed carcass. It is also becoming less and less desirable to store heavy dressed lamb for winter use. The weights that lambs yield in dressed carcasses, therefore, make a considerable difference in the average price paid to producers for live lambs, because their value must depend on the price received for the product when it is resold to the retailer.

"Emphasis on those points is placed in the announcement made on behalf of lamb buyers that, in addition to the efforts that have been made to get rid of bucks and the usual discounts on culls, this year a further step is being taken to bring the lamb industry more into accord with consumer demand.

"The object is to promote the marketing of well-finished lambs between 75 and 95 lbs. in weight. This is necessary if the consumptive demand for lamb meat is to be maintained and extended.

Cut Starts August 4.

"To this end, effective August 4, all lambs over 95 lbs. at the market will be discounted 2 cents per lb., and effective September 29, all lambs over 110 lbs. will be discounted 3 cents per lb. Bucks and cull lambs will be discounted as usual.

"This step need not entail a hardship, as it is obvious that all that is necessary is to pick out the heavier lambs of the flock and market them as they reach proper weights. Furthermore, if the market in August is paying, say, 11 cents per lb., a 90-lb. lamb will bring the same return as one 20 lbs. heavier when the market may have dropped, say to 9 cents per lb., a few weeks later. The effort all through is to promote and extend the trade by stimulating a public de-

Being a collection of Scout Miscellany. Extracts from the "Piper of Pax," being the life story of Lord Baden Powell. By E. K. Wade. Continued.

The next two years were spent by B. P., in travelling and inspecting Scouts in various parts of the globe. It was while on one of these trips aboard the "Arcadian" bound for the West Indies that B.P. met his future wife, Miss Olave Soames, and his marriage to her that same year has been described as the Chief Scout's greatest stroke of genius. For he married the one person of all others who could help him in what threatend to become an overwhelmingly large task.

It will readily be imagined that in these early days Scouting was in a very incomplete state and fresh needs called for fresh ideas—and a tremendous amount of work! Wolf Cubs, Sea Scouts, proficiency badges, and our sister movement, all became actual realities; "and this was where Lady Baden Bowell, with her youthful energy, charm and belief in the possibilities of the Boy Scout and Girl Guide movements, was able to do so much to help our Chief, and by relieving him of much detail work, leave his brain clear for the increasing demands made upon it." By dint of hard work and boundless enthusiasm Lady Baden Powell became in 1918 Chief Guide.

With three jolly children to "practice on" these two seem more than ever fitted to lead the children of the world. In 1914, almost a year after the birth of our Chief's son Peter, Mrs. Baden Powell died. The message which the Chief Scout sent to Scouts on this occasion will tell you better what this loss meant to him:

"Most Scouts know what it is to have a good mother, and the more they like her the more they dread the idea of losing her. Your mother has done so much for you in having had all the pain and trouble in bringing you up as a child—in health and sickness steadily working to pull you through; she has given up all her time and love to you. When she dies you feel it a terrible blow, and the breaking of a happy tie.

"I have just lost my mother after 50 years of loving comradeship; so I know what it means. She had trained me as a boy; she had watched every step of my work as a man. When I first had the idea of starting Boy Scouts I was afraid there was not so much in it as I first had thought, until she spoke to me of it, and showed that it might do good to thousands of boys if I only stuck to it. So I did. But it was, thanks to her, that the Boy Scout movement started and went on.

"Many Scouts seem to have thought of this on hearing of her death, for I have had a number of kind messages of sympathy from them as well as a beautiful design of flowers with the motto 'Be Prepared,' from the Boy Scouts Association. For all these kindly tributes I offer my heartfelt thanks. I only pray that those who have been so good to me will in their turn find comfort when the dark day comes, of their own mother's death. There is only one pain greater than losing your mother, and that is for you mother to lose you—I do not mean by death, but by your own misdeeds. Has it ever struck you what it means to your mother if you turn out a 'wrong 'un' or a 'waster'? you up. She who taught you your first step, your prayers, your straight ideas and was glad when you showed you could do things, as she saw you growing bigger and stronger; she had hoped in her heart of hearts that you were going to make a success, and to make a name for yourself—something to be proud of. But if you began to loaf about and did not show grit and keenness, if you became a 'slacker,' her heart grows cold with disappointment and sorrow. All her loving care and expectations have been thrown away and the pain she suffers by seeing you slide down the wrong road is worse than if she had seen you lost in death.

"Try not to disappoint her but to make her happy in any way you can."

Although he does not say it, you can read between the lines of this message of what the Chief Scout had been to his mother, and what she had been to him. Next week we will conclude these extracts.

So Cheerio, and Good Scouting. — J. H.

LOS ANGELES, Calif., July 12.—La Verne McDonald, 7, who police say, confessed he held three year old Jimmy Ellis, a playmate, under the waters of a Long Beach flood control channel, "until he didn't move" was held to-day for examination by medical authorities.

Taken to the channel where little Jimmy's nude body was found Wednesday evening La Verne, police declare, said he "did it just in fun."

mand through supplying a good quality, home-produced lamb."

Commenting on the bulletin, Mr. Nelson stated: "Although Peterborough County is not one of the large sheep-producing counties of the Province, there are enough lambs produced to make this article of general interest. In 1929 there were almost 3,000 lambs sent from the county to central markets, besides a large number used locally in the city and for the tourist trade. Of this number of lambs shipped from the county quite a percentage were heavy lambs and buck lambs."

HOW TO KEEP

ducing good summer eggs is to keep them clean. A dirty egg has usually been wet, and wetting destroys the natural film which protects an egg against the entry of the spores of decay. Keeping eggs from getting dirty is not nearly as difficult as it sounds. Provide plenty of clean nests; and clean them frequently. It is also advisable to keep hens indoors when the runs are wet and muddy. Should some eggs become soiled in spite of all precautions, keep them for home consumption. Do not wash them, as washed eggs spoil quickly. Gather eggs at least once or twice each day.

A cool clean place is another essential factor in keeping eggs fresh and marketable during the warm days of summer. A basement is usually cool enough, but should be dry and free from objectionable odors. No matter how good your storage facilities may be, however, market your eggs often in hot weather and the hotter the weather the oftener they should be gotten out of your hands.

Bad flavors in eggs are usually more common during hot weather than at other times. They may result from mold, absorption of odors or feeding of certain materials. Eggs held in a damp musty place will develop a mold which causes an unpleasant flavor, or storing eggs near onions, cabbage, kerosene or any other substance with a strong penetrating odor may cause bad flavors.

Most of the suggestions given above might well be kept in force the entire year round. The high temperature of summer months creates special conditions, however, which make it doubly desirable to exercise every precaution to insure delivering to market only eggs that are strictly fresh and palatable. Producers who are known to deliver only the best of high-grade eggs can always command a higher price and can find a ready market for their output even when others are bewailing the fact that over-production or some other ever-present bugaboo has beaten their prices down.

WOMEN'S INSTITUTE WEEKLY COLUMN

A goodly thing it is to meet
In Friendship's circle bright,
Where nothing stains the pleasure sweet
Or dims the radiant light.
No unkind word our lips shall pass,
No envy sour the mind,
But each shall seek the common weal
The good of all mankind.

WARSAW

The school fair prize list was put in the hands of the pupils just before school closed. The Women's Institute in Warsaw is especially interested in the school fair, because many years ago the Warsaw people held splendid fairs, but they ceased to exist. After twenty-five years with no fair the Institute decided to hold a fair in 1913. It succeeded beyond the expectations of the Institute members and certainly far beyond what many outsiders thought it would. Some who attended the fair frankly said they came to see what sort of a fizzle the women would make, but they changed their minds when they saw it. The next year some of these people sent exhibits. Among other exhibits were school children's work. We had read much about school fairs and wanted to hold the Institute fair in connection with the school fair, but the department did not see fit to do so. In 1916 the Institute fair was withdrawn and the first actual school fair was held. Since then Warsaw Institute has helped the school fair every year in prizes of some form. The first time a band came the Institute financed it.

The improvement in exhibits has been very noticeable. There is sometimes a little feeling among the pupils that there is no use in sending exhibits, because they will not get a prize. Sometimes they even conceive the idea that the judging was not fair, else they would have gotten one. Of course that idea is wholly wrong.

However the sentiment of the fair is lost if the pupil works simply for a prize. It is difficult sometimes to instil it into their minds, that it is not so much the prize as it is the consciousness that they have done good work. If they fail they can find out how and why they failed and profit by the failure. Also in preparing for life they need to learn to be good losers, as well as magnanimous victors. Their traits developed are worth far more than the prize money. That is one reason Mr. Nelson advises a shield or cup, or something of that kind, rather than cash for special prizes.

The judges have found a little difficulty sometimes, and this difficulty shows all over the province, namely that parents do sometimes rather aid the children to cheat to get a prize. At times it has been found that needle work or baking or modelling or a few other things exhibited were not the pupil's own work. Pupils have even exhibited as grown from the seeds furnished vegetables or flowers that were not the kind given them. If parents would only stop to think to what that deceiving or attempted deception leads, they surely would not do it.

In the prize list for this year for the county there is warning against that very thing and if found in one exhibit it may debar the pupil from receiving any other prizes. There are ribbons given, in token of the prizes, and these ribbons may be kept by the pupil to look upon with pride in after years, or perhaps he learned some lesson for which he is thankful. If lessons of strong endeavor, honest work, care, thought, consideration of one's neighbour being a good loser, and a good winner the fairs will do much good. There is so much commercialism now in everything that there is more reason than ever for trying to keep it out of the school fair.

MILLBROOK

"The price of success is hard work," was an axiom set forth in a paper presented at the monthly meeting of a northern branch; the fact that, as members of the Institute, women have really pooled their resources, and have based their knowledge on practical experience, was stressed as one reason for the success which has been the outcome of this organization's work.

One strong, and perhaps unnoticed, outcome of Institutes' activities in recent years has been pointed out by Mr. Putman as the bringing about of a closer understanding between the French and English speaking peoples of the sister provinces of Ontario and Quebec; the realization that a knowledge of both languages is essential, and that women in each province are interested in the same big problem of homemaking, and community improvement, has helped to break down barriers and created friendlier feelings, to a greater extent, perhaps, than is generally understood.

"Does your Institute ever think it has a responsibility toward the Boy Scout work in your community?" This question was used to start a 'question drawer' at a district annual, apparently the members present had never given the Scout activities much thought, though some of the mothers had boys who were members where a Troop had been organized. The visiting secretary pointed out that so much good has resulted where Scout ideals and training have influences in boys' lives, an organization with a community purpose like the Institute should really see that it gives practical aid in any Scout Company and its leaders, already in existence in their territory, and feel under obligation to endeavor to have a Troop organized if at all possible where one has not been arranged for. There was no trouble in keeping up a lively discussion once the fact were brought before the gathering, and certainly the mothers of growing boys, especially, went home with some new thoughts and suggestions seething in their brains after the meeting.

Institutes planning birthday celebrations may gain some ideas from the way the Societies of Haldimand county observed their twenty-fifth anniversary. A banquet was planned for the afternoon session of the district gathering, the huge birthday cake centring the head table having been the gift of four of the branches, and decorated with twenty-five small candles, and one large one.

Guests at the head table included any charter members present, belonging to the branch where the District Institute was first organized, the district officers, the two local members of Parliament, and one or two special speakers and visitors. Delegates and visitors were accommodated at the other tables, and, needless to say, the decorations of the hall, and of the tea tables, were unique and quite beautiful, flags and blossoms, with the Institute colors being plentifully displayed.

Featuring the program, after community singing, were addresses by the charter members, and by ex-officers of the district, and at the lighting of each candle by a branch president the latter made a brief address. At the lighting of the large candle by the oldest charter member there was a moment of silence, and a brief prayer that the present members would 'fling far the light' first kindled by the beloved soldier dead.

Toasts followed the banquet, including "Our King;" "Our Country;" "Our Province"; "Our Society"; and "Our Schools." The district school inspector was among the invited guests, and gave a fine address; twenty-five roses were presented to the branch president as a token of appreciation, the flowers being in a silver basket; to the vice-president also there was a gift of roses in a pretty silver vase, and the district secretary-treasurer was likewise given an arm bouquet of lovely flowers.

Reports of the work done in the district, and comparisons of figures and activities to show the marvellous growth during the quarter of a century were a constructive feature of the banquet program; new objectives for the years to follow were set, and the whole effect of the "party" was to encourage to fresh effort, higher ideals, and richer service.

YOUNG'S POINT

The following is an extract from an address given at Young's Point by Mrs. A. Davis, president of the Lakefield branch:

"You all know that the Institute is for Home and Country. Perhaps there are some here who may not know the extent to which the Institute had gone. It is not only an Institute of a few women in Ontario but it is world wide.

The first Institute was formed in Wentworth County thirty-two years ago and it has extended to all provinces of the Dominion, overseas to the British Isles, Belgium, France and other European countries, also to India, Australia, New Zealand and South Africa. In the 1928 report there were 1,115 Institutes in our province alone.

The leaders in the Institute in the beginning determined that political issues and questions which are likely to divide the membership should be avoided. This policy has resulted in the most friendly co-operation in the Institutes among representatives of various sects, classes and political affiliations who have from time to time secured from the Government of the day most sympathetic considerations of recommendations and requests by the Institute largely because they have represented the view of the whole people.

Since our motto is for Home and Country naturally our first concern is of the Home. What the mother is to the home the Women's Institute is to the community. Caring for the needy, tending the sick, making layettes and quilts to be used in time of need, welcoming strangers from other lands that may come in our settlements and community. The Institute is the Good Samaritan by the wayside, it brings to every woman irrespective of creed or circumstance information and assistance in practically everything which she might or should be interested.

Let us look at our opening ode, a verse pledging us to the highest to the spirit of service. No small thing, no malice nor unkindness shall enter into work as Institute members we shall work for the common good of all, and if we do this well our organization must and will be a success. This depends on three things, becoming a member, paying the dues and attending the meetings.

Perhaps we are too busy to attend yet pleasure and recreation is necessary in all our lives and if we don't have these we may become like that little poem Miss Smith prepared to us:

"If you keep your nose to the grindstone rough
And keep it down there long enough,
Soon you will think there are no such things
As brooks that babble,
And birds that sing,
And your world will of just three things compose,
Yourself, the stone and your worn out nose!"

Let each take an active part in the meeting. The one taking the active part gets the most benefit. The critic is usually an onlooker. If one goes only as a listen one is apt to become uncharitable towards those who are shouldering the responsibility. Members should all be enthusiastic. We each owe something to the life of the community in which we live and everyone has some influence for good or bad on the lives of others."

MOTHERS now learn value of MAGNESIA

Because it is so helpful in keeping babies and children healthy and happy, every mother should know about Phillips Milk of Magnesia.

This harmless, almost tasteless preparation is most effective in relieving those symptoms of babies and children generally caused by souring food in the little digestive tract, such as sour-belching, frequent vomiting feverishness, colic. As a mild laxative, it acts gently, but certainly, to open the little bowels in constipation, colds, children's diseases.

A teaspoonful of Phillips Milk of Magnesia does the work of half a pint of lime water in neutralizing cow's milk for infant feeding, and preventing hard curds. Its many uses for mother and child are fully explained in the interesting book, "Useful Information." It will be sent you, FREE. Write The Chas. H. Phillips Chemical Co., Windsor, Ont.

In buying, be sure to get genuine Phillips Milk of Magnesia. Doctors have prescribed it for over 50 years.

What To-day Means To You

"CANCER."

If July 13 is your birthday, the best hours for you on this date are from 10 a.m. to 11:30 a.m., 3 p.m. to 4:30 p.m. and 10:30 p.m. to 11:30 p.m. The danger periods are from 1 p.m. to 2:30 p.m. and 8 p.m. to 9 p.m.

Sunday's desired peace and rest should not be disturbed on this date by any exterior or invisible forces. Those who are interested in occult matters will be able to make interesting tests and investigations. A very relaxing time.

The child born on this July 13 will have musical and artistic ability; a fair amount of imagination, and considerable refinement and sentiment. It will be quiet, unassuming; agreeable and sociable It will be self-reliant and able to interest and amuse itself.

You have a very sensitive nature which is both a blessing and a curse to you. You quickly sense right and wrong atmospheres. You "know" intuitively, without being told things. You are sometimes called uncanny, and you doubtless have a slight psychic gift. It will only add to your discomfort to try to develop your so-called approbative, and always yearn for the sympathy of others. You fear ridicule or disapproval very much and this in itself prevents you from trying your wings, and binds you closely to clan or sect. When someone has hurt your feelings, do not always think a wing is broken; it may only be a bruised feather after all!

You greatly respect age and custom and tend to become very conservative. You also allow your superstitions to stand foolishly in your way, and your common-sense should overcome them. Your tact is one of your saving graces, as you do and say many things, which demand the utmost diplomacy. As you seek world-wide approval, it is only natural that you seek fame and public recognition. You can display grim determination, and you will suffer extremely before you will give up. You are very loyal in regard to your ties and duties, and never betray a confidence. Your surroundings greatly affect you, and you find it difficult to be contented or happy without at least part of life's luxuries.

Just Between Us Women

A daily chat with Examiner neighbors conducted by Anne Wilcox

TABLE oilcloth or enamel cloth as it is called, is a factor in decoration to-day as it never has been before.

• • • • • • •

This is, I think, due to three things, first it is brought out in attractive designs, in soft shades or gay to suit both conservative and modernistic schemes.

• • • • • • •

Second, it is possible to buy it in pliable textures that fold and lightly crease without cracking And thirdly the finish is not necessarily hard and bright, despite the term enamel cloth.

• • • • • • •

It may be dull and resemble a textile. The uses to which the fabrics is put generally determines the finish correctly suited. Sometimes individual preferences is the criterion, one finish being equally as adpatbale as the other.

• • • • • • •

In the summertime this oilcloth is particlarly favored, as it requires no laundering and is water proof.

• • • • • • •

It makes fine covers for cushions to be used on a piazza, boat or in a canoe. The textile finish is illusive, appearing to be a weave and not a waterproofed surface Or a leather finish may be selected which is even better for a boat than a textile surface.

• • • • • • •

If this is used, no pattern appears, only a soft dull tone in hues found in leather.

• • • • • • •

For simple cottages, shacks and porches, table oilcloth is found to be excellent. For every day use there are damask finished tablecloths and table covers easily kept clean by wiping off with a damp cloth.

• • • • • • •

There are breakfast sets in variety, and there are other endless ways in which the material can be used to lend serviceable decoration.

• • • • • • •

The ornamental element can be gained only when colors are chosen with discrimination and designs if any are in accord with the type of decoration.

• • • • • • •

One verandah which I noticed gave a most inviting appearance with the tables covered with flat-toned apple green enamel cloth that exactly matched the frame work of the furniture. As the furniture had splint-woven back and seats of natural tone, there was not too much color, just enough to look cheery.

• • • • • • •

Too much should not be expected of this material. It is not handsome although it can be smart. It has its decorative limitations as well as its peculiarly useful characteristics.

• • • • • • •

It has found a utilitarian place in household furnishings based on its waterproof quality. It has proven well-suited to many purposes Because it is not given the extra advantages previously stated, it is permitted to really enter into schemes of decoration in kitchens and summer cottages, porches, boathouses and the boats themselves.

THE RHYMING OPTIMIST

By Alice Michaelis

SEA BONDAGE

In vain I go across wide, upland fields,
And through the forest's heaven-obscuring maze;
Of all, their voices none an answer yields
To the deep longing which besets my days.
In vain I seek through cities fair and proud
For that one majesty to them denied,
And like a knight to some dear quest long vowed
From all their blandishments I turn aside.

I wander till I hear, some happy dawn,
A murmur that is neither song nor sigh;
Until I see, through opal veils withdrawn,
Ocean's vast purple fields before me lie
As tides, moon-bound, must flow, there is for me
An equal bondage ever to the sea.

LINDSAY IN THROES OF TIME DISPUTE

Merchants of the Town Divided on Question of Daylight Saving.

LINDSAY, July 11.—(Special to The Examiner).—The citizens of this town are in the throes of a battle over the question of daylight saving. On June 15 daylight saving became effective locally as a result of a civic proclamation. The town council about a fortnight previous passed a resolution in favor of the new time after a largely signed petition had been presented in its favor and after a deputation of representative citizens had waited on the council in its support. A public meeting of the merchants had been called to discuss the question, but only six turned out. The six merchants, however, passed a resolution favorable to daylight saving, and this had also been presented to the council.

On Monday evening the council was surprised when another petition, signed by a number of merchants, urging that body to revert to standard time. The father of the petition, it is understood, was one of the merchants who at a previous meeting had declared himself in favor of daylight saving. The council deferred action on the resolution until next Monday evening, but not before a number of the members had criticized the action of those who advocated the change.

It was announced today that a counter petition will be circulated by those who were in favor of daylight saving and submitted to the council at its next meeting. It is pointed out that those merchants and other citizens opposed to the change in time had ample opportunity to present their side of the case before final action was taken by the council, and a battle royal is expected when the opposing forces gather in the council chamber next Monday night.

HYDRO OFFICIAL RAISES TROUBLE

Threatened With Arrest on Refusing to Answer Crown Attorney.

ELECTROCUTION INQUEST.

SUTTON, Ont., July 12 (C.P.) — Threats that he would demand the arrest of C. L. Pearson, Superintendent of the Hydro-Electric Power Commission for this district, were uttered yesterday by C. L. Snyder, Crown-Attorney, when the official refused to answer a question during the inquest into the death of Harvey Thomson, 23, Hydro lineman.

Confronted by the Attorney with the request that he name the person directly responsible for the cutting off of current in the power wires upon which Thomson met his death, Pearson hesitated and named W. J. Guthrie, foreman on the job, only after Mr. Snyder stated he would ask the police to take action.

During the taking of evidence, Guthrie, in turn, stated that he had given orders for the "pulling of the plug" to another employee, who stated that he had not heard this order. The jury finally returned a verdict finding that the young lineman had met his death through a misunderstanding of orders, and laid the onus of the man's death upon the Commission and the local management. A rider urged the issuance of all such orders in written form.

Maple Leafs Take Second Straight from Skeeters

THIRD PLACE LEAFS KEEP PACE WITH ORIOLES BY 11-1 VICTORY

O'Neills Have Easy Time in Taking Decision From Skeeters.

WINGS BLANK KEYS.

The International league field is making it as tough as possible for the Baltimore Orioles as first one and then another club challenges the leaders, but the boys can't seem to topple the Orioles from the head of the class.

Rochester and Toronto both have been in threatening positions for some time and after Rochester had won its afternoon game yesterday from Reading the Orioles were confronted with the necessity of beating Buffalo in a night game at Buffalo to retain their advantage.

This they accomplished without undue difficulty, 10 to 5, and thus maintained their half game lead over Rochester with Toronto only another game to the bad.

The Orioles slugged out eighteen hits to batter Leo Mangum and the Bisons into submission, the Orioles went to the front in the first inning and never relinquish their lead although it took a three run rally in the eighth to decide the issue beyond a doubt.

Five home runs distinctly aided the Orioles' cause, Joe Hauser getting his 28th of the season.

Great pitching by Paul Derringer enabled Rochester to turn back Reading in the second game of the series 3-0. Derringer allowed eight hits but kept them so widely scattered that the Keys could not cross the plate. Nelson Greene gave only four hits before he was relieved for a pinch hitter in the eighth but Rochester bunched two of these, a single and a triple, with two sacrifices to score two runs in the last half of the seventh. The Red Wings' other run was scored on Martin's home run off Welch in the eighth.

The third place Toronto Maple Leafs kept pace with the Redwings by beating Jersey City again, 11 to 1. Hopkins started for Jersey City but was lifted with two out in the first inning after he had walked three men. Liebhardt came to the rescue, got out of the hole without being scored on and then hurled two more scoreless innings. In the fourth, however, the Leafs got busy and battered Liebhardt for four runs. Two more came across in the fifth, three in the sixth and the final pair in the eighth. Johnny Prudhomme allowed 12 hits and was very effective in the pinches, Keesey driving Walker over the plate with the Skeeters' only run in the eighth. Joe Arris, old-time major league star, got four of Toronto's 15 hits, two of his blows being doubles.

Newark's battle with Montreal was postponed on account of rain.

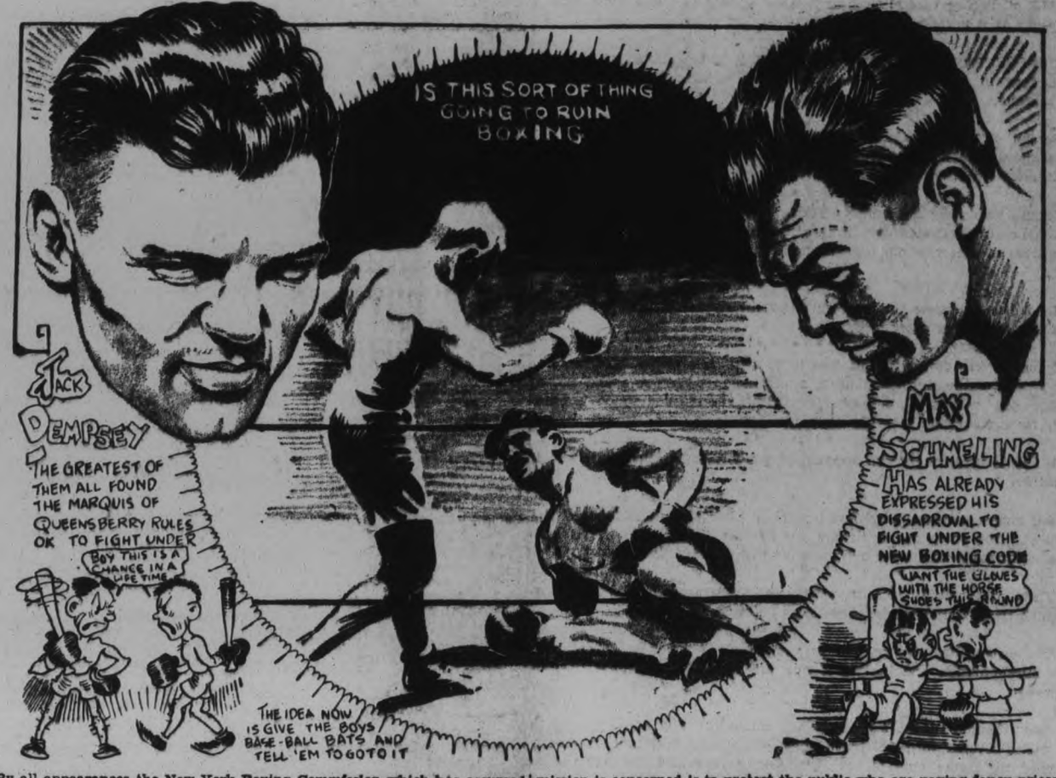
Downfall of Cubs Is Surprise in Majors

THE BIG RING TAKES THE COUNT



By all appearances the New York Boxing Commission which has assumed with colossal nerve the representation of the boxing world, has at last scampered for cover. Their action has brought ridicule upon an alluring sport, which has become of world wide fame under the Marquis of Queensberry rules, formed to protect not only the boxer but also the sport fan. Through the years of boxing history such men as James J. Corbett, Bob Fitzsimmons and the great Jack Dempsey all found these rules good enough. Now, because we have a crop of fighters who don't measure up to the standards set by these men and a commission which was withered under the fire of public sentiment they want to make the game fit the inferior quality of men who now occupy the limelight. This spells defeat for the sport. They are apparently casting the game to the four winds and waiting for it to die a natural death. It is quite understood that the idea so far as the commission is concerned is to protect the public who are paying fancy prices and go away disappointed after decision on a foul. But the idea of sending the boys through the ropes with a couple of baseball bats and the words "Go to it, we crave action," is certainly ridiculous. What a thrilling exhibition it would be! No blows barred and every man for himself. The art of clever weaving, quick effective footwork, all shot, nothing but brute force and ignorance left. But for how long? Less than it takes to tell because the New York Boxing Commission will be sitting on the fence with nothing but an empty title to look after. True there are men who slide through the ropes with nothing but the idea of winning a bout by the easiest way, but surely there are enough brains left in the boxing games to figure a way to eliminate this sort of trash. There is no need for all the hysteria that has been cast upon a game which has a rightful place among the professional sports of the world.

LUCAS HOLDS PHILLIES 5-3

Cincinnati Wins First Game of Eastern Tour—Pirates Beat Cards.

EFFECTIVE COMBINATION.

The suddenly triumphant Cincinnati Reds opened their tour of the eastern division of the National League yesterday as Pittsburgh and St. Louis ended the fraternal strife among the western clubs. The Reds, hitting effectively behind the pitching of Red Lucas, defeated the Phillies 5 to 3. Lucas had the better of a duel with Earl Collard, giving but 6 hits and contributed the finishing touch to the victory in the form of a home run in the ninth inning.

The Pirates slammed three Cardinal pitchers for 16 hits to win the series final 6 to 2, and divide the six game set, but despite this result Pittsburgh was below the .500 mark in the intra-sectional play and the Cards were at the top. St. Louis won six games and lost three, equalling the record of the New York Giants against the Phillies and Brooklyn. The Robins came in second with five victories and three defeats and due to Chicago's losses took a firm hold on first place.

TIGERS EASILY BEAT INDIANS

Jonathan Stone Gets Timely Triple—White Sox Victors Over Browns.

HEAVY HITTING SPREE.

The somewhat incomplete intra-sectional play of the major league clubs, which came to a close with yesterday's beginning of a new east-west movement, brought few surprising results in its general emphasis of the fact that a good ball club is successful, no matter where the games are played.

The unexpected downfall of the Chicago Cubs and the rise of the Detroit Tigers were the only results which were unforseen. The Cubs lost a whole four game series at Cincinnati and wound up near the bottom of the National League list with two victories and five defeats.

The Tigers, smashing out a final victory yesterday, took four of five from the Cleveland Indians after gaining a 3-2 edge over Chicago for a total of seven victories in ten games.

Detroit showed a lot of power in yesterday's game, slamming out 18 hits for an 11 to 1 triumph over the Indians. Waite Hoyt allowed only seven hits while the Tigers made eight and six of their runs off Clint Brown in the first two innings. This victory put the Tigers ahead of the Champion Philadelphia Athletics, who won six and lost three in the intra-sectional series, and second only to the Washington Senators, who won seven out of eight from Boston and New York. The Yankees went through a serious slump, winning but two out of eight games.

The Chicago White Sox closed their nip and tuck series with the St. Louis Browns in the other American League game, gaining a 5 to 3 decision to take sixth place again by a half-game margin. Pat Caraway had only one bad inning, the Browns scoring all their runs in the third, and gave the Sox an even break in ten intra-sectional games.

OSHAWA BEATS CAMPBELLFORD BY 7-4 COUNT

Lacrosse Teams Give Good Display in Hard, Clean Tussle at Mill Town.

ONLY ONE PENALTY.

(By Examiner Staff Correspondent.)

Campbellford, July 12. — Oshawa's first appearance in Campbellford in the O.A.L.A. schedule was disastrous for the homesters, when they took home the bacon with a score of 7 to 4, in a keen and hard fought game staged on the High School grounds last evening, which was witnessed by a large crowd of fans.

Only one penalty was given in the game, this in favor of Campbellford, and there were no serious injuries to any of the players. Though keen and hard, the play was clean, and Albert Armstrong of Havelock showed his ability as referee to the satisfaction of players and fans alike. Both teams were standing on their toes, and check and counter check was evidenced in all four periods. End to end play was the rule of the game, with Whitton and Flint for Campbellford, and Bovin for Oshawa, trailing the field behind them. The teams were as follows:

Oshawa: Goal, T. Stokes; point, H. Stephens; cover point, W. Luke; 1st defence, J. Murray; 2nd defence, H. Bays; 3rd defence, L. Luke; centre, H. Luke; 3rd home, J. Bovin; 2nd home, A. Black; 1st home, J. Cardinal; outside home, C. Garrison; inside home, H. Cardinal; subs, W. J. Hare, G. Luke.

Campbellford — Goal, E. Fox; point, E. Bush; cover point, H. McArthur; 1st defence, V. Cochrane; 2nd defence, L Blake; 3rd defence, M. Reid; centre, S. Flint; 3rd home, "Buster" Whitton; 2nd home, H. Ingram; 1st home, L. Copperthwaite; outside home, F. Ingram; inside home L. Jacks; subs., W. Blue, C. Holmes.

Referee — Albert Armstrong, Havelock.

Umpires — Oshawa, time, J. Meeger; goal, B. Brown, Campbellford — Time, V. Farrell; goal, C. H. Davidson

First Period

The first period started off easy with centre play until Whitton got the ball and rushed, but failed to score This was returned by the Greens rushing the Campbellford goal which was broken by another rush by Whitton. This play continued for some minutes, until Garrison netted the ball, drawing first blood for Oshawa.

This was closely followed by a second by Bovin and a third by Garrison. End to end play became brisk from then on, with Blue, Whitton, and Flint working hard, but it was left to Fred Ingram to score Campbellford's first goal, which he did shortly before the bell rang.

Score at the end of the first period—Oshawa 3, Campbellford 1.

Heavy Checking.

The second period started with a rush on Campbellford's goal which was driven off. Then the play ranged all over the field, with a considerable amount of checking, and F. Ingram doing his best to mount the score. Then started a run of bad luck for the homesters, with Bovin netting the ball twice in succession, and a quick third by H. Cardinal. This roused Campbellford to a fighting spirit, and the period ended with brisk play round Oshawa's net.

More Even in Third.

In the third period the play became more even, with Oshawa's defence tightening up, and Campbellford standing on her toes to level up the count. Bovin, Cardinal, and Garrison played a fine game in this period for the visitors, and made several dangerous rushes for the Millers' net. But Campbellford was fighting, and the opposition found it impossible to break their defence. The only count made was by F. Ingram, who scored from a pass from Harry Ingram, which brought Oshawa round the Campbellford net, where they stayed till the end of the period.

Penalties, none. Goals—Campbellford, F. Ingram 1.

The last period was a series of end to end rushes, with Oshawa working hard round the Campbellford net, only to be repulsed and attacked in return. The first count was registered by Flint after a hard fight, which was shortly followed by a count for Oshawa by Bovin. Campbellford did their best to stage a come-back, but time was against them. In the last two minutes of play Jacks netted the ball, and from then on Oshawa's goal was invaded but in vain. The one penalty of the game was awarded in this period, when J. Luke of Oshawa was put off the field for three minutes for holding his man. Flint and Bovin went down to earth with leg hurts, but no serious injury was done.

Penalties—Oshawa, J. Luke. Goals, Campbellford, Flint 1, Jacks 1; Oshawa, Bovin 1.

The game as a whole was marked by the tough breaks that Campbellford had. In the absence of Cowell, the Campbellford manager, Charlie Holmes took the field and did valiantly, although many years since he handled the hickory. Oshawa played a fine game, every man being up to his place, and fighting hard for every advantage. The last two periods showed the better form of both teams, with a tightening up of both defences, and a strong checking policy adapted, which stopped the count from mounting up. It was a fast game where hard knocks were given and taken in a sportsmanlike way, and one out of which the fans could get a real thrill.

Inside Sportin' Dope—By A. Wise Cracker

Mister Sporting Editor:

Since my last, old-timer, Mister J. Guest has copped for Canada the Diamond Skulls, and his fellow-countrymen is all tickled up the spine over the way in which the Toronto lad breezed home a winner. Mister Guest is a model for sportsmen anywhere. He is not the type that tries once and then throws up the sponge when things go wrong. No, siree. Mister Guest made twe trips across the pond and was beaten out, but he stuck to the job, improved his style, and this year he has brung home the bacon, and how. He'll get a real reception, that lad, when he steps off the train at Toronto, and he's earned it.

Nothing very exciting has developed in the local ball situation, Mac, except the Rays materially boosted their chances to get into the Lakeshore loop play-off by riding the Oshawa Arabs to a fall here last Sat. The visitors couldn't do much with the right-hand slants of Mister Russ Kitchen and was treated to a handsome coat of whitewash, while the Rays pecked away at the offerings of 2 Oshawa heavers hard enough to earn them a mess of 5 runs, which was more than enough. The veteran Mister Heckman bust into the game at 1st base for the winners and performed rightly smartly, too, while his war club started the 1st Ray rally.

In the E. P. loop the old rivals, the Cogs and Crescents, tried hard to beat each other Wed. nite, but thunder clouds brought the battle to a end in the 8th with the score all tied in a bundle, the second time the 2 outfits has fought on a fifty-fifty basis. The Electricians is still out in front and likely to stay there, but the other fellows is sure going to have a hectic tussle for the 2nd place berth.

The 2nd half of the mush ball race has seen Mister Harrison put 1 over his opposition by bagging a young Omemee heaver which dusted a fast ball past the Belmonts in good style in his 1st start. Mister Parsons fanned about a dozen of the Club members, which oughta go down as a smart twirling performance.

We're going to have hoss racing at nite, boys. Seeing I ain't never had no luck picking winners in the daytime, the new style ain't likely to mean a thing to me, but anyway the nite racing oughta prove a real novelty.

Well, I'll be seeing ya'.

Sportfully yours,
A. WISE CRACKER.

NO DECISION IS REACHED AFTER TWO HOURS PLAY

Brinton Athletic and Canadian Packing Give Good Display of Soccer Code.

ONE GOAL EACH.

Extra Time Unproductive — Preston's Goal Was Unsavable—Fans Remain to Last Minute.

After battling for two hours in a soccer cup tie of the Phelan Charity competition, the Canadian Packing and the Brinton failed to declare a winner, last night, on Brinton grounds, before a large attendance of spectators. The goal credited to the Brinton was of the most peculiar type and never has been done before in local soccer. After the interval, Preston gained the equalizer, and the game remained at the score of one each at the end of the ninety minutes and still at the same at the end of two hours.

In all probability the deciding encounter will be played on King Edward Park next Wednesday evening. The Canadian Packing receiving their return match according to procedure.

First Half

From the kick off, Brinton forward rank travelled into the Packers' goal area to test Griffin in goal. Midfield play continued very aggressive with no particular progress being made through infringements of the code. The foul kicks terminated in the full backs getting a perfect clearance. On one occasion, a foul against the Packers looked dangerous until Buchan dribbled his way out of a serious predicament in front of goal. Beautiful football was in evidence with excellent maneuvres inside the shooting territory that only brought out the perfect defense of the full backs, who repulsed the attacks in an anticipating manner. After Buchan had intercepted a movement initiated by James, he carried the ball to the other end, where "Newt" Downer missed from five yards out. As the play continued, the players revealed a condition that was astonishing at times because of the fast pace set by the attacking forces. Hanson was injured when an attack on the Packers' goal looked dangerous, but he resumed later after being attended to by the St. John's Ambulance men. Play proved interesting as the ball went from end to end without anything being accomplished, although Curtis, Brinton goalie, saved some spectacular shots ranged at him. Exchanges were even thereafter until a raid by the Packers forwards gained a promising goal. Downer dribbled his way in through the defence, then landed a shot in below the bar that Curtis saved with outstretched arms. But his clearance put three men in an offside position, one being the scorer of a questionable goal. The referee awarded a goal, but the appeal of the Brinton captain was legitimate and after consultation with the neutral linesmen, he changed his award to no goal. Captain Buchan of the Canadian Packing claimed the original decision. The ball was centered off and carried into the Packers' area where a goal was scored by a Canadian Packing player, who disliked the referee's ruling. The knight of the whistle immediately pointed his hand for a centre kick and the Packers a goal down. With only five minutes to go until the interval was declared, the players bombarded the goals to gain nothing more. Brinton Athletic 1, Canadian Packing 0.

Second Half

The customary respite permitted the contestant to pep up the tussle with keen attacks and well planned movements at shooting distance. After five minutes' play, Begga drew the full backs away from goal and made a feint play on the left that never materialized, but he placed the ball in possession of Newt Downer, who beat two men cleverly in a close tackle. Awaiting the outcome at a short distance, Preston jumped in between the defence with the ball at his toe. Travelling toward goal, he sent a rocket drive in below the bar that bulged the net; Curtis having no chance to save. Both teams on an equal basis again provided a real battle. A solo effort by Boon caused a turmoil in the Packers goal. Griffin saved the ball, but it was returned quickly by Westwood with an oblique shot from twenty yards' range, James just failing to get the necessary touch of the head as it travelled past the upright. Each custodian had a busy evening saving their charges. In fact, Lucas made certain of intercepting three opponents who had made inroads to the Brinton citadel. He awaited the outcome and at the critical moment he punted clear right off the foot of Preston. Again Hanson received an injury to kill his very effective play on the left wing and destroyed the Brinton forward rank of combination. The play had no dull moments, because the issue was always in doubt. Repeatedly decisions were not well received by player and fan alike. Of course, this was natural owing to the excitement that had been fermented during the run of the play.

Extra Time

After battling for ninety minutes, the referee instructed the contestants to change ends and play an extra ten minutes each way. Nothing interesting transpired. It was a battle to the limit in which the players took an active part in. Darkness crept on and it was hard to follow the ball in the last five minutes, but the teams remained deadlocked after two hours' battling.

SMITH THREATENS ATLANTA GOLFER

"Joplin Ghost" Has Chance of Shattering Low Record of Tournament's History.

INTERLACH CLUB, Minneapolis, July 12. The "Joplin Ghost" Horton Smith, clattered woods and irons instead of bones to-day, to haunt Bobby Jones' fondest dream of a fourth national open golf championship.

The big blonde sharpshooter was two big strokes ahead of Jones with a total so lustrous that he not only threatened to dethrone the Atlanta amateur but had a fine chance of shattering the low record of the tournament's history, the great 286 hung up by "Chick" Evans 14 years ago at Minnekhada, Minneapolis.

Bobby was far from licked however. There were 36 holes of golf ahead of him and Smith to-day. But Horton's first campaigns show him as not the type accustomed to crack. He was the acme of steadiness and his bag always contained a flock of birdies and eagles ready to fly out any time.

BENNETT URGES PENSION BURDEN GO TO DOMINION

Upholds Tory Party as Friend of Laboring Man.

KING CHANGING VIEWS.

Attacks Liberal Policy of Buying Out of Canada.

CHATHAM, N.B., July 12. (By Thomas Green Canadian Press Staff Writer)—On the banks of the Miramichi River, Hon. R. B. Bennett addressed a Conservative rally in the Opera House here last night. Notwithstanding repeated rain showers the building was filled to its seating and standing limit.

He knew the problems of the Maritimes, the Opposition Chieftain and the hopes and aspiration of their people. The Government, he said, has "failed" in its duty to the Provinces by the sea, in the face of the fact that representatives of the people from every other part of the Dominion realized the debt of obligation to these old provinces of Confederation.

Ridicules Liberals' Claim

"Liberals are now making the claim" Mr. Bennett exclaimed, "that they are great friends of Labor. If so, why are there so many unemployed to-day? Well, let me remind you that it was a Conservative Government in this country who signed the Magna Charta of Labor, the great charter giving labor an eight-hour day and a six-day working week, the convention which was signed at the Peace Conference in Versailles" he paused, and continued: "What had Mr. King to do with the signing of this convention? What had Mr. King to do with the signing of the Peace Treaty?"

The policies of the King administration, the Opposition Chieftain declared, had brought about such a condition that for the first two months of the present fiscal year Canada had sent $45,000,000 more out of this country to buy goods than was sold. "Can you provide jobs that way?" Mr. Bennett asked "Can you prevent unemployment that way? Can you make here a country of homes and not mere abiding places? Can you take the shutters off closed windows that way? Can you build Canada that way?"

The Prime Minister, the Conservative Chieftain remarked, had now admitted there was unemployment, although he denied the existence of such a condition in opening his campaign. The building of a railway had been promised by the Premier in Vancouver to relieve the situation. "Apparently," Mr. Bennett remarked, "Mr. King is now coming around to my views because he cannot have the building of a railway authorized without calling Parliament."

Old Age Pensions

Touching on Old Age Pensions, Mr. Bennett continued, "I say to you if the Conservative party is returned to power we will provide for the payment of Old Age Pensions from the Federal exchequer, so that the Provinces will not be called upon to contribute a cent and so the Provinces who now find the burden too great will be able to benefit equally with all the Provinces of the Dominion."

The constitutional point had been [illegible] the Premier: "If," he said, later she "it is constitutional to pay 50 per cent., would it not be constitutional to pay 100 per cent.? We will pass the law to pay one hundred per cent. and it will be legal."

Australia Jubilant Over Bradman's Work

SYDNEY, Australia, July 12 (C. P. Cable, via Reuters).—There was unbounded delight in Australia to-day over Don Bradman's record-breaking score in the cricket Test Match at Leeds. M. A. Noble, writing in The Sun, said the amazing youth had surpassed and overshadowed the former performance of G. MacCartney. Jones, one of the selectors of the Australian team said, "I never had any doubts, but his record has gone beyond my wildest dreams."

O'Doul Strengthens "Big Six" Position

With the major league schedule yesterday abbreviated considerably by the East-West movement of the clubs, the two Philadelphia sluggers, Frank O'Doul and "Chuck" Klein, were the only big members to play in a regular game, and the results were strongly in favor of O'Doul. The leader drove out a single and a double in four times at bat against Cincinnati and brought his average up one more point to .406. Klein was allowed only two official times at bat and failed to hit at all, dropping three points to .399 and remaining only two ahead of Babe Herman.

A BEDTIME STORY

by Howard R. Garis

UNCLE WIGGILY'S FLOWERS.

"Don't climb on any aeroplanes and be sure to bring some flowers with you when you come home!" called Mrs. Longears to her husband as he hopped down the steps of the hollow stump bungalow one morning.

"I will!" Uncle Wiggily promised. "I mean," he went on, "I'll be sure to bring the flowers. As for aeroplanes, since I sat on the tail of one and had a ride and jumped off with my umbrella parachute, I am through with that kind of fun for a while."

"I should hope so!" squeaked Nurse Jane Fuzzy Wuzzy. "And while you are at it, Uncle Wiggily, you had better bring two bunches of flowers, for we have two birthdays to celebrate this evening."

"Two! Is that so? Whose?" asked the rabbit gentleman.

"Jingle and Jangle," answered the muskrat lady housekeeper.

"Oh, I'll bring some fine birthday bouquets," Mr. Longears said.

Nearly every day, in summer when flowers blossomed in the woods and fields, Uncle Wiggily hopped out and brought some home. There were always one or two birthdays in the hollow stump bungalow. Uncle Wiggily had so many little rabbit children, of different ages, that each morning, when he hopped out of bed, he knew it was going to be the birthday of some of them. Jingle and Jangle were twins so their birthdays came at the same time.

"I must get them some nice flowers," thought Mr. Longears as he hopped over the fields and through the woods. "Of course I must get them some presents also, and a little candy, or it wouldn't be a proper birthday. But the flowers come first."

Uncle Wiggily looked around for some blossoms that he might pick. He saw none so he hopped on a little farther. Then he looked again. Still he saw no pretty posies.

"This is queer," said the rabbit gentleman, twinkling his pink nose.

"What is queer?" asked a little voice in the air over his head. At first Uncle Wiggily thought it might be the pilot of the aeroplane on which he had taken a wonderful ride. But there was no sky ship in sight, only a big, yellow bumble bee. Though, in a way, a bumble bee is a sort of aeroplane, and so is a bird.

"What is queer?" asked the bumble bee.

"I can't find any flowers for birthday bouquets to take to my little twins Jingle and Jangle," answered the rabbit gentleman.

"You will find flowers farther on, in the next field," buzzed the bee. "I am going there to gather honey from the blossoms so if you will follow me I will lead you."

Up jumped the Fox as quick as he could.

"That will be kind of you," said Uncle Wiggily. "Fly on."

So the bumble bee flew on through the air and, because he was large and yellow, Uncle Wiggily could easily see to follow the buzzer. Soon the rabbit gentleman found himself in a field where grew many blossoms.

"Pick as many as you like!" invited the bee. "There are plenty for both of us."

"Thank you," spoke Mr. Longears. So he began to pick bouquets of bright blossoms, one for Jingle and one for Jangle, while the bee started to gather sweet juice from the posies. Those flower juices the bee would take to his nest where they could be stored away in little wax cups until next winter. That's the way the bees do. All summer they live on flower juice. But in winter, at least in that part of the country where Uncle Wiggily lived, there were no flowers in winter. So the bees must store away honey against the time when they cannot fly out and gather it from flowers in the fields.

"Well, now I have two fine bouquets," said Uncle Wiggily, putting his blossoms on the ground while he twisted a string of grass to tie around the stems.

"Yes, and I have honey enough," buzzed the bumbler.

Just then the Fuzzy Fox, who had been hiding and watching Uncle Wiggily gather flowers, popped out from behind a big stone and growled:

"How dare you pick my flowers, Mr. Longears?"

"Why, I didn't know these were your flowers, Mr. Fox," said the rabbit.

"Well, they are, and you can't have them!" snarled the Bad Chap. "And for picking them, I'm going to nibble you. Of course these are my flowers! I'll show you!" howled the Fox. He sat down on the bunches of blossoms Uncle Wiggily had gathered. But, as it happened, just then the bumble bee saw a drop of honey on a red head of clover in the bunny's bouquet, so the bee started to suck it. And the Fox sat down on the bee, but he did not sit very long.

"Here! What's the idea, sitting on me like that?" buzzed the bumble chap and he stuck his stinger in the left hind leg of the Fox as hard as he could. Up jumped the Fox as quick as a roller skate.

"Yow! Yow!" he howled. "What kind of flowers are these!"

"Ha! Ha! You ought to know! You said they were your flowers!" laughed Uncle Wiggily as the Fox ran away. For the bee's sting was sharp like a needle. Then Mr. Longears thanked the bumble chap and hopped home with the posies for Jingle and Jangle. The little bunnies had a lovely birthday party.

Whoever Did This?

On the twenty-fourth, we four girls walked up the canal to the dam. Goldy and I were behind the others, because we heard a humming bird in a young elm above us, visiting the tree buds. I never saw one before getting food, except from the flowers in the garden. Well, when we reached the dam, Aunt Ethel and Sister were much excited and distressed. "Oh, please hurry and do something," they cried to us. "There is a mud turtle tied by its leg and left hanging over the waterfall, and it's not dead."

There it was, a big snapper, dangling from a string tied to a home-made fishing pole. We could see its head twist. We immediately drew it up, and dropped it on the bank, where it lay stupidly, with its poor hurt leg numbed and powerless, sticking out behind. You know how a turtle at the first sign of danger will jerk its legs and head into its strong, hard shell. That is its only protection. It cannot run like a deer, fly like a bird, or scare off its enemies like Master Skunk with that awful odor. No, it can only withdraw into its shell. That was what made us feel like crying, to see that our turtle had to leave its leg trailing.

We were in a rage. Who ever could have done such a cruel deed? Had it been hanging like that all night long? Somehow we thought of horrible barbarities in Chinese dungeons.

"Whatever shall we do with it?" we asked one another. "We can't leave it to suffer."

"I've got nothing to kill it with but my Scout knife," said Mother. "We can't break through its shell even with a big stone. I don't know where its heart is, and I wouldn't know how to get at it even if I did."

"Oh, do let's put it back into the water—doesn't it live in the water?" wailed Aunt Ethel.

"No," objected Mother firmly, "I might want to swim in that water, and it's awful to see a snapping turtle in the water you want to swim in."

"Well, give me your knife, anyway," said Sister, "and you watch its mouth, while I see if I can't cut the string off its leg."

This was readily done and then we teased it till it snapped its jaws on to a stick and was dragged into the river. It floated off slowly, and just as we feared it would go over the dam, it came to rest on a cement pier, under water. I forgot to look to see if it were still there, the next time I went to the dam.

Likely the water would help to heal its poor leg—although I am sure I don't know why we should want a snapping turtle cured and made able to be about again!

Granny says they are very great nuisances. She knew of one that split a cow's teat when it was pasturing down by the marsh, and the owner could not get it milked except by putting a rail between its hind legs. You know, too, that when Mother Goose is teaching her yellow babies to swim on the river, the turtle often pulls one under and gobbles it up. If you want to kill one painlessly, the best plan is to shoot it in the head, I think.

Stop that Head Aching

Why suffer headache, or any other pain, when ZUTOO TABLETS, taken when you feel it coming on, will give relief in 20 minutes. Harmless and reliable. Used by thousands.

TARZAN OF THE APES No. 9 (Metropolitan Newspaper Feature Service, Inc.) By Edgar Rice Burroughs

A hasty examination of his wife revealed no marks upon her, and Lord Greystoke decided the huge brute had died the instant he had sprung toward her. Gently he lifted his wife's still unconscious form and bore her to the little cabin. Fully two hours later she regained consciousness.

Her first words filled Greystoke with vague apprehension. For some time after regaining her senses she gazed wonderingly about the interior of the little cabin, and then, with a satisfied sigh, said: "Oh, John, it is so good to be REALLY home. I have had an awful dream, dear."

"There, there, Alice," he said, stroking her forehead. "Try to sleep again and don't worry." That night, while a leopard screamed before the door and the deep notes of a lion's roar sounded from beyond the ridge, a little son was born in the tiny cabin beside the primeval jungle forest.

Lady Greystoke never recovered from the shock of the great ape's attack. She was never again outside the cabin nor did she ever realize that she was not in England. But she took joy and happiness in the possession of her little son and the constant attentions of her husband.

So that year was a very happy one. Greystoke had long since given up all hope of rescue. With unremitting zeal he had worked to beautify the cabin. The tiny life that had come to cheer them little knew what amazing experiences lay ahead of it in the depths of the African jungle.

Voice of the People

Letters to be printed in the Voice of the People column must be received at The Examiner Office on the day before it is desired to have them published.

AN OPEN LETTER TO MR. GORDON MATTHEWS.

Peterborough, Ont., July 12, 1930.

The Editor, the Peterborough Examiner, City.

Dear Sir,—I understand you denied that your company had bought off competitors. If you will make a statutory declaration denying that your company, or its predecessors, by its agents or officials, have ever paid, or offered to pay, competitors to withdraw from the field of purchasing in the neighborhood of Peterborough, I will give $100.00 to the Children's Aid Society and $100.00 to St. Vincent's Orphanage. The statutory declaration I desire to be taken in my presence, because I am anxious to find out if you will make this denial under oath, and if you do I will then be able to deal with the matter as it should be dealt with.

When Mr. Peck is complaining about unemployment, the return from your company shows net profits of $1,552,071 for the past year, as compared with $1,503,297 for 1929. So last year was a better year than you ever had in the history of your company, because I find the surplus this year was $3,706,569.

Things do not look to be so unhealthy in the packing business.

Yours truly,
G. N. GORDON.

TRUTH VERSUS ERROR.

Some of the errors of "churchianity" and the truths opposite the same:

Error—Man is immortal and cannot die.
Truth—Man is mortal and subject to death.
Error—Endless torment is the penalty for sin.
Truth—Death is the penalty for sin.
Error—Death is merely a transition.
Truth—Death is an extinction of life, a cessation of being.
Error—Hell means a place of endless torture
Truth—Hell means the grave or condition of death
Error—Man has a soul
Truth—Man is a living soul.
Error—Paradise is heaven
Truth — Paradise is the earth brought into Edenic condition.
Error—Jesus is very God, equal to Jehovah God.
Truth—Jehovah God is greater than Jesus, the Son of God.
Error—The day of judgment is a day of 24 hour horror.
Truth—The day of judgment is a day of joy and gladness and is a day of one thousand years.
Error—Does not preach the resurrection of man.
Truth—All who are in their graves shall come forth.
Error—The Sabbath Day given to the Jews is binding upon all.
Truth—The Sabbath Day passed away when Jesus came, and is not binding upon Jew or gentile.
Error—Man was created to go to heaven.
Truth—The earth was made for man, and the righteous shall inherit the land.
Error—Makes no distinction between the general and special salvation provided by Jesus.
Truth—Jesus is the Savior of all men from Adamic death, and specially of a few elect ones.

The many errors of "churchianity" cannot be noted in a small space. Scripture prophecy is being fulfilled right now, "many are running to and fro," and "knowledge is being increased." Many to-day are walking out in the light and are getting a knowledge of the truth and discarding old time errors.—M. T. Butcher.

PASTEURIZED CREAM.

LINDSAY, July 12. — That cream handled by local distributors must be either pasteurized or from herds that have been under the supervision of the Milk Inspector and inspected by him, was the decision arrived at concerning the question of retailing sweet cream in Lindsay, at the monthly meeting of the Board of Health, held in the Town Clerk's office last evening. Three reports, submitted by Milk Inspector G. C. Lawrence, Sanitary Inspector T. H. Davis and Public Health Nurse, M. R. McMillan were approved of. The Board accepted the formal resignation of Miss M. R. McMillan as Public Health Nurse for the Town of Lindsay, to take effect the end of August, 1930, and are calling for applications for the vacant position.

SALUTES THE FLAG.

As a well-known Peterborough politician was passing the band playing the "Sweet By-and-By" under the folds of the Union Jack at the corner of Brock and George Streets, he suddenly turned and saluted "the colours." "It may be the last time that I get the chance," he remarked as the by-standers smiled. "It may be the Canada First Flag instead of the Empire Jack after July 28th.

NOTED CUE ARTIST HERE TO-NIGHT.

R. C. Downes, of Detroit, Mich., well-known cuest throughout Canada and the U.S.A., will give his original performance this evening in pocket billiards at Yeotes' Billiard Parlors at 11 p.m. sharp, accomplishing his repertoire of intricate and novel shots with cue and fingers, featuring 24 balls in one hand "Chinese pool." FIRST BLOOM IN 16 YEARS.

The cactus, although it is not a cheerful nor a friendly plant, is a religious one. It fulfills the Scriptural injunction to make the desert blossom like the rose. In The Examiner window is a sample of one of these plants that has just recently, after sixteen years of simply shooting forth hard and thorny green leaves, decided to produce something more pleasing to the sight and touch. It has two blossoms that expand in the sun like a water-lily, which they resemble. Their botanical name is Opuntia Rafinesquiana. S. H. Mitchell, journeying in 1914 from Cape Henry, Virginia, plucked this plant from a desolate site in the sand dunes there and brought it to Canada. After sixteen years' deliberation, it has blossomed, although, in its native habitat, it is supposed to be an annual bloomer.

CHILDREN WIN BEAUTY PRIZES

by Peterborough kiddies.

A Canadian child, John Raymond Le Huguet, of Victoria, B. C., won premier honors in the International field, being judged "the most attractive child."

Both photographs of Peterborough's winners were the work of Fred L. Roy, and in discussing the contest Mr. Roy said to-day that only fourteen local children were entered in the contest. "All the photographs submitted had to be taken between Fev. 20, and May 10, according to the rules of the contest," he stated. "No photographer was permitted to go through his old files and select photographs for the contest."

Mr. Roy could with difficulty conceal his elation at the marked victory of Peterborough children in the great field consisting of the whole continent.

Roseneath

ROSENEATH, July 12. (Examiner Correspondence.)—One of the largest fish caught in Rice Lake this season, was a maskinonge weighing 15¼ pounds and measuring 39 inches. This fine specimen was captured by Harold Taylor, of Toronto, who was down on a visit to his parents Mr. and Mrs. William Taylor, for the week-end holiday.

Mr. Taylor, along with Mr. and Mrs. Burns, also from Toronto and his sister, Miss Hildred Taylor, went out on the lake merely for a pleasure sail in their launch but having taken with them a fishing outfit of catfish hooks, line and for bait, Mr. Taylor jused a June bug, making fun for the little party. When Mr. Taylor discovered his catch and the big fish was making a great struggle they were compelled to return to shore, fearing every moment the line or hook would give way, finally he was successful in his efforts in landing this beauty and no doubt would do justice to his meal the following day. Harold, with Mr. and Mrs. Burns, leaving shortly after the expedition, for their homes in Toronto.

If you buy out of town, and I buy out of town, and all our neighbors buy out of town, what in thunder will become of our town? Ever think about it?

NEW MOTOR ROAD UP ARMOUR HILL OPEN FOR TRAFFIC

Women of Ashburnham Are Attempting to Change Hill Into a Beauty Spot.

SIGN AT FOOT OF HILL

1,400 Trees Have Been Planted by Patriotic Association This Year.

Providing an unexcelled view of the city and surrounding country, the new motor road recently constructed to the summit of Armour Hill, affords a fitting and tangible reminder of the quiet, but unostentatious work of beautification which is ever proceeding apace in East City under the auspices of the Ashburnham Women's Patriotic League and is part of the development scheme on the Armour Hill Memorial Park to perpetrate the memory of the men of this district who paid the supreme sacrifice overseas.

Construction of the road which commenced on April 20th and which has recently reached the stage which will permit motor traffic to use it, was undertaken entirely on the initiative of the Ashburnham Women's Association who hope to transform Armour Hill into a veritable beauty spot in the course of time. The work of grading etc., was done by a gang of about ten men under the supervision of S. McCarrell who has worked for the Association for number of years.

Mrs. Roy H. Parsons, president of the Association, in an interview with the Examiner, expressed a wish that recognition be made of the service which Mr. McCarrell has rendered to the Association and his interest and coperation in the work which he has shown throughout.

Sign at Foot of Hill

While the road is at present quite safe for motor vehicles, it is the intention of the Association to apply the finishing touched to it next year. A sign at the foot of the hill which will denote the presence of the road to visitors is being placed in position this week. Winding up the hill at a gradual curve, the road forks when near the summit permitting motor vehicles to make a perfectly safe turn, and providing ample parking space while the passengers alight to enjoy the vast expanse of natural beauty which is unfolded to the vision.

The existence of this road, is apparently unknown to a vast majority of the citizens, although a visit to the summit of the hill on Sunday last, revealed quite a little gathering of people, some equipped with field glasses, who had journeyed thither to see their city and its richly endowed countryside, from an entirely new angle. Many tourists were also evident, appreciating to the fullest extent the panorama of woodland and dale and the soothing peace and beauty of the City of Peterborough as it lay nestling in the valley. The white and broken eddies where the Otonabee pursues its impetuous course over the dam and sontinues to flow on in tranquil majesty, reflecting on its surface, the blue sky and the trees and buildings which skirt its shores, is seen in its true perspective from the heights as one gazes to the westward, To cast ones vision in a south easterly direction is to view an equally fine vista and one blessed with keen vision may even discern the waters of Rice Lake.

After the sun has slid behind the rim of hills which encircle the city to the west, one can plainly see the headlights of automobiles, as they flash in and out on the roads coursing the distant hills—giving the effect of numerous glow worms.

It requires no stretch of the imagination to conjure up a vision of the transformation, which will reach maturity on Armour Hill as soon as the numerous seedlings, which have veen planted, have reached full growth—a transformation which will have been made possible by the foresight and public spirited service which has been rendered by the Ashburnham Women's League.

1,400 Trees Planted.

In addition to the construction of the road this year, the Association has planted 1,400 trees, made up of 600 deciduous trees and 800 Jack Pines, Seedlings which were planted in former seasons, suffered a severe setback, it was pointed out by the president, who deplores the action of the Fire Chief, who burned off the grass this spring and destroyed numerous seedlings, by firing the grass.

Mrs. Parsons also states that loss has been caused by vandalism this year, and that any person caught stealing trees or in an yway interfering with their growth will be prosecuted to the fullest extent of the law.

The sign which is to be erected at the foot of the hill, will bear the following legend on a board three feet by six feet "Ashburnham Memorial Park. To the finest view of Peterborough and surrounding country. This park is being developed by the Women's Patriotic League of Ashburnham as a memorial to those who fell in the Great War."

IN MEMORIAM.

FOSTER. — In fond and loving memory of our dear father (Thomas Foster) who departed this life July 13th, 1929:
Our kind and loving father,

Never shall your memory fade,
And although we miss you so,
We are waiting till we, also,

NOTED CANADIAN PILOT DROWNS IN CRASH

LIEUT. J. D. VANCE IS HURTLED INTO GREAT BEAR LAKE

Tragedy Occurs While Attempting a Landing in Fog and Smoke.

PASSENGER ESCAPES.

Very Deep Water Hindering Recovery of Pilot's Body.

TORONTO, Ont., July 14 (Canadian Press). — Lieut. J. D. Vance, one of th best known airplane pilots in the Dominion, was killed at Hunter Bay on the east end of Great Bear Lake to-day when he attempted a landing in fog, smoke and glassy water . He was apparently thrown from the window of his cockpit and drowned. The sole passenger, "Monte" Priske, of Schreiber, Ontario, escaped with cut hands.

Famous War Pilot.

Lieut. Vance was one of the best known of Canadian war pilots. He was engaged after the war on conveying important officials and Cabinet Ministers to and from the Peace Conference at Versailles. Recently he had been employed by the Dominion Explorers' Company.

The information was received in Toronto by the Dominion Explorers' Company through the Great Bear Lake wireless station of the company.

Details were not immediately available. The body is still being sought in very deep water.

Pilot Vance was one of the pilots who aided in the seach for the MacAlpine party some months ago. His plane became disabled at Baker Lake and he spent weeks with a companion at that northern outpost until it was possible to travel to civilization by dog team. He refused to let his company take the risk of sending planes to get him out.

Lieut. Vance leaves a mother on Keel Street, Toronto, and a married sister at Lindsay, Ont.

LAST RITES PAID DAVID H. MOORE

Deceased Had Been For 44 Years Member of St. Paul's Session.

FUNERAL ON SATURDAY.

Deep solemnity marked the public funeral service for the late David H. Moore at St. Paul's Church on Saturday afternoon, when several hundred of the late Mr. Moore's fellow-citizens gathered to show their grief at his passing and their respect for his memory.

"Though we lament his passing, we rejoice that he has lived and labored among us and has left behind him so many hallowed memories," declared James Dutton, representative elder of St. Paul's Church, in presenting the eulogy. A life-time member of St. Paul's, for 44 years a member of session, and for more than 50 years associated with the choir, the late Mr. Moore had made an invaluable contribution to the spiritual life and work of the church, stated Mr. Dutton.

The late Mr. Moore's talents, continued the speaker, had fitted him peculiarly for the musical part of the service. A familiar figure in the choir, from which he was never absent when in the city, he was ever proud of the organization to which he had made so valued a contribution. To him the church owed the inspiration of the magnificent organ installed three years ago, and it had

Whale Bumps Ship Is Worsted in Deal

NEW YORK, July 14.—Passengers of the liner Semaria, which docked today, were still excited about a fish story enacted before their eyes on Friday. A whale of mammoth proportions swam alongside the ship, dived below the surface, and bumped its head violently against the ship's sharp prow. In a second the sea for a hundred feet around was red with blood. The passengers believe the whale was killed.

SIR CONAN SENDS FIRST MESSAGE TO LADY DOYLE

Organ Drowns Out Medium's Words at Great Spiritualist Meeting.

MANY WALK OUT.

Author's Wife Refuses to Tell Contents of Word From Spirit World.

LONDON, Eng., July 14.—(C.P.) — The widow of Sir Arthur Conan Doyle was heartened to-day by what she accepted as a spirit message from her husband, who died last week.

A medium, Mrs. Estelle Roberts, claimed to have received the message after a public memorial service in Albert Hall had ended with fifty or more of the audience of 10,000 walking out in protest at five alleged spirit messages from other persons long dead and gone.

The medium claimed that each of these five stood behind her chair and pushed her. She said one of the five was a woman suffragist who several years ago threw herself under one of the King's horses. Persons in audience claimed to recognize and identify each message.

The medium at this point complained of the audience walking out on her and said she could not continue. A vast roar of excited talk arose and the pipe organ was started to drown out the hubub.

Message From Sir Arthur.

The medium walked across the platform to Lady Doyle and said: "I have a message from Sir Arthur. Sir Arthur told me that one of you went into the hut (a building on the Doyle estate at Windlesham, Sussex, where he was buried Friday) this morning. Is that correct?"

"Why yes," Lady Doyle answered, "I did."

"The message," continued the medium, "is this: 'Tell Mary——!" At this point the pealing of the pipe organ drowned out her words.

Lady Doyle declined to explain what the remainder of the message was, merely explaining: "I can't. It's precious and sacred. I am perfectly convinced that the message is from my husband. I am sure of that and I am sure that he has been here with us as I am sure that I am speaking to you. It is a happy message, one that is cheering and encouraging."

Mary is the name of Sir Arthur's eldest daughter, by his first marriage. She was seated two chairs away from the empty chair reserved at the service for the spiritof the novelist.

ROTARY HEARS FINE REPORT OF BIG CONVENTION

President Robt. Abbott Gives Impression of Recent Gathering at Chicago.

THE YEAR'S WORK.

Past President Reviews Activities of Rotary During Last Twelve Months.

Interesting reports of the International convention at Chicago by President-elect Robt. Abbott and of the year's activities by Past President Ross Dobbin, along with the announcement from Rotarian J. H. Seels that the street fair showed nearly $3,000 in profits featured to-day's luncheon of the Peterborough Rotary Club.

Among the visitors were two Rotarians who were formerly well-known residents of Peterborough: Rotarian Rev. J. R. Webb of Kitchener, Ont., and Rotarian Jack Costain of Liverpool, Eng., the latter a visitor in the city on his way home from attending the Chicago convention. Rotarian Fred L. Roy, in introducing Rotarian Costain, remarked that his firm was very active in the building line in the Old Country, having at least some 1,400 dwellings in one sub-division in the course of construction.

President Abbott, in his breezy resume of the big Chicago convention, remarked that one of the great events of the gathering was the appearance, against the orders of his doctor, of Paul Harris, the founder of Rotary. Another was the address by Sir Henry Thornton. The highlights of the subjects discussed at the convention were community welfare, business standards, and international relations. Reports showed that Rotary was now to be found in 65 countries throughout the world, with some 3,300 club and a total membership of 152,000.

Past President Dobbin, in his review of the year, stressed the success of the Rotary street fair under the direction of Rotarians Jack Seels and Andy Brown, the work of the program committee, the meeting promoted by the Rural Relations Committee under the direction of Rotarian Geo. A. Gillespie, the work of the Classification Committee under the chairmanship of Rotarian Fred L. Roy, and other features of the year's activities.

With Rotarian Alex. Darling in charge of the machine, movies of the street carnival, and of the Peterborough delegates at the district conference in Niagara Falls as taken by Past President Dobbin were presented.

Rotarian Jack Seels reported gross receipts for the street fair of $5,800, with a surplus close to $3,000. In addition, the club had available some $400 worth of material.

Down from Rotary Camp for the luncheon, Rotarian Doug. Loomis, camp director, announced that all that was necessary to make the camp a complete success was more boys. There were leaders and accommodation enough for 75 boys, he declared.

Rotarian C. H. Rogers urged the members individually to take a greater interest in the question of securing boys for the camp.

FORMER CANADIAN IN SHOOT-OFF FOR COVETED TELEGRAPH PRIZE

Lieut. E. Skinner Ties With Two Others in Making Perfect Mark of 35.

DECISION TUESDAY.

Bisley Camp, England, July 14. (C. P.) — Hundreds of marksmen competed in the Daily Telegraph Silver Cup Competition, to-day's feature at Bisley, and only three had perfect scores. These were Lieut. E. Skinner, formerly of Fort William, Ont., Sergt Bradshaw, of the Indian Bisley team, and R. W. Gleadow of the Glen Almond School.

The trio will shoot off for the cup to-morrow. They had highest possible 35, firing seven shots at 600 yards under unsatisfactory weather conditions.

Not on Canadian Team.

Lieut. Skinner has been in England for years and is not a member ber of the Canadian Bisley team. With several others living on this side he has become attached to the team and fires alongside the picked Canadian marksmen. The best Canadian team scores in the Telegraph shoot were the 33's of Lieut. A. C. Carter of Toronto, and Sergt. C. W. Foam of Montreal.

Naval resourcefulness was illustrated to-day by Petty Officer Kent of H.M.S. Excellent in harbor at Portsmouth. He was entered in the Daily Telegraph and expected to reach Bisley by motor car yesterday. He was disappointed and then found that there were no trains. He secured his wife's bicycle and rode throughout the night, arriving in time to score a 32.

Heavy rain, cloudy sky and variable winds combined to keep scoring down to-day. The hope was expressed on all sides that the weather would imporve before to-morrow.

Canadian Scores.

Folowing Foam and Carter in the Telegraph Shoot, Canadian scores were:

Lieut. J. Down, St. John, 32.
C. S. M., W. A. Hawkins, Toronto, 32.

He Took a Chance

BISLEY CAMP, England, July 14 (C.P.)—One of the sergeants looking after the rifle butts on the Bisley ranges during the National Rifle Association's meeting is either a very brave man or a very foolish one. When 300 keen-eyed marksmen were getting a-bead on the targets at the Century range to-day an obstacle was seen in front of one of the targets. The range officer was about to tell the marksmen to cease firing when a sergeant attending the targets nonchalantly mounted the shielding parapet and removed the obstruction. Like Steve Brodie, he took a chance.

15 CANDIDATES CHOSEN TO-DAY

Hastings-Peterborough Among List of Constituencies Holding Nominations.

EXPECT NO ACCLAMATIONS.

TORONTO, Ont., July 14 (C.P.) — Fifteen of Ontario's 82 constituencies for the Dominion elections are to-day holding official nominations of candidates. Those fifteen include various ridings in Northern and Northwestern Ontario where the electorate is widely scattered. There are also one or two in the older part of the Province where it was thought advisable to have the nominations officially recorded two weeks in advance of election day.

There will be no acclimations in Ontario if party nominations go through as scheduled. In every one of the 15 constituencies the party councils have arranged for a least two nominees. In Fort William, Hon. R. J. Manion, Conservative, the member for the last House may be opposed by C. W. Wilson, Liberal, and Rev. A. E. Smith, Independent.

The full list of Ontario constituencies in which nominations are being held to-day are as follows: Algoma East; Algoma West; Fort William; Frontenac-Addington; Grey Southeast; Hastings-Peterborough; Kenora-Rainy River; Muskoka-Ontario; Parry South; Port Arthur-Thunder Bay; Renfrew North; Renfrew South; Temiskaming North; Temiskaming South; Victoria.

KING CONFIDENT PARTY WILL WIN ON ELECTION DAY

British Preference is Keynote of Premier's Prince Albert Speech.

MUST STRENGTHEN BOND.

Sunday is spent in Visit to National Park—Coming Eastward.

PRINCE ALBERT, Sask., July 14—(By Ray Brown, CP. Staff Correspondent).—The campaign tour of Premier Mackenzie King in Western Canada is drawing to a close. This morning, after a two-day visit to his own constituency of Prince Albert, the Prime Minister left for Regina. With Hon. C. A. Dunning, Minister of Finance, Mr. King will speak there this evening. At midnight he will again turn eastward, with Winnipeg his next stop. He will probably arrive in Winnipeg shortly before noon tomorrow, and will speak afternoon and evening in that city. Then he leaves for Ontario.

Yesterday was a quiet day for Mr. King. Accompanied by members of his party, he motored 75 miles north to Lake Waskesiu, within the boundaries of Prince Albert National Park. There Mr King enjoyed a change from the program of speech-making, which had become quite strenuous on the previous day. He went in for a swim and strolled around the place.

Speaks Four Times.

Last Saturday, the only day with the exception of Sunday (and Mr. King does not make political speeches on Sunday), which he will spend in his own constituency, the Prime Minister spoke four times. Incidentally he motored along the distance over prairie roads in order to address audiences at widely separated points in the constituency.

The visit of the Prime Minister to Prince Albert was in the nature of a political home-coming. The gathering in the Armories at Prince Albert where he spoke on Saturday night was large and friendly. When Mr. King expressed the opinion that he would be elected again, an enthusiast in the crowd aroused some amusement when he shouted out "By about 6,000 majority."

The keynote of the Prime Minister's speech was the importance of the British preference provisions in the budget. These were, he said, a great gesture of friendship which had been accepted greatfully by the people of the British Isles. Undoubtedly Canada would benefit by the step which she had taken. The Dominion must retain the British market for her wheat. The way to do that was

SMITHFIELD YOUTH IS KILLED BY HIT AND RUN MOTORIST

Companion Knocked Unconscious Near Trenton and Not Expected to Live.

INQUEST IS ORDERED.

BELLEVILLE, Ont., July 14 (C.P.). —Arthur Whitney, aged 16, resident of Smithfield, was instantly killed shortly after midnight on Saturday, and his companion, Josiah Seman, aged 32, was knocked unconscious and not expected to recover, when riding their bicycles west of Trenton, they were struck by a motorist, who has yet to be apprehended by the Provincial police. Only a slight clue was left, and the police are bending every effort to effect a capture. An inquest has been ordered by Dr. McLellan, Colborne, coroner for Northumberland County, but no date has been set. The injured man was taken to the home of John Hendricks, on the Trent Road. The two men were farm hands working near Trenton, and went to that town on Saturday night. The return journey was made in a heavy rain storm, and there is a possibility that the driver of the motor car did not see them.

AGED LUMBER CAMP CARETAKER REPORTED MISSING IN THE NORTH

Fishermen Find Horse on Beach in Very Bad Condition.

FEARED DEAD.

SAULT STE. MARIE, Ont., July 14 (C.P.).—District Forester Frank McDougall left this morning at nine o'clock, accompanied by Ray Hill, of Escanaba, representative of the Andrews Lumber Company of that city, to engage in the search for Billy Burch, the 75-year-old caretaker of the Andrews Camp at Alone Bay, on the north shore, who was reported missing from his post several days ago by members of the Roussain fishing fleet, who had called in at Alone Bay and found the horse used by Burch fully harnessed but in bad shape on the beach. It is believed that Burch, while back in the bush with the horse transporting wood to the camps, became ill, and is now likely dead. He was greatly attached to the horse, and would not permit it to be in the condition in which it was found.

James R. Andrews of the Andrews Lumber Company accompanied Mr. Hill to the Soo, but will return to Escanaba to-day.

Provincial Constable E. W. Keen left on the A.C.R. train yesterday morning to engage in the search.

Orange Celebration Has Single Mishap

LINDSAY, July 14. — Although there were more than 15,000 visitors in Lindsay for the Orange celebration on Saturday, the day was remarkable for the absence of accidents and rowdyism. The only accident reported occurred early in the day when Mrs. Alexander Drake of Coboconk, who was celebrating her 70th birthday in coincidence with the festivities of the Twelfth, fell in front of the Town Hall and broke her leg. Mrs Drake was removed to the Ross Memorial Hospital.

BEST LADIES' ORANGE LODGE IN THE PARADE IS THE VIMY RIDGE LODGE OF PETERBOROUGH

Ex-Mayor R. Kylie of Lindsay Welcomes Visiting Orangemen and Makes a Plea For All Men to Carry on and Worship God in Unity—Numerous Other Speakers.

LINDSAY, July 14. (Examiner Staff Reporter) — Over ninety lodges took part here in one of the biggest rallies of the Orange Order ever held in Central Ontario outside of Toronto on the 'glorious twelfth', fittingly commemmorating the centenary of Orangeism in Canada. The day was beautiful and the sun shone warmly so that Kent street was a bright sight with the hundreds of flags, banners and pennants waving above and the uniformed Orangemen and bands below. The rolling of drums and the shrill whistle of the fifes awoke the vast crowds to carnival pitch and long before the big parade was scheduled to leave Victoria Park several impromptu parades were held by the various lodges and their bands who also kept going till late in the evening.

There was more than music and crowds to give Lindsay a carnival appearance. Scores of refreshment booths lined the streets, tags and ribbons were being sold on every corner and in between them, poles were placarded with advertisements for meals, while all the side streets were literally lined with automobiles. It is computed that 15,000 visitors swelled the normal population, of the town and that seven thousand members of the Orange Order took part in the monster parade, which took an hour-and-a-quarter to pass a given point. Orange was the principle ingredient in this colourful and gay scene, while red, white and blue vied with each other for supremacy.

Vimy Ridge Lodge First

As the best ladies Orange Lodge in the parade, Vimy Ridge Lodge, Peterborough annexed first prize and incidentally it may be mentioned that this lodge took first prize at the last parade held in Lindsay four years ago. Attired in spotless white, with red sashes draped over the shoulder and wearing black hats, they presented a pleasing sight and received well merited plaudits of the throng which lined the whole route. SIX ARE DROWNED AS YACHT UPSETS IN BAD SQUALL

ALL YOUNG PEOPLE.

An All Night Patrol Failed to Reveal Any Other Members of Party.

BOSTON, Mass., July 14.—(C.P.)—The probability that six out of seven members of a yachting party which put out of Scituate yesterday were lost in a squall which overturned their craft loomed to-day when the fishing trawler St. Rita put in here with Barden Garceau 23, who was found clinging to the wreckage, and with the body of a girl found near by.

The yacht was skippered by Charles Hall, 23 year old son of Mr. and Mrs. F. A. Hall, of Scituate. The father, who chartered a seaplane at the East Boston airport to-day to aid in the search, said two boys whose last names were: Dorceau and Garosso, both of Greenbush, were with his son. There were three other youths and a girl aboard, the father believed.

When the party failed to return at midnight, the coast guard was notified. An all night patrol was without success.

LABOR POLICY IS NOT FREE TRADE

Empire Scheme Not Sanctioned By Dominions MacDonald Says.

ECONOMIC AGREEMENTS.

LONDON, July 14 (C.P.)—"In the Imperial Conference next September we are going to do everything that can be done by a British Government to come to economic arrangements with the Dominions that will benefit the working classes of this country," declared Prime Minister Ramsay MacDonald, speaking at a great rally of the Labor Party at the Crystal Palace Saturday night.

The Premier made it plain that the Labor Party has no place in its program for the Empire Free Trade ideal. "Why do people talk about Empire Free Trade?" he asked. "I would like to ask those who believe in Empire Free Trade whether they have any authority from the Dominions to engage in that propaganda. They have had none. There is not a single Dominion that has authorized any British politician to put that issue to the people of this country.

"There is not a single Dominion that is not developing on nationalist lines its own industrial and economic evolution, and there is not a member of the House of Commons and no Government—whatever its majority may be—in this country that can force on the Dominions an economic policy in which the Dominions do not believe," the Prime Minister went on.

Immigrant Boy Is Drowned in Crow River

FARM LABORER LOSES LIFE IN THE CROW RIVER

John Williamson Thrown From Boat While Fishing at Allan's Mills.

BODY RECOVERED.

Deceased Emigrated From Scotland to This Country Five Years Ago.

MARMORA, July 14.— (Examiner Correspondence.)— John Williamson, 23 years of age, and a native of Saltats, Ayrshire, Scotland, was drowned in the Crow River at Allen's Mills at 8.40 p.m. on Saturday. Deceased emigrated to this coutry five years ago and since March 31st of this year had been employed by Fred Rutherford on his farm on the 11th concession of Rawdon township.

Mr. Williamson left about 6.30 p.m. to go fishing, taking a flat bottomed boat. He was seen in the boat by William Whitehead, of Toronto, a week-end camper. About five minutes before his immersion Mr. Whitehead had walked to his tent, the distance of 100 yards away, when he heard screams for help. Running back to the river he saw Williamson sinking for the last time. There was no other boat nearby to go to the man's assistance and boats a quarter mile up and down the river failed to reach the scene in time to effect a rescue. The drowning occurred about 8.40 p.m.

The body was recovered about 7.40 a.m. on Sunday from a depth of 16 feet of water after grappling operations by Mr. Whitehead and Chief Constable Bromley of Campbellford.

The fatality was reported to Provincial Constable Percy Gray of Marmora at 12.30 a.m. on Sunday morning and he proceeded to the scene to assist in the dragging of the river. Dr. Loucks of Campbellford, coroner, was notified and he decided that an inquest was unnecessary.

The remains were later taken to A. D. Bennett's undertaking parlors at Campbellford.

TOLMIE DENIES KING'S CLAIMS ON UNEMPLOYMENT

Claims British Columbia Asked Dominion Gov't to Co-operate.

PRODUCES TELEGRAM.

Premier is Backed in His Assertions By Minister of Labor.

VANCOUVER, B. C., July 14.—(C P)—British Columbia's Premier and Minister of Labor have contradicted the statement by Prime Minister Mackenzie King that no Province has asked for unemployment aid. Both Premier S. F. Tolmie of the Coast Province and Hon. W. A. MacKenzie, his Minister of Labor, Saturday night produced documents asking the Dominion to co-operate in coping with the jobless situation.

"I cannot understand Mr. King's claim that he has never had the unemployment situation brought to his attention", stated Premier Tolmie. He mentioned that the unemployment resolution of A. A. Heaps (Labor, Winnipeg North), calling for immediate Government action on unemployment, had been voted down by the Liberals "to a man", every Conservative, he said, voted for the resolution.

"Apart from the resolution of Mr. Heaps", the British Columbia Premier added, "I quote the correspondence between Mayor Ralph H. Webb of Winnipeg and myself and my telegram to Mr. King. His reply states clearly that he will take the matter under consideration".

The Telegram

Premier Tolmie stated that the following telegram had been despatched on Feb 22 to Premier King. "Understand Manitoba Government has made representations regarding unemployment situation, particularly with reference to ex-service men. Terms of such representations are before you and in them this Government earnestly joins. British Columbia's mild winter climate attracts numbers of these men who become a public charge and the situation places on municipal and provincial relief resources a most severe strain. Earnestly desire that Dominion cooperate in some way.

(Signed) "S. F. TOLMIE".

The British Columbia Premier produced a letter from Premier King's secretary acknowledging receipt of the telegram. The letter said:

"Mr. King has asked me to assure you that representations of your wire with reference to unemployment will receive every consideration.

Premier Tolmie's statements were designated as answers to charges by Hon. Ian Mackenzie Cabinet Minister in the King Government, that Premier Tolmie had never applied to Ottawa for unemployment aid.

Toronto-Winnipeg Flown in 14 Hours

TORONTO, Ont., July 14.—(C P)—For the first time in the history of Canadian aviation it is claimed, an aeroplane has flown from this city to Winnipeg, Man. in one day, instead of the customary three days.

Geoffry O'Brien, piloting a light model plane, accomplished the one day flight on Saturday. He flew the distance in 17 hours and 10 minutes although his actual flying time was only 14 hours. Stops were made enroute at Detroit, Chicago, Madison, St. Paul, Fargo and Grand Forks.

BRITISH FLYER APPEARS FROM BURMESE BUSH

Companion Abandoned Dying in Tiger Haunted Jungle.

Plane Out of Gas, Crashes.

Airman Forced to Seek Aid Alone as Comrade Weakens.

RANGOON, India, July 14 (Canadian Press). — The tiger-haunted jungles of Southern Burma have surrendered Jimmie Matthews, one of two British airmen lost for 10 days on a flight from England to Australia, but yesterday still held his companion, Eric Hook, severely injured in the crash of their airplane, and perhaps dying.

After days of wandering through dense forests and swampy, malarial valleys, Matthews yesterday reached the town of Prome, 160 miles north of Rangoon, on the left bank of the Irawadi River.

He said he had been forced to leave Hook behind. Sick and desperate Hook had urged him to go on alone, even risking the chance of leaving him to die in the jungles, and Matthews, in the hope of reaching some outpost of civilization, struggled on until he was picked up by a party of natives.

A rescue party, accompanied by a doctor, and escorted by police, was immediately sent out from Padung, near Prome, to rescue Hook, but Matthews said he had left him in a dying condition.

The two aviators left London on June 20 in the attempt to beat Bert Hinkler's record for the England-Australia flight. Without mishap they reached Akyab, Burmese city, on the swampy coast of the Bay of Bengal.

From there they took off on July 3 to fly to Rangoon, about 400 miles south-east. A few days later when they were long overdue at Rangoon, villagers of Taungup, deep in the jungle, 63 miles west of Prome, reported sighting an airplane flying low and apparently in difficulties. Searchers were sent out, but failed to locate the airmen.

Tells of Crash.

According to Matthews' story, which has reached here only fragmentarily, the airplane crashed on the eastern slopes of the Arakan Yoma Range, which stretches for 700 miles parallel to the Bay of Bengal, while they were crossing to the Valley of the Irawadi. A leak in the gasoline pipe forced them down in the jungle.

Both aviators were injured, but Hook more seriously than Matthews. The spot where they crashed was swampy and wild, and infested with beasts of prey. To the north was a region inhabited by human beings almost as savage as the beasts, for many of the hill tribes in the northern Arakan Womas are known to the Burmese as "demon worshippers."

Hook and Matthews had but a small supply of food and practically no drinking water. The streams were brackish and malarial. Always hampered by Hook's injuries, they stumbled down the steep slopes of the range, following for seven days the course of a mountain stream. Sometimes they slept in the hut of a jungle hunter, and sometimes found no better refuge than a clump of bamboos.

Many times Matthews picked up his injured comrade and carried him, but as Hook grew weaker, he gave in to Hook's request and went on alone to seek help.

JEALOUS YOUTH ADMITS POISONING EMPLOYER'S SON

LISTOWEL, Ont., July 14 (C.P.).—Robert Freeman, 39, was committed for trial and remanded to Stratford Jail Saturday after police declared he had signed a statement in which he is alleged to have confessed he attempted to poison Gordon Jackson, 17, son of his employer, through strychnine injected into chocolate.

Physicians summoned shortly after the boy became ill after eating a chocolate bar, succeeded in saving his life. They agreed that poison had caused the illness.

Jealousy of the youth's health and strength is ascribed as the motive behind the poisoning.

FERGUSON SAYS TWO PROVINCES STAND TOGETHER

Quebec Backs Ontario to Prevent Power Grab By Dominion Gov't.

REVIEWS CAMPAIGN.

Claims King Reversed Views on Trans-Canada Highway.

MORRISBURG, July 14.—(C.P.)—The two old provinces of Ontario and Quebec were standing shoulder to shoulder to prevent any encroachment by the Dominion Government upon their Provincial rights in respect of water power development on the St. Lawrence river. Hon G. Howard Ferguson, Premier of Ontario, told a large audience here Saturday night. The Premier spoke in support of A .C. Casselman, candidate in Grenville-Dundas in the forthcoming election.

His reference at Morrisburg to the St. Lawrence navigation and power development, which has been injected into the political battle as a controversial issue between himself and Mr. Mackenzie King, was brief.

Dominion Starts Fight.

Under the constitution, said Mr. Ferguson, the Provinces were entitled to their natural resources, and it was a Provincial duty to deal with property and civil rights. That duty was never contested until the present Federal Administration "began to fight about it," the Premier said. And the conflict had arisen following the spending by the province of Ontario successful enterprise the world had of upward of $300,000,000 in the most ever seen.

The Dominion government has the right "to paddle their boats on the St. Lawrence," observed Mr. Ferguson. "But they can't injure our water. And no matter how much they try it, we're not going to let them. The Federal Administration have been scheming, manoeuvering and manipulating to get control of power here and in Quebec, but the two old provinces are standing shoulder to shoulder to prevent any encroachment on their rights."

In regard to the recently published report of the conference between the Canadian section of the joint board of engineers and representatives of the Ontario Hydro-Electric Commission. The Ontario Premier charged that the Prime Minister had suppressed that report for six weeks because he had been afraid to announce his policy on the St. Lawrence waterway. Consequently for that period of time the report had been "locked in a cellar."

The whole question was too big for partisan politics, Mr. Ferguson asserted. He charged Mr. Mackenzie King with misleading the people. He had spoken of the St. Lawrence waterway for a long time, but had done nothing.

"I want the St. Lawrence developed first," asserted Mr. Ferguson. "I want the products of the Ontario farms and factories carried more cheaply to the markets of the world, and I want to see the producer given a larger share."

King Has No Plan Ready.

Mr. Mackenzie King was apparently not yet ready to tell Canada what he proposed to do in connection with the St. Lawrence.

Mr. Ferguson touched also upon the general political issues of the campaign. He charged the Federal Prime Minister with having characterized the system of Dominion contribution to old-age pensions as "a vicious principle." Mr. Mackenzie King had also turned around on the matter of the national trans-Canada highway, the Ontario Premier said. In the House of Commons he had opposed a resolution which urged the construction of such a route; but down in the Maritimes during his electioneering tour he had endorsed it.

Unemployment in Canada was grave, but the Dominion administration refused to render any assistance toward alleviating it, went on Mr. Ferguson. All that was suggested was a conference where men would sit down and talk about unemployment instead of doing something. That was the only remedy offered by the present Government. "It is the most delightful coon hunt I ever took part in," commented the Premier.

INDIAN TRADITION MAY PROVE TRUE

Outfits Prepare For Rush to Granville Lake Silver Strike.

CHURCHILL WILDS.

THE PAS, Man., July 14. — Word that important silver strike has been made at Granville Lake has revived the old Indian tradition that a large deposit of the gleaming metal lies along the waters of the mighty Churchill River, within Manitoba's boundaries. Spurred by the prospects of new finds two parties are now gathering outfits to rush into the Granville area, some 60 miles north of Pukatawagan, along the water trail.

For decades samples of native silver periodically have been brought into Pukatawagan trading post. Bush natives have carried in bits of the precious metal, but the true source of the finds has never been revealed definitely.

The latest find is said to have been made by a prospector named S. Olufson. High-grade silver was struck on a group of claims staked last year, according to these advices.

Granville Lake, goal of the silver-seekers now outfitting here, is a widening of the tumbling Churchill as it rushes on to Pukatawagan.

Lodges were present from sections of the counties of Peterborough, Hastings and Northumberland, and the attendance of the members and their friends was estimated at more than four thousand.

The town was crowded with visitors and their cars, and the streets were lined along the route of the parade. BENNETT RENEWS RELIEF PROMISES

Tory Chieftain Given Rousing Welcome in Quebec City.

"WAGES NOT CHARITY."

MONTREALL, Que., July 14 (By Thomas Green, Canadian Press Staff Correspondent. — Making his second appearance in Quebec constituencies during the present campaign, Hon. R. B. Bennett, Conservative leader, will speak at Granby this afternoon and at Sherbrooke to-night. On Saturday the Conservative Leader addressed a monster open-air meeting in Quebec City, after attending a convention at Riviere-du-Loup in the afternoon.

"For the rest of my life, I shall never forget this night," Mr. Bennett declared feelingly after he had been given a great ovation in St. Peter's Square. Going into the issues of the campaign, Mr. Bennett referred to his promise of calling Parliament at once, if elected with a majority of followers, to cope with the unemployment problem. "I have well considered proposals to submit to Parliament," he declared. "Otherwise I would not have said I would call a special session. We propose to anticipate many of the national undertakings we have to perform, in other that men may get work—not promises, wages—not charity.

Cheers Mean Victory.

Referring to the reception that had been accorded him in Quebec, Mr. Bennett said its enthusiasm had been beyond his expectations. "These cheers mean victory," he exclaimed. "From one end of Canada to the other people have gathered for meetings determined that the time had come when we must have a change of Government, and that this Government must go," said the Conservative Leader.

Mr. Bennett rested the greater part of yesterday in Montreal. On Tuesday he speaks in Three Rivers, and that meeting will mark his final appearance in Quebec during the present campaign. On Wednesday the Conservative Leader will be in Ontario speaking in Perth and Renfrew.

The many friends in Peterborough of Miss Katherine E. Wallis will read with interest the following extract from The Vancouver Sun of recent date: "An artist from Paris! And Miss Katherine E. Wallis, who is the Paris artist in Vancouver at the present time, has the added interest of being a Canadian woman. Further honors are hers, for she is the only Canadian woman to have been elected a member of the Societe National de Beaux Arts of Paris.

"A trip peculiarly colorful even in these days of interesting travel, has just been taken by Miss Wallis, and it is fortunate that she, as an artist, will be able to recapture the allurement of the scenes and people she has seen, when she returns to her studio in Paris. As she says, it is almost impossible to paint or design during the hurried movements of travel. But in her mind she has stored a wealth of material for interpretation on canvas and in marble that will some day, in all probability, add to the glory of Miss Wallis' already enviable reputation as an artist.

"Early in January Miss Wallis left her Paris studio, which, by the way, is also her home, and started on her tour. She visited great ports. She visited the Holy Land, with every spot permeated by historic and Biblical illusions; Egypt, with the picturesque tombs of ancient kings; India, with gorgeous palace of gold and white marble gleaming in the strong sunlight; China, with narrow streets and mystery lurking in every byway; Japan, with friendly people and customs of quaint Oriental charm.

"She sketched Mount Sinai, seen through the mists from the deck of her steamer; she "picked up" rare bits of craftsmanship from every land; she took the long and leisurely route of the Panama Canal to California, where she found a welcome from the people and even more material for her art in unique modern bungalow.

"And now Miss Wallis is in Vancouver. At the Leyland Art Galleries, 609 Dunsmuir street, some of her paintings and pieces of sculpture are on display. There are eastern mosque and street scenes, and there are paintings and freizes that depict Canadian winters.

"Miss Wallis, who was born in Peterborough, is thoroughly Canadian, and she is looking forward to her trip back across Canada with as much pleasure as she has already found in the rest of the world. And across the continent she has friends, and, as she has been received with kindness in other parts of the globe, it is natural to expect that her own country will give her an outstanding welcome.

"And Miss Wallis has left something of her self in practically every city she has visited. In art galleries all over the world her pictures and pieces of sculpture are on display. It was for her splendid model in wood, 'Struggle for Existence,' which shows a woman protecting her child from a wolf, that she was given the singular honor of being made a member of the Societe National."

This little capelet frock may be for playtime or for "dress-up" occasions, according to the fabric chosen for its development.

It's very French! It closes at either shoulder 'neath the perky bows.

The scallops provide effective trim. It is butter-cup yellow organdie. The scallops are accented by bias organdie in soft cocoa brown shade. The bows of taffeta ribbon match the binding.

It's very quaint and pretty in tiny checked gingham in orchid and white with scallops bound in plain orchid. The bows are ommitted and replaced with two decorative ball-shaped pearl buttons at either shoulder.

Just Between Us Women

A daily chat with Examiner neighbors conducted by Anne Wilcox

WHILE VISITING IN a local home recently, my hostess showed me some knitted rugs which were very beautiful indeed, and showed plainly how skillful were the hands which made them.

• • • • • • •

For sometime I have been trying to get directions on how to make these rugs and after having secured them, I am passing them on to you, hoping they will be of some use.

• • • • • • •

Of course before one starts to make anything, she finds out how much material she requires and so you must first know how much you require to make a knit rug.

• • • • • • •

It is, of course, impossible to make absolute calculations. Anyone who has bought stamped patterns with materials included, realizes that the amount is always more or less than is used, so in calculating for this rug, do not expect to come out just right.

• • • • • • •

But there is one thing you must try to do and that is to calculate too much material, rather than too little.

• • • • • • •

As you must know, it is often extremely hard to get a second amount to match as dyes differ slightly.

• • • • • • •

If you make your own dyes, be sure to mix more than will be needed at first. Then you will be sure of having the same color when dyeing another quantity of the same material used as first.

• • • • • • •

Cast ten stitches of the material, which you will use for the rug, onto the needles you are to use. Knit two or three rows. Ravel out one row and measure its length.

• • • • • • •

Allow as much knitting material, or medium, as it is more technically termed, for each ten stitches.

• • • • • • •

Another measurement can be well made from a small knitted portion which can be a measuring unit.

• • • • • • •

For this rug which is divided into border strips of 2½ inches in width, knit a square 2½ inches by 2½ inches. Count the number of stitches in a row and the number it takes to make a square.

• • • • • • •

Assuming that you knit evenly, or approximately evenly, each 2½ inches in the rug will require a number of rows equal to those in this measuring unit.

• • • • • • •

As different persons knit so differently, some tighter and some looser than others, no accurate measuring gauge can be given that will suit all workers alike.

• • • • • • •

There are two border strips of 2½ inches, four strips of 5 inches and one of 7½ inches. Each 5 inch strip will be twice as wide as the measuring unit and the centre strip of 7½ inches will be three times its width.

• • • • • • •

Start the rug by knitting the middle strip of 7½ inches. There must be 27½ inches between the two portions of the border at each end which protrude farthest into the center of the rug.

• • • • • • •

Knit the two strips that come next the middle strip and seam them in position row by row and the pattern will meet correctly. Knit each of the other two 5-inch rows next and seam in place, and finally knit the border strips.

• • • • • • •

Seam in position and the rug is done. If made according to measurements, the rug will be 32½ inches by 62½ inches.

• • • • • • •

If possible during the next few days, I will have the illustration of the rug given and then you will have a better idea of how to go about the knitting of the rug.

The impressive ceremony was conducted by Rev. H. J. Bell, of Trinity United Church, Hastings, before a bank of ferns and roses. The bride and groom left amid a deluge of confetti in the afternoon on a short honeymoon. The bride's going away gown was a bouquet green frock with hat to match, her coat was of navy poiret twill and her hose and shoes were blonde.

NEW POLICY OUTLINED.

MONTREAL, Que., July 14.—(C.P.)—A five year ban on all immigration and conversion of funds now used for that purpose into $100 premiums to be presented to every needy mother who brings a new Canadian citizen into the world, were planks in a platform outlined by J. A. Shinnick, Independent Conservative candidate in Laurier-Outremont, in an address here.

Robert Harstone says:

Let the Liberals nail the issue to the masthead

A National Issue

The British Preference
The Dunning Budget

MANY LEADING CONSERVATIVES are supporting The British Preference and the Dunning Budget. The policy of the Right Hon. Mackenzie King. Thousands of Conservatives will vote in favor of the British Preference and the Dunning Budget—on the 28th day of July—The British Preference is now in operation. Great Britain is selling many lines of goods in Canada which we do not make. Since the Preference, United States plants are coming over to Canada. No less than three industries moving over, one plant to Kitchener, another to Windsor and still another to the Soo—Let the City of Peterborough profit by this trade movement and support the British Preference and the Dunning Budget. Let the Hon. R. B. Bennett lead the remnant of his followers through the wilderness of gloom and despair. He has committed Political Suicide and will be called upon by the Old Conservative Party to account for his failure to lead them to the Land of Promise—The British Empire—The British Preference—The Dunning Budget.

Elinor Glyn talks to PETERBOROUGH Women about clothes, marriage and romance

(right) ELINOR GLYN famous writer on problems of romance

"It is colour that makes clothes charming, alluring, expressive of you!"

"CLOTHES, clothes, clothes! Clothes in courtship! Clothes after marriage! How steadily the note runs through all my correspondence with women," says Elinor Glyn, "and how much of a mystery clothes still seem to be!

"Yet it really shouldn't be a problem . . . when you realize why clothes are so important.

"You know that you look best in certain colours. There is the clue . . . for it is colour that makes clothes charming, alluring, expressive of you.

"So if you would be successful in romance or in married life, let me give you two rules . . .

"ONE: Wear the colours that suit you best;

"TWO: Keep those colours fresh and new and vital, just as you keep your things clean and dainty.

"The slightest loss in hue, the least deviation from the original tint, spoil the effect . . . and, of course, the charm that the gown or frock brings.

"I have found that the allure that lies in colour is protected by Lux. Repeated washings leave things colour-fresh and colour-vital . . . new-like in hue and power to charm.

And let your surroundings reflect YOU . .

"Not only in your frocks and accessories, such as gloves, scarfs and handkerchiefs, but equally important in your very surroundings, colour is vital. The curtains, draperies and slip covers of your living room form part of the magic spell. And here, too, Lux is invaluable."

If it's safe in water it's safe in LUX

TWO IDEAL CAMPS.

With the Rotary camp for boys and the Y.W.C.A. camp for girls both available the problem of a suitable holiday for Peterborough's young people would seem to be effectively solved.

Parents with boy or girls who should have the health-giving benefit of a week or two at a properly organized and properly supervised camp, where a good time is also a safe time, should not overlook the opportunities that are offered by these two splendid camp organizations who put camping at cost within reach of everyone.

Boys who wish to attend camp should get into touch with the Rotary Club, while the Y.W.C.A. will supply all the information necessary to girls who are interested in Camp Inglestane.

Few cities are so fortunate as is Peterborough in having such fine camping facilities available, and it would be a pity were the accommodation not fully utilized during the summer.

JOINT MEETINGS.

This was nomination day in a number of constituencies throughout Canada, although the official proceedings in most ridings will not be held until next Monday.

In some constituencies the nomination day joint meeting supplies the real savor of the election.

The rival candidates, usually supported by an imported speaker, clash after the nominations have been officially made, and the electors sit back and enjoy the verbal battle that ensues between the opposing factions.

As a means of working up interest in the campaign and its issues these joint meetings are decidedly more effective than the usual round of party rallies which political organizations consider an essential part of the election routine.

The party gatherings as a rule bring together only supporters of the candidate in whose behalf the meeting is being held, and as a result, while useful in stimulating party morale, they are of little moment in winning votes.

Joint meetings, on the other hand, give the candidates a chance to put their arguments before electors whose support usually goes the other way; at the same time, they impart a color to the campaign that cannot be obtained in any other way.

THE DUST NUISANCE.

Complaints are general in regard to the dusty condition of the greater part of the Peterborough-Lindsay highway.

With the heavy traffic on this road as a result of the Orange celebration in Lindsay on Saturday, it is said that the air was so filled with clouds of dust that it was difficult to distinguish cars a few feet ahead, and the atmosphere was so thick that cautious motorists turned on their lights.

The dust nuisance is not only a source of discomfort to the travelling public, but when it becomes so bad as it was on Saturday the conditions are not only annoying but positively dangerous; in fact, many drivers report that visibility was as bad as it would have been in a heavy mist.

These conditions are called to the attention of the authorities who in the interest of our own motorists and of the thousands of tourists who drive over this highway should take steps to mitigate the evils of the dust problem.

Improvements to the Lindsay-Peterborough highway are largely discounted by the present conditions in the opinion of many local drivers.

Our road system is costing enough to justify a demand that motorists should not be smothered in dust or forced to drive almost blindly.

TWO IMPORTANT DUTIES.

Two weeks from to-day the electors of this riding will be called upon to say by their ballots what government they desire to control the affairs of the country for the next four or five years and what policies they desire that government to pursue.

This important responsibility which they share with their fellow-electors throughout the Dominion of Canada is not a light one, but it should be cheerfully assumed by every person who claims to be a good citizen of this country.

It is the duty of every elector to vote; furthermore, it is the duty of every elector to inform himself as fully as possible upon the issues that are at stake so that his vote may be intelligently registered.

With the newspapers giving ample reports of all the important speeches and the outstanding addresses of party leaders being carried into Canadian homes through the instrumentality of the radio, there is no reason, except utter indifference, why the verdict to be given two weeks from to-day should not be the verdict of an enlightened electorate, more alive as to what is at stake in the present election than at any time in the country's history.

The facilities for learning about the issues are available, and for the balance of the campaign electors should resolve two things: first, to lose no opportunity of hearing and reading expositions of the policies and platforms of the parties, and, second, to use their franchise on July 28.

TORONTO EDITORS AND COWS.

Elections are funny affairs in spots, and it is well to be able to sit back and laugh out loud at times at some of the things that are printed. It helps to keep a person on speaking terms with a neighbor who does not agree with him politically.

Just now the Toronto Star and the Mail and Empire are having quite a battle over the number of milch cows there are in Canada. The Mail is a good Tory paper, and it was pointing out that there was a falling off in the number of these milch cows. It has scampered around the country, made its count and announced that there were 140,000 less of these milkers than in 1925.

When the Star, which is just now a very Liberal paper, took to counting the cows, and according to its method of reckoning, the shortage was not 140,000 at all. The Star, after counting horns and tails, could find that there were only 51,898 cows less than in 1925, so it accuses the Mail and Empire of trying to knock off some 88,000 of our contented cows.

These Toronto papers, writing about cows, make us grin hard. What do they know about cows anyhow? We bet they never see one from one week's end to another. Those editors just get a lot of books and start at the front of the index—A-B-C, and then they find it—C-O-W—and proceed to use a stubby lead pencil and the back of an envelope to tell the people of the country what they know about milch cows. They are utterly and entirely dependent on what some other person tells them.

Not one of those cow-statistic editors in Toronto would know how to take a three-legged stool and pull along the port side of a cow and then proceed to yank away at the handles on the animal in order to make the milk come. They wouldn't know how to take the cow's tail in fly-weather and tie the thing around the hind leg until the milking was over.

Yet around election times they hasten forth as experts about milch cows in Canada. Tush and nonsense! They wouldn't know whether to feed a cow on alfalfa and oil cakes or give it animal biscuits for its supper and ham and eggs at breakfast time.—Stratford Beacon-Herald.

UNDUE "WITHHOLDING."

We have before written of the psychology of the industrial pessimist, and now return to the theme, being convinced that it is a doctrine which has need of being preached in these days of depression. Parsimony is not the panacea for prevailing economic ailments. It is, also, not only futile but cruel to urge the public, suffering from a condition over which it has no control, to buy, buy, buy. The wherewithal to do so must first be provided. It is for those who are in a position to supply employment opportunities to come to the rescue. The breadwinner can be depended upon to spend what he earns and to do his full part in keeping the wheels of industry going. The responsibility for bringing about an improvement in conditions rests on other shoulders than his. What an inspiration it would be if, in times like these, large corporations go to work on their development programs, instead of postponing them to more prosperous times, when employment is not so urgent a requirement. "There is that scattereth, and yet increaseth; and there is that withholdeth more than is meet, but is tendeth to poverty." The Book of Wisdom showed the way millenniums ago to deal with periods of slackness such as that through which we are passing.

"Withholding more than is meet" is responsible for much that is deplorable in social and economic conditions in the world to-day. When hard times threaten, they seem to provoke a conspiracy among employers, private and public, to stay their hands and draw in the purse-strings. It is, perhaps, natural enough, but that does not make the results of their "withholding" any the easier to bear. A little more of the "scattering which increaseth"—especially on the part of the "big fellows"—would be welcome. No more opportune time will ever be found than the present of undertaking essential works of betterment which, in the course of time, will have to be completed. It is the part of business prudence, as well as of common humanity, to get busy on such operations without delay.—Hamilton Spectator.

"CAVEAT EMPTOR."

More care, and a better sense of individual responsibility is needed.

There could be no better indicator of the evil of present practice in the marketing of strawberries than the present price range for this commodity. In both Montreal and Toronto, the key price centres in the market, the range is the widest which has been known for years: pints from 8c to 25c and quarts from 15c to 45c. And to officials of the Fruit Branch of the Dominion Department of Agriculture there appears to be a reason for the situation. That is carelessness in picking and packing, and in many cases a disregard for the evident indifferent qualities of the fruit.

The situation is one which suggests the historic symbol of mediaeval times, "caveat emptor"—let the buyer beware; for she has to when buying strawberries this year. There is one advantage in the situation to the efficient progressive grower—his well picked, carefully packed, high quality fancy stuff gets a premium which makes it well worth while for him to continue in the business. But the big complaint of the market this year is the evident carelessness and indifference on the part of a large proportion of the small growers supplying local markets.

Some very attractive boxed berries have been shown on the market. Then there have been good lots of ripe, attractive fruit which indicate that little care has been taken in the picking. Still other lots, unfortunately far too many of them, which have berries of poor quality and which show plainly that no attention whatever has been paid to packing—boxes are not filled, and long stems and green berries are included.

This situation is particularly surprising when it is considered that it takes little extra care to pack a high quality product, which gives much better financial returns for the same expenditure of time and effort.

This situation applies to the eastern market generally; in the western market, getting its supplies almost entirely from the British Columbia growers, care in packing a fruit of uniform quality and excellence has maintained prices at a fairly uniform level consistent with a high quality pack. The B. C. grower, of course, has to ship his product considerable distances by rail and naturally he doesn't want to pay on stems, empty basket space and poor quality or green fruit.

The opportunities of the big eastern market will be realized by the local grower only in proportion to the extent to which he raises and maintains the quality of his fruit and pack. The public can and will do without the inferior product, while they will pay a premium for a quality product which they can buy with confidence. —St. Catharines Standard.

EDITORIAL NOTES AND COMMENT.

Peterborough children were listed high in the international beauty contest. You just can't keep this city down in any kind of a competition.

With both sides concentrating their attention on Ontario for the balance of the campaign, interest in the political battle should be materially quickened during the next two weeks.

The Examiner's best fish competition should give local anglers a fresh incentive to go after the big fellows.

The polls in Essex East are to remain open an hour later than elsewhere on election night in order to give Canadians working in Detroit a chance to vote. That is the first intimation for some time that there is anybody working in Detroit.

TOWN OF COBOURG HAS FILED APPEAL

Protests Against Report of County Valuators on Increased Assessment.

COBOURG, July 14—The Corporation of Cobourg has filed an appeal against the assessment increases of the County Valuators, and it is understood that the other towns and villages in Northumberland and Durham are also appealing. If the new valuation should become effective in Cobourg in 1931, the town would have to pay the counties $30,000 in place of $20,000 annually, which will mean an increase of 4 mills.

At a recent meeting of representatives of the town and villages it was decided to appeal against such increases. The meeting was held here on Thursday, July 3rd, and was presided over by Mayor Willmott as chairman. It was fully representative of all the urban municipalities.

A Thought

INDOLENCE

The only cure for indolence is work; the only cure for selfishness is sacrifice; the only cure for unbelief is to shake off the ague of doubt by doing Christ's bidding; the only cure for timidity is to plunge into some dreadful duty before the chill comes on.—Rutherford.

What To-day Means To You.

If July 14 is your birthday, the best hours for you on this date are from 8:40 a.m. to 10 a.m., 2 p.m. to 3:45 p.m., and 8 p.m. to 9 p.m. The danger periods are from noon to 1:30 p.m. and 10:30 p.m. to midnight.

A feast for the intellectual is predicted for this date, and a gala time for pleasure seekers—astrological conditions favor both. Research workers may begin to see the "light of day," and will renew hopes and efforts.

The child born on this July 14 should pass a high efficiency and mentality test. It will be personally extravagant, and will cry for the best of everything. It will have definite literary tastes and it will not go through life without trying its hand at writing.

You play upon the harp of life as nearly as possible according to the laws of equity and justice, and as a result, your life is a harmonious and beautiful thing. There is no cheating or chicanery is your scheme of living—you believe in the principle of the "square deal." You prove beyond a doubt, that it is the person of probity and honesty who wins in the long run. Every one trusts you—your honesty of purpose and integrity of character are of greater value than mere brilliance. You let who may be clever, and plod along in your simple straight-forward way. You will never stoop to your successes—you do no double dealing.

You are never perplexed and worried as to which course to pursue, as you live your life to a principle. You sometimes think that your efforts to do right are so little appreciated, and the rewards so slight, that it does not pay, but you are so constituted that you cannot change.

Your disposition is gentle, sociable and affectionate, charitable and humanitarian. You are not in the least sanctimonious, and you neither try to teach or preach. You believe in individual freedom and individual salvation and damnation. You strictly mind your own business.

THE GRINGO PRIVATEER

CHAPTER 14.

"You been here listening to our conversation?" her father demanded.

"Of course I have. It's dull around here, I tell you, and I like to listen to that man talk. He certainly had something to say to you. I loved that dig he gave you about a son-in-law!"

"Why, you don't suppose he meant anything, do you, Muriel?"

"You never can tell what brave thoughts a man like that has in his funny mind." And again the girl laughed teasingly.

"Well, I don't know much about him," the kind admitted, "but as a son-in-law I'd take him on suspicion in contrast with that ukelele-playing wise-cracking lot of gilded nincompoops in your social set. There isn't one of them with sense enough to—to—tail a calf."

"It has not been at all unusual for Mr. Graydon to be invited here for dinner, Pop," Muriel reminded him. "Are you going to make a social outcast of your new general manager?"

"Art Graydon is a married man and an old, valued and trusted employee for whom I have a certain affection. I wouldn't high-hat him for a train-load of fat steers. But I cannot say that for Burney. Perhaps, when he has been in my service as long as Graydon has and has——"

"Gotten married," she prompted, "you'll invite him to dinner."

"That's the milk in the coconut, my dear."

"Oh, it is, is it? Now, look here, old settler. Who is the general manager of the social department of the Bardin family?"

"Why—why, you are, I guess. Since your mother passed away——"

"Mother always accompanied you to El Ranchito and she always invited Mr. and Mrs. Graydon to dinner. You never invited him up in your life."

"But the invitation always came with better grace from your mother."

"It will come with equal grace from me now. You'll have to have the Graydons up for dinner before they leave El Ranchito, will you not?"

"Of course. Only courtesy to do so."

"It would be an equal courtesy to invite the new general manager also. You can't leave him sitting there in the office or eating alone at the Graydon table. That would be grave discourtesy."

"You're developing too much interest in this young man, Muriel."

"Well, I'll not have you butting in on the rights of the general manager of your social department, Brad Bardin, because the day you do, any excuse for my further existence as the Bardin hostess will vanish and I'll be headed down the aisle with one of those ukelele-playing, wise-cracking, gilded young nincompoops in my social set."

"This," said the king, "is treason."

"If this be treason, make the most of it," she challenged. "You've introduced me to the realest man I've ever met and now you plan to keep me away from him. Haven't I any rights?"

"This is all wrong," the king blustered. "If you please, Muriel, we'll not discuss the subject further. You may invite him if you please. I shall offer no objection and shall make him welcome. But I warn you he will not accept the invitation."

"Why?"

"Because he's as wise as a treeful of owls and knows his place. He knows I'd fire him him if he accepted. It would be presuming on brief acquaintance."

"I've met him—and when I invite him he'll come. Of course, as a mere rider he'd mount that fast horse of his and get out of the country before presuming so on brief acquaintance, but as your general manager he'll feel he's stepped up a bit in the social world."

"I'm afraid you're right," said the king. "Muriel, you're interested in this boy?"

"Are you?"

"Certainly."

"Well?"

"If you're not seriously interested, of course——"

"I am seriously interested—sufficiently so, at any rate, to do my best to prevent him from soiling his rather nice hands in human blood."

"I'm all worn out," the king growled, and immediately rose and went to bed. In the realization that his daughter had eavesdropped on him he was profoundly irritated and disturbed. In a word, he felt like a dog caught sucking eggs.

El Ranchito had its own lighting system and a 110-candle-power light burned over the entrance to the ranch office. Ken Burney searched through desks until he found a package of thumb tacks, whereupon he went outside and posted on the bulletin board the formal notice of his appointment as general manager. After which, he retired to Art Graydon's private office, sat down on the cot prepared there and drew off his boots. For a long time he sat there, considering the various aspects of the abrupt about-face which life had executed for him within the past four days, when there came a peremptory knock at the outer entrance. Ken padded across in his bare feet and found Tom Bledsoe standing in the entrance.

"Come in, Mr. Beldsoe," he invited the riding boss cheerfully. "I've been anticipating a visit from you, but not quite so soon. I figured we'd have a conference in the morning, but since it's the mere shank of the evening now we'll fly at it."

Bledsoe came in and sat down on Graydon's desk. "I was settin' in front o' the bunkhouse, Mr. Burney, when I saw thee come into the office; then I saw thee come out an' tack somethin' on the bulletin board, so I drifted over to read what thee had tacked there. Then I made up my mind to call."

"And present to me your resignation as riding boss, eh?"

"Thee gets me mighty quick," Tom Bledsoe answered.

"And I dispose of your resignation just as quickly, Bledsoe. It's rejected. You're too good a man to leave the king's service and too old a man to go prowling around the sovereign state of New Mexico looking for another job. I doubt if you would find one as good as the one you wish to resign, and certainly you'll not find one with any decent future to it. So my orders to you are to withhold your resignation for about sixty days. By that time I will have completed my tour of service as general manager and you can come over and tack a notice of your own on that bulletin board. However, I believe in liberty, and if you insist on resigning, I suppose I'll have to get a new riding boss, but I warn you that, once you're out, you'll stay out."

Tom Bledsoe's dour face commenced to slip. Slowly a glad smile lighted it. "Thee means that, Mr. Burney?"

"Certainly. Haven't you known the king long enough to know that he never explains. He acts. And haven't you known him long enough to know he's just? He knows you're capable and that, by reason of long and faithful service, you have earned promotion. You are going to get it. He told me so to-night. I'm just here to plant Martin Bruce and Miguel Gallegos beneath the cactus and grama grass, and as soon as that job is done I'll be on my way, although I must inform you, Brother Bledsoe, that if I desire to do so I can remain indefinitely, and you'll be moved off to manage some small ranch of the king's."

"I want no small job an' I want no charity, Mr. Burney."

"I understand. You want your rights and you figure El Ranchito part of them. At present, however, cleaning up El Ranchito so it will be on the paying basis it should be is a job that would be repugnant to you, and the king knows it. So I'm to clean it up for you and after that it will run along under your management like a new red buggy."

Tom Bledsoe held out his hand. "I'm obliged to thee, young man."

"Not at all."

"Perhaps thee might help on this cleaning job, Mr. Burney?"

"Yes, I'll require some help. I'll want about thirty good men who can shoot and aren't afraid to. They may have to do battle down in El Cajon Bonita, although I shall try to avoid that. However, I shall have to make a demonstration."

The Quaker's face had set again. "I will find thee such men, Mr. Burney, an' I will go with thee—for war or demonstration. It is not sinful to protect that which is thine."

Burney stared at the man. "Whose bread I eat his song I sing, eh?"

Tom Bledsoe nodded. He was of the old school of cowmen. His employer's joys, sorrows and perplexities were his, too.

"Ever itch to ride down into El Cajon Bonita and clean out this Bruce-Gallegos faction, Mr. Bledsoe?"

"I tell thee this. It would have been my first act as general manager."

"How fortunate you and I have so quickly gotten to an understanding, Mr. Bledsoe."

"The general manager calls me Tom, Mr. Burney."

"Tom goes with me. Where can you find me thirty good men and true?"

"They will be thine own men, Mr. Burney. Old hands."

"I understand Gallegos has not, as yet, done anything openly overt; that he merely looks dangerous. Do you know that he and his men brand our calves?"

"Yes."

"How do you know?"

"I can't prove it, but I find calves on that range with the ends of their tongues slit an' wearin' the Triangle B brand."

EMBARRASSING MOMENTS

CATTLE, GRAIN AND PRODUCE

WINNIPEG GRAIN.

WINNIPEG, July 14. — Wheat closed with gains of ⅞c to ⅝c on the Winnipeg Grain Exchange on Saturday on late reports that moisture is badly needed in Saskatchewan and Alberta. The upturn, coming at mid-session, when the weather map showed Friday's rainfall practically restricted to Manitoba, followed a sharp decline which carried July down to 92¼c, the lowest point touched in 16 years. Copious rainfall in Nebraska caused the early drop.

Demand for cash wheat continued indifferent, and with exception of added cars traded at unchanged prices, no important business was transacted. Trading in coarse grains was also dull and prices generally followed the lead of wheat.

CHICAGO GRAIN.

CHICAGO, July 14.— With Liverpool quotations on wheat offering an export outlet at only about 80c a bushel in the United States and Canada, wheat values collapsed Saturday to new bottom levels. Forecasts of a general break in the hot wave that has been damaging spring wheat both south and north of the Canadian boundary was a notable factor contributing to lower prices, and so likewise were reports of beneficial scattered rains. On the other hand, assertions that crops over a wide area of Saskatchewan Province, Canada, have been damaged beyond help, did much to rally the market.

Wheat prices were closed, 3-8c, a bushel higher. Corn closed 1 1-8c to 1 3-8c down, oats unchanged to 1-4c off, and provisions varying from 17c decline to a rise of 2c.

MONTREAL PRODUCE

MONTREAL, July 14.—An advance of 1c per pound in the wholesale price of butter featured the Montreal dairy and produce markets last week. At the close Eastern Townships' No. 1 pasteurized creamery butter was 27¾c per pound. To the retail trade prices were 29c for solids and 30c for prints. Receipts for the week were, 19,721 boxes.

The cheese market was a little firmer last week, closing at 15¼c for Ontario, and 15½c for Quebec cheese. Exports from Montreal to Europe showed a big gain, totalling 41,703 boxes, compared with 16,434 during the previous week. The week's receipts were 44,098 boxes.

New potatoes were cheaper, but old potatoes were dearer last week. Closing prices were $5.50 per 160-lb. barrel for No. 1 imported new potatoes; $2.25 per 80-lb. bag of new local potatoes, and $2 per 90 lbs., in bulk, for old potatoes.

Memoirs of the 12th

On July 12, 1874—fifty-six years ago—three people played fifes together in front of the Hotel British, Cobourg, to celebrate the Glorious Twelfth.

These people were the late William Hedger, the late T. N. Dingman and a young lad of 13, whose name was Hardinge. Mr. Hedger had the fife brought from the Old Land and played by him before coming to Canada. This fife was loaned by the Hedger family to Hardinge to play at Colborne this year.

There were great drummers in those days and they came by steamboat, over the old iron rails and wood-burning locomotives on the G.T.R. and also by teams, wagons and old buggies. The Hedger fife has now been in use more than two generations.

Comment on the morning stock market over Bigga. and Crawford wire.

Trading on Toronto until this morning did not share the bullish enthusiasm which was prevalent in New York although there was a distinctly firm tone. The leading issues including Int. Nickel, Brazilian and Ford moved fractionally higher while Walkers' was in demand at $9, the highest bid for some weeks.

Saturday's gains in New York on moderate turnover carried the averages into new high ground on the current recovery. Ability of original issues of resistance on the upside caused greater confidence, and buying orders accumulated over the week-end. New highs on the present movement were seen in early dealings in U. S. Steel, American Can, and Westinghouse and the general list of stocks displayed a strong tone.

SECOND MAN INJURED.

ST. CATHARINES, Ont., July 14 (Canadian Press). — Struck in rapid succession by two cars while waiting at a corner for a bus, Nicholas Crauchoe of Winona was fatally injured last night, dying in the General Hospital here early this morning.

Crauchoe and Andrew Noradski, of Beamsville, were struck by a car thought to have been driven by a Buffalo woman.

Noradski was thrown into the ditch while Crauchoe was hurled across the road where his prostrate form was almost immediately struck by a car driven by Charles J. Lawler of Ingersoll, proceeding in the opposite direction. The second impact threw him 27 feet further down the road. The first car had barely been brought to a stop when the second car hit him.

HOT, DRY WEATHER IS RUINING CROPS

Deplorable Conditions Reported To-day Prevailing in Parts of Saskatchewan.

CHICAGO, Ills., July 14.—(C.P.)— Reports from Canada swayed the grain market here to-day.

Deplorable crop conditions were reported to-day as especially prevailing in Saskatchewan throughout a stretch of 300 miles between Moose Jaw and Swift Current. In this connection, fears were expressed that Saskatchewan taken as a whole will not equal last year's production. Adding momentum to the consequent upward swing of wheat prices here were assertions that export business in North American wheat is of much larger volume than acknowledged.

In some patches of the damaged wheat teritory in Saskatchewan, rains could yet help a little, but elsewhere the condition of fields is described as hopeless. Prolonged hot, dry weather responsible for the injury done was reported to-day as continuing.

CHEERFUL OUTLOOK NOTICED IN OPENING SESSION OF THE WEEK ON NEW YORK EXCHANGE

Traders Take Bull Position in Stocks in Anticipation of Autumn Upturns.

SOME PROFIT-TAKING.

Trade Reports Fail to Provide Any Definite Clues to Business Trend.

New York, July 14. (C.P.) — Professional attacks appeared to be toying more seriously with the idea of upturn in business by taking a bull position in stocks to-day, giving the new week in the market a cheerful aspect in sharp contrast to the blue Monday of a week ago. Efforts to bid up prices were hampered by profit taking by cautious traders who bought around the bottom of the recent decline, but selling was absorbed in good style, and the list as a whole made fair progress. The business and trade reports of the week-end provided few if any definite clues to the business trend, but last week's rally, resulting from a patently oversold position, aparently provided adequate encouragement.

MORE

Commission house advices were more bullish than for many weeks, but market letter writers were inclined to cover their tracks with qualifications, a few well-known bull operators were said definitely to be in the swim again.

Traders are still inclined to look for guidance to the commodity markets, and renewed bullishness seems to be predicted on the theory that commodities are at least scraping bottom. Wheat began the week firmly, which was encouraging.

The new week began with credit again plentiful; which was reassuring, indicating that Friday's ease was not merely in reflection of the placing of funds for the week-end. Call loans renewed at 2½, but later the rate was reduced to 2.

Among the high priced and more volatile issues, case, Columbian Carbon, American Tobacco, Allied Chemical, Worthington Pump, and Atchison gained 4 to 8 points or more. Active pool favorites appeared to be Radio Keith and Vanadium, which rose about 3 and 4 points.

ACME SHOWS GAIN AT THE NOON HOUR

Light Trading and Confined Prize Action Again Feature on Standard.

TORONTO, Ont., July 14. (C.P.)— Light trading and confined price action were again in evidence on the mining market with the opening of the week to-day. A few specialties received the bulk of attention, their action indicating a renewal of the professional interest noticeable early in the month.

Oriole opened higher and at noon was selling at 35; 4 above Saturday's close.

Waite-Ackerman was a firm member of the board; the accumulation in evidence about the middle of last week being renewed. The price moved up a quarter to $2 under comparatively light turnover. Nickel gained a half to $24.75, but Noranda held unchanged. Golds were in the discard.

Acme Gas saw relatively heavy trading and managed to advance 3 to 41 at noon. Ajax oil was slightly stronger, but Nordon and Chemical Research both sustained small recessions, the former dropping to $1.05 and the latter to $5.35. East Crest was off 3 to 20.

Lying Near Death

Hovering near death in a hospital at Paterson, Roderic Meakle (above), son of a Paterson banker, faces indictment on a murder charge in connection with the death of Jenny Brauer, his German immigrant sweetheart, in a suicide pact. Meakle, shot through the head with a bullet from the same gun that brought death to the girl, was found wandering in the woods.

FOREIGN EXCHANGE.

NEW YORK, N.Y., July 14.—(C.P.) —Prime mercantile paper 3 to 3¼ per cent.

Foreign exchange steady. Demand rates, (Great Britain in dollars, others in cents): Great Britain 4.86¼; France 3.93½; Italy 5.23½; Germany 23.83½. Canadian Dollar 3-64 of one per cent. premium.

NO IMPROVEMENT IN MINE SHARES

General Participation Continues Light in Opening Session of Present Week.

TORONTO, July 14. (Special to Examiner.)—No improvement in the rate of turnover was noticeable on the morning market at the opening of the week today, a few shareholders still drawing what scattered attention the board did receive. General participation continues light practically all activity being traceable to professional interest.

Oriole and its movements are still very much to the front, the recent recovery indicating a renewal of the support which carried the stock into such high territory a short time ago. The lack of definite information as to when the exchange of Oriole for Elstone Kirkland shares on the one for three basis will take place is hampering trading by holders of the latter company who might wish to dispose of their Oriole at present prices. Officials state the exchange may take place within the next ten days or two weeks.

Silver Faction

While world factors have undoubtedly had an aggravating effect on the general situation surrounding, the low price of silver those in close touch with conditions are placing the onus on by-product production of the metal. It is pointed out that International Nickel as one producer of base metals, will secure in the neighborhood of 20,000 ounces of silver a day when production from the frood is in full swing, and Noranda, at the present time is producing between 4,000 and 5,000 ounces. The same conditions exist all over the world as a result of the introduction of the flotation process of treating base metal ores with its higher recovery of precious metals.

Efforts are being made by producers to consolidate their interests in research work towards building up a larger consumption of the metal. It is felt the big need is an alloy of silver and some other metal, possibly chromium which would reduce tarnishing of the white metal, and would permit its utilization more extensively in table and other ware. Demand for silverware has decreased considerably of late years following introduction of other kinds of plate not so readily affected by oxidation.

NAVAL BILL IS BEFORE THE HOUSE OF COMMONS

LONDON, England, July 14 (Canadian Press). — Right Hon. A. V. Alexander, First Lord of the Admiralty, to-day presented a Bill giving effect to the London Naval Treaty so far as Great Britain is concerned for approval of the House of Commons.

The Bill was formally read for the first time and there was no discussion.

The measure is to enable effect to be given to "a treaty signed in London on behalf of His Majesty and certain other Powers and to be the repeal of Section 4 of the Treaties of Washington Act of 1922."

NEW REFINING PROCESS TO DOUBLE PRODUCTION

NEW YORK, N.Y., July 14 (C.P.)— The Standard Oil Company of New Jersey announced to-day organization of a company under which a new refining process is made available to 17 oil companies. The announcement describes the process as capable of doubling production.

The new company, called the Hydro Patents Company, controls use within the United States of the new process which was developed by the Standard of New Jersey and the German I. G. Farben Industry. All the stock of the Hydro Patents Company will be held by companies using the process in the ratio of their crude oil running capacities.

TWO OTTAWA LADS DROWN PLAYING ON BOOM OF LOGS

OTTAWA, On., July 14 (Canadian Press).— Slipping from a long boom, upon which they were playing, two young local boys were drowned on Saturday in the swift waters of the Ottawa River. They are George Nadon, 8, and George Meldrum, 10.

The boys were playing in the early evening on a boom of logs. They walked out about 200 feet from the shore. In some fashion, a log upon which they were standing became detached from the boom. Unable to keep their footing on the rolling log, the boys fell into the water. Neither could swim beyond a few strokes. The bodies were recovered.

District Representative of BICKLE, CLARKE & CO., LTD.

INVESTMENT SECURITIES

ARTICLE LXIX.

Q.—(a) What is the general desirability of Public Sales?

A.—Public sale of securities is as a rule, undesirable. There are cases where it might be successful with small municipal isues. Isolated villages that are beyond the reach of investment bankers could market a few bonds with interested local clients. But where the issue is of a fair size it is much more successful to have them underwritten. In the case of corporation securities, it would be folly to do otherwise. Bond houses may offer slightly lower prices to the municipality or company being underwritten and ask slightly higher prices from the investor, but the risk involved in selling is eliminated and the market is protected. The money is advanced to the municipality or company without delay. If the Public Sales method is not successful, the money is not advanced, the securities fall back on the issuer's hands, the price drops, the investors lose and the whole affair is unsuccessful and stamps the issuers with a bad name. The investment banker by means of his selling forces, the legal and financial counsel, advertising facilities and good standing could dispose of the issue more satisfactorily to all concerned.

(b) What are the functions of the investment banker and how does he serve the public?

A.—Some of the functions of the Investment Banker have been mentioned above in connection with underwriting syndicates. They may be tabulated as follows:

1. Provide cash in large amounts.
2. Provide facilities for the distribution of securities.
3. Provide a safe medium for investment.
4. They first investigate the financial standing of the company and give the public the best legal and financial advice regarding issues.
5. They protect the after market and provide a market for the sale of securities.
6. They assume the risk of selling the issues and often assume a loss when the issue is unsuccessful.
7. In case of default they protect the interests of the security holders and take responsibility of legal proceedings.
8. They do their utmost to protect and safeguard the principal for investors and at the same time secure for them a good yield.

When an investor has made a connection with a good investment banker he can't help but realize the importance of this service.

MARKET SIDELIGHTS.

Improvement at the end on last week continued at the opening of the stock exchanges to-day and prices throughout the list were above the level at the close of Saturday. Wall Street experienced increased activity in the forenoon session but the local market failed to meet with any response on part of the public. The greater activity in New York is due to speculation operations while trading on the Toronto Stock Exchange, is mostly of an investigator with investors paying cash for what they pick up and diversifying their purchases over a half dozen of the better class stocks. The small trader that went to make up the vast throng in the rising market ,to-day is buying only a few shares for cash instead of taking on large committments on margin and transactions of five and ten shares are almost as numerous to-day as were sales of twenty-five and fifty shares a year ago. This naturally means a reduction in total volume but is an improvement over the old days when traders were speculating to the limit of their resources, having nothing in reserve to withstand reactions and forced to liquidate against their wishes. This demand for securities in small quantities is keeping the Toronto board on an even keel and guarding against speculative excess and weekly held holdings that would only be thrown overboard at the first sign of trouble. Laura Secords candy shop sales for the first nine months of the fiscal year to June 30, 1930, show but slight decrease from the corresponding months of 1919.

By far the best period in this company's history. Total sales for the nine months are officially reported at $1,662,701 contrasted with $1,727,438 in the previous year. A drop of $64.737 or less than 4 per cent in the month of June sales were valued at $312.581 down $30,458 from $163,038 in June 1929. Laura Secord candy shops will end their year on September 30 next and present indications are that the company will enjoy the second best year on record with profit almost equal to that of 1928-1929. Since the close of the fiscal period the outstanding preferred issue has practically all been retired, only a few shares are now remaining in the hands of the public. The senior issue is convertible into three shares of common and as the dividend on the ordinary stock was increased to $3 annually some time ago preferred shareholders have made the exchange thereby receiving disbursements of $9 a share against the fixed rate of $7 on the preferred. The retirement of the preferred stock means that most all earnings for the 1929: 1930 period will be available for common dividends as the company has no funded indebtedness. Only a few thousand dollars will be required to meet the dividends on the small number of preferred shares outstanding.

LIGHT GAINS AT TORONTO

Stocks Remain Firm With Little Interest Shown By Speculators.

LIGHT TURNOVER.

TORONTO, Ont., July 14. (C.P.)— Stocks were firm in dealings on Toronto Stock Exchange this morning, but there was no revival of interest to inaugurate the new week. The turnover occurred mostly in half a dozen issues, the remainder of the long list failing to be called for trading or else having but one or two transactions.

The recognized leaders either held their own or added a small fraction to their finals of last week. Brazilian, Nickel were each up approximately ¼ point. Consolidated Smelters gained a couple of points, Bell Telephone was firm and unchanged, C.P.R. held up well. Massey-Harris sold at 26, Westons at 33¼. The oils were quiet, B.A. oil; Imperial and Supertest unchanged to ¼ point higher; International Petroleum some easier.

Walkers was firm at 9; where it also sold last Saturday.

In the short time during which play was possible England raised their first innings total from the 212 runs for five wickets, at which it stood on Saturday, to 242, without losing a batsman. Australia's first innings total was 566. Play was not possible to-day till 5.30 p.m., and was stopped by gathering darkness before the regular closing hour of 6.30 p.m. Wally Hammond and George Duckworth continued the English innings. Play will be resumed to-morrow—the last day of the match.

Another Conservative Urges the Re-election of The King Government

Another Toronto Conservative has announced publicly his intention of voting for the Dunning Budget and the re-election of the Liberal Government.

Henry O'Brien, K.C., prominent for years both as a barrister and as a layman of the Anglican Church in a letter to The Toronto Globe of Saturday, July 12, which must have a powerful effect upon the opinions of the electorate of this province, proclaims that he cannot support the Hon. R. B. Bennett, but on the other hand will cast his first Liberal vote.

Mr. O'Brien's letter deserves the thoughtful consideration of every citizen, and especially of those Conservatives who realize that the Hon. R. B. Bennett has utterly failed his party on the issue of expanding and stregthening trade within the Empire as set forth in the Dunning Budget.

Mr. O'Brien's letter follows:

To the Editor of The Globe: As a native-born Canadian the son of a sailor and soldier in the British Army and Navy; also as one of the founders and on the directorate of the Mail newspaper company; also as consistent Conservative in politics all my life and occupying an honored and responsible position as such in this city I protest against the stand taken by Mr. Bennett as the so-called Leader of the Conservative Party in Canada.

That party will, I hope and believe, after July 28, be a party that puts Empire first; and Canada, and all the British Commonwealths as component parts of such Empire and loyal supporters of that great nation and company of nations known as the British Empire; its present ruler and King being George V. of Windsor. Long live our King and all who shall hereafter sit on the Throne he now worthily occupies.

We neither brag nor boast, but what we won, as a necessity of our existence, the freedom of the seas, the same we shall, God helping us, hold for our own protection and the good of the rest of the world.

It is unnecessary to go into the details so fully set forth by the present trade expert and exponent of the King Government policy—all honor to Mr. Dunning and those who follow his lead! Amendments of detail may be necessary, but all should be on hand to help and not to hinder.

Party politics have no place in this discussion.

Thanks are due to all who loyally help Canada and the Empire.

As an old Tory I want to give thanks to the proprietors and editors of The Globe, a newspaper that once never entered my door, but is now choice reading, and a most helpful illuminator of things worth while.

Colonel MacKendrick and Mr. Burnham are both Conservatives, but, like myself on this occasion vote with the King Government, because the latter are the promoters of a policy strongly favorable to Empire solidarity.

An increased majority for the Government is simply an evidence of increasing belief in the benefits of increased intra-Empire trading. H. O'Brien.
Toronto, July 11.

Referring editorially to Mr. O'Brien's letter, the Globe says: "To numerous residents of Toronto the letter of Mr. Henry O'Brien, K.C., will come both as a shock and an inspiration. It is not only years but decades since this outstanding figure in the Toronto legal profession became recognized far and wide as all that was typical of a venerable Christian gentleman.

For such a man to separate himself from his party, even for one election, would be well-nigh unthinkable were it not for the idisputable fact that the present Conservative leaders have separated that party from the rock upon which it was built—loyalty to the British Empire in works as well as words.

Men like Carrick, MacKendrick, Burnham and O'Brien, and the host of others who have made their resolve in silence to stand for Empire trade, were reared in the days when Conservatism was a real power in Federal politics. They cannot but contrast the leadership of Sir John A. Macdonald, in matters of Empire unity and trade, with that of Mr. Bennett, at the present crucial point in Empire affairs.

It is not surprising that indications grow from day to day that the Conservatives who are loyal to the traditions of Macdonald will refuse to submit passively to misrepresentation by Mr. Bennett.

The Globe has increasing reason to believe that leaders of Canadian political parties will learn in this election that there are some things with which Canadians will stand no trifling. Empire interest is one of such things. And, unless all signs fail, Mr. Bennett will be made to realize that opposition to organized Empire trade is as bad politics as it is bad business."

Battalion of Old Memoirs Recalled by Thomas Grieve

Soldier, Sailor and Traveller, Rancher, Student Thos. Grieve Celebrates His 86th Birthday

From a Battalion of Old Memoirs Thomas Grieve Recalls His Roving Days on the Seven Seas, Fenian Raids in Ireland and Student Days in Three Universities.

PETERBOROUGH'S MOST WIDELY TRAVELLED CITIZEN WAS BORN IN SCOTLAND ON 14TH OF JULY, 1844

He Has Ridden With the Gauchos in Argentina, He Has Hunted For Diamonds in South Africa and He Has Been a Cattle and Sheep Rancher in Canada.

(By A. E. F. Allan.)

Riding with the gauchos across the wild pampas of the Argentine in the mad days when human life was cheap and wealth was to be had for the taking; sailing up the steaming Amazon in the time of the old Emperor Dom Pedro of Brazil; fighting, singing, drinking, studying in old Heidelberg in the heyday of the sabre duel and the students' corps when men thought nothing of a 200-mile tramp through the Black Forest; cattle raising in Canada during the chaotic period immediately following Confederation . . . these are only a few of the events which Thomas Gordon Grieve of this city has crowded into 86 years of living.

Sailed Seven Seas.

Into his home, 55 Brock Street, as he celebrates his 86th birthday to-day, comes a battalion of old ghosts to remind him of the reckless days when he sailed the seven seas in the gallant clipper ships; of the blood-drenched days in the Ireland of the 'sixties when, as a British officer, he struggled against rioting Fenians; of the golden days of his youth spent among the towers and cloisters of three of Europe's oldest universities.

"If I were young again," said Mr. Grieve, speaking to The Examiner the other day—and there was nothing of regret in his voice nor in his clear eye as he spoke, but only a sense of fulfillment and gratitude—"if I were young again, the first thing I would do would be—off. . . Travel! There's nothing like it! You can read and read and read, but you must see. Then the world becomes a part of you, and you really become a part of it.

"I have been at three universities," he continued, gazing out on Peterborough's roofs from his window on the Court House Hill, "and I don't know that their books and learning taught me much. But I have crossed the Equator eleven times; I have been in strange places. I think perhaps, from that I have learned a good deal."

Born in Scotland in 1844.

Three miles up the Teviot from the town of Hawick in Roxburghshire, Scotland, beneath the shadow of old Branksome Tower, famed as the setting of Scott's "Lay of the Last Minstrel," Thomas Gordon Grieve was born on July 14, 1844. Victoria, the young queen, had been on the throne only half a dozen years; Sir Robert Peel was Prime Minister; the Chartists were agitating reform; Cobden and Bright were just beginning to campaign against the Corn Laws. On the continent, the great Prince Metternich still had the throttle-hold on Central European politics which he had gained at Waterloo; the French king, Louis-Philippe, walked the streets of Paris with his green umbrella under his arm.

As a lad of ten, Thomas Grieve watched men marching off to the Crimea to perish in the mud of Sebastopol or the smoke and flame of Inkerman and Balaclava. Dickens and Thackeray were the idols of London drawing-rooms at the time when Thomas Grieve left his little Scottish border village to study at the School of Arts in the University of Edinburgh. After a few years, he left Edinburgh for Cambridge—the mediaeval university on the banks of Cam.

Then he went to Heidelberg.

This was in the year 1863. Bismarck was busy with the European chessboard in that year; in another year he was to declare war on Denmark; in three, on Austria; and in seven, on a hapless France. Then Germany would become an Empire.

The great chemist, Robert Wilhelm von Bunsen, was teaching at Heidelberg when Thomas Grieve went there. In a town not far away, Richard Wagner was hard at work on the score of his immortal "Ring of the Niebelungs."

"My family were all great travellers," declared Mr. Grieve, "My grandfather wandered all over Europe without knowing more than a smattering of any language but his own. He used to say to us: 'You boys must learn other languages besides your own.' That's why he sent me to Heidelberg."

Land of Old and Stately Castles.

Heidelberg was the place for a young man in those days! "They treated you like men!" exclaimed Mr. Grieve. "At Cambridge you had to be in at 9 or you were gated. Yet they talked of the 'men' of this college or that. But at Heidelberg you were men!"

The 700-year-old castle on the green-clad hill of Heidelberg looks down on a town and university as old as itself. Travelling up the Rhine, amidst the vineyards and mountains, one can often see as many as five or six venerable castles at once—but the "schloss" of Heidelberg, Mr. Grieve declares, is the finest of them all.

He pointed up to a quaint old picture on the wall. There probably isn't another like it in Canada. Beneath the frown of old Heidelberg Castle, a duel is in progress. "I knew all those fellows," said Mr. Grieve. There are men of the Thuringian Crops, and green-capped Westphalians, and arrogant Prussians with their white corps caps and their fine clothes. The fiercely-moustached gentleman on the right, Mr. Grieve pointed out, was the greatest student swordsman in Germany. A bearded Prussian student holds the sabres. They are ready to begin.

It was all very dashing and glorious. A student wasn't considered a man until he had earned his sabre-slashes. Mr. Grieve has seen Heidelberg sabre cuts on the cheeks of men in Berlin, New York, and Rio de Janiero . . . a mark of honor. Only foreign students were exempt, Mr. Grieve declares. There was a big Australian there, though, who fought as fiercely as the rest of them.

"But duelling was a humbug!" he finished abruptly, with a slightly wry smile.

The walking tours were no humbug, though. There was no such thing as hitch-hiking that fine summer Mr. Grieve and a company of his comrades tramped over 200 miles through the Black Forest from Baden-Baden to Freiburg. One Heidelberg professor took 35 students with him to historic Freiburg that year, but Mr. Grieve and his friends went unescorted. "We want no professor," Thomas Grieve told them.

The food was good; the beer was good; the world was good! Mr. Grieve thinks Bass is very fine, but there is nothing like German beer, he declares. And a Heidelberg student could drink his beer!

And the singing! . . . "I have heard Jenny Lind," Mr. Grieve declared — perhaps there was a tear in his eye? —"and many of the world's great singers, but I have never in my life heard anything to equal those German men." By torchlight they would march; serenade a departing or newly arrived professor; then down to the old University Square—13 or 14 hundred of them—and there left the heavens with their time-honored songs. . . . "Fourteen hundred young men singing," Mr. Grieve murmured softly.

In 1866 Mr. Grieve returned to Britain and bought a commission in Her Majesty's Sixth Dragoon Guards. That was the year a momentous conference was sitting atop Quebec's rock, but Thomas Grieve wasn't interested in Quebec—yet. He was busy passing his examinations with flying colors because of his knowledge of languages.

Commission in 6th Dragoon Guards.

Proudly he showed The Examiner his first commission, bearing Queen Victoria's own signature—no facsimile, but the actual hand-writing of the Queen. "See, up there in the left-hand corner." Thomas Gordon Grieve was 6 feet 1 inch when he joined the Sixth Dragoons. He is not 6 feet 1 inch now, but there is still more than a shadow of that splendid physique and proud bearing which caused the onlookers to cheer when he stepped forward that day in the London barracks.

Ireland saw the entire four years of his service with the Dragoons. Riots and elections tore Ireland in those days. "I knew every road in Ireland," he declared; "we were on the move all the time. But I was never better treated in my life."

It was strenuous work, though, and when he sold his commission in 1870, it was as Captain Grieve of Her Majesty's Sixth Dragoon Guards.

The old soldier reached up and took down a sword. "They can't make anything like that now. Not a speck of rust on it after 64 years." He went with a company of other young officers to the shop of the great swordmaker, Wilkinson of Pall Mall, one fine morning. You were allowed to prove swords in the presence of the maker then. "We broke eight the first day, and fourteen the second, but the third day I got this one." To-day the fine blade gleams defiantly on its third mounting.

800 Die in Day from Yellow Fever.

And in 1870 Thomas Gordon Grieve went to South America. A six-year war between Argentina and Brazil on the one side and Paraguay on the other had just concluded. The Argentine was torn by internal faction, and was to be for ten years. Old Dom Pedro sat on the throne of Brazil—"a fine old fellow," according to Mr Grieve. Later he was to be deposed by rabid republicans and shipped off to Portugal where he died broken-hearted at the ingratitude of the people he had loved.

"In the Argentine and Brazil I was the only one to come out alive from some affairs," stated Mr. Grieve. He told of the immigrant paupers dumped on the shores of the Argentine at the end of the Paraguayan War. There were so many of them that they had to occupy the rough bunks in day and night shifts. Yellow fever broke out and carried off as many as 800 in one day. When the carts came day after day to pick up the dead, there was no one to carry them out. But one day the surviving immigrants found the wine and food left by the Spaniards when they had fled the town. Then there was feasting, drinking, and fighting. Every morning showed its toll of human beings murdered in the streets.

One day Thomas Grieve emerged from a fracas to find he had saved the life of a great Argentine landowner whose gauchos "could ride 50 miles without reaching the limits of their master's lands." The proud Don could not do enough for his benefactor. Mr. Grieve showed The Examiner a venerable knife which had been in the Don's family for generations and which was one of his many, tokens of gratitude to his rescuer. "That knife has been in many a Spaniard," said Mr. Grieve.

When he heard of the discovery of diamonds in the blue clay of South Africa, Mr. Grieve bethought himself of a bank of clay within a day's ride over the pampas. He went alone to the spot and, ten minutes after his search began, he had picked up a magnificent diamond. All he found he sent to an old lady in Scotland. Only in later year did he discover how she had been tricked into believing the stones "rock crystals" by an unscrupulous jeweler.

Land of Old and Stately Castles.

"There were twenty thousand dollars' worth of diamonds in that lot," Mr. Grieve declared.

In 1875 he found himself at a loose end with a desire for a change of scene. Suddenly he remembered a fellow student at Heidelberg—a fellow by the name of Macaulay, who hailed from a place called Kingston in Upper Canada. "If ever you feel like coming to Canada," Macaulay had told him, "let me know."

So Thomas Gordon Grieve came to Canada. Armed with letters from his friend to the Mayor of Cobourg and to the Strickland family of Lakefield, he settled in Lakefield and engaged in "the first thoroughbred cattle and sheep raising in this part of the country."

For 55 years Thomas Grieve has lived in Peterborough County. To-day, as he enters his 87th year, his mind is alert and his wit keen. He complains of trouble with his eyes which could at one time outsee the wily gauchos in scanning the distant pampas. But he succeeds in doing a bit of reading even yet, and he has not ceased to take a lively interest in the doings of a world which he knows so well.

His wife is still with him, and his daughter is the wife of a celebrated Canadian novelist. His own family tree is a proud one, having been traced back to 1391.

But with the old ghosts that visit Thomas Gordon Grieve on his birthday, what he likes to thinks of best is Branksome's ivied tower beneath which he played as a boy, and old Heidelberg's castle on its hill.

prize winners were as follows: Best Juvenile Band—Lord Nelson, 2440, North Monaghan. Best float—Brittania 1388; Best Brass Band—Cobourg Kilties, special mention, Haliburton and Orono. The judges were L. M. Frost and S. P. Beal.

There were numerous veterans in the parade but possibly the oldest member of the Order present was William Moore of Pefferlaw Lodge, No. 1887, whose connection with Orangeism dates back sixty-four years. He is a Past Master of his lodge and is now in his 81st year. Past County Master A. R. Robson of London street, Peterborough, who claims 53 years service in the Order was also a participant in the celebrations. He is 71 years old.

Among those present on the platform in Kawartha Park where the parade concluded it's two-and-a-half miles route through the principal streets of the charming little town on the banks of the Scugog, were Ex-Mayor R. Kylie, deputising for Mayor W. E. Stewart at present out of town; G. A. McGillivray, Warden of Victoria County; Rev. Canon C. H. Marsh, of St. Paul's Anglican Church; T. H. Stinson, ex-M.P., K. C., Conservative Candidate for Victoria Riding; Rev. Dr. T. E. Holling, First United Church; Wm. Newman, M. L. A.; Major-General Garnett B. Hughes of Toronto; Rev. J. C. Greer, St. Andrews Presbyterian Church; W. W. Staples, M. L. A.; W. G. Graham, ex-Mayor of Lindsay and Dr. T. E. Kaiser ex-M. P. Oshawa.

Arriving at the Kawartha Park, the parade filed in at the north gate, gathering around the speakers' platform which was draped with the Union Jack, and from which hung a large portrait of Sir Sam Hughes. E. N. Mitchell the chairman, for the occasion in a brief speech welcomed the bretheren of all the lodges and expressed his thanks to them for their assistance in making the celebration such a success. "This is not the celebration of an old quarrel", he said, "but of an event which stands out in history". Pointing to the open Bible, the crown and the sword, which emblems lay on a table in front of the platform, he pointed out that the Bible represents the right to worship God, while the other emblems represent one Flag, one Empire and one Throne.

Ex-Mayor R. Kylie

In offering a welcome to the Orangemen on behalf of His Worship Mayor Stewart, Mr. Kylie made an eloquent plea for a growth of the spirit of charity and friendship and asked, "Why can we not, carry on and worship the Lord in unity." He spoke of the greater understanding which is now apparent between Catholics and Orangemen, which has completely superseded the old antagonism, and paid splendid tribute to "men of Rev. Canon Marsh's calibre, who are ever going about the country doing good and valuable work."

Warden G. A. McGillivray

"I wish we had more men with the same spirit as Mr. Kylie", exclaimed Mr. McGillivray in extending a welcome to the Orangemen to the County town. "It makes no matter what a man's religion is to Mr. Kylie and he is certainly not afraid to stand up for his religion. We respect a man like that". He referred to the wonderful success which had favored the parade in Lindsay this year, and mentioned the fact that as the parade came along Kent street, there was just space enough for the lodges to get through, all other available space was taken up by the crowds of sightseers; and he thought it a wonderful tribute to the order— it shows a good spirit on the part of the general public.

"One of nature's very fine gentlemen", was the manner in which the chairman referred to Rev. Canon Marsh in introducing him to the audience.

Rev. Canon Marsh

Referring to his Irish ancestry, Rev. Canon Marsh, recalled the fact that he is the oldest clergyman in active work in Lindsay. "Forty-two years ago today", he said, "I gave my first address to Orangemen at Omemee and forty-one years spoke to a gathering here at which time your Grand Master was N. Clark Wallace who was principle speaker that day.

"Thirty-six years ago", the speaker proceeded, "Mr. Kylie as reeve of the town welcomed the Grand Lodge of Ontario to Lindsay and spoke just as well on that occasion as he did today.

Pointing out the great ideals for which the Order stands, Canon Marsh said I appreciate that the constitution of the Orange Order stands for loyalty to King, loyalty to country and loyalty to the word of God".

"When the great assembly comes and we sit down with the tens of thousands of those who have gone before", he said in conclusion, "may you and I by the Grace of God, be there".

T. H. Stinson ex-M.P., K.C.

Reviewing the ideals behind the Orange Order, Mr. Stinson, said he was greatly impressed on facing the vast crowd to see so many people gathered together in unity, year, after year. He continued to enlarge upon the great responsibilities facing the members in always upholding the principles of the Order which aim at the strengthening of the bond which binds, the British Empire and equal rights for all. He spoke of the chief thing as always doing the manly thing adding that true citizenship is one of the finest things in the world and that character means more than ability.

Rev. Dr. Holling

"Orangeism is not an annual affair but a daily event", exclaimed Rev. Dr. Holling in the course of a short speech. "It is the centenary of the Order today he pointed out and the things which have been accomplished in the past hundred years are due to the sacrifices made by our forefathers, who lived their lives with the one idea of making Canada one of the greatest countries in the world."

"You stand for Protestantism. It is not a negative thing. You protest or testify for equal right for men before God and for the right of access to God. It is not antagonistic, but rather a stand for the principles which we believe necessary for the making of our great land".

Wm. Newman, M.P.P.

William Newman referred to the fact that besides commemorating the 240th Anniversary of the Battle of the Boyne today's celebrations also marked the 100th anniversary of the founding of the Orange Order in Canada, at Brockville. He thought that a message of congratulation should be sent to the Brockville Lodge.

Lieut.-Colonel Garnett B. Hughes

"Even in the short hundred years of it's history Orangeism has made for religious and political freedom", thought Colonel Hughes, adding that we are opposed to anarchy, sovietism or to any lack of freedom. It does not however stand for interference with established bodies with a will contrary to our own".

Rev. J. C. Greer

Paying tribute to the Order of which he is a member, Rev. J. C. Greer said the history of the Order is such that none need be ashamed of it. He was of the opinion that it had kept faith with the growth of Canada and spoke of the fellowship it provided among the Protestant people.

W. W. Staples M.P.P.

Extending a welcome to the thousands of visitors W. W. Staples referred to the scene as a wonderful colorful scene spread out in panoramic fashion and he could not help but think that here we have the descendants of the pioneers of English, Irish and Scotch stock who had hewed their homes out of the virgin forests. He thought the gathering gave eloquent evidence of a wonderful spirit of unity.

Dr. T. Kaiser ex-M.P.

"In the House of Commons and throughout the country there are thousands of people who would challenge our attitude to the land beyond the seas who are seeking to separate us from the Motherland," said Dr. Kaiser in the course of his speech. "We will stand solid behind the British Empire". Referring to the proposal that Canada should deal entirely with her own problems instead of submitting them to the Courts in England, Dr. Kaiser said, "In the last Parliament we saw resolutions put into effect in spite of opposition which are to have the tendency to sever several of the little ties which bind us to the British Empire and there is the tendency of some men who sit in the House to break the last tie which binds us to the Motherland.

"This country is British, it has always been British and it shall be British he concluded".

always been one of his greatest joys to listen to its music.

Man of Wide Interests.

"He was a benevolent man," declared Mr. Dutton, "a man of broad sympathies and wide interests. To know him, was to love him. Those who knew him intimately called him 'Dave.' Men who felt like that, knew his heart."

Intensely loyal to his friends, the late Mr. Moore was a man of deep convictions and the courage to follow them. He had had an intimate knowledge of Jesus Christ as Lord of his life.

"We shall miss him," said Mr. Dutton. "The church will miss him, and all the organizations of which he was such an honored member, and the city of which he was such a respected citizen."

The Rev. William Allan, minister of St. Paul's Church, conducted the service and preached the funeral sermon.

In the presence of the disagreeable fact of death, stated the Rev. Mr. Allan, the minister's position was a most difficult one. "The words you had hoped would help only seem to hurt," he declared, "and the wounds you had hoped to heal only seemed to open the wider."

By the camouflage of flowers, music and words, he said, we sought to adorn an enemy—and rightly so, if it eased the grief. But death was the Last Great Enmy, a wound and a loss for all time to those who remained, and not the Great Adventure which many styled it. Death was the appointment we all must keep, the one abiding shadow across life's brightest moments. Only the wisdom of a kindly Providence hid from us its date. Instead, however, of trying to rid ourselves of the thought of death, we should allow the solemnity of it to minister to our lives.

"But death does not end all," declared the speaker. "Is it possible that God has implanted in us the belief in immortality, only to disappoint it?" The old question had been "If a man die, shall he live again?" One had died that He might give the answer to that question for all time.

Christ's tomb had been sealed and guarded against the possible removal of His body. "But He arose," declared the minister. "Whose business is it to-day to see that the dead do not rise?

"The resurrection of Christ is the promise of the resurrection of David H. Moore and of all those who believe—and it is the pledge that that promise will be kept. The day is coming when all the cities of the dead shall be turned into places of resurrection glory. This separation is only for a little while."

In the midst of strangers, said Mr. Allan, and while trying to save loved ones the worry he would cause if they knew he was about to undergo a serious operation, David H. Moore had passed into the unseen. But angels had come to minister to him, even as Christ had declared they came to bear Lazarus to his rest. The music of heaven to-day would be all the richer, concluded the speaker, for the presence of him whose voice had meant so much here.

Martin B. Chenhall, A.R.C.O., organist of St. Paul's, and for many years associated with the late Mr. Moore in various organizations, was at the console of the organ, playing Handel's Dead March from "Saul." Miss Jessie Pattison sang the contralto aria, "O, Rest in the Lord," from Mendelssohn's "Elijah." The Peterborough Male Voice Choir, of which the late Mr. Moore had been a member, sang "Abide with Me." St. Paul's Choir closed the service with "Crossing the Bar."

Elders of St. Paul's Church acted as pall-bearers.

Preceding the public service, a private service was held at Mr. Moore's late residence, the Rev. Mr. Allan officiating. The interment took place in the Little Lake Cemetery.

OBITUARY

MRS. SARAH OSBORNE

(Examiner Correspondence)

MARMORA, July 14.—After a week of loving ministrations by relatives and friends, Sarah Sophia, widow of the late Frank Osborne passed peacefully away at 7:30 a.m. on Sunday. A month ago the deceased lady suffered a stroke from which she appeared to be rallying. She was able to walk to the Marmora United Church for the annual Orange parade on Sunday July 6 but during the singing of the second hymn 'Nearer My God to Thee" had to be carried out from the church. She was taken to the residence of her daughter, Mrs. L. R. Rundle. Though little hope was held for her recovery there were moments when she was sufficiently conscious to recognize her loved ones and finally to bid them farewell.

The late Mrs. Osborne, who was a daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. James Dickens of Sidney Township, was in her 66th year. She is survived by three children: Herman of Belleville, Harold at home, and Mrs. L. R. Rundle of Marmora. She is also survived by three sisters and one brother, Mrs. J. Hamilton, Mrs. H. Eggleton and Mrs. A. Juby, all of Stirling, and Mr. Joseph Dickens of Norwood. She is further survived by a half-brother and a half-sister, James Dickens of Stirling and Mrs. Avis Turner of Corbyville. Her husband predeceased her eleven years ago.

The deceased was a member of various local organizations. She was a Past Councillor of Marmora Council No. 279, C.O.O.F. and since the organization of Harmony L.O.B.A. 600, six years ago, has remained its chaplain. She was for many years a teacher at the then Marmora Methodist Sunday School. For a time she was a member of the Ladies' Aid and last but not least, she was a valued member of the Marmora Women's Institute.

The funeral, which will be under auspices of Harmony L.O.B.A. 600 takes place on Tuesday afternoon. Service at Marmora United Church at 3 p.m. daylight saving time, will be followed by interment in Marmora Protestant Cemetery.

NOTES OF THE PARADE

The prize for the best dressed Lodge would probably have been awarded to the men of Lakefield if there had been a competition. In their blue suits, silk hats and sashes they made a fine impression. And "not a man in line, looked half so fine" as R. J. Webster, Lakefield District Master. In his Twelfth raiment he was an outstanding figure, perhaps as smart as when he wore the King's khaki. And "Bob" certainly looked every inch a soldier in those days.

John A. Sexsmith, ex-M.P., marched with Havelock Lodge No. 326.

The Havelock lodges turned out the largest representation. They brought up the rear of the procession, and on the return to the Park were first to enter.

Joseph Faulkner of 326 was Havelock's bearer of the Union Jack.

Sentinel Lodge from Petherick's Corner were conspicuous in their white suits and red collars. The Blairton Lodge also looked natty all in white.

W. J. Cottrell, guardian of the Marmora juveniles, carried a new banner at the head of his proteges.

Reeve Richard Sanderson of Havelock was in line with the Havelock No. 326. This Lodge gave Lakefield a close run for appearance.

Hastings lodges were out in large numbers, and their Mons L.O.B.A. certainly deserved mention for neatness. However, while it may be safe to indicate the best looking men's lodge, someone else can undertake the responsibility of selecting the best of the ladies' lodges.

Norwood Old Boy Is Elected in Edmonton

W. R. Howson Chosen as One of City's Representatives in Legislature.

At the recent Provincial elections for Alberta William R. Howson was elected as one of Edmonton's representatives in the Legislature. The proportional representation system is in operation in Alberta, and fourteen counts were necessary to decide what six of the seventeen candidates running should represent Edmonton. When tabulations were finally completed it was found that one U.F.A., three Conservatives, one Liberal and one Labor candidate were elected, Mr. Howson being fifth.

May Be House Leader.

Commenting upon the result of the election The Edmonton Bulletin says:—"Following the defeat of J. W. McDonald, K.C., in the general election Thursday, Liberals already are starting to discuss what the next step should be. They realize that in any event, a house leader must be chosen, and the name prominently mentioned in this connection is W. R. Howson.

When the convention was held in Calgary last March, Mr. Howson made a strong bid for the leadership but was defeated by Mr. McDonald. With the leader beaten in the election, the feeling is that Mr. Howson will probably be called upon to succeed him.

Bailieboro

BAILIEBORO, July 14 (Examiner Correspondence)— The congregation of Bailieboro Anglican Church held a very successful strawberry festival on the Church grounds on Wednesday.

Supper was served on the grounds until the heavy rain began, when tables were carried into the Church shed. There was an unusually large attendance, this being the last festival of the season, and the receipts amounted to about one hundred and seventy-five dollars.

A play entitled "Nothing To Do" was presented by the young people of Canton, in the basement of the Church. The play was in four acts there were eight scenes. Between acts music was supplied by the Canton young people.

NO MORE PILES

HEM-ROID, the prescription of Dr. J. S. Leonhardt, is guaranteed to banish any form of Pile misery. It gives quick action even in old, stubborn cases. HEM-ROID succeeds because it heals and strengthens the affected parts and removes blood congestion in the lower bowel—the cause of piles. Only an internal medicine can do this, that's why salves and cutting fail. McDermid & Jury, Bond's Drug Store and druggists everywhere sell HEM-ROID with guarantee that it cost you nothing if it doesn't end all Pile agony.

Havelock

HAVELOCK, July 14—(Examiner Correspondence).—Members of the Seabrooke family, to the number of fifty, held a family re-union at Chase's Landing, Belmont Lake on Tuesday, July 1st. A softball game, fishing, swimming, and small sports was the order of the day, and a bounteous lunch unpacked from the numerous baskets and partaken of amid friendly chatter of young and old, rounded out a very pleasant afternoon. Incidentaaly, two of the party, Mr. and Mrs. Dan Bird of Trenton, landed a fine lunge weighing over ten pounds.

Those present were: Mr. and Mrs. Jim Seabrooke and Mr. and Mrs. Bird of Trenton; Mr. and Mrs. Harold Dunk and children of Campbellford; Mr. and Mrs. Wilbert Drunkle of Peterborough; Mr. and Mrs. Harry Toms and family, Mr and Mrs Charles Ellis, Mr Wm Brown, Mr. and Mrs. Will Seabrooke and family, Mr. and Mrs. Jack Seabrooke and family, Mr. and Mrs. Dave Seabrooke and family, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Cummings, Mr. John Seabrooke, and Miss Norma Haggerty, all of Havelock.

Royals Gain on International League Leaders

MONTREAL CLUB COPS FOUR VICTORIES OVER WEEK-END WHILE LEAFS LOSE TO PESTS

Royals Pick Up Three Games in Standings on Third-place Toronto Team.

BISONS EVEN SERIES.

Reading and Rochester Also Split Double Bill—Skeeters in Sixth Place.

Of the four leaders, only the Montreal Royals found the week-end firing in the International League profitable or instructive. The Royals' surge at Newark's expense has changed the league race from a three to a four-cornered affair once more.

Four victories in double bills on Saturday and Sunday enabled the Royals to pick up three games on third-place Toronto and add one-half on the second-place Rochester Redwings, and two on Baltimore pace-setters for some time. The standing to-day showed the Royals only a game back of Toronto, two and a half behind Rochester, and three and a half behind Baltimore.

After turning back Newark twice on Saturday the Royals did the same thing again yesterday as Griffin and Smith turned in fine pitching performances. Both games were shutouts 3-0 and 1-0. Griffin held the Bears to four hits in the opener and accounted for two of the Royals runs when he clouted a homer with Henry on base in the seventh inning. Smith outlucked Manager Al Mamaux of Newark in the second game. He gave up six hits while the Royals got only three off Mamaux. The game was decided in the fifth inning when Gulley came home with the only run of the game of Ripples single.

Bisons Even Series.

Baltimore and Buffalo wound up a spectacular six-game series all even yesterday by dividing a double-bill. Al Moore's homer with one on and two out in the ninth enabled Buffalo to win the opener 7-5. The Orioles clouted Mangun and Williams for 19 hits, including four homers, to win the nightcap, 12-2. Joe Hauser hit his 30th and 31st homers in this contest and Sand and Stewart also kicked in with one apiece. All told, 27 homers were hit during the series, a new record for the Buffalo Park. Of these Baltimore got 17, four by Hauser, and Buffalo ten.

Reading and Rochester also split a double bill, the Keys taking the first 8-6 and Rochester the second 5-4. Late rallies decided both battles. Reading trailed at 6-4 at the end of seven innings of the first game, but pounded Smith for four runs in the eighth, enough to win. Warnecke held Rochester in check in the first game and entered the seventh and final inning with a 4-2 lead and victory apparently clinched. The Redwings rallied, however, drove Warnecke out of the box, tied the score, and then put over the deciding run before a man was out.

Jersey City was idle yesterday, as was Toronto, but the Skeeters' double triumph over Toronto on Saturday elevated them to sixth place, as Newark, beaten four times over the week-end, dropped into seventh.

KINGSTON SAILORS CAPTURE CURRIE CUP

Gooderham Wins Four of Six Trials—Belleville Y. C. Beaten.

TORONTO, July 14. (C.P.) — Ideal weather conditions prevailed for the sailing of the interclub dinghy races at the Royal Canadian Yacht Club on Saturday afternoon. Kingston Yacht Club sailors successfully defended the Currie Cup against sailors from the Royal St. Lawrence Yacht Club, Montreal, and the R.C.Y.C. in Toronto.

Another series of races was held between the Belleville Yacht Club and Class "B" sailors of the R.C.Y.C., in which the latter were successful.

This year Montreal sent down ing larger boats. Kingston sailors were outstanding in the series of races for the Currie Cup. Professor Jemmett and Mr. Hora are both experienced skippers, the former securing a first, second and a third for his club in the three races.

In the races against Belleville, the Gliddon-Dixon combination secured most points for the Royal Canadian Yacht Club, with two firsts, and a third, in three races. Skippers exchanged boats at the end of each race.

ATHLETICS GAIN AMERICAN LEAD

Macks Defeat St. Louis Browns While Detroit Wins From Washington 5 to 4.

YANKEES WIN 7-5.

The Philadelphia Athletics once again forged to the top of the American League standing by pounding out a 12 to 1 victory over the St. Louis Browns while Detroit beat out Washington 5 to 4. These results placed the Athletics a full game in the lead.

The world's champions hammered out 17 hits, bunching them for five runs in the first inning and four in the third, while Roy Mahaffey held the still-slipping Browns in check.

For the second successive time the Senators broke their rule of using only one pitcher to a game, and Burke the second was charged with the defeat as Vic Sorrell won his own game by sending Koenig home with a single in the eighth.

Yankees win 7-5.

The next two places remained in their former status as the New York Yankees and the Cleveland Indians won easy victories. The Yankees, although outhit 14-11, did their scoring early and had only to check a Chicago rally hat netted three runs in the ninth to defeat the White Sox 7 to 5. The Sox failed to capitalize on their chances, having 16 men stranded on the sacks.

Cleveland held fourth place, six games behind by pounding on Jack Russell for five runs in the opening game and piling up an 11 to 3 score against Boston, before rain halted the game in the 7th inning.

ROBINS UP HALF A GAME DESPITE PIRATES' WIN

Pittsburg Wins on Four Hits While Brooklyn Connects For Nine.

CUBS DROP TWO.

Chicago Club Slumps on Beginning of Eastern Trip — Games Postponed.

There have been times this season when the Cincinnati Reds have looked like the makings of a great ball team, but as their position in the standing of the National League attests, they are far from being so. The Reds have developed quite a punch at home, but it is strangely lacking when they take the road.

Only last week, Cincinnati looked like a team of world beaters as they made a final stand at Redland Field and took four straight games from Chicago. They still looked good as they picked on the humble Phillies for three more victories; but yesterday, when they moved on to New York, they dropped back into their normal away-from-home pace, going down almost without protest to a 9 to 5 defeat. They drove out a few runs to lead for a while, then subsided when faced by Joe Heving, while the Giants started there and scored most of their runs in the last half of the game.

This result left the Red record with only ten victories on the road, and the other 24 scored at home. This may explain the triumph over the Cubs, or it may have been that the Chicagoans, who also are far better at home than away, had a beating or two coming to them. The Cubs moved on to Boston yesterday and lost two games to the Braves, 2 to 1, and 3 to 0. The first Boston victory was due to Harry Seibold's pitching the second to the Massachusetts law which makes it necessary to stop Sunday games promptly at six o'clock. That hour came after the Cubs had scored four runs in the ninth, but before that inning ended and the score reverted to the eighth.

Chicago's double defeat came as something of a boon to the league-leading Brooklyn Robins. They lost one of the year's toughest decision to Pittsburg, 1 to 0, but still gained a half game. Jim Elliott gave the Pirates only four hits, while the Robins made nine off Larry French but wasted their opportunities by slipshod base running. The other National League clubs were idle.

MENIE VICTORS BY 12-6 COUNT

Heavy Hitting Feature of Burnbrae District Softball League.

PLAYED AT HOARDS.

(Examiner Correspondence.)

BURNBRAE, July 14. — After a strong start Hoard's fell by the wayside in the last league encounter with Menie on Thursday evening, and the runners-up in the soft ball league emerged on the long end of a 12-6 count.

Menie's regular first sacker, Shillinglaw, was an absentee, and a general shake-up was necessary, Eagleson going to first, Hay to short, and Watson was called in for his first game of the season in left field. Kerr pitched a steady game after a bad second spasm when a few breaks and some loose plays let Hoard's away. In two innings he retired the side in order while three strike-outs were registered. Coggins secured the hardest hit for Hoard's, a 3-bagger, in the second. Hoards was the most consistent batter with four trips to first in four times to bat. Oscar Rannie was the only Hoard's player to score twice.

Frank Little's three bagger in the fourth drove in three runs for Menie, while brother Lew drove one to almost the same spot in the fifth. Frank Little pulled the feature catch of the game in the third, a line drive from Jeff's bat which the lanky right fielder speared with one hand after a hard run to retire the side on a double play.

After starting the fourth with an error, Heagle redeemed himself by retiring the entire Menie side, one on a throw to first, one on a fly, and the last, Kerr, on a hard driven liner that almost got away.

Jack Rannie and Tom Little with four out of five, were Menie's best batters. Eagleson's good batting average suffered a slump, as he only secured two hits.

Frank Little was the only Menie player who failed to score while the other Little brothers each counted twice as did Rannie and Watson.

The game was played in connection with the lawn social of Hoards United church, a fair crowd being in attendance.

The teams:

Hoards — Hoard, p; Jeffs, c; O'Rannie, 1b; Coggins, b; Heagle, 3b; Oddie, ss; Hume lf; Jones, cf; Gunning, rf.

OSHAWA BLANKS PORT HOPE 10-0

Veteran Southpaw Twirler Holds Visitors to Four Straight Hits.

SOME ERRORS.

OSHAWA, July 14. — Led by Dainty, veteran southpaw twirler, the Oshawa Arabs defended their first place position in the Lake Shore Intermediate Baseball League with such vigor on Saturday that Port Hope at the end of the conflict was whitewashed 10 to 0.

Up to the sixth inning it appeared as if Dainty was going to attain the pitcher's highest ambition, a no hit, no run game. As it was, the visitors secured only four, while ten of their batters were mowed down by his curves and smokeballs and retired ignominiously, struck out. Dainty issued but one walk, Wakely, also a southpaw, struck out four and walked six.

Only eight Port Hope players managed to reach first base, three of them on errors, but Dainty kept absolute control in the pinches and none of them reached third.

Ten Thousand Spectators Watch Champion Make 40-Foot Putt to Clinch Honors.

INTERLACHEN CLUB, Minneapolis, Minn., July 14 (Canadian Press. — The king of all the golfers, flushed with the heat of one of the greatest battles of his career, strode to the home hole on Saturday with his throne a trifle shaky, the professional Light Brigade in hot pursuit, and a 40-foot putt over the rolling turf before him. While close to 10,000 spectators held their breath, Bobby Jones stepped up briskly and hit the ball straight and true into the cup for a birdie 3 that closed the door to all challengers, clinching his fourth victory and successful defence of the open golf championship of the United States.

Jones, with successive rounds of 71-73-73-70, finished his conquest with a total of 287, the second lowest total in the history of the American open and only one stroke short of the record set fourteen years ago by Chick Evans at the nearby Minnekhada course.

It gave him a winning margin of two strokes over his nearest rival, the veteran Macdonald Smith of New York, who made a gallant, sensational fight.

NASH IS NEW ONTARIO CHAMP

London Golfer Defeats Don Carrick, Former Canadian Title Holder in Finals.

BY MARGIN 4 AND 3.

TORONTO, Ont., July 14.—(C.P.) —An eighteen-year-old youth, hitherto unsung in major tournament play is to-day the proud possessor of the Ontario amateur golf title. The youthful champion is Jack Nash of the London Hunt Club, who on Saturday defeated Don Carrick, of Toronto, former Provincial and Canadian amateur title holder, in the eighteen-hole final over the exacting Scarboro links, he won by a margin of 4 and 3.

In achieving the height of his ambition, Nash left in his victorious wake a galaxy of stars, against whose experience his chances were not regarded with much favor before the title play started. Incidentally the youngster kept the title for the fourth successive year in the London Hunt Club and avenged the defeat of his club-mate, "Sandy" Somerville, the three-time holder, who was eliminated in the first round of the tournament.

Softball Notes.

Westclox, after a two weeks' layoff, play their first game of the second half of the softball schedule against the C.G.E. The Clockmakers are anxious to get away on the right foot while C.G.E., who have lost their first two starts, are out to grab a win. The game will be played at Central School grounds and will start at 6.30.

Tuesday night will bring Brintons and Westclox together at Central School grounds.

Game Here Saturday Proves to be Washout After First Two Innings.

RAYS LEAD FROM FIRST.

Ponies Short All of Their Regular Players Field Scrub Team.

It will be Raybestos and Oshawa Arabs for the championship of the Lakeshore League. The Rays made sure of getting into the championship series by defeating Cobourg 15 to 3 at Exhibition Park Saturday afternoon.

The game itself was a washout, the players after the first two innings just going through the motions of trying to play ball. It was merely a dress rehearsal for the Rays and a poor one at that.

The Rays secured five runs in the first innings and four more in the second. From then on they eased off and the comedy began.

The Ponies were short all their real players and merely brought up a scrub team, and they certainly looked and played the part.

HAVELOCK, July 14.—(Examiner Correspondence).— Nomination for candidates to fill the vacancy in the Belmont and Methuen township council created by the death of the late Councillor Hugh McArthur will be held here on Monday, July 14. It is thought there will be a contest, as a number of names have been mentioned in this connection. Mr. Isaac Anderson is spoken of by some ratepayers as a suitable candidate, being an exceedingly likeable young man and popular with the younger generation.

LOCALS MAKE POOR OPENING

Winners Overtake Peterborough Cricket Club With Loss of Only One Wicket.

GOOD COMBINATION WORK.

The first round of the Ross Robertson Club was completed on Saturday when Brantford won from the local club at Armour Heights, when Toronto C.C. provided a good wicket for the game. Brantford will now play Yorkshire in Brantford next Saturday, and judging by the play on Saturday, Yorkshire will not have matters all their own way by any means. Peterborough had the first use of the wicket and made 113 but Brantford rubbed these off with only one out.

The P.C.C. started disastrously, three batsmen getting their quietus with only six on the telegraph. C Thorpe and F. Dyer then became associated and offered better resistance to the attack, taking the score to 31 before Dyer was bowled by Kelly. Thorpe continued to get runs at a little above the average rate. Smith and Hamilton offered some good defence, without augmenting the score materially. Thorpe eventually was bowled by Jones, after making 57. He batted well and had a variety of shots in his total. Extras got 21, and Brantford are certainly in need of a good wicket-keeper. Kelly and Jones came out best in the bowling, the former getting 4 wickets for 28 and Jones 3 for 10.

Brantford lost Bewster with the score at 10, when the batter lobbed an easy one to Stewart, which he held; Dyer was the bowler. Then J. Sharp and W. Broadley carried the score past the Peterborough total without either being out, the partnership yielding 105 runs. It was as nice a partnership as one could wish to see. True, they did not hit lustily, but they accumulated their runs by excellent cricket without taking any undue risk. Sharp, who made 67, was partial to the on side, while Broadley, 35, had perhaps the greater variety of strokes. If the other bats on the team can compare favorably with these two the side will be a menace to the Yorkshire Club next Saturday. Dyer's wicket cost him 31 runs. The scores:

P.C.C. — W. Binns 1, J. Gore 1, Jefferson 1, C. Thorpe 57, F. Dyer 10, J. Wade 7, F. Smith 6, A. Hamilton 9, E. Dart 0, R. N. Stewart 0, H. Martin 0, extras 21; total, 113.

Brantford — J. Sharpe, not out, 65; Bewster 6, W. Broadley, not out, 35; extras 9; total for one wicket, 115.

Inglis, Gardner, Ludlow, Kelly, Jude, Jones, Overson, Kirkman, did not bat.

RAIN POSTPONES 3RD TEST MATCH

Scores on Saturday Stand, Australia 566, England 212 For 5 Wickets.

AUSSIES PLAYING WELL.

LEEDS, Eng., July 14. — (C.P.) — The drought which has prevailed in England and provided ideal wickets for batsmen in the cricket test match at Lord's, and again here last night at the opening of the third international game, was broken last night. Rain fell heavily and play could not be resumed at the opening hour this morning. It was hoped to be able to start after lunch. The wet weather introduces a factor which may save England, who are in a sad plight; or may hasten their downfall. When play stopped on Saturday the scores were Australia 566; England 212 for five wickets. The dry spell was welcomed by the Australians, reproducing as it did conditions they are used to in the antipodes and they were successfully took advantage of it.

Motorists!

The New Law Makes Necessary —safe, sane driving —insurance, or ability to pay for damage.

Every motorist should familiarize himself with the details of the new law at once.

In its general principles it insists that the motorist who causes damage must be able to pay, either personally or through insurance, or be barred from the road.

Also, this same suspension of license may be applied to motorists who are offenders in regard to those rules designed to safeguard person and property on the highway.

And such suspension of driving license through fault of driving, or failure to pay applies to all cars owned by the offender.

And, through reciprocal arrangements, this law applies to Ontario motorists when in other provinces or in the U. S. A. and to visiting motorists in Ontario.

Get a pamphlet containing a summary of this law. The great body of motorists will undoubtedly approve of its conditions.

BOBBY JONES MAY RETIRE THIS SEASON

Twenty-eight Year Old Monarch of Links to Take Part in U. S. Amateur Play.

THREE TITLES THIS YEAR.

Has Won British Amateur and Open, Also the United States' Open Championship.

New York, N.Y., July 14.—(C.P.) — The 28 year old monarch of the links, Bobby Jones, already thrice-crowned in his all-conquering campaign of 1930, may retire from active competition if he completes his record-shattering march of regaining the United States' amateur championship at the Merion Cricket Club, Philadelphia, in September.

The Emperor himself, back home to-day in Atlanta after his third straight victory of the year and his twelfth in eight years, has not definitely committed himself to any plans beyond competing in the last big event of the current season. But if he wins, there will be no more worlds of golf to conquer; no records to break except his own.

Win or lose at Merion this year, Jones has set up a mark that generations of succeeding golfers probably will shoot at in vain. When he went abroad this spring with the Walker Cup team the odds were 50 to 1 against Bobby's winning all four of the major British and United States' championships. He has hurdled three of the four obstacles by winning the British amateur, British open and United States' open in a period of seven weeks. He has sustained the confidence of his home-town friends who backed him at the quoted figures and he now will go into the final fixture, the United States' amateur, at least an even-money favorite against the field, in spite of the pitfalls that lurk in match play.

Jones bowled over the dope, the opposition and the records at Interlachen. He shattered the course record on his third round with a 68. The best he has ever scored in the event and a performance that put all of his rivals except MacDonald Smith to rout. He finished with a 72-hole figure of 287; his own lowest in American competition and within a stroke of tying Chick Evans' all-time mark. He was five strokes in front of Horton Smith, the young professional who led at the half-way mark.

ENTERPRISE ALONE FINISHES IN RACE

Only Yacht to Finish Within Time Limit in America's Cup Trial Race.

NEWPORT, R. I., July 14. — The gods of the winds toyed Saturday with the four contenders for the honor of defending the America's Cup and in what simmered down to a pair of drifting matches Enterprise outdrifted all the others.

She was the only contender able to finish within the 5½ hour time limit, finishing not only ahead of her own matched opponent, Whirlwind, but they were unable to finish within the time limit, so their contest was declared no race.

The end of the first week of the scheduled two weeks of official racing for selection of the defender finds Weetamoe with four victories out of four races; Enterprise with three out of five; Yankee with two out of four and Whirlwind with one out of six.

Bennett is Winning All Along the Line

Nothing is clearer as the political campaign draws to a close than the fact that the King Government

IS ON THE RUN

The Premier himself who started out on his campaign with a Key speech in which he never mentioned the question of unemployment, has been driven more and more on the defensive as his tour revealed the rising tide of public indignation at the failure of the Government to do anything to meet the situation, until at last out in the west, harassed by heckling and embarrassed by deputations of unemployed, Mr. King who a little while ago wouldn't give a five cent piece, has been driven to desperate promises of "dollar for dollar".

Meanwhile in Ontario his cabinet ministers are for the most part pinned down in their own ridings in Quebec the old strategy of a foreign war, this time in India, is being frantically exercised and everywhere there are signs that the people of Canada, disheartened at the present conditions have decided that IT IS TIME FOR A CHANGE.

The farmer, face to face with steadily dropping prices is deserting the Government standard in ever increasing numbers; the city worker, out of employment or working short hours is voting this time for a policy that promises jobs for Canadians; the business man finds in the vigor and action of the Conservative program a hope of better days.

Trying to stay the rout that every day grows worse Liberal advertisements pipe out that Bennett can't win.

Why, Bennett is Winning all along the line.

The tide running ever stronger will sweep this vacillating, wavering administration out of power on July 28 and Canada under a new government led by a great Canadian who believes that the duty of a Canadian government is to legislate for Canadians will start out on a new era of prosperity and progress.

A BEDTIME STORY

by Howard R. Garis

UNCLE WIGGILY'S RUBBER BALL.

"Here you are now! Step right up this way, folks! They only cost you a nickle, five cents half a dime, and you can have more fun with 'em than you could with a cage of monkeys. Here you are!"

On a woodland path, near the moving picture theater where Uncle Wiggily went in the evening, the rabbit gentleman saw a queer old dog gentleman peddlar selling something from a bag fastened to the collar that went around his neck.

"I wonder what he has that's so funny?" thought Mr. Longears. "It must be pretty good for I see Uncle Butter buying one and also Mr. Twistytail, the pig. I'll have a look."

Uncle Wiggily hopped nearer to the place where the dog peddlar stood in the crowd of other animals, all of whom were friends of the rabbit gentleman. The queer, jolly old dog was shouting so loudly that more animals stopped to see what he was selling.

"What is it?" asked Uncle Wiggily of Mr. Twistytail as the pig gentleman waddled out of the crowd around the peddlar holdig something in one paw. "What did you buy that's funnier than a cage of moneys?"

"A rubber ball," answered the pig. "Look!" He suddenly threw a small rubber ball out in front of him. It touched the ground, bounced up and then, as Uncle Wiggily looked, he saw the ball spring back again into Mr. Twistytail's paw.

"Ha! Ha! Ha! Isn't that funny?" grunted the pig. "Isn't that a jolly, funny rubber ball? And isn't it worth a nickle, half a dime, five cents, and can't you have as much fun with that as you could with a cage full of monkeys? Look! Look!"

Again Mr. Twistytail threw the ball from his paws. "I call that wonderful!" he grunted.

"That's what it is!" bleated Uncle Butter, the goat. "I got me one, Wiggy, look!" Then the funny old goat gentleman threw his rubber ball and caught it as it bounced back to him. "Butter get one, Uncle Wiggily," he went on, cackling like a hen after she has laid an Easter egg. "They're going fast."

"But what makes the ball come back to you after you throw it away from you?" asked the rabbit gentleman.

"There's a long rubber string fast to the ball and you tie the other end of the to your paw," explained the pig gentleman. "When you throw the ball away the rubber string stretches out and snaps the ball back to you. I used to have one when I was a little squealer so I bought one now. It brings back happy days."

"So it does!" bleated Uncle Butter.

"I guess I'll buy one," said Uncle Wiggily and, going up to the dog gentleman peddlar the rabbit paid a nickle, half a dime, five cents, and took a rubber ball with a long, rubber string fast to it.

"Come on! Let's have a race to see who can throw his ball the farthest and have it come back to him!" grunted Mr. Twistytail.

"Mine's the best!" bleated Uncle Butter.

"No— Mine is!" cried Uncle Wiggily with a jolly laugh.

Then those three old animal gentlemen stood in a line on the path and began throwing the rubber balls, catching them as they snapped back on the end of the rubber string. And then, all of a sudden, along came Aunt Lettie, the goat lady; Mrs. Twistytail, the pig lady, and Mrs. Longears, the wife of Uncle Wiggily. The animal ladies looked at their husbands playing this childish game and Mrs. Longears said:

"Well, of all things! I'd better get you a rattle box, Wiggy, and a nursing bottle, I guess. You are turning into a baby."

"Ha! Ha!" laughed Uncle Wiggily, his ears blushing red, for he did not think his wife would catch him. "I'm not doing this for myself, dear wife! I bought this ball for one of the children."

"So did I'" bleated Uncle Butter.

"So did I!" grunted Mr. Twistytail. And Uncle Wiggily added:

"We're just trying them to see if they'll be safe for the little ones." And away ran the three jolly old animal gentlemen with their toys. The three wives laughed, as wives will when they catch their husbands like that and went on their way. Uncle Wiggily with the rubber ball was hurrying to get home before his wife so he could give the toy to Baby Bunty when, all of a sudden, out from behind a tree popped the Bob Cat with his silly little tail.

"Ha! Now I've caught you!" mewed the Bob Cat. "Give me what you have in your paw before I nibble you!"

"All right! Take it!" cried the rabbit. He threw the rubber ball, which hit the Bob Cat right on his soft and tender nose "Bang!" The Bob Cat tried to catch the ball, but it bounced back into Uncle Wiggily's paw on the rubber string and this so surprised the Bad Chap that he ran away and, if he hasn't stopped, he may be running yet. Then Uncle Wiggily took the ball toy home to Baby Bunty who had lots of fun with it.

In Police Court

Charged with reckless or negligent driving, a local man pleaded guilty in Police Court this morning and was fined $35 and $4.25 costs. Chief Newhall stated that the man had been drinking but he wasn't drunk. He drove his car over the sidewalk onto a lawn on Dickson Street on Saturday night.

Philip Minnicola will spend ten days in jail for having been a nuisance to the public on George Street. Chief Newhall stated that repeated warnings had failed to stop Minnicola's actions on the street and as a lesson to him he was brought into court as a vagrant.

More than the usual number of week-end drunks faced the Magistrate, and sorrowfully pleaded guilty. All were first offenders, and each was relieved of the customary $10 fine. An Otonabee man pleaded guilty to allowing drunkenness on his premises and was fined $10 and $5.50 costs.

Voice of the People

Letters to be printed in the Voice of the People column must be received at The Examiner Office on the day before it is desired to have them published.

Poor Mr. Bennett does not deserve the backslaps he is receiving. First Mr. McNichol of Toronto, with Conscription, makes a complete hash of it in Quebec, and then Mr. Peck of Peterborough, deserts him in the open, goes right over to march under Mr. King's banner. Although Mr. Peck said at Douro that "Canada First" was the only hope, he turned right about and affirmed that "the Empire is our only hope," at North Monaghan. Mr. Peck is to be congratulated on having seen the light. It had to come. He cannot be elected on a policy that proclaims "Canada First" not the "Empire First." But what will Mr. Lollipop say?

J. H. BURNHAM.

OPEN LETTER

Peterborough, July 12, 1930.

E. A. Peck, Esq.,
City:

Dear Sir: As you have decided to be a prophet of gloom and have started the whisper of death campaign, which, if believed, will have the effect of scaring capital from our industries, and shortening employment of the working man, let me submit to you, the figures of Peterborough's prosperity now, compared with her bankrupt condition in 1921, when you and Mr. Meighen were campaigning together. These are statistics.

Would you be willing to discuss these statistics with me, so that the public will have an opportunity of a more intensive study of them?

I might add that the increase in wages from the last days of the Meighen Government, 1921, up to 1928, which is the last date of which the figures are available, show an increase in salary and wages of $2,000,000 in favor of 1928, and an increase in the value of products of approximately $8,000,000, and over 25 per cent. of an increase in production.

	Peterborough 1921	1928
Establishments	76	79
Capital	$18,220,497	$24,795,223
Employees	3,897	5,349
Salaries, wages	$ 3,712,801	$ 5,712,694
Cost of materials	$19 040,393	$20,844,956
Gross val. of products	$28,214,981	$36,134,040

Yours truly,
G. N. GORDON.

HON. W. EULER MAKES FIRST ADDRESS OF CAMPAIGN

KITCHENER, Ont., July 14 (C.P.). —The present unemployment problem wasn't due to any neglect of the present Dominion Government, said Hon. W. D. Euler, Minister of National Revenue, making his first address here in the present election campaign Saturday night, but was due to the poor Western wheat crop last year and the failure to market it, stock gambling, seasonal unemployment and other factors.

The Minister, who was nominated at the meeting by the Independent Liberal Association, to contest the constituency of Waterloo North in the forthcoming election, commended the Dunning budget. Already, he said, foreign industries are transferring their export business to Canadian plants as a result of the advantages to be obtained.

He: C'm on, give me a kiss.
She: Naw. I've got scruples.
He: That's all right, I've had them twice.

TARZAN OF THE APES No. 10 (Metropolitan Newspaper Feature Service, Inc.) By Edgar Rice Burroughs

During that first year, Greystoke was several times attacked by the great apes. But he never again ventured outside without both rifle and revolvers. He had strengthened the cabin and fitted locks to the door, so he had little fear of the huge beasts now continually infesting the vicinity.

In his leisure, Greystoke read, often aloud to his wife from the store of books he had brought. Among these were many for little children. Also he wrote in his diary recording the details of their strange life and this book he kept locked in a little metal box. It was written in French.

A year from the day her little son was born, Lady Greystoke passed quietly away in the night. Her end was peaceful and the horror of the situation came to him very slowly—the fearful responsibility that had devolved upon him with the care of still nursing infant son.

The last entry in his diary was made the morning following her death and he recites the sad details in a matter-of-fact way that adds to the pathos, sorrow, and hopelessness of this cruel blow: "My little son is crying for nourishment—O Alice, Alice—what shall I do?"

And as Lord Greystoke wrote the last words his hand was destined ever to pen, he dropped his head wearily into his arms upon the table. For a long time no sound broke the death-like stillness of the jungle save the piteous wailings of the tiny, hungry man-child. Then came the apes!

KING CONFIDENT

to establish and maintain a strong bond between Canada and the Mother Country.

As a result of tariff changes made in the budget, said the Prime Minister, Canada was transferring $200,000,000 of purchasing power from the United States to the Mother Country. Public men and newspapers across the line were beginning to feel that perhaps the United States had been somewhat too drastic in her tariff policy toward Canada and Mr. King expressed the opinion that President Hoover might decide on some modifications of the tariff.

Sums Up Results

At his northern meeting Mr. King indulged in a forecast of the election result which he summed up in the word, "I think there is no doubt in the world that the Liberal Party is going to be returned on July 28".

Hon. Ernest Lapointe, Minister of Justice, who as been tourin ga section of the prairie provinces, also spoke from the Prince Albert platform. He contrasted the Liberal policy with respect to trade, a policy he said, of friendship and goodwill, with the policy of "blasting a way to trade".

FIELD BATTERY GOES TO CAMP

Local Unit Leaves For Petawawa Under Command of Major J. W. Stevenson.

FORTY-NINE MEN.

Under the command of Major J. W. Stevenson, the 4th Field Battery, Canadian Artillery, entertained for the Petawawa artillery camp at the C.P.R. station to-day. The Battery will join the other units of its brigade, the 2nd Battery, and the 2nd Battery from Cobourg, and encamp in charge of Brigade Commander Colonel D. J Lawrie of this city.

Forty-nine men, all ranks, composed the khaki-clad column of soldiers who marched from the Armouries to the station shortly after one o'clock. Second in command is Captain J. A. Harstone, M.C., and others of the staff are Lieut. H. Rogers, Lieut. A. Stevenson, and Lieut. L R. Melane. Major W. Sunmen will act as battery sergeant-major in the absence of Battery Sergt.-Major E. G. Sutherland. Sergt. Bruce Sloane accompanied the Battery as Quartre Master.

The four Q. F. 18-pounder field pieces used by the Battery are in charge of Sergeants W. T. Whitnell, H. Curtis, J. Weir and T. O'Brien. Sergt. J. Walton is on the headquarters staff.

Arriving in Ottawa this afternoon the battery will continue to Petawawa and encamp early to-morrow morning. Camp will break up on July 22. The men will be drilled in artillery work under conditions as closely approximated to those of actual service as possible. This is made possible by the extensive firing ranges, many square miles in extent, at Petawawa.

This year the men will find a further trend towards modernization as equipment to almost completely mechanize the artillery units has been provided. The guns will no longer be drawn by the picturesque war horses but by gasoline tractors.

TWO CANDIDATES ARE NOMINATED

Fraser Aylesworth, Liberal and Alexander Thomas Conservative Bearers For Hastings-Peterborough Riding.

EXPECT CLOSE RACE.

MADOC, July 13 (By Staff Reporter).—With election day only a short two weeks away, Conservatives and Liberals gathered here to-day to nominate their official standard-bearers in the Hastings-Peterborough riding for the campaign. Only one name was brought forward by either party, Fraser Aylesworth, civil engineer of Madoc, being the unanimous choice as Liberal candidate, and Alexander Thomas Embury, physician of Bancroft, being unopposed as the best selection to carry the Conservative hopes.

The nomination went off very quietly, the weather likely having much to do in lowering the enthusiasm and interest in the important event. Nominations closed at 2 o'clock this afternoon, when E. C. Pusts, returning officer, made his official announcement as to Aylesworth's and Embury's nomination.

Both candidates told The Examiner that they intend to swing into action at once in a strong attempt to carry the riding. Both stated that while they expect a hot fight, it would be a clean one.

This afternoon a great mass meeting is being held, at which the candidates will jointly address the electors of this district.

Girl's Body Is Found In Fire-Box of Furnace

PORTLAND, Maine, July 14 (C.P.)—A 22-year-old youth, alleged by police to have confessed the brutal slaying of a 20-year girl who worked in the same store when she repulsed his advances, pleaded not guilty to-day to a charge of murder and was remanded to jail without bail for the September term of the court.

James M. Mitchell, the youth, was arrested yesterday, a few hours after the charred body of Miss Lilliam I. Macdonald was found in the fire-box of a furnace in the basement of a Congress street stationery store.

MODERN PORTIA

LINDSAY, July 13.—A modern Portia, Miss M. Crossman, the first woman lawyer ever to appear in a Lindsay court, by her pleading secured suspended sentence for Hyman Goodman, Toronto Jew, on three charges of fraud. Following her successful fight, she was warmly complimented by Magistrate Jordan.

Goodman had given worthless cheques in purchase of hogs and calves from three farmers. Miss Crossman in her pleading told the court that Goodman was only a youth of 19, was poorly educated and in many ways was not responsible for what he did. He had made full reparation to those whom he had defrauded.

LIEUT. T. D. VANCE

Dominion Explorers, made the announcement with deep regret of the pilots death. According to his statement Priske was travelling from Red Rock Lake near the Copper Mine to Great Bear Lake. "On account of fog, smoke, and glassy water the landing was obscure,' said the statement.

Thrown Through Window.

"Examination of the plane shows that Pilot Vance was apparently propelled through the front window. Vance's body is still missing. Dragging for the body is being continued as the location of the crash is known, but very deep water is hindering this work. Monte Priske escaped with injured hands.

"Vance held an enviable record among pilots. He was with the Royal Flying Corps in the flying air course. He flew in France with the Independent Air Force in long distance bombing raids, and after the war was one of the pilots in the four Handley-Paige machines which made a record flight from England to Cairo.

"After several years in Canada he joined the staff of the Northern Aerial Mineral Explorations, with which he remained until last spring. He was one of the pilots connected with the search for the MacAlpine party, and when his plane became disabled at Baker Lake he stayed there until it was possible to travel to civilization by dog team rather than have Dominion Explorers risk the sending of planes to get him out.'

LEEDS, Eng., July 15 (C.P. Cable). — The cricket Test match between England and Australia, which has been played on the Headingley grounds during the past four days, was to-day left drawn. England and Australia have now played three of the five Test matches set for the present tour of the Aussies. Each has won a game. The next Test will be played at Manchester, beginning July 26.

England fought all the way with their backs against the wall. Wally Hammond, the English captain, played the finest innings yet seen for England in the present series, making 121 in a last ditch stand.

THOMAS QUERIED ON GRAIN ACTION

Denies He Told Canadian Pool Officials to Hold Up Wheat.

NO DEFINITE AGREEMENT.

LONDON, England, July 15 (C.P. Cable).—Rt. Hon. J. H. Thomas, Secretary for the Dominions, was asked in the House of Commons this afternoon if there was any truth in the suggestion that any action of his induced the Canadian Wheat Pool "to hold up wheat for the market." Mr. Thomas merely replied that on the contrary he had taken the view that wheat at $1.40 was too high.

Mr. Thomas was also queried regarding the discussions he had with the Canadian Government while he was in Canada last Autumn and about the visit of Canadian Wheat Pool officials some months ago. He referred the questioner to his statement of last February, when he said it had been found impossible to reach a definite agreement about regulation of wheat shipments to Britain.

BITTER ANSWER IS GIVEN KING

Scored As Attempting to Use Unemployment to Further Political Interests.

FOLLOWS REGINA SPEECH.

(By George Finlay, C. P. Staff Correspondent.)

REGINA, Sask., July 15. — Immediately following the meeting of Prime Minister W. L. Mackenzie King in the Regina armouries last night, Premier J. T. M. Anderson, of Saskatchewan, delivered an address from a local radio station in which he charged the leader of the Liberal party with making "one of the most vicious attacks ever made on the government of this province."

The Prime Minister in his address had declared that the Province of Saskatchewan had not sought the assistance of the Federal government for the unemployed, and charged there had been "a game to play politics with the province's unemployed."

In his radio broadcast, Premier Anderson declared Mr. King had not attempted to deny making the famous "five cent" speech. Instead he attempted to bribe the electors in what will go down in history as the "one dollar" speech, declared the Provincial premier.

The Saskatchewan premier accused the prime minister of attempting to use the unemployment situation to further his political interests, and of "trafficking in the suffering of humanity."

BEATTY TO OPEN C.N.E.

TORONTO, Ont., July 15.—(C.P.)—E. W. Beatty, K.C., President of the Canadian Pacific Railways, has accepted the invitation to open this year's Canadian National Exhibition on August 22. The 1930 exhibition will be known as "All Canada Year."

Re-elected

ROBERT GARDINER

leader of the Progressive party, who was returned to the House of Commons by acclamation yesterday, thus becoming the first member of the new House.

GARDINER IS ONLY MAN ACCLAIMED IN NOMINATIONS

Indications Point to Many Three-cornered Fights, Escially in West.

STILL TIME TO WITHDRAW.

Manion Faces Two in Only Triangular Scrap in 15 Ontario Nominations Monday.

OTTAWA, Ont., July 15 (By George Hambleton, C.P. Staff Correspondent) —In seventy constituencies candidates were nominated yesterday for the Federal elections. In all the seventy there was but one acclamation, Robert Gardiner of Acadia, Alberta, leader of the Progressives. Mr. Gardiner will be the first member of the new Parliament.

The nominations indicate that three-cornered fights will be common, particularly in the Western Provinces. In three Quebec constituencies nominating there will be one three-cornered fight, that of Pontiac, where two Liberals and one Conservative are in the field.

Manion Facing Two.

In fifteen Ontario constituencies nominating yesterday, the only three-cornered fight will be that of Fort William, where Hon. R. J. Manion is the Conservative candidate. In 1926, Mr. Manion had a straight fight with Labor and won with a majority of 2,733. He now has both a Liberal and a Communist to face. Miss Agnes MacPhail — Canada's lone woman member for three Parliaments—was at first threatened with a three-cornered fight in South-East Grey, but no Liberal was nominated in her constituency, and Miss MacPhail battles, as in 1926, only with a Conservative. Her majority then was 1,728.

And yesterday's nominations, partial as they are, tell their story of the changing scene. The name of Hon. Rodolphe Lemieux—its member since Laurier swept into power in 1896—disappears from the nominations in Gaspe. Speaker of the

TELEVISION HAS TO BE PERFECTED

Test Broadcast Shows Pictures of Postcard Size, Partly Blurred.

GREAT STEP AHEAD.

LONDON, England, July 15 (Canadian Press). — Last night's broadcasting by radio television of a play given in a studio room was acclaimed to-day by the critics as an historical event and scientific achievement.

The Baird system of television was used, the play chosen being Luigi Pirandello's "The Man With the Flower in His Mouth," with a cast of four characters, three of whom were portrayed.

Private televisors in subscribers' homes showed pictures of their acting of about postcard size, sometimes clearly and sometimes blurred. While the experiment met with at least a reasonable measure of success, the critics opined the development had much further to go before perfection would be approached.

7,000 PRESENT AT REGINA RALLY TO HEAR PREMIER

Prime Minister King Will Conclude Western Tour in Winnipeg To-night.

STEVENS AT REGINA.

Premier Anderson Replies to Hon. Mr. King in Radio Broadcast.

REGINA, Sask., July 15 (Canadian Press). — After one of the most strenuous meetings of his campaign, which he started just a month ago, Right Hon. W. L. Mackenzie King, Prime Minister of Canada, left here last night for Winnipeg, where he concludes a Western tour which has taken him right through to the Pacific Coast.

Many Hecklers Present.

Among the 7,000 persons who attended the Liberal Leader's meeting in the Regina Armouries were many hecklers and from time to time interruptions and "boos" were frequent especially when the Premier dealt with the problem of the unemployed. But unperturbed, Mr. King pursued his outline of the campaign issues, answered questions shouted at him from the audience, and replied to a communication submitted by the Unemployed Men's Association of the city.

For two hours, Mr. King dealt with unemployment, the Budget, and problems of and representation for the Imperial Conference to be held in London, and again he reiterated the Federal administration's policy in dealing with the unemployed. When requested, he said, the Dominion Government was prepared to assist the province's "dollar-for-dollar" in the relief of unemployed.

Federal assistance had not been asked for by the province of Saskatchewan, and he charged "there had been a great game to play politics with the unemployed of Saskatchewan."

In answer to statements made by Premier S. F. Tolmie, of British Columbia, and his Minister of Labor, Hon. W. A. Mackenzie, the Prime Minister declared, emphatically no applications for assistance, which could be placed before Parliament, had been received. He read a communication from the British Columbia Premier asking for co-operation in view of

MISHAPS DELAY SIMCOE FIREMEN

Station Burns to Ground After Brigade Goes to Wrong Address.

HOSE SPRING LEAK.

SIMCOE, Ont., July 15. —(CP)— A series of mishaps delayed firemen while the Canadian National Railways station burned to the ground here last night.

First the firemen raced to the wrong station and by the time they had gotten to the burning building and laid their hose, the fire had eaten through the walls and they collapsed on top of the hose.

Many hot moments were spent by the firemen in extricating the hose and when things were right once more the fire fighters discovered the water pressure was nil. When this had been remedied one of the main hose lines sprung a leak so bad it was useless until repaired. After water was finally poured onto the burning building it was found a full tank car of gasoline was on the siding nearby and in danger of igniting. There was no engine available so firemen called on about 100 citizens to help push the car out of the danger zone.

New Zealand Deer Now Menace Farms

AUCKLAND, New Zealand, July 15 (C.P.).—Deer introduced into New Zealand 40 years ago as an attraction for sportsmen have become a serious menace to farms.

A conference of 48 agricultural societies called recently to consider the situation, passed resolutions calling on the Government to take immediate measures to exterminate the animals. Government shooting parties have been sent to various districts to begin destruction.

GENERAL STRIKE TURNS INTO RIOT FOURTEEN SLAIN

Eight of Dead in Alexandria Clash Reported to be Europeans.

250 INJURED.

Cairo Reinforcements Rush to Aid Troops Holding Mohamet Ali Square.

ALEXANDRIA, Egypt, July 15 (Canadian Press). — Fourteen persons, of whom eight were Europeans, were killed in serious rioting during a general strike here to-day. About 250 persons were reported injured, many of them seriously. One of the dead was an Italian citizen.

Reports Vary.

Another of many reports circulated about the city administration buildings was that seventeen persons had been killed and 130 injured. This report mentioned no Europeans.

Two senior police officers were known to be wounded and a large number of lower grade police and soldiers also were on the casualty list.

The situation to-night was somewhat quieter.

To-day's disorders in Alexandria were precipitated in sympathy with the victims of recent political rioting in Amnsourah and Bilbeis. A general strike had been called. The previous disorders followed the resignation of Premier Nihas Pasha when the King refused to sign a bill which parliament had passed. The King dissolved parliament but Nahas Pasha received a vote of confidence.

Pass Resolutions Against King.

Wafd Deputies and Senators, numbering about 500, later met as a self constituted National Assembly, and passed resolutions against the king. In subsequent meetings of these political factions police interfered and violence resulted.

CAIRO, Egypt, July 15. — (C.P.) —The Exchange Telegraph Company reported to-night that Mohamet Ali quare in Alexandria, had been occupied by a detachment of Egyptian Army troops and that reinforcements were being rushed from Cairo.

TEACHERS NEED AID IN CHICAGO

Back Pay Amounts to $6,500,000 Holiday Season Has Started.

MANY FACE POVERTY.

CHICAGO, Ills., July 15 (Canadian Press). — The financial situation among Chicago's 13,000 Public School teachers is once more acute.

The dire days of late winter have been paralleled. It is vacation time and pay cheques are three weeks overdue.

To date, the back pay amounts to $6,500,000. The Board has for sale $13,000,000 in tax warrants, but they are unable to market these until the 1928 and 1929 warrants are redeemed.

Many school teachers are facing actual poverty. One, with $275 in back pay due her, told Lewis E. Myers, school board member, that she had only 75 cents. That was yesterday.

GOSELIN WINS SHETLAND PONY

Eight Year Old Boy Had Collected 5,850 Caps.

M. LEGROW SECOND.

Eight-year-old Frank Goselin, 100 Park Street South, is the proud possessor of a handsome Shetland pony as the result of his efforts in collecting 5,850 caps off Coca-Cola bottles in the past six weeks. The award was made on Saturday after he was declared the winner of the Coca-Cola premium contest.

M. Legrow was runner-up with 4,850 caps, 1,000 short of the winner's total. George Dormer of the "Sugar Bowl" was not far behind Legrow with 4,580 caps, and was followed in the running by P. O'Toole with 4,350.

The contest began on June 1 and was completed July 12. Similar contests were staged in several other Canadian cities.

GUTHRIE ATTACKS FISCAL POLICY OF LIBERAL GOV'T

Claims Crisis Brought On By Nine Years of Misrule.

HAS BEEN M.P. 30 YEARS.

Veteran Makes First Speech in Campaign Since Illness.

FERGUS, Ont., July 15 (C.P.) — Lengthy criticism of the Dominion Government's fiscal and economic policies marked the first address delivered in the present election campaign by Hon. Hugh Guthrie, member for Wellington South in the last election and Conservative candidate in that riding for re-election. Speaking before a large audience here last night Mr. Guthrie charged the Government's administration of affairs pertaining to agriculturists had produced "ruinous effects."

Speaking vigorously despite his long illness that had caused his physician to warn him against strenuous campaigning, Mr. Guthrie said the sole issue in the election campaign was "The sorry pass to which the Liberals had brought Canadian prosperity and progress, and the need for vigorous Conservative Government to make Canada strong and the Empire stronger."

"Tories to Win"

"The tide is running with us, and this time we are going to win," he continued. "The country is facing the worst crisis of unemployment and bad business in its history. It is caused by nine years of misrule by the King Government, acts of omission and commission alike."

Referring to the Government's tariff, foreign trade and general fiscal policies, Mr. Guthrie said these were responsible for what he claimed was an injustice to Canadian farmers. Production of dairying, farming and livestock industries which once enjoyed a large export market had been wiped out, he said, while on top of that the home markets had been swamped by foreign imports which the Government had allowed to enter over conveniently lowered tariff barriers.

At the outset of his speech, Mr. Guthrie remarked if he was re-elected he would be "the Father of the House of Commons." When Parliament was prorogued Mr. Guthrie, who has been a member of Parliament for 30 years, was the oldest member in point of service.

GREAT INTEREST SHOWN IN GREY

Over 2,000 Attend Nomination of Miss Macphail and Dr. Campbell.

OUTLINE PLATFORMS.

DURHAM, July 15 (C.P.)—Fully 2,000 electors of the riding of South-east Grey assembled at Durham yesterday to attend the official nomination in that riding in which Miss Agnes Macphail, member in the last House, and who has represented the riding for the past nine years, is being opposed by Dr. Louis, G. Campbell, dentist of Markdale, who is carrying the Conservative standard.

Miss Macphail spoke first and reiterated the claim made during her campaign, that she always voted on measures in the House on their merits. She decried the principle of party politics which often made men vote for legislation of which they did not approve, and oppose measures which they felt were beneficial.

She explained her attitude in the matter of a divorce court for Ontario by saying that she believed that in a court was the only place where all parties would get a fair chance and the children affected would have their interests guarded.

Mr. Campbell dealt with what he termed the outstanding issues in the campaign, unemployment and world trade.

Speakers Outline Party's Platform To Big Audience

Dr. Alexander Embury, Conservative, and Fraser Aylsworth, Liberal, Nominated at Madoc Yesterday to Contest Federal Election in Hastings-Peterborough.

Conservative Candidate Supported By Hon. J. R. Cooke And Liberal Candidate By J. C. German of Toronto

Dr. Embury Claims King Government Has Not Legislated for the Benefit of the Farmers While Mr. Aylsworth Maintained Unemployment Was Being Exploited.

MADOC, July 15.—(By a Staff Reporter).—Everton C. Tufts, returning officer for the riding of Hastings-Peterborough, received yesterday afternoon the official nominations of the Conservative and Liberal candidates, respectively Dr. Alexander Thomas Embury, physician of Bancroft, and Fraser Aylsworth, civil engineer of Madoc. Dr. Embury was the Conservative member in the last Parliament.

This is one of the fifteen constituencies in Ontario which the statutory preliminaries for this election were held two weeks instead of one in advance of pollingday. The reason for this additional week in which to prepare the ballots and set up the election machinery for July 28 was due to the fact that Hastings-Peterborough is one of the largest electoral divisions in this part of the province, its polling places are comparatively far scattered and are not as easily accessible as in the more settled and especially as in the compact urban ridings.

When the lists were closed at 2 p.m. standard time Mr. Tufts proceeded from the town hall to the auditorium down town where the customary joint meetings of nomination day are usually held. For a time it seemed doubtful whether this feature would be arranged. While the hall was filling with men and women from the town and country, Dr. Embury and Mr. Aylsworth discussed the details of the usual program of speeches. Naturally the candidates were to be heard, if there was to be a meeting, and it transpired that Dr. Embury was to be assisted by the Hon. J. R. Cooke, and Mr. Aylsworth by Mr. J. C. German of Toronto. But there was a temporary hitch over the question of precedence.

Mr. Aylsworth contended that Dr. Embury should speak first and give an account of his steawardship, but Dr. Embury intimated that the Liberal candidate had agreed to the reverse order. Finally, Mr. Tufts decided to call the meeting to order, and Walter Whytock, reeve of Madoc,

CANADIAN TEAM IS CHOSEN FOR KOLAPORE CUP

Winnipeg Man Has Perfect Score in First Stage of St. George's Shoot.

TWO HAVE 49.

Former Member of Black Watch Wins the Times Silver Trophy.

BISLEY CAMP, Bisley, Eng., July 15 (C.P.)—Eight men were specially picked from the Canadian Bisley team to-day to defend the Rajah of Kolapore's Imperial Challenge Cup, which Canada won by a decisive margin at last year's meeting of the National Rifle Association.

The selections for the Canadian Kolapore team were not made until after the shooting in the day's principal, individual service rifle competitions, the first stage of the St. George's Challenge Vase and the Corporation of London Silver Trophy shoot.

Some Creditable Scores

In these individual competitions the Canadians chalked up some creditable scores. Lieut. G. E. Molesey of Winnipeg had a perfect score of 50 in the first stage of the St. George's shoot. He is not a member of the Canadian Bisley team but is shooting alongside the other Canadians. The best Canadian teamsmen in this shoot were Lieut. J. Bowen of Edmonton and Captain W. G. Holland of Victoria, each with 49.

In the Corporation of London shoot Lieut. A. C. Carter of Toronto led the Canadians with a good 48. Sergt. J. V. Eastman of Kenaston, Sask., and Company Sgt. Major W. A. Hawkins of Toronto followed with 46.

The Canadian team for the Kolapore Cup competition was announced as follows: Lieut. Desmond Burke of Ottawa, former King's Prize winner; Lieut. J. Bowen of Edmonton; Lieut A. C. Carter of Toronto; Sgt. Major G. M. Emslie of Toronto; Sergeant C W. Foam of Montreal; Company Sgt. Major W. A. Hawkins of Toronto, Sgt J. H. Regan of Victoria, and Company Sgt. Major H. BENNETT ENDS TOUR IN QUEBEC

Promises Legislation Giving Canadians Chance of Fair Competition.

IN SHERBROOKE.

SHERBROOKE, Que., July 15. — (By Thomas Green, C.P. Staff Correspondent).—A meeting in Three Rivers this afternoon will conclude the Quebec itinerary of Hon. R. B. Bennett, Conservative leader, who will leave immediately after his address to attend meetings in Ontario tomorrow.

The Conservative leader went through the eastern townships yesterday, holding small impromptu meetings with his supporters along the way, and addressing two scheduled meetings at Granby in the afternoon and here last evening.

Mr. Bennett talked to the textile workers and asked them if they were working full time. He was informed that they were not.

Why did not Canada supply her hosiery requirements, asked the Conservative leader, and he went on to observe that in Japan girls earning the equivalent of twelve cents a day were making hosiery that was selling at eighty cents per dozen pairs. "Do you see where that leads to?" queried Mr. Bennett.

Unfair Competition Blamed.

Unfair competition had caused unemployment in the textile industry, Mr. Bennett told his hearers. "Do you, Liberal or Conservative, believe that Oriental labor should replace Canadian labor?" he asked. If returned to power, the Conservative leader promised he would see that legislation was passed at the first session of Parliament affording Canadians an equal opportunity and fair competition with the world.

A procession of motor cars and people on foot greeted the Conservative leader at Sherbrooke and escorted, by five bands, wound through the city streets for an hour, delaying the meeting until 9.30. The meeting was held indoors but loud speakers enabled the overflow meeting to hear the speeches.

COST OF LIVING HAS INCREASED SAYS STRICKLAND

Present Condition of Depression in Canada Direct Result of Government Policies.

SPEAKS AT SELWYN.

Government Has Failed to Give Farmers Any Protection Says E. A. Peck.

"During the last six years, despite Mackenzie King's promises, there has been a very material increase in the bare living expenses of the average Canadian family. Let the Liberal Party explain that if it can." Such was the statement of J. F. Strickland, M.P.P., speaking last night at Selwyn in the interest of E. A. Peck, Conservative candidate for Peterborough West. Mr. Peck also addressed the meeting, stressing farm depression, unemployment, and the alleged inadequacy of the Dunning budget.

Admitting that governments could not be blamed for everything and that depression today was world-wide, Mr. Strickland declared, however: "The condition of this country is a direct result of the policies of the government." The time, he said, was ripe for a change, and it was the duty of the electors on July 28 to see that the stalemate in the House — by which the Liberal government during its last term has been forced to bargain here and bargain there — was abandoned in favour of "something definite".

Mackenzie King accused the Conservative Party of overemphasizing and exploiting unemployment and kindred topics, the speaker claimed, but what the Conservative party asserted was that depression in this country could be remedied by the application of Conservative principals as set forth by the Hon. R. B. Bennett.

Follow Bennett to Sanity

"If you want to follow Mr. Burnham and similar so-called leaders, if you want to follow the wind as it blows, you may," stated Mr. Strickland. "But if you want to follow Mr. Bennett to sanity, you have your choice on July 28."

The return of Canadian capital during the last six years had been hailed as a government achievement, merely a return on investments, a "bookeeping item".

The Hon. Mr. King had denied aid to the provinces in his "Five Cent Speech". According to the British North America Act, however, each province was entitled to a subsidy. But the more than two and a half million dollars a year subsidy granted the Province of Ontario by the Meighen government for such undertakings as highways, unemployment, and agricultural relief, had been discontinued by the Liberal administration. The case of Ontario was typical of that of other provinces, the speaker declared, and indicative of the Premier's "Five-cent" policy.

Mr. Strickland scored the Toronto Globe heavily, asserting: "The Globe has supported Mackenzie King in this campaign blindly and without reason. It has warped news items beyond all recognition." In the matter of the recent British Bankers' Manifesto the Globe had been signally unfair, he said, twisting the meaning of the London dispatches editorially in

GOLD MINING IS ROTARY THEME

E. L. Longmore, of Hollinger Mine, Gives Interesting Talk to Campbellford Club.

IS MILL MANAGER

CAMPBELLFORD, July 15. — (By Examiner Staff Correspondent). — Featuring the weekly luncheon of the Campbellford Rotary Club, E. L. Longmore, mill manager of the Hollinger mines, was the guest speaker, and gave a very instructive talk on mining operations in that area. H. N. Carr, president of the club, occupied the chair.

Mr. Longmore, who was introduced by his brother, Dr. B. Longmore, spoke of the finding of the vein in 1909 at Porcupine, which attracted from fifteen to twenty thousand prospectors, but it was not until 1912 that the mine eventually got going. Up until the war the prospect was poor, because of the cost of operation, but since the war this condition has changed.

Of the mining of the ore, the speaker said that it was mined from below. A shaft was sunk below the load and extraction is made from underneath, working up all the time. From these shafts cross-cuts and drifts are run. From these cross-cuts the ore is mined, the space caused by its removal being timbered.

The ore is then taken and trucked to the shaft head. Here it is crushed at the rate of seven hundred tons an hour and hoisted to the surface. Ore is always hoisted from the lowest level of the mine.

Mr. Longmore went on to describe the method used for the process of extraction, which was by applying a solution of cyanide, after which it is ground, the most expensive process it goes through, and is then milled to an extreme fineness. It is then put through a filter, following which a vacuum is used for the extraction of air, and then a small portion of zinc dust is blown into it. It is then precipitated gold, of a purple-black shade, which after heating turns into the yellow gold known to people. It is then made in bullion bricks of from eighty to a hundred pounds weight apiece.

The business part of the meeting took the form of a discussion regarding the street fair which is to be held some time in August. Final arrangements for this function will be made at the next meeting of the club.

A letter of appreciation was also read by the club president from the family of the late C. Stephens, thanking the club for their expression of sympathy.

FERGUSON HOLDS SEAWAY PLAN UP SIFTON CHARGES

Outcome of Delay Playing Power Right Into American Hands.

U. S. DESPAIRS OF ACTION.

States Ontario Could Start Morrisburg Section But For Premier's Opposition.

BROCKVILLE, Ont., July 15.—(C.P.)— The St. Lawrence navigation and power project has forced itself into the present Dominion political campaign despite a conspiracy among leaders to ignore it, declared Harry Sifton, of Toronto, Ont., speaking last night over a radio hook-up from this city. In support of the stand of Premier Mackenzie King on this question, Mr. Sifton charged the Premier of Ontario, Hon. C. Howard Ferguson with "employing a costly policy of obstruction, disunion and delay which robs the people of Ontario and all Canada of deep water navigation and cheap power and plays directly into the hands of American power interests."

Discussing the objections of Premier Ferguson to the St. Lawrence project as worked out by the International Commission, Mr. Sifton said the issue between Premier Mackenzie King and the Premier of Ontario was clear cut and "must be settled at the coming election." For the first time, said Mr. Sifton, the public could voice its will on this important question. If Mr. King was returned to power, he said, the St. Lawrence development for both navigation and power would be pushed to an immediate conclusion. He predicted a determined effort to have the international section of the St. Lawrence project developed by private exploiting companies if the Hon. R. B. Bennett won the Dominion election.

Battle For Confederation.

Mr. Sifton maintained Canada was fighting the battle for Confederation. Mr. Ferguson had, he said, by maintaining the "insincere" claim that Ontario had exclusive and paramount rights over the Dominion Government to power and navigation development of the St. Lawrence, placed his feet fairly on the road which, if followed would disrupt Confederation itself. He characterized the Premier of Ontario as the only official advocating the export of Canadian power.

Summarizing the Dominion proposals in regard to the project Mr. Sifton said the Province of Ontario could, if it so desired, start work on the Morrisburg section immediately. He put the responsibility for "immediate action," or "further expensive delay" on Mr. Ferguson. Mr. Sifton said the United States, despairing of immediate co-operation from Canada in the natural desire to improve the St. Lawrence, were "going ahead at enormous expense to build canals within their own territory, using partly Canadian water to float the vessels to the gulf."

CANADA NEEDS WIDER MARKETS SAYS J. J. DUFFUS

Dunning Budget Will Look After Great Need Liberal Candidate Says.

GORDON SPEAKS AT DOURO.

Blue Ruin Plank of Conservative Platform Has Failed Says Speaker.

"We must have broader and greater markets. That is the main issue. I believe that the Dunning budget will give to Canadian people markets for their surplus products from the farms and the factories but we must wait until the present surplus is off the shelves. If our near neighbor shuts the door in our face we must look elsewhere."

This declaration epitomized an address of J. J. Duffus, the keynote of which was "Canada for the Empire," at a Liberal rally at P. G. Towne's Hall, in Douro, last night. The hall was filled to overflowing with an enthusiastic audience, which also heard addresses by the Hon. G. N. Gordon, Dr. M. Crough and Howard Quinn.

Many factories in Peterborough owe their existence to British preference, which provides them with the necessary export markets, Mr. Duffus claimed. British preference may in time result in many more factories in Peterborough. The budget has been almost universally accepted by agricultural, financial and industrial leaders in the Dominion, he maintained, claiming that "nothing since the Great War has had such a tendency to cement the minds and hearts of the people of the Empire as the Dunning budget."

Conditions Comparatively Good.

The blue ruin" plank in the Conservative platform was flailed by Mr Duffus. Unemployment is worse in nearly every country in the world than it is in Canada, he said. Ranks of the unemployed in Canada are being swelled by a depression in the

COMPANION FAILS TO FIND LOCATION OF INJURED PILOT

Falls Exhausted After Leading Rescuers All Day in Dense Forest.

BOY PILOT UNDER PLANE.

Lecturer Escapes in Crash on Woodford Mountain and Seeks Aid.

BENNINGTON, Vt., July 15. — Donald Mockler collapsed last night while trying to lead a searching party to the spot in the mountains near here where Frank Goldsborough, boy aviator, lies pinned in the wreckage of his plane. Mockler exhausted when he joined the searchers, was carried to a store about eight miles from here.

The plane left Cleveland, Ohio, yesterday morning. Mockler was to deliver a lecture at Keene, N.H., last night, and Goldsborough was acting as his pilot on the trip.

Rescuers' first attemps to reach the imprisoned pilot had been unsuccessful, and scores of volunteers are searching aimlessly through the thickly wooded sides of Woodford Mountain. Plans brought from Manchester and Springfield circled the woodland for miles without avail. They reported back to their ports at dark to wait until daylight to take up their search again.

Alive when his companion left him, Goldsborough lay somewhere in a tract of unbroken wilderness. Mockler, who scoured the mountainsides with rescuers, was unable to take them to the wrecked plane. He had travelled five hours through the dense woods unmindful of direction and only remembered that "they crashed a tree near the top of a mountain.

TWO SOCIETIES FAIL.

Lower Turnovers Blamed on Reduced Wages and Farm Product Prices.

TORONTO, Ont., July 15.—(CP)—Constricted purchasing power in both the rural and industrial areas of Canada, owing largely to reduced farm product prices, lower wages and unemployment, is reflected in the 1929 report of the executive of the Co-operative Union of Canada submitted at the opening of the Congress of the Union today.

18 Societies' Turnover Down

Eighteen of the Union's affiliated retail societies reported a fall in turnover during the year while ten recorded increases. The net surplus, or profit, of the reporting societies was $294,642—$48,107 less than the previous year's profit. The Societies' share capital decreased by $52,756 to $556,614.

The executive stated that only two Societies had failed to meet their expenses for the year and their total loss was only $1,103. This result is described as gratifying in view of the heavy shrinkage in business during the depression era in the latter half of last year.

In regard to purchase dividends, 20 retail Societies, as compared with 21 last year, were able to declare dividends. One Society paid no less than 10 per cent.

Yet in this year of reduced profits the aggregate membership of the 31 retail member Societies increased by 312 members to 10,943, denoting, apparently undiminished confidence in the Union's objects and methods. Also, sales of a wholesale character were included in this year's Union report audit was shown that Saskatchewan Co-operative Wholesale Society had been enabled to pay a dividend of one per cent in the first year of its operation.

Blame Lower Prices

The executive attributes the societies reduced turn-over to the lower prices obtained for farm products and to the industrial depression which has meant lower wages and men out of work. Here the executives makes observation.

"The fact is significant that such unfavorable conditions are not peculiar to over-crowded Europe. They are acute on this large and, to a considerable extent, unsettled continent, notwithstanding the vast extent of its territory and is almost illimitable resources. Such a condition cannot be attributed to the failure of nature which is really the only unavoidable reason why, at any time, mankind cannot adequately sustain itself, but to the failure of society to equitably organize the distribution of the income of the world".

The executive believes recurring cycles of depression would be "completely avoided", if the economic life of the world were re-organized on a co-operative basis.

The executive recorded with regret the resignation of the United Grain Growers Limited.

CHURCH CHARGES BOAT EXPLOSION TO GOVERNMENT

Former Toronto Mayor Claims Coroner's Inquest Not Enough.

PARLIAMENTARY ENQUIRY.

States Drill Boat J. B. King Was Old and Improperly Equipped.

TORONTO, Ont., July 15.—(C.P.)—Serious charges were levelled at the Dominion Government here last night by T. L. Church, K.C., member for Toronto northwest in the last Parliament and Conservative candidate for re-election in Toronto West Centre. Addressing a large audience the former Toronto Mayor held the Government responsible for the deaths of 30 men in the explosion on the drill boat, J. B. King, near Brockville.

'No coroner's inquest into this disaster is going to satisfy me," Mr. Church said. 'No official can whitewash the Government. I am going to demand a Parliamentary enquiry. On the Government alone devolves the responsibility for the death of those 30 men!"

Mr. Church said the men, at the time of the disaster, were "working on a boat that was old and improperly equipped. If proper precaution had been taken," he continued, "and the lives of the men safeguarded the explosion would never have occurred."

CANDIDATES NOMINATED

LINDSAY, July 13.—Although hostilities opened some time ago in the opposing Conservative and Liberal parties the election fight did not officially begin here until yesterday when J. B. Begg, returning officer, received the nomination papers of T. H. Stinson, K. C., ex-M.P., Conservative candidate and T. J. Carley, of Fenelon Falls, Liberal candidate. Several hundred names were signed to each paper although only ten was needed.

Rubber bands and erasers made in the United States are now used in 77 other countries.

SPEAKERS OUTLINE PLATFORMS OF THEIR PARTY AT NOMINATION

was appointed chairrman. The two candidates were still at the back of the hall, and after briefly relating their negotiations and understandings of how the meeting would proceed, Dr. Embury acceded to the applause of his friends and quite willingly and with manifest good humor advanced to the platform agreeing to speak first.

Voice from audience: Get them up on the platform and let's see what they look like.

On the chairman's invitation the nominees were joined on the platform by Dr. D. Munro of Warsaw, F. A. Bapty of Deloro, Hon. J. R. Cooke, M.P.P., C. S. Rollins of Coe Hill and G. B. Airhart of Marmora both ex-wardens; J. C. German of Toronto, W. E. Tummon, ex-M.P., South Hastings.

Dr. A. T. Embury.

Rising to address the meeting, Dr. Embury was greeted with a wild outburst of applause from the crowd which taxed the capacity of the hall. He said the size of the meeting was a great surprise to him. He had spoken to Mr. Aylsworth a short time previously and asked if there was to be a meeting. "He told me he did not know and yet I notice he has secured a fine looking gentleman from Toronto, who apparently came by airplane. This is the most peaceful campaign I have ever seen and as far as I am concerned there will be no row."

Stating that this was the third time he has represented the riding, he added the Liberal candidates don't stick from one election to another. The previous two Liberal candidates and also Mr. Aylsworth are gentlemen. You are not voting for the men wholly, however, but for the Conservative policy as inaugurated by Sir John A. MacDonald—the policy of protection which has existed since 1878, or you vote for the acrobatic performance of Mackenzie King."

He charged that the Liberals brought on this election because they are up a tree.

The great base of our wealth in this riding and in the whole Dominion of Canada, he asserted, are our mines, lumbering, fisheries, but the basic industry of them all is agriculture. On the success or failure of it rests the success or failure of the whole Dominion. The wheat situation, the speaker thought, had a great deal to do with the present depression. Canada has put too many eggs in one basket.

"We as Conservatives maintain that the King Government, during the past five years, have not legislated for the benefit of the farmers so it is with all confidence that I ask for your support.

In conclusion, Dr. Embury made an appeal for all the voters to turn out to the polls on election day, stating it is a privilege everyone should take advantage of. There were only 9,000 votes cast here in the last election, he said.

Fraser Aylsworth

Attired in a grey suit and taking up a stand at the front centre of the platform, with a copy of Hansard in his left hand, Mr. Aylsworth opened up with the retort that he had a monster crowd at the Liberal Rally at which he came in to the field. He thought that such a state of affairs showed that the public was taking a keen interest in the election and the grave issues which confront the country, and he hoped the campaign would be carried on in a spirit of friendship.

"The Conservatives say there are three great issues," he declared, namely unemployment, New Zealand butter and the whole King Government. I want to point out the contrary. Unemployment is greatly exaggerated."

Reading freely from the copy of Hansard he quoted Premier Ferguson's speech of January 24, 1930, remarking that is not long ago.

Voice from audience: "Quite a while."

Proceeding to read the Provincial Premier's remarks he quoted the following: "The problem (unemployment) is spotty in Ontario and is centred chiefly around Toronto, but we are dealing satisfactorily with the situation."

"You hear them say the country is going to the bow wows and cut worms", humorously remarked Mr. Aylsworth, "go out and look at all the cars along the street and the beautiful fields of grain. (Laughter). "Don't try and howl me down", hotly declared the speaker, "I want a fair deal here today." Still quoting from Hansard, he read optimistic comments on the employment situation from all the provincial premiers, which had been quoted in the House of Commons by Hon. Peter Peter Heenan, Minister of Labor.

"Ferguson says that during the past year Ontario has maintained steady progress which has long been characteristic of this province," read Mr. Aylsworth.

An interrupter: That shows the good government we have in this province.

Mr. Aylsworth: I am not going to take any mud. I want a fair hearin.

"You hear a lot about New Zealand butter. Premier Ferguson says everything is on a sure foundation here, why did not he say something about the New Zealand butter if it was undermining our agriculture and dairy industry? Why did he not mention it?

Voice from auditorium: "He didn't have to."

The speaker: "No. There is no law to compel him."

Criticising Hon. Mr. Bennett's speech at Cornwall in which he made some remarks which brought forth laughter, Mr. Aylsworth turned sharply around and addressing the Hon. Mr. Cooke said, "I can't allow you to laugh at me. I listened attentively to you when Dr. Embury spoke."

Mr. Cooke: There is a little misunderstanding. I was certainly not laughing at you.

Mr. Aylsworth: Alright. I take it back.

"We don't deny hard times," continued the speaker, "but they are caused by conditions over which no government has control. The government could not force the North West farmers to sell their wheat. They could not prevent the stock market crash and they could not help the United States putting up higher tariffs." To counteract hard times Mr. King had a commission at work trying to enlarge British Preference.

Referring to the fact that he is a native of the Madoc district, Mr. Aylsworth said that he went on survery work. He is a descendant of U.E. Loyalist stock, and he concluded, "I ask you to go into this battle the same as your forefathers and fight for better trade conditions with our kith and kin as our forefathers did."

Hon. J. R. Cooke.

Hon. Mr. Cooke expressed his commendation of the spirit of goodwill shown by the two candidates. Neither Dr. Embury or Mr. Aylsworth had said anything that any elector could take offense at. Mr. Cooke referred to the fact that only a few months ago, in the provincial elections last October, he had the honor of receiving a Conservative acclamation in North Hastings.

"In this election", he continued, "you are not called upon to make a choice between the personality of the two candidates, nor to declare your allegiance to any party, but rather it is your duty to register your opinion as to whether you believe the leadership of Mackenzie King has been as it should be in guiding and directing his party and the government along lines that create agricultural and industrial prosperity. The supreme duty of a government is to endeavour to create ideal conditions under which the people live their daily lives."

Never at any time since Confederation, Mr. Cooke stated, had any political leader made such a sudden and complete reversal of policy as Mr. King. He was urging Empire trade, but for the last nine years he had pursued a policy which allowed United States products to enter Canada under conditions which Canadian products could not obtain for entry into the American markets.

"You can make no mistake; if Mr. King is returned to power the shouts of the unemployed will be heard throughout this country, and farm values will continue to decline as rapidly as during the last five years. I know I am speaking to many farmers, and I challenge them to say if it is not a fact that in the last five years farm values have withered in their grass. A farm that was worth $10,000 ten years ago cannot be sold today for more than $6,000.

"Mark it well," declared Mr. Cooke, "if Mr. King is defeated, and I am frank enough to say that I don't know if he is going to be, but if he is, he will be defeated by the vote of the farmers of this Dominion."

Refering to the Liberal "cry of Empire trade", the speaker said that Mr. King had thrown away every weapon that could be used by the Canadian representatives at the Economic Conference as to what Preference they would get for Canadian food products in exchange for the Preference on manufactured articles which Britain wants to sell this country.

The revenues of the Government at Ottawa amounted to about $380,000,000 a year, Mr. Cooke estimated, and of that total about $150,000,000 a year was collected from Ontario. The records show that in 1923 Mr. King collected $151,000,000 in this province, and in 1929 he collected $192,000,000, an increase of $40,000,000 a year in that six-year period.

Grants Discontinued

"When Mr. King came into power there was in the statutes of the Dominion legislation passed in 1913 by Sir Robert Borden setting aside $10,000,000 to assist agricultural education. In 1919 under the Union Government Sir Robert Borden voted $20,000,000 to assist highway construction, and in 1919 a further sum of $10,000,000 was voted to assist education. When Mr. King came into office in 1921 the federal appropriation for these three purposes was $40,000,000 which was to be divided among the provinces. This federal assistance does not exist today. When the $40,000,000 was expended Mr. King gave notice that the Dominion Government would no longer give assistance in these three problems. So your municipalities have to shoulder the burden."

Mr. Cooke next spoke of Quebec's Liberal "bloc". Quebec has sixty-five members in the House and Ontario eighty-two. In 1921 Mr. King came into power with a solid representation from Quebec, Mr. Cooke recalled. Four years later Quebec gave Mr. King 61 of the 65 seats; and again in 1926 they returned the same number.

"When you have three successive elections in five years and find the whole province voting the same way, it shows that there is first of all organization and there is some reason why this exists. Don't you think it is time Ontario took a leaf out of Quebec's book and vote solidly for the policies of the Hon. R. B. Bennett."

Mr. Cooke concluded his address with a reference to the New Zealand butter treaty.

Says Farmers Betrayed

"There has been no more clear cut betrayal of any country by any government, particularly a betrayal of the agricultural interests, as when Mackenzie King negotiated the trade treaty with New Zealand," Mr. Cooke declared. "We must realize that the dairy industry in New Zealand is carried on under different conditions from ours. Their stock graze all the year round outdoors, and there is no question in my mind that dairy products can be produced there for at least half the cost of production in Ontario."

In exchange for wood pulp and paper Canada gave almost free entry for New Zealand butter, Mr. Cooke stated. Canadian cheese sold for a time at from 20 to 25 cents a pound, "but can you get 16c today?"

A few years ago farmers received from 50 to 60c a pound for their wool, but today they couldn't get more than 9 cents. Woollen mills in the Ottawa Valley had all closed their doors. These conditions had all come about since Mr. King came into power.

"You must judge public men by what they do, not what they say," Mr. Cooke concluded.

Mr. J. C. German.

"Mr. Cooke has said certain things which might have impressed you," stated J. C. German in the course of his speech, "but when you hear the whole truth you will possibly come to a realization that the Liberal policy is in the best interests of the country."

Giving a definition of the word tariff, he said, "a tariff is a privilege given by the State to one subject to tax fellow subjects. It recognizes that that same person wants the right to keep out of his market all his competitors' goods and wants the right to sell his goods at more than they are intrinsically worth."

When the government reduced the tariff on agricultural implements all the agricultural machinery manufacturers complained, but the result was that they were able to ship to all parts of the world and that a larger demand for implements arose in the home market, to the manufacturers decided benefit.

"The Liberal policy favors increased trade and I say Canada has increased the trade to the advantage of every person in this room. We have been taking our goods off the shelf and buying other goods, which is what makes for the prosperity of a country. The United States have intimated that they do not wish to trade with Canada. We propose to find our market amongst our friends and relations in the land from whence our ancestors came. The Liberal policy always stood for Empire trade."

Regarding unemployment, he said we are always hearing the cry from the Conservatves that Canada is in a bad way. It is an unfair allegation, he declared. Tell a man he is sick and he will be sick and you'll soon be carrying the corpse out. Canada is not sick; Canada is prosperous and while we have unemployment, the situation here in Hastings County is not acute. The only unemployed I see here are the people who do not want to work. (Cries of hear, hear and no, no).

Mr. Cooke says that if you wish to sell a farm you cannot get so much for them as you formely could. The speaker explained that this is because values were boosted abnormally during the war period.

Criticising the provincial government's gasoline tax which was levied towards paying for the upkeep of the roads, he stated that as a matter of fact the roads are built on borrowed money and that the 5 cents gasoline tax goes to the consolidated fund. Not one dollar of that tax goes to the municipalities for the upkeep of the roads.

"Do you people realize that Canada consumes more butter than any other country in the world and if our cows can't produce enough butter for our own needs then we have to buy elsewhere. We do not live in Russia where they have to eat black bread without butter. We live in Canada where we have white bread with all the butter we require.

Speaking of the closing of the woollen mills referred to by Hon. Mr. Cooke, the speaker said that was no fault of the government. It was done by the textile combine. On June 24 Dominion Textiles paid a dividend of 6.6%, which goes to show that this industry is not by any means in bad shape. It is just a matter of business and not of government.

Mr. German said the $40,000,000 appropriation referred to by Mr. Cooke had not been continued by the Dominion Government because road construction, education, and agricultural education were all provincial matters.

"The Ontario Agricultural College is controlled and managed by the Conservative Government of Ontario. The power of our school boards and of our municipal governments are being cut down and are coming more and more under the control of the Conservative organization centralized in Toronto.

In regard to Quebec's representation, I might remind Mr. Cooke that a Liberal cannot be elected in the city of Toronto, nor in Hamilton, and Ontario is pretty nearly as Tory as Quebec is Grit. Why shouldn't this riding of Hastings-Peterborough for instance, carry the olive branch by electing a Liberal (Voices "No, no") then go to Queebc and say "Look what we have done in Tory Hastings."

90-Year-Old Union Jack

Here is a 90-year-old Union Jack with its present owner, George H. Jones, Toronto.

CATTLE, GRAIN, PRODUCE

TORONTO PRODUCE

TORONTO, July 15—A real good demand for butter, and at steady prices, featured the local market yesterday and everything looked bright and cheery for the creamerymen. There seemed to be a scarcity of Ontario butter, and yet buyers were in the market for No. 1 at 27½c and 27¾c, but not so anxious for No. 2 at 26½c. There was an especially good demand for straight carloads of Ontario No. 1, and this class of butter secured the best prices.

Better Market

The strength of the English market has also helped considerably. One boatload containing some 68,000 boxes, due to arrive in Halifax the last week in this month from New Zealand, will most assuredly go on to England if that market continues its strength over the Montreal market, and every load that goes to England instead of landing on the Canadian market, will aid just that much more. In other words, it will leave room for that much of our own product at a season when we have it.

Cream

Churning cream remained at the steady prices of 27c to 28c for special, 26c to 27c for No. 1, and 23c to 24c for No. 2, f.o.b. country points.

Eggs

Graded eggs, in used free cases, found a ready sale yesterday at 30½c to 31c for extras, 28½c to 29c for firsts, and 25c to 25½c for seconds. Production has become real low, consumption has been good, and so there was a demand for eggs. Country shippers, of course, benefited to the extent of a 2c increase in two days. Yesterday they were offered 29c for extras, 27c for firsts, and 22c for seconds, ungraded, delivered, cases returned. The prices to retailers also took a rise, but not as much as they could have gone. Extras were offered at 34c, in cartons; 32c for extras, loose; 30c for firsts, and 26c for seconds, loose.

Cheese

Some of the country cheese boards were quoting higher prices yesterday, but many of them were at about the same as previously so that the local prices to shippers remained unchanged at 16½c for new large.

CHICAGO, July 15.—Crop damage reports from Canada and nearby States pushed wheat values upward as a rule yesterday, but temporarily the market broke low-price records.

Closing quotations on wheat were nervous, ¾c to 1c per bushel higher than Saturday's finish. Corn closed 1⅜c up to 2c advance, oats ⅛c off to ½c up, and provisions varying from 5c decline to a rise of 10c.

MONTREAL PRODUCE

MONTREAL, July 15.—The butter market opened in Montreal Monday with the upward trend of last week still in evidence. Wholesale levels were another ¼c higher at 28c per pound for Eastern Townships No. 1 pasteurized, and even at the higher levels dealers appeared none too anxious to dispose of stocks. Jobbing houses advanced their quotations to retailers one cent per pound to 30 cents for solids and 31c for prints. Receipts were 437 boxes.

The cheese market exhibited a slightly firmer trend also, although trading was quiet. Receipts were 2,925 boxes.

New imported potatoes were 50 cents cheaper at $5 per 160-pound barrels, while new local potatoes were unchanged at $2.25 per 80-pound bags and old potatoes were $2 per 90 pounds in bulk.

WINNIPEG GRAIN.

WINNIPEG, July 15. — Values in wheat reached vainly into higher grounds on the Winnipeg Exchange yesterday. Brief advance movements were nipped in the bud by selling interests who produced holding orders with every price bulge. Wheat was ¼c higher to unchanged at the close.

Rainless, warm weather over the week-end in the Western wheat areas attracted as little attention as did reports of better export business. Fractional gains were recorded in the first hour, but these were wiped out, and the market was forced to stage a comeback late in the day to finish unchanged or better. All three trading months still were under the dollar line.

CANADA NEEDS WIDER MARKETS

United States, which is far more severe, comparatively speaking, than that being experienced in Canada.

Mr. Bennett premised to call Parliament together and consider the unemployment and depression problems, but Parliament cannot be called for at least forty days after the election, the speaker pointed out. Even so, Mr. Bennett and Mr. Peck had little to offer during the last session when unemployment was discussed for ten days, he declared.

King's move, if elected, will be to seek immediately counsel of the leading financial and industrial men of the Dominion at a conference in Ottawa without first waiting for the first meeting of Parliament, said Mr. Duffus.

Asking for the support of the members of the audience, in another portion of his speech, Mr. Duffus claimed that all the reeves in Peterborough riding will vote Liberal this July.

No Constructive Policy.

"No constructive policy has yet been offered by the Conservative party. The people of Canada are going to vote more from a business standpoint than a party standpoint," he said, turning to the business aspect of the record of the Government. He declared that the Dominion has prospered in every way since it gained power in 1921. Despite the fact that $1.50 to-day would only be equivalent to $1 for buying power in 1914, he claimed, the operation of the government is costing less money. Since 1921 it has been reduced 40 per cent, he contended. The fact that the opposition has not dared challenge the Government's record concerning the operations of the Post Office Department, the railways, the tariff commission and the general financial record, the Old Age Pensions, the administration of Public Works, or the liquor clearance legislation, is mute testimony of approval, claimed the speaker.

Mr. Duffus declared that he was in favor of the policy of the Government in completing the St. Lawrence Waterway project and the Trans-Canada Highway only as fast as can be afforded.

Hon. G. N. Gordon.

The Hon. G. N. Gordon declared that "instead of drawing a herring across the trail Mr. Peck has drawn a line of New Zealand butter." Explaining the New Zealand butter question Mr. Gordon said that Canada had the highest butter prices in the world and as a result has been an attractive market for butter from other countries of the world. Much butter has been shipped to the Dominion from countries where prices are considerably lower. If New Zealand butter were properly labelled it would not be bought by the Canadian people, who naturally would give a preference to fresh butter over that shipped half way around the world, he claimed.

On October 1, duties of 4 to 6 cents a pound on imported butter will be levied, Mr. Gordon mentioned, and the entire situation will be remedied.

"Labor conditions are admittedly not the best in Canada but they are not comparable to conditions elsewhere," he said. He particularly singled out the United States in a comparison.

Dr. M. Crough.

"The record of the Mackenzie King Government will stand investigation," declared Dr. M. Crough of Peterborough, in the course of a short address. He claimed that the country was "staggering and tottering when the government took control in 1921, but that a steady progress in the task of building up a great nation began immediately.

Supporting the budget he claimed that the "Dunning budget is the only sane, sensible method of dealing with the problem created by the recent action of the Hoover administration in the United States in raising the tariff on many Canadian items.

Declaring that the Liberal party is for the interests of the common people and averse to discrimination on behalf of the individual large interests, Howard Quinn, Douro councillor, urged support for the King government. He spoke of Mr. Duffus as a man of wide practical experience in dealing with the interests of the common people, both on the farm and in the city.

Tax Collections For 1930 Exceed Last Year's Total

(Examiner Staff Correspondent.)

CAMPBELLFORD, July 15. — The report from J. D. Cummings, local tax collector, shows a very gratifying result for this year. Collections to date amount to about $51,506, which is an increase over last year of $9500, last year's total being $42,000.

This result is even better than it looks, for last year the Trent Valley Mills paid up in full on their first installment, while this year they have only paid their half-yearly assessment. This in itself means a considerable amount to come in, which if paid to date would bring the total much higher.

THE ROTARY CAMP.

Leaders and accommodation enough for 75 boys is the message that comes from Doug. Loomis, director of the Rotary Boys' Camp at Clear Lake.

That means there is room for many more boys than have up to the present taken advantage of this opportunity to enjoy camping at cost, in a splendid camp, under sensible supervision.

Rotary makes it possible for boys to earn their way to the Clear Lake camp, so that any youngster who would like a week or two of the fun and entertainment of a boys' camp would do well to get into touch with members of the Rotary Club, who will tell them all about the camp and how boys can get there.

There are scores of local boys who would be the better in every way for a holiday at Rotary Camp.

It would be a shame, therefore, if the ample accommodation now provided were not fully utilized for the balance of the summer.

THOSE TROUBLESOME REDS.

Interference by Toronto police with campaign activities of Communist candidates is likely to be investigated by electoral officers.

Technically these Red standard-bearers have as much right to discuss their platform in public as have any other political candidates.

The galling part about their entry into the federal campaign, however, is that it is done not with any hope of success at the polls but simply for the purpose of doing in this way what the authorities prevent them from doing in any other way—that is, to put their Soviet doctrine before as many people as possible.

The Communists do not believe in our form of government, and to run for office is therefore a deliberate piece of hypocrisy on their part, the object being, of course, to give publicity to the Red policies.

These agitators do not fit into the picture in Canada, and the country would be much better off if it were possible to deport them all to the country where their favorite doctrine is in full flower.

It is likely that a dose of Sovietism at close range would prove an effective cure for most of the trouble-makers.

THE UNWILLING VOTER.

The election the week after next will cost the country several million dollars and keep a small army of officials busy in providing the machinery by which the voters of Canada will be enabled to express their opinion as to the parties and their policies.

When such a huge expenditure and such a vast amount of effort are involved in the taking of the country's vote, it is a pity indeed that quite a considerable proportion of the electorate has to be driven or prodded into making use of the franchise.

Probably if it were made more difficult to vote the privilege of doing so would be more highly regarded, and it would not be necessary for the political organizations to have to go to so much trouble in dragging unwilling or uninterested electors to the polls.

Various solutions have been brought forward from time to time, including penalties for the electors not using his franchise, but it is doubtful whether much can effectively be done in the way of coercion.

If people have not a proper appreciation of their responsibility as citizens, a penalty clause might bring them to the polling booth, but it would be no guarantee that the franchise would be used intelligently.

USING THE RADIO.

A new use of the Radio by which Hon. James Malcolm, federal Minister of Trade and Commerce, will cover the Maritime Provinces by absent treatment, as it were, has been announced.

Mr. Malcolm will broadcast a special speech from his home in Arthur, Ontario, for the benefit of listeners-in in the Provinces down by the sea, an innovation that may be more and more generally followed in future elections.

Think of the time and trouble saved if the politicians could all stay at home and send their messages out to the people of the country generally by means of the radio!

And again, there is the obvious advantage that a Cabinet Minister who might find himself closely pressed at home could deliver his message to other sections of the Dominion without running the risk of having his fences pulled down in his own riding, as might be the case were he forced, as were the leaders of yesterday, to take to the road for the good of the party.

Radio is destined to play an even greater part in elections as time goes on—the fact that the present campaign is being held in summer weather when people are reluctant to remain at home somewhat mitigating against a true test at this time.

TWO HEROES.

The unveiling at Greenwich, on June 5, of a statue of General James Wolfe, the gift of Canada, has awakened interest in the share of Admiral Sir Charles Saunders in the campaign that ended on the Heights of Abraham in 1759. That fine officer has been forgotten by the English people. He lies in an unmarked grave in Westminster Abbey; yet Lord Chancellor Hardwicke said after the great victory: "I doubt if any two men but Wolfe and Saunders could have done the job." Pitt, in proposing a monument to Wolfe, did not fail to say something about the merits of Admiral Saunders in an address in Parliament. Walpole described it as "perhaps the worst harangue he ever uttered." This might account for exaltation of the soldier at the expense of the brave navigator who cut off the supplies of the enemy and manoeuvred a fleet of 141 vessels through the uncharted shoals and turbulent currents of the St. Lawrence to the cove where the British troops were landed, to storm the heights and win a victory over the army of Montcalm. Wolfe is said to have made his plans in consultation with Admiral Saunders. Of him he thought so highly that in his will, made the night before the battle, he bequeathed his service of plate to the gallant sailor. In a life of Saunders in the Dictionary of National Biography, Professor J. K. Laughton writes:

"The brilliance of the little battle, with Wolfe's glorious death, caught the popular imagination and has prevented many from seeing that it was but the crowning incident of a long series of operations all based on the fleet, which alone rendered them possible."

The sailor was "privately buried" in Westminster Abbey, but there is no record of the fact in Dean Stanley's list of those laid in that consecrated ground. No visitor learns that the sharer of Wolfe's glory rests "near the imposing memorial of the general whom he helped to conquer Canada." Saunders cared so little about his own fame that he never furnished the name of his birthplace. As Canadians presented to the Mother Country the statue of Wolfe now to be seen at Greenwich, so it is a Canadian, Sir Campbell Stuart, who is determined that justice shall be done to the memory of Admiral Saunders by a suitable inscription in Westminster Abbey. —St. Catharines Standard.

HEROIC DOGS ARE REWARDED.

The heroism, intelligence and devotion of the dog, which have been demonstrated and chronicled on innumerable occasions, passed in review the other day in New York when awards were made because of some outstanding feats by canine heroes. The gold medal went to Brownie, whose ancestry, we are told, "is as clouded as his age." Brownie belonged to Helen Pappan of Pasadena. They were playing together on the sidewalk one day when Helen, who is only 13 months old, dashed into the street. Speeding automobiles flashed by the child as she toddled through the maze of traffic. Brownie sensed her peril and went after her, ducking and wriggling his way through the flow of motor cars until he reached her side. He seized her dress and led her safely back to the sidewalk. Ten other dogs were given citations for their heroic performances during the last six months in the United States. These included:

Babe, a cross between a police dog and a collie, owned by Mrs. Anthony La Duva, of St. Louis, who plunged into the deep River Des Peres sewer to save Jack De La Casa from drowning, the report states. Babe swam to the boy's side, seized him by the coat and swam to the edge of the hole. A stray puppy aided Babe in saving the boy's life. The puppy grabbed his wrists after Babe had brought him to the edge of the sewer. Babe scrambled out and then the two dogs pulled Jack out.

Laddy, a German police dog, owned by Claude Erickson, of Princeton, Minn., who saved the life of Russell Foote when he grabbed a blanket in which the boy was wrapped when it was ignited by flames from the camp fire; Prince, a Holbrook, Mass., dog, who won a citation for having pulled his two-year-old mistress, Ileane Depson, from the railroad tracks just as a train came in sight, and Mickey, a Florida dog, who paid with his life for saving that of his master, Jackie Goehring, at Sarasota. Mickey was bitten by a diamond-black rattlesnake which had attacked Jackie.

These instances again illustrate that the dog is always willing to imperil and even to sacrifice his life for those to whom he is devoted and often for those who are strangers to him. His brave and affectionate heart is ready to face, without a moment's hesitation, the most deadly dangers. For quick action and thinking and for heroic endeavor few humans can surpass the dog. Because of his willingness to serve and save and because of his capacity for companionship he is held in warm regard by the great majority of people. There are some persons, of course, who never see a dog without hoping that the dog catcher would pounce on him, but, fortunately, they are in the small minority. When great men like Sir Arthur Conan Doyle, who has just died, and Admiral Byrd, recently awarded the medal of the American Humane Association for "marked humane treatment accorded to the dogs in his polar expeditions," are numbered among those who have made companions of their dogs, it may be taken for granted that a dog's companionship is worth cultivating, and that he will well repay any attention and affection that may be shown him. —St. Thomas Times-Journal.

EDITORIAL NOTES AND COMMENT.

Two weeks from to-day the election will be all over. And yet many people do not seem aware that there is going to be one.

"Everybody should learn to drive an automobile," says an advertisement. And, as the Oshawa Times points out, this applies to some of the people who already have permits to drive.

The election is taking normal form. On the same night both Premier King and Mr. Bennett informed audiences that their party would be triumphant on July 28.

The death of Lieut. J. D. Vance, one of Canada's greatest air pilots, will be deeply regretted. He was one of the many gallant men who have made history in the Northland by their skilful flying.

The electors of Ontario will be deluged with enough words during the next twelve days to convince them that after all there is an election to be held this month.

Tourist traffic continues to increase. The influx of visitors from over the border will give a welcome impetus to business throughout the district.

A Thought

STICK-TO-ITIVENESS

"Stick-to-itiveness" might be defined as the concentration of one's energies on the work on hand. In speaking of his work, Thomas A. Edison once remarked, "In scientific work, as in all other work, the chief factor of success is the power of sticking to one thing. I have accomplished to the fact that I hold on where most persons get discouraged." In other words, he "tenaciously clings till he comes out victorious."

What To-day Means To You.

If July 15 is your birthday, the best hours for you on this date are from 11 a.m. to noon, 5 p.m. to 6:30 and 11 p.m. to midnight. The danger periods are from 5:30 a.m. to 7 a.m. and 3 p.m. to 4:30 p.m.

You will harvest in future days the fruit of your sowing on this date. Fate will give you a guiding hand, if you accept it, but there will be a war between self-desire and the dictates of your conscience. Look ahead before you act.

Children born on this July 15 will have happy-go-lucky dispositions, and will never desire to discard their rose-colored glasses. They should be carefully prepared for life within the home and schoolroom, or they will be heartbrokenly disillusioned and lose confidence in the world and its people. They will be thoroughly good, but decided dreamers.

Life is not going to dry-nurse and treat you like a helpless babe—it is going to test and try you severely. You are going to have to fight for most of your heart's desires, but you are fortunately made of fighting stuff. You will neither try to evade your battles, nor will you weakly surrender to difficulties, instead of overcoming them. Your life will be full of changes and surprise packets are always around the corner—sometimes nice ones, and sometimes bad ones, but you open both fearlessly. You do not resist change, however, you loathe ruts. You love fresh experiences, and you rush into them with enthusiasm. You are going to have many vivid experiences, but they will be character builders, and not destroyers in your case. You will witness good and evil, but you will remain clean and morally good.

You do not allow yourself the pleasure of self-pity, for you usually acknowledge that the cause of most of your troubles is within yourself. You never blame poor old Circumstances. You have a great love of study, and you will probably have more ability than you will have an opportunity to use profitably—you may be forced to accept subordinate positions, but ones of trust and importance. You are a good practical worker, and an industrious being, seldom found with idle hands.

EMBARRASSING MOMENTS

THE GRINGO PRIVATEER

By PETER B. KYNE

CHAPTER 15.

"I have never had any experience heretofore with rustlers, Tom. Tongue-slitting is a new one on me. Why do they do it?"

"So the calf can no longer suckle its mother an' will have to start rustlin' a livin' on grass right off."

"Oh, I see. That means the calf will leave its mother and, of course, once it has done that, there is no way of identifying it as that cow's calf. To all intents and purposes it's a maverick and the assumption is that the first man who finds it is free to use his iron on it."

Tom Bledsoe nodded. "Bad for the cow's udder to have her calf forcibly weaned before due time, Mr. Burney."

"Are the same tactics followed on our cattle north of the Line, Tom?"

Bledsoe nodded. "Not to such an extent, however. We can watch our cattle closer an' Bruce daren't take the chance he does in El Cajon Bonita, where he is immune from United States law."

"The hyena! Who is Miguel Gallegos?"

"A half-breed Irishman. His mother was an Italian, an' he became a naturalized citizen of Mexico. During the Madero rebellion he was a general an' more recently he's become a sort o' bandit, but claimin' to be a patriot. He's the law in that part of Mexico an' after eighteen year o' war an' riot, about all the Mexican government can do is handle the tough ones an' leave the little ones alone until they get too bad. He's got the local federal officials buffaloed, an' they're sort o' caterin' to him in the hope he won't organize a revolution again 'em. He does about what he pleases."

"Had Mr. Graydon complained to the Mexican federal officials about him?"

"No, sir. Ain't had nothin' to complain about. All we got is suspicion. Martin Bruce don't own a hectare o' land in Mexico, but the king's got a sound title to El Cajon Bonita an' we figger Bruce wants it, an' has set Gallegos up to makin' things so uncomfortable an' unprofitable there we'll pull out to save loss an' bloodshed; then Bruce'll take it over an' range his cattle on it. I wouldn't be surprised if Gallegos is his silent partner, doin' the dirty work for his share."

"Well, as a cattle range, El Cajon Bonita is certainly worth fighting for, Tom. It's well watered and I never did see such a thick growth of grama grass anywhere else. So the situation has resolved itself to this. We've got to keep a force of men down there sufficient to stand off Gallegos. That's too expensive and dangerous. To leave our cattle there alone and unprotected means that presently every head of stock we've got there will disappear. That's too expensive, also. So the third alternative is to go down there and wipe this fellow Gallegos and his men clear off the map. And that's the plan I've adopted."

"Ain't no other out," the gloomy Quaker assented. "But Art Graydon, he never suggested that an' the king couldn't on account o' bein' responsible, if he did, for the killin' of a lot o' his good men. An' then there's the international complications to consider. Mr. Burney, the situation has sure had the king goin'."

"Well, he isn't sending me down there. I've volunteered and he isn't going to know when I start or when I finish, until he gets the news of the clean-up. I figure that with thirty good men I can take care of two hundred of the Gallegos followers, but to be successful we must be superbly equipped, superbly mounted, well trained and have a definite plan of campaign from which we must not diverge, once the action is joined. Once we wipe out the Gallegos gang, Martin Bruce will keep clear of El Cajon Bonita and it will be long before another bandit adventurer undertakes to start something with us. I expect to get the law on Bruce in this state and jail him."

"He's too smart to be caught branding the king's calves himself."

"A master is responsible for the acts of his servants, Tom, and the servants will be easier to catch than the cautious Mr. Bruce. Once I get an indictment voted against him in this state he'll remain in Arizona; then some night we'll sweep down on his headquarters on the Trangle B, burn it, and run his criminal riders off the range, unless by doing good detective work, we are able first to land most of them in jail.

"This situation doesn't present any insuperable obstacles, Tom. All it requires is some resolution, a definite plan and a ruthless follow-through. Before I get through with Martin Bruce he'll sell his range and all his cattle to the king and pull out of New Mexico forever."

"All the king has ever needed is the right general manager an' in thee he has found the man, Mr. Burney. I'll be right proud to help out."

"Thanks, Tom, I know you will. I expect to clean the situation up in thirty days, although unforeseen complications may require more time. It wouldn't be fair to have a good man like you marking time on the same old salary, so from the first of July your salary is upped fifty dollars a month."

"Thanks. That makes me the highest-paid ridin' boss on the Bardin payroll, don't it?" Bledsoe replied pridefully. He rose. "Well, I reckon I'd better be off. I'll tell the boys of thy plans an' select the dependables."

Ken Burney watched him depart into the night. "Good old sergeant-major," he murmured. "And what a blood-thirsty old Quaker you turned out to be." He picked up the telephone and called the king. Muriel Bardin answered. "I want to speak to His Majesty," he announced.

"About Tom Bledsoe?" she queried.

"Good guess."

"His Majesty has retired and may not be disturbed. I'll take the message."

"Very well. Tell him, please, that I have raised Tom Bledsoe's wages fifty dollars a month, because I have discovered in him a man after my own heart. If the king had been acquainted even remotely with Tom Bledsoe, I wouldn't be his general manager tonight."

"How interesting! Well, why not turn the job over to Tom Bledsoe right away, Mr. Burney? I'm sure it is not going to be one you are going to enjoy."

"That's where you are greatly mistaken, Miss Bardin. I'm going to enjoy it immensely. Tom Bledsoe's going to help me, though."

"I'm disappointed in you, Mr. Burney. I thought you were a gentleman."

"Oh, no, no, no. Nothing like that, Miss Muriel. No gentleman ever gets the thrill out of life that I do. I know, because I've been a gentleman. Now I prefer to be a roughneck."

"That's much too bad, Mr. Burney. Good night." And she hung up.

"Poor old king," Ken Burney murmured, "she must be giving him a rough ride about me. As if it's any of her business," he murmured and switched off the light.

At the same moment Muriel Bardin stood beside the king's bed and delivered his general manager's message. Whereat His Majesty smiled a satisfied smile.

"I'm not going to invite him over to dinner after all," Muriel announced.

"Jake with me," said the king. "Good night, honey."

Immediately after breakfast Tom Bledsoe reported to the new general manager. "Well, I have thirty good men signed up for thee, Mr. Burney," he announced.

"Fast work. How many saddle horses have you got in the remuda?"

"About three hundred."

"Cut me out six bays; two buckskins with black points; five light bays with blazed faces and white socks; five blacks or very dark bays, five chestnuts, two palaminos; one sovieno and two black-and-white pintos. Here's the list to aid your memory."

"Guess we can fill that bill, Mr. Burney. We got all colors in that remuda, an' they're all good horses."

"Thanks. Send over to me three of your fastest wing shots with pistols, wearing two guns each. I'm going to Huachita in the general manager's automobile and these three are to be my bodyguard. Hand-pick 'em, Tom. While I'm gone rake a few men and round up the horses I require."

Within ten minutes the trio reported. One of them, it developed, was Art Graydon's chauffeur when he was not otherwise engaged, and he had to report that Mr. Graydon planned to use the ranch car that day.

Uncommon Sense

By John Blake

ALL IN THE DAY'S WORK.

The lad who had driven us to the home of our hostess was cleaning the dust from the car when the telephone bell rang.

"It's for you, Frank," said his employer.

Frank was back in an instant. "A fire over yonder in the back hills" he said. "I don't know how long I'll be. Maybe a day, maybe two or three. I'll send one of the boys down at the garage over to drive for you."

Ten minutes later he was whizzing past in a little flivver, crowded with eight or ten men. He pointed to the line of the hills as he sped by, and looking thither we saw a thin spiral of smoke rising.

By nightfall the spiral had swollen to a column, and by morning we could not see the hills at all for the rolling black clouds that enveloped them.

"I hope he comes back safely," said our hostess. "Sometimes they don't. And Frank is the most daring of them all'

"How can they fight such a fire as that," I asked.

"They work ahead of it and behind it, shoveling dirt on the flames. Sometimes they are dreadfully burned. Sometimes it is all useless. There was a fire last summer that did millions of dollars' worth of destruction. But it is their job and they must do it."

"How much are they paid?"

"Very little."

"Is there any hope of promotion?"

"Not much."

"Then why do they fight these fires?"

"Because they cannot help it. It is in them. They were born here and they love the woods. They cannot bear to see them burned. If they were paid nothing at all they would clamor for fire-fighting jobs. If they needed assistance they could get every man in the hills to help them. Frank limps still from a broken leg, and twice he has been frightfully burned. But while he is able to move he will fight fires."

Two days afterward he came home. The smoke cloud on the horizon had dwindled to a few tiny columns. Men were still there, fighting the monster's last feeble efforts to "come back," but Frank had been without sleep for two nights. The others made him quit.

After he had rested I asked him about the work.

"It ain't much,' he said, "Somebody starts the fires for spite or through carelessness, and we have to put them out, that's all."

"Do you like that job?"

"Can's say as I like it special. But it's got to be done."

"You are one of the smartest drivers I have ever known. Why don't you come to New York and get a better paid job?"

"I'd hate to be away when a fire started, that's all. You see I was raised in these mountains."

I haven't been so sure, since that conversation, that this is such a selfish world as most people seem to think.

DECORATION DAY SET FOR JULY 20

Omemee Women's Institute Meets at Home of Mrs. Fred. Evans.

MEETING DAY CHANGED

OMEMEE, July 15 (Examiner Correspondence)—Mrs. Fred Evans was hostess for the July meeting of the Women's Institute held at her home on Wednesday afternoon with about thirty ladies in attendance. Mrs. D. Rea the president, conducted the meeting and the roll call was responded to by "my pet proverbs."

The date for the annual decoration day services in Emily cemetery has been set for July 20 by the Orangemen and Institute Society and the committee reported that the Salvation Army Band from Lindsay would be present. An effort will be made to decorate all the graves of departed members.

After a short discussion regarding the day of meeting it was decided to change the day to the third Wednesday of each month.

By a unanimous vote it was decided to enter an exhibit at the Lindsay Exhibition. Mrs. D. Rea and Miss V. McBain were appointed a committee to be responsible for same. The program for the year was on display to afford each member the privilege of making any changes not suitable before it is sent to press.

Mrs. J. Eggleston recited in splendid style, "Kipling's Recessional." Dainty refreshments were served by the hostesses, Mrs. R. J. Cornwall, Mrs. McPhee and Mrs. F. Evans.

WOMAN DIES OF BURNS.

THORNBURY, Ont., July 15.—(C. P.)—Mrs. Fred Thomas, Concession Camp, Collingwood township, died to-day of burns received in a lamp explosion yesterday. Mrs. Thomas' clothing caught fire when the coal oil which she was watching her husband pour into an incubator lamp exploded. The lighted wick of the lamp and the oil fumes united to cause the fire.

BOYS ENJOYING KAWARTHA CAMP

Many Improvements Have Been Made to Boys' Camp.

NEW BUNK HOUSE BUILT

CLEAR LAKE, July 15—"All well and getting browner and browner" is the last word from the happy lads having the time of their lives at the Kawartha Boys' Camp on Clear Lake. Life around the camp is in full swing, a large number of boys of all ages from 10 years and up having joyously answered the lure of camp life.

The camp opened last Monday and its first week assures it even greater success than those many big years of the past. As in previous years the camp is under the guidance of Captain D. A. Loomis, M.C., who has won an enviable record for successful leadership. Assisting him is Harry Redfern, who has also been connected with the camp for some years and is also a veteran in boys' work.

New Bunk House Built

Many improvements are adding to the joys and conveniences of the camp this summer. A new bunk house has been erected on the top of a hill, giving a wonderful view of the lake, and providing comfort for the rapidly increasingly number of boys taking advantage of Kawartha Camp. Each bunk has been equipped with new springs to ensure that sleep that freshens.

The installation of a new motor which draws sufficient water from the lake to provide for kitchen use is another marked improvement.

Musicians at the camp are getting plenty of opportunity to display their accomplishment too, since by the kindness of Bob Haddow, of the Heintzman Company, a piano is numbered among the camp's furnishings.

Water expeditions come more frequently this year, the addition of three new boats having rounded out the camp's flotilla nicely. In fact a lake cruise was the big feature of Tuesday's program, being planned especially to point out to the new boys some of the beauties of the Kawarthas.

Ball games are another big feature and the Sure-Fires and Lazy-Backs are in the midst of a tough series.

A giant camp fire attracted the attention of everyone on the lake Thursday night. The fire was at the boys' camp and in its light stories were told and rollicking songs rang out.

A full program for every day in the week is carefully planned which makes the Kawartha Camp the best place for any boy to spend a healthy holiday. It is a model institution where boys learn to swim, handle boats and grow sturdy in the finest health conditions and on the best food obtainable.

THE ROTARY CAMP.

Leaders and accommodation enough for 75 boys is the message that comes from Doug. Loomis, director of the Rotary Boys' Camp at Clear Lake.

That means there is room for many more boys than have up to the present taken advantage of this opportunity to enjoy camping at cost, in a splendid camp, under sensible supervision.

Rotary makes it possible for boys to earn their way to the Clear Lake camp, so that any youngster who would like a week or two of the fun and entertainment of a boys' camp would do well to get into touch with members of the Rotary Club, who will tell them all about the camp and how boys can get there.

There are scores of local boys who would be the better in every way for a holiday at Rotary Camp.

It would be a shame, therefore, if the ample accommodation now provided were not fully utilized for the balance of the summer.

THOSE TROUBLESOME REDS.

Interference by Toronto police with campaign activities of Communist candidates is likely to be investigated by electoral officers.

Technically these Red standard-bearers have as much right to discuss their platform in public as have any other political candidates.

The galling part about their entry into the federal campaign, however, is that it is done not with any hope of success at the polls but simply for the purpose of doing in this way what the authorities prevent them from doing in any other way—that is, to put their Soviet doctrine before as many people as possible.

The Communists do not believe in our form of government, and to run for office is therefore a deliberate piece of hypocrisy on their part, the object being, of course, to give publicity to the Red policies.

These agitators do not fit into the picture in Canada, and the country would be much better off if it were possible to deport them all to the country where their favorite doctrine is in full flower.

It is likely that a dose of Sovietism at close range would prove an effective cure for most of the trouble-makers.

THE UNWILLING VOTER.

The election the week after next will cost the country several million dollars and keep a small army of officials busy in providing the machinery by which the voters of Canada will be enabled to express their opinion as to the parties and their policies.

When such a huge expenditure and such a vast amount of effort are involved in the taking of the country's vote, it is a pity indeed that quite a considerable proportion of the electorate has to be driven or prodded into making use of the franchise.

Probably if it were made more difficult to vote the privilege of doing so would be more highly regarded, and it would not be necessary for the political organizations to have to go to so much trouble in dragging unwilling or uninterested electors to the polls.

Various solutions have been brought forward from time to time, including penalties for the electors not using his franchise, but it is doubtful whether much can effectively be done in the way of coercion.

If people have not a proper appreciation of their responsibility as citizens, a penalty clause might bring them to the polling booth, but it would be no guarantee that the franchise would be used intelligently.

USING THE RADIO.

A new use of the Radio by which Hon. James Malcolm, federal Minister of Trade and Commerce, will cover the Maritime Provinces by absent treatment, as it were, has been announced.

Mr. Malcolm will broadcast a special speech from his home in Arthur, Ontario, for the benefit of listeners-in in the Provinces down by the sea, an innovation that may be more and more generally followed in future elections.

Think of the time and trouble saved if the politicians could all stay at home and send their messages out to the people of the country generally by means of the radio!

And again, there is the obvious advantage that a Cabinet Minister who might find himself closely pressed at home could deliver his message to other sections of the Dominion without running the risk of having his fences pulled down in his own riding, as might be the case were he forced, as were the leaders of yesterday, to take to the road for the good of the party.

Radio is destined to play an even greater part in elections as time goes on—the fact that the present campaign is being held in summer weather when people are reluctant to remain at home somewhat mitigating against a true test at this time.

TWO HEROES.

The unveiling at Greenwich, on June 5, of a statue of General James Wolfe, the gift of Canada, has awakened interest in the share of Admiral Sir Charles Saunders in the campaign that ended on the Heights of Abraham in 1759. That fine officer has been forgotten by the English people. He lies in an unmarked grave in Westminster Abbey; yet Lord Chancellor Hardwicke said after the great victory: "I doubt if any two men but Wolfe and Saunders could have done the job." Pitt, in proposing a monument to Wolfe, did not fail to say something about the merits of Admiral Saunders in an address in Parliament. Walpole described it as "perhaps the worst harangue he ever uttered." This might account for exaltation of the soldier at the expense of the brave navigator who cut off the supplies of the enemy and manoeuvred a fleet of 141 vessels through the uncharted shoals and turbulent currents of the St. Lawrence to the cove where the British troops were landed, to storm the heights and win a victory over the army of Montcalm. Wolfe is said to have made his plans in consultation with Admiral Saunders. Of him he thought so highly that in his will, made the night before the battle, he bequeathed his service of plate to the gallant sailor. In a life of Saunders in the Dictionary of National Biography, Professor J. K. Laughton writes:

"The brilliance of the little battle, with Wolfe's glorious death, caught the popular imagination and has prevented many from seeing that it was but the crowning incident of a long series of operations all based on the fleet, which alone rendered them possible."

The sailor was "privately buried" in Westminster Abbey, but there is no record of the fact in Dean Stanley's list of those laid in that consecrated ground. No visitor learns that the sharer of Wolfe's glory rests "near the imposing memorial of the general whom he helped to conquer Canada." Saunders cared so little about his own fame that he never furnished the name of his birthplace. As Canadians presented to the Mother Country the statue of Wolfe now to be seen at Greenwich, so it is a Canadian, Sir Campbell Stuart, who is determined that justice shall be done to the memory of Admiral Saunders by a suitable inscription in Westminster Abbey. —St. Catharines Standard.

HEROIC DOGS ARE REWARDED.

The heroism, intelligence and devotion of the dog, which have been demonstrated and chronicled on innumerable occasions, passed in review the other day in New York when awards were made because of some outstanding feats by canine heroes. The gold medal went to Brownie, whose ancestry, we are told, "is as clouded as his age." Brownie belonged to Helen Pappan of Pasadena. They were playing together on the sidewalk one day when Helen, who is only 13 months old, dashed into the street. Speeding automobiles flashed by the child as she toddled through the maze of traffic. Brownie sensed her peril and went after her, ducking and wriggling his way through the flow of motor cars until he reached her side. He seized her dress and led her safely back to the sidewalk. Ten other dogs were given citations for their heroic performances during the last six months in the United States. These included:

Babe, a cross between a police dog and a collie, owned by Mrs. Anthony La Duva, of St. Louis, who plunged into the deep River Des Peres sewer to save Jack De La Casa from drowning, the report states. Babe swam to the boy's side, seized him by the coat and swam to the edge of the hole. A stray puppy aided Babe in saving the boy's life. The puppy grabbed his wrists after Babe had brought him to the edge of the sewer. Babe scrambled out and then the two dogs pulled Jack out.

Laddy, a German police dog, owned by Claude Erickson, of Princeton, Minn., who saved the life of Russell Foote when he grabbed a blanket in which the boy was wrapped when it was ignited by flames from the camp fire; Prince, a Holbrook, Mass., dog, who won a citation for having pulled his two-year-old mistress, Ileane Depson, from the railroad tracks just as a train came in sight, and Mickey, a Florida dog, who paid with his life for saving that of his master, Jackie Goehring, at Sarasota. Mickey was bitten by a diamond-black rattlesnake which had attacked Jackie.

These instances again illustrate that the dog is always willing to imperil and even to sacrifice his life for those to whom he is devoted and often for those who are strangers to him. His brave and affectionate heart is ready to face, without a moment's hesitation, the most deadly dangers. For quick action and thinking and for heroic endeavor few humans can surpass the dog. Because of his willingness to serve and save and because of his capacity for companionship he is held in warm regard by the great majority of people. There are some persons, of course, who never see a dog without hoping that the dog catcher would pounce on him, but, fortunately, they are in the small minority. When great men like Sir Arthur Conan Doyle, who has just died, and Admiral Byrd, recently awarded the medal of the American Humane Association for "marked humane treatment accorded to the dogs in his polar expeditions," are numbered among those who have made companions of their dogs, it may be taken for granted that a dog's companionship is worth cultivating, and that he will well repay any attention and affection that may be shown him. —St. Thomas Times-Journal.

EDITORIAL NOTES AND COMMENT.

Two weeks from to-day the election will be all over. And yet many people do not seem aware that there is going to be one.

"Everybody should learn to drive an automobile," says an advertisement. And, as the Oshawa Times points out, this applies to some of the people who already have permits to drive.

The election is taking normal form. On the same night both Premier King and Mr. Bennett informed audiences that their party would be triumphant on July 28.

The death of Lieut. J. D. Vance, one of Canada's greatest air pilots, will be deeply regretted. He was one of the many gallant men who have made history in the Northland by their skilful flying.

The electors of Ontario will be deluged with enough words during the next twelve days to convince them that after all there is an election to be held this month.

Tourist traffic continues to increase. The influx of visitors from over the border will give a welcome impetus to business throughout the district.

A Thought

STICK-TO-ITIVENESS

"Stick-to-itiveness" might be defined as the concentration of one's energies on the work on hand. In speaking of his work, Thomas A. Edison once remarked, "In scientific work, as in all other work, the chief factor of success is the power of sticking to one thing. I have accomplished to the fact that I hold on where most persons get discouraged." In other words, he " tenaciously clings till he comes out victorious."

What To-day Means To You.

If July 15 is your birthday, the best hours for you on this date are from 11 a.m. to noon, 5 p.m. to 6:30 and 11 p.m. to midnight. The danger periods are from 5:30 a.m. to 7 a.m. and 3 p.m. to 4:30 p.m.

You will harvest in future days the fruit of your sowing on this date. Fate will give you a guiding hand, if you accept it, but there will be a war between self-desire and the dictates of your conscience. Look ahead before you act.

Children born on this July 15 will have happy-go-lucky dispositions, and will never desire to discard their rose-colored glasses. They should be carefully prepared for life within the home and schoolroom, or they will be heartbrokenly disillusioned and lose confidence in the world and its people. They will be thoroughly good, but decided dreamers.

Life is not going to dry-nurse and treat you like a helpless babe—it is going to test and try you severely. You are going to have to fight for most of your heart's desires, but you are fortunately made of fighting stuff. You will neither try to evade your battles, nor will you weakly surrender to difficulties, instead of overcoming them. Your life will be full of changes and-surprise packets are always around the corner —sometimes nice ones, and sometimes bad ones, but you open both fearlessly. You do not resist change, however, you loathe ruts. You love fresh experiences, and you rush into them with enthusiasm. You are going to have many vivid experiences, but they will be character builders, and not destroyers in your case. You will witness good and evil, but you will remain clean and morally good.

You do not allow yourself the pleasure of self-pity, for you usually acknowledge that the cause of most of your troubles is within yourself. You never blame poor old Circumstances. You have a great love of study, and you will probably have more ability than you will have an opportunity to use profitably —you may be forced to accept subordinate positions, but ones of trust and importance. You are a good practical worker, and an industrious being, seldom found with idle hands.

EMBARRASSING MOMENTS

THE GRINGO PRIVATEER

By PETER B. KYNE

CHAPTER 15.

"I have never had any experience heretofore with rustlers, Tom. Tongue-slitting is a new one on me. Why do they do it?"

"So the calf can no longer suckle its mother an' will have to start rustlin' a livin' on grass right off."

"Oh, I see. That means the calf will leave its mother and, of course, once it has done that, there is no way of identifying it as that cow's calf. To all intents and purposes it's a maverick and the assumption is that the first man who finds it is free to use his iron on it."

Tom Bledsoe nodded. "Bad for the cow's udder to have her calf forcibly weaned before due time, Mr. Burney."

"Are the same tactics followed on our cattle north of the Line, Tom?"

Bledsoe nodded. "Not to such an extent, however. We can watch our cattle closer an' Bruce daren't take the chance he does in El Cajon Bonita, where he is immune from United States law."

"The hyena! Who is Miguel Gallegos?"

"A half-breed Irishman. His mother was an Italian, an' he became a naturalized citizen of Mexico. During the Madero rebellion he was a general an' more recently he's become a sort o' bandit, but claimin' to be a patriot. He's the law in that part of Mexico an' after eighteen year o' war an' riot, about all the Mesican government can do is handle the tough ones an' leave the little ones alone until they get too bad. He's got the local federal officials buffaloed, an' they're sort o' caterin' to him in the hope he won't organize a revolution again 'em. He does about what he pleases."

"Had Mr. Graydon complained to the Mexican federal officials about him?"

"No, sir. Ain't had nothin' to complain about. All we got is suspicion. Martin Bruce don't own a hectare o' land in Mexico, but the king's got a sound title to El Cajon Bonita an' we figger Bruce wants it, an' has set Gallegos up to makin' things so uncomfortable an' unprofitable there we'll pull out to save loss an' bloodshed; then Bruce'll take it over an' range his cattle on it. I wouldn't be surprised if Gallegos is his silent partner, doin' the dirty work for his share."

"Well, as a cattle range, El Cajon Bonita is certainly worth fighting for, Tom. It's well watered and I never did see such a thick growth of grama grass anywhere else. So the situation has resolved itself to this. We've got to keep a force of men down there sufficient to stand off Gallegos. That's too expensive and dangerous. To leave our cattle there alone and unprotected means that presently every head of stock we've got there will disappear. That's too expensive, also. So the third alternative is to go down there and wipe this fellow Gallegos and his men clear off the map. And that's the plan I've adopted."

"Ain't no other out," the gloomy Quaker assented. "But Art Graydon, he never suggested that an' the king couldn't on account o' bein' responsible, if he did, for the killin' of a lot o' his good men. An' then there's the international complications to consider. Mr. Burney, the situation has sure had the king goin'."

"Well, he isn't sending me down there. I've volunteered and he isn't going to know when I start or when I finish, until he gets the news of the clean-up. I figure that with thirty good men I can take care of two hundred of the Gallegos followers, but to be successful we must be superbly equipped, superbly mounted, well trained and have a definite plan of campaign from which we must not diverge, once the action is joined. Once we wipe out the Gallegos gang, Martin Bruce will keep clear of El Cajon Bonita and it will be long before another bandit adventurer undertakes to start something with us. I expect to get the law on Bruce in this state and jail him."

"He's too smart to be caught branding the king's calves himself."

"A master is responsible for the acts of his servants, Tom, and the servants will be easier to catch than the cautious Mr. Bruce. Once I get an indictment voted against him in this state he'll remain in Arizona; then some night we'll sweep down on his headquarters on the Trangle B, burn it, and run his criminal riders off the range, unless by doing good detective work, we are able first to land most of them in jail.

"This situation doesn't present any insuperable obstacles, Tom. All it requires is some resolution, a definite plan and a ruthless follow-through. Before I get through with Martin Bruce he'll sell his range and all his cattle to the king and pull out of New Mexico forever."

"All the king has ever needed is the right general manager an' in thee he has found the man, Mr. Burney. I'll be right proud to help out."

"Thanks, Tom, I know you will. I expect to clean the situation up in thirty days, although unforeseen complications may require more time. It wouldn't be fair to have a good man like you marking time on the same old salary, so from the first of July your salary is upped fifty dollars a month."

"Thanks. That makes me the highest-paid ridin' boss on the Bardin payroll, don't it?" Bledsoe replied pridefully. He rose. "Well, I reckon I'd better be off. I'll tell the boys of thy plans an' select the dependables."

Ken Burney watched him depart into the night. "Good old sergeant-major," he murmured. "And what a blood-thirsty old Quaker you turned out to be." He picked up the telephone and called the king. Muriel Bardin answered. "I want to speak to His Majesty," he announced.

"About Tom Bledsoe?" she queried. "Good guess."

"His Majesty has retired and may not be disturbed. I'll take the message."

"Very well. Tell him, please, that I have raised Tom Bledsoe's wages fifty dollars a month, because I have discovered in him a man after my own heart. If the king had been acquainted even remotely with Tom Bledsoe, I wouldn't be his general manager tonight."

"How interesting! Well, why not turn the job over to Tom Bledsoe right away, Mr. Burney? I'm sure it is not going to be one you are going to enjoy."

"That's where you are greatly mistaken, Miss Bardin. I'm going to enjoy it immensely. Tom Bledsoe's going to help me, though."

"I'm disappointed in you, Mr. Burney. I thought you were a gentleman."

"Oh, no, no, no. Nothing like that, Miss Muriel. No gentleman ever gets the thrill out of life that I do. I know, because I've been a gentleman. Now I prefer to be a roughneck."

"That's much too bad, Mr. Burney. Good night." And she hung up.

"Poor old king," Ken Burney murmured, "she must be giving him a rough ride about me. As if it's any of her business," he murmured and switched off the light.

At the same moment Muriel Bardin stood beside the king's bed and delivered his general manager's message. Whereat His Majesty smiled a satisfied smile.

"I'm not going to invite him over to dinner after all," Muriel announced.

"Jake with me," said the king. "Good night, honey."

Immediately after breakfast Tom Bledsoe reported to the new general manager. "Well, I have thirty good men signed up for thee, Mr. Burney," he announced.

"Fast work. How many saddle horses have you got in the remuda?"

"About three hundred."

"Cut me out six bays; two buckskins with black points; five light bays with blazed faces and white socks; five blacks or very dark bays, five chestnuts, two palaminos; one sovieno and two black-and-white pintos. Here's the list to aid your memory."

"Guess we can fill that bill, Mr. Burney. We got all colors in that remuda, an' they're all good horses."

"Thanks. Send over to me three of your fastest wing shots with pistols, wearing two guns each. I'm going to Huachita in the general manager's automobile and these three are to be my bodyguard. Hand-pick 'em, Tom. While I'm gone rake a few men and round up the horses I require."

Within ten minutes the trio reported. One of them, it developed, was Art Graydon's chauffeur when he was not otherwise engaged, and he had to report that Mr. Graydon planned to use the ranch car that day.

Uncommon Sense

By John Blake

ALL IN THE DAY'S WORK.

The lad who had driven us to the home of our hostess was cleaning the dust from the car when the telephone bell rang.

"It's for you, Frank," said his employer.

Frank was back in an instant. "A fire over yonder in the back hills" he said. "I don't know how long I'll be. Maybe a day, maybe two or three. I'll send one of the boys down at the garage over to drive for you."

Ten minutes later he was whizzing past in a little flivver, crowded with eight or ten men. He pointed to the line of the hills as he sped by, and looking thither we saw a thin spiral of smoke rising.

By nightfall the spiral had swollen to a column, and by morning we could not see the hills at all for the rolling black clouds that enveloped them.

"I hope he comes back safely," said our hostess. "Sometimes they don't. And Frank is the most daring of them all."

"How can they fight such a fire as that," I asked.

"They work ahead of it and behind it, shoveling dirt on the flames. Sometimes they are dreadfully burned. Sometimes it is all useless. There was a fire last summer that did millions of dollars' worth of destruction. But it is their job and they must do it."

"How much are they paid?"

"Very little."

"Is there any hope of promotion?"

"Not much."

"Then why do they fight these fires?"

"Because they cannot help it. It is in them. They were born here and they love the woods. They cannot bear to see them burned. If they were paid nothing at all they would clamor for fire-fighting jobs. If they needed assistance they could get every man in the hills to help them. Frank limps still from a broken leg, and twice he has been frightfully burned. But while he is able to move he will fight fires."

Two days afterward he came home. The smoke cloud on the horizon had dwindled to a few tiny columns. Men were still there, fighting the monster's last feeble efforts to "come back," but Frank had been without sleep for two nights. The others made him quit.

After he had rested I asked him about the work.

"It ain't much,' he said. "Somebody starts the fires for spite or through carelessness, and we have to put them out, that's all."

"Do you like that job?"

"Can's say as I like it special. But it's got to be done."

"You are one of the smartest drivers I have ever known. Why don't you come to New York and get a better paid job?"

"I'd hate to be away when a fire started, that's all. You see I was raised in these mountains."

I haven't been so sure, since that conversation, that this is such a selfish world as most people seem to think.

DECORATION DAY SET FOR JULY 20

Omemee Women's Institute Meets at Home of Mrs. Fred. Evans.

MEETING DAY CHANGED

OMEMEE, July 15 (Examiner Correspondence)—Mrs. Fred Evans was hostess for the July meeting of the Women's Institute held at her home on Wednesday afternoon with about thirty ladies in attendance. Mrs. D. Rea the president, conducted the meeting and the roll call was responded to by "my pet proverbs."

The date for the annual decoration day services in Emily cemetery has been set for July 20 by the Orangemen and Institute Society and the committee reported that the Salvation Army Band from Lindsay would be present. An effort will be made to decorate all the graves of departed members.

After a short discussion regarding the day of meeting it was decided to change the day to the third Wednesday of each month.

By a unanimous vote it was decided to enter an exhibit at the Lindsay Exhibition. Mrs. D. Rea and Miss V. McBain were appointed a committee to be responsible for same. The program for the year was on display to afford each member the privilege of making any changes not suitable before it is sent to press.

Mrs. J. Eggleston recited in splendid style, "Kipling's Recessional." Dainty refreshments were served by the hostesses, Mrs. R. J. Cornwall, Mrs. McPhee and Mrs. F. Evans.

WOMAN DIES OF BURNS.

THORNBURY, Ont., July 15.—(C. P.)—Mrs. Fred Thomas, Concession Camp, Collingwood township, died to-day of burns received in a lamp explosion yesterday. Mrs. Thomas' clothing caught fire when the coal oil which she was watching her husband pour into an incubator lamp exploded. The lighted wick of the lamp and the oil fumes united to cause the fire.

BOYS ENJOYING KAWARTHA CAMP

Many Improvements Have Been Made to Boys' Camp.

NEW BUNK HOUSE BUILT

CLEAR LAKE, July 15—"All well and getting browner and browner" is the last word from the happy lads having the time of their lives at the Kawartha Boys' Camp on Clear Lake. Life around the camp is in full swing, a large number of boys of all ages from 10 years and up having joyously answered the lure of camp life.

The camp opened last Monday and its first week assures it even greater success than those many big years of the past. As in previous years the camp is under the guidance of Captain D. A. Loomis, M.C., who has won an enviable record for successful leadership. Assisting him is Harry Redfern, who has also been connected with the camp for some years and is also a veteran in boys' work.

New Bunk House Built

Many improvements are adding to the joys and conveniences of the camp this summer. A new bunk house has been erected on the top of a hill, giving a wonderful view of the lake, and providing comfort for the rapidly increasingly number of boys taking advantage of Kawartha Camp. Each bunk has been equipped with new springs to ensure that sleep that freshens.

The installation of a new motor which draws sufficient water from the lake to provide for kitchen use is another marked improvement.

Musicians at the camp are getting plenty of opportunity to display their accomplishment too, since by the kindness of Bob Haddow, of the Heintzman Company, a piano is numbered among the camp's furnishings.

Water expeditions come more frequently this year, the addition of three new boats having rounded out the camp's flotilla nicely. In fact a lake cruise was the big feature of Tuesday's program, being planned especially to point out to the new boys some of the beauties of the Kawarthas.

Ball games are another big feature and the Sure-Fires and Lazy-Backs are in the midst of a tough series.

A giant camp fire attracted the attention of everyone on the lake Thursday night. The fire was at the boys' camp and in its light stories were told and rollicking songs rang out.

A full program for every day in the week is carefully planned which makes the Kawartha Camp the best place for any boy to spend a healthy holiday. It is a model institution where boys learn to swim, handle boats and grow sturdy in the finest health conditions and on the best food obtainable.

COMMENT ON THE MORNING STOCK MARKETS OVER BIGGAR & CRAWFORD WIRE.

The Toronto market hesitated to join in the advance enjoyed by New York this morning and traders continued cautiously. International Nickel supplied what strength there was by advancing over ½ a point to $25¼. Brazilian, Ford, and Inter. Petroleum were fractionally higher, while Walker's remained steady at $9. A demand for high-grade investments was evidenced in Bell Telephone, while Service Stations Preferred, ex-dividend to-day, sold at its old low of $99.

Bullish confidence in New York was strengthened by further advance in the principal trading stocks to new highs on current movement on Monday. Considerable profit taking came into the market in early dealings, but offerings were well absorbed and the pivotal shares maintained the best levels of the present advance. The market was featured by spurts in the speculative favorites such as Vanadium Corp., which moved up to $96, and Houston Oil.

PARIS, Ont., July 15.— (C.P.) — Robert Haywood 44, was electrocuted to-day by coming in contact with a 2,200 volt line while working on Ontario Hydro Electric Power Commission wires near here. Ernest Wilson, also employed on the job, was severely burned when he tried to free Haywood from the wire.

RAIN IS NEEDED IN PRAIRIE WEST

Grain Lands Are Being Parched By the Sizzling Sun.

WARM WEATHER FORECAST.

WINNIPEG, Man., July 15 (C.P.)— Grain lands of the West, parched by a sizzling sun, looked in vain to-day for general relief. A few local thundershowers were promised for parts of Manitoba, Saskatchewan and Alberta to-night, but continuation of the warm weather was the forecast for all of the west.

In Alberta where the mercury climbed over the 100 mark at three southerly points Monday, very light rain was experienced during the night. At Stettler, Alta. a downfall of .13 of an inch was received.

FINANCIAL NEWS AND BRIEFS

A SPECIAL SERVICE TO THE EXAMINER

Standard statistics in a most recent bulletin say newsprint manufacturers have accomplished much in lowering production costs and at present are exerting every effort to effect operating economies. It is pointed out that in former years, before production facilities were stepped up, manufacturers of news grade paper, practically guaranteed their quota of business and bank working on a substantial margin of profit, paid in sufficient attention to cost of production. In consequence certain extravagancies resulted which are now in process of elimination.

Gas Sale Increase.

Accompanying dividend cheques of the McColl-Frontenac Oil Company, Limited, is a letter from President John Irwin in which it is stated shareholders will be interested to know that sales of gasoline and oil still continue to show handsome increases and that the company's refinery and marine operations are being carried out with very gratifying results. Mr Irwin mentions the holiday season and expects that stockholders when away from home will want to continue using McColl products and encloses a list of Red Indian service stations throughout Canada by Provinces, towns and location. In addition, the president says stockholders will find roadside and curb pumps on almost every highway and in practically every village, town and city in Canada McColl-Frontenac is the fourth Canadian oil concern to write stockholders reporting increased business. The first week in July letters were sent out by British American Oil, Supertest Petroleum and Thayers, Limited, all reporting increased sales.

Manufacture Improvements.

The research department of the Abitibi Power and Paper Company has never been so active as at present. Improvements in the manufacturing process have been developed, and special attention is being paid to the use of fibres from other woods besides spruce. Paper companies have cut only spruce in their logging operations, leaving the other varieties of fir standing. It is now found possible to mix the fibres of other woods, such as pine and this results in a substantial lowering of the cost of woods operations. Price Bros. is another company reported active in research work and it is rumored this organization has developed a process to change newsprint production allowing increased speed and lower operation cost.

No Improvement Yet.

Quarterly review of McLeod, Young, Weir and Co., states there is apparently no assurance of an immediate improvement in the stock markets. A short time ago it appeared as if the anticipation of a business revival commencing in the fall would result in public buying. However, the decline in business and the stock markets since then has been so drastic, that there is little hope at the present time of such a movement taking place. As far as time is concerned of course we are much nearer the end of this trade recession, and in a better position to-day than we were last November. The stock market at present levels has probably discounted the unfavorable outlook for business but, it is sensitive to every piece of news favorable or unfavorable. As long as public sentiment remains unsettled the market will continue irregular. The review holds the opinion that in the final quarter this year the markets will indicate an anticipation of a revival in business. The more recent decline in stock prices undoubtedly will have a beneficial effect upon the bond market and this should be of real significance as a good bond market is an essential aid to business revival.

VIPOND CONSOLIDATED WILL SET NEW PRODUCTION MARK

Split Between Reeves-McDonald Mines and Pend Oreille is Rumored.

NORANDA PROGRESSING.

TORONTO, July 15. (Special to Examiner.)—Product figures of Vipond Consolidated Mines for the quarter ended June 30, confirm the reports that production during the fiscal year ending July 31, 1930, will establish a new record for the company. Gross recovery for the last four quarters as reported by the company totals $869,679 from 112,090 tons of ore which compares with gross recovery for the fiscal year ended July 31, 1929, of $867,749 from 100,540 tons. While these periods do not correspond exactly the figures indicate that in view of the higher grade being treated at the present time, an important gain will be shown for 1929-30 over 1928-29.

The fact that H. H. Yuill president of Reeves McDonald Mines, was not re-elected to the board of Pend Oreille mines and metals has raised the question as to the likelihood of a split between the two companies, each of which holds a substantial stock interest in the other. It is pointed out that the new U.S. tariff will defeat the original plan to send Reeves-McDonald ore, averaging less than 10% combined lead and zinc, across the border duty free to be milled and treated and the resulting metals sold in the United States in conjunction with Pend Oreille production.

Apparently the present market conditions are having little effect on Noranda production. Canadian Mining Journal reports that the company is going steadily ahead with all branches of operations, and for the first half of 1930 the output has probably reached about $8,500,000.

Any such preliminary estimates can be approximate as copper prices received for June shipments are subject to prevailing quotations in July, but the output of copper is understood to have been not far under 50,000,000 pounds for the period. It is recalled that the president, last spring intimated that production for the year would be in the neighborhood of $100,000,000 pounds.

It is reported that production of 500 tons of ore daily will be obtained from the new No. 19 ore body of Noranda by next October. This ore body is the new high grade gold deposit found south of the H orebody and the decision of the company to obtain a substantial part of its production from this source undoubtedly reflects the decline in the price of copper. The averag grade is expected to be between $15 and $20 a ton in gold, and the utilization of this ore will mean a substantial addition to profits.

In view of the fact Cadmium is rapidly assuming an important position in the metal output of Consolidated Smelters the following cable from Melbourne Australia to the engineering and mining world is of interest—"Increased Cadmium production at the Risdon plant of electrolytic zinc is helping to offset the effect of lower prices for zinc. During the quarter ending march 31, a recent statement declares, the plant recovered 53.8 tons of Cadmium valued at $24,109. Production for the last fiscal year was 176 tons or about 44 tons quarterly. Smelters production of Cadmium was about 387 tons in 1929 and 246 tons in 1928.

HIGHER TONE ON TORONTO CURB

List Makes Definite Progress With Increase in Volume of Sales.

SOME GAINS FRACTIONALLY.

TORONTO, Ont., July 15. (C.P.)— With the volume of sales increasing on the advance, leading stocks traded on Toronto Stock Exchange made more definite progress this morning. Gains were mostly fractional but coming on top of yesterday's slow advance left prices the best they have been in a number of days.

Brazilian was selling at 40½ approximating its recent high. Nickel was above 25 and Ford of Canada climbed to 32. Gypsum at 19 was the highest it has been in some time. Oils were slower to move and also experienced a smaller turnover than in other sections of the list. The leaders made some slight progress, but it was scarcely noticeable.

The inter-listed stocks did best as they took their cue from Wall Street where bullish sentiment predominated. Strength in Ford could be attributed to the rise in the motor group in New York consequent upon the better position the industry now is reported to be in.

Bell Telephone, C.P.R., Walkers, Distillers, City Dairy and a number of other issues were unchanged. Dominion Stores lost a point on a small turnover.

AWARDED C.L.U.

According to an announcement of the Life Underwriters' Association of Canada, Malcolm G. Cook and Charles J. Ray, both of the Sun Life Assurance Company in this city, have been awarded the right to use the title and designation "Charter Life Underwriter of Canada." These newly created "C. L. U.'s" were successful candidates at the examinations of the Institute of Chartered Life Underwriters of Canada, held throughout Canada in April last.

FIRST PAYMENTS ON 1930-31 CROP ARE SET BY POOL

Prices Established Are Far Down From Those of Year Ago.

WHEAT IS 70 CENTS.

Announcement Made By Board of Control Selling Agency.

WINNIPEG, Man., July 15 (C.P.).— Initial payments for the 1930-31 grain crop to-day are set by the Canadian Wheat Pool. Far down from the values set a year ago for the West's crop, the first payments on all grain delivered to the pools July 16 and thereafter are as follows:

Wheat, 70c per bushel on No. 1 Northern, Fort William.

Barley, 25c per bushel on No. 3 C.W.

Oats, 30c per bushel on No. 2 C.W.

Rye, 30c per bushel on No. 2 C.W.

Flax, $1.25 per bushel on No. 1 N.W.

July 15 is "cut-off" date for the 1929-30 pool, so that all grain delivered after that date is credited to the 1930-31 pool. The initial prices were announced to-day by the Central Board of the Central Selling Agency of the Canadian Wheat Pool.

MINE ISSUES GAIN IN PRICE

Stronger Feeling Much in Evidence During Earlier Period on Standard.

VIPOND EASES.

TORONTO, Ont., July 15. (C.P.)— Though trading continued light a somewhat stronger feeling was in evidence on the mining market during the early period to-day. Price movements were not broad, but showed an irregularly higher tendency with gains in the majority when the list was taken at noon.

Both Nickel and Hudson Bay showed fractional advances to $25 and $7.75 respectively, and Noranda was holding firm around $23.50. Falconbridge recovered 13 to $2. Sherritt was up 4 to $1.40, but Sudbury Basin eased 5 to $1.45. Waite-Ackerman gained 3 to $2.

As was to be expected in view of the fact the news had been pretty well discounted, Vipond eased a couple ot $1.30 following publication of figures for the quarter ended June 30, which showed substantial increase over those for the preceding period. Other golds were firm, however Teck Hughes gaining 5, Hollinger 10 and Wright-Hargreaves a couple, Oriole was off 2 to 30.

Acme Gas opened strong, but failed to hold its advance, the price dropping to 39 at noon, a point below last night. Nordon was 4 higher at $1.04, Ajax oil up 2 to $1.80 and Calmont, in fair activity, advanced 3 to $1.11.

FOREIGN EXCHANGE.

NEW YORK, N.Y., July 15. (C.P.)— Foreign exchange steady, demand rates (Great Britain in dollars, others in cents): Great Britain 4.86 3-8; France, 3.93 7-16; Italy, 5.23⅛; Germany, 23.86; Canadian dollar 1-32 of one per cent premium.

LETTER STARTS ACTION

TORONTO, Ont., July 15.—(CP)— Receipt yesterday of a strongly-worded letter from Col. O. M. Biggar, K.C., legal adviser to the chief electoral officer for Canada, resulted in a conference between Mayor Wemp and Chief of Police Draper upon the subject of police interference with the election campaign of Charles Sims, Communist Parliamentary candidate in West Center Toronto, details of the discussion were not announced.

NEW CANCER ADVANCE

LONDON, Eng., July 15.—(CP)— The discovery of an experimental method by which mice may be subjected to cancer of the skin and heart has made available a mass of new material for cancer researches, according to the annual report of the Grand Council of the British Empire Cancer campaign. The report announces that some causes of the dread disease which formerly were scarcely suspected have been discovered.

UNCERTAIN TONE IS LENT TO NEW YORK MARKET TO-DAY AS FORCES BATTLE FOR POSITION

Confidence Renewed in Some Issues as Favorite Second Quarter Earnings Reports Released.

RAIL STOCKS FIRMER.

Call Money Again in Plentiful Supply—American Telephone Gains 6 Points.

NEW YORK, N. Y., July 16.—(CP) —The newly organized bull forces encountered stiff opposition in today's stock market from the diehard bears who felt that speculation for the rise was becoming bearish but the bull faction managed to keep price trends fairly well in hand.

Profit taking in addition to the efforts of bears playing for a technical reaction gave the market a rather uncertain aspect much of the time.

A few rather pleasing second quarter earnings statements helped to bolster confidence. National Biscuit earned 80 cents per share, against 84 cents a year ago; General Electric 51 cents, against 58 last year, and Commonwealth Edison $2.67, against $2.79.

The rail stocks were helped by declaration of another $1 dividend by Missouri Kansas Texas.

Call Money Plentiful

Call money continued plentiful and after renewing at 2½ per cent, again sagged to 2, although time money was firmer, with quotations up ¼ of one per cent. The weekly statement of reporting member banks showed a drop of $75,000,000 in security loans against a reduction only $16,000,000 in brokers loans for the same period, in contrast to recent trends.

A strong feature of the early afternoon was American Telephone, which surged up more than 6 points.

In the rails, Missouri, Kansas, Texas surged up 4 points, and New York Central, Frisco, Erie and Wabash were among those gaining 2 or more.

Such pool favorites as Vanadium and Houston Oil gained more than 3, American Tobacco "B", Foster Wheeler, Eastman Kodak, and Timken Roller gained 2 or more. Among the low priced issues, Kelvinator was a strong spot, rising more than 2.

Shares that were strong yesterday encountered considerable profit taking, and many of the pivotal industrials barely held steady. Such issues as U. S. Steel, General Electric and Radio moved in narrow ranges.

AUTOS COLLIDE ON DOURO STREET

Driver of One Car Thrown Into Ditch But Is Not Seriously Injured.

AUTO SIDE-SWIPED.

Colliding with a car driven by Bruce Bolton, R.R. 10, Peterborough, a light coach driven by Robert Hull of this city was considerably damaged at the corner of Douro and Rogers Streets at noon to-day. Hull's car glanced off the other vehicle and struck a large elm tree, but although Hull was thrown into the ditch and shaken up, neither man received serious injuries.

According to police, Hull was driving west on Douro, and on coming to the Rogers Street corner, was sideswiped by Bolton, who was going north on Rogers. Bolton's car was little damaged.

Citizens residing in the vicinity are of the opinion that a stop sign should be erected at this corner.

OTTAWA DENIES CHURCH'S CLAIM

Department Officials Found That Drill Boat Was in Good Condition.

OTTAWA, Ont., July 15.—(By the Canadian Press.) — The conditions were the direct opposite to what T. L. Church had claimed, was the statement from the Department of Public Works today in reference to the disaster near Brockville when a drill boat was blown up and 30 men lost their lives. Mr. Church, member in the last Parliament for Toronto Northwest, declared in a meeting last night that the boat was old and improperly equipped. Had the proper precautions been taken, Mr. Church contended and the lives of the men safeguarded, the explosion would never have occurred.

The drill boat was working on a contract from the Department of Public Works to remove shoals in Brockville Narows and after the explosion six officials of the Public Works Department, headed by K. M. Cameron, Chief Engineer, made an inquiry into the cause of the disaster. They found, according to today's reply from the Department, that the boat was in good condition and properly equipped when the accident occurred.

Lightning struck the drill boat and the explanation of the accident has been that the lightning charged the wires leading to the dynamite already placed in the holes which had been drilled into the shoal, exploding it directly under the boat.

BERLIN, Germany, July 15. (C.P.) The text of Germany's reply to Foreign Minister Briand's memorandum for a "United States of Europe" was made public here to-night. Canadian & Empire Interests Are Alike Safe With Bennett

Nothing in this campaign is more unfair or illogical than the attempt that is being made to picture the Conservative Party as opposed to the development of intra-Empire trade and to paint the Dunning Budget as the only thing that will hold the Empire together.

That is pure bunkum.

The Conservative policy toward Empire trade is set forth in these words in the platform announced by Mr. Bennett at Winnipeg:

"WE PLEDGE OURSELVES TO FOSTER AND SUPPORT PLANS FOR GREATER EMPIRE TRADE BASED ON MUTUAL ADVANTAGE."

That is the only sure, the only businesslike way, in which Empire trade can in the long run be made possible for nothing is clearer than the fact that arrangements that do not give all parts of the Empire some advantage will not be long maintained.

Telling Canadians that if they believe in Empire trade they have no other choice than to support the King Government is insulting the intelligence of the people of this country.

The Financial Post, looking at the question from a business and not a political viewpoint, says:

"The difference in opinion (between the two parties) lies entirely in the methods to be adopted for promoting Empire economic unity. Mr. Bennett disapproves of granting preferences without getting a definite and tangible return in the form of preferences for Canadian products. Mr. King reiterates the policy of the Liberal Party which is to encourage other British countries — and particularly Great Britain — to buy from Canada by so arranging our tariff so that we will in the normal course of trade buy more from those British countries. MR. BENNETT SEES THE MATTER IN A PRACTICAL LIGHT; Mr. King in its psychological aspects."

The British Bankers' Association, composed of the greatest financiers in Britain, completely endorse Mr. Bennett's viewpoint.

Its recent manifesto declares that INTRA-EMPIRE TRADE MUST BE PROMOTED BY RECIPROCAL AGREEMENTS BETWEEN THE COUNTRIES OF the Empire."

THAT IS EXACTLY WHAT MR. BENNETT says, but so far no one has accused the British bankers of trying to leave the Empire because they look upon a business proposition in a business light.

When anyone tries to convince people that the Conservative leader wants to desert the Empire because he insists that the interests of Canada must be considered first in our participation in the Imperial Economic Conference or in the making of any other treaty arrangements he is simply shutting his eyes to the facts and his ears to the truth.

CANADIAN INTERESTS AND EMPIRE INTERESTS ARE SAFE IN MR. BENNETT'S HANDS.

If you believe in a businesslike development of Empire trade upon lasting lines, don't be misled by flag-waving or tub-thumping.

Liberal Ladies Hear Mrs. F. S. Greenwood, B.A.

CONSERVATIVE PROGRAM TERMED ONLY A BID TO GET INTO POWER BY SPEAKER AT LIBERAL PARTY

Mrs. F. S. Greenwood, B.A., Adresses Large Gathering of Ladies.

ORGANIZATION IMPORTANT

Speaker Claims Many of Conservative Promises Impossible of Fulfillment.

"What we have to choose between in this election is a competent leader with an efficient and constructive record behind him and a program that means everything for the betterment of the Dominion, and, on the other hand, a program that is really only a bid for power and contains any number of promises impossible of fulfillment, and that would not make, in any particular, for the progress or stability of this Canada of ours."

Mrs. F. S. Greenwood, B.A., of St. Catharines, spoke thus in the concluding sentences of the speech which she made last evening from the verandah of J. J. Duffus' home on Reid street, to the audience, mainly of women, and numbering about two hundred and fifty, who sat on chairs on the lawn and listened to her.

Dealt With Important Issues

It was an interesting address of some fifty minutes in duration that touched briefly on many of the important issues in the election: the Budget; the Imperial Conference and Canada's representation thereat; the unemployment question; the matter of binding more closely the ties of Empire forged in troublous times; social legislation as noted under the Liberal regime; increase in exports and in manufactured products.

The meeting was held under the auspices of the Liberal Women's Association, and was preceded by a garden party and reception, with the service of refreshments from a table on the verandah. Pots of palms and ferns, pennants and flags, and large "welcome" signs, decorated the verandah and grounds, and a string ensemble from the Conservatory of Music provided splendid music during the afternoon and early evening hours.

The speaker of the evening, Mrs. F. S. Greenwood, B.A., of St. Catharines, who is Liberal candidate for Lincoln County, and who aroused a flurry of attention when she announced that her husband, although a Conservative, was strongly interested in her candidacy, was a charming and talented expounder of Liberal views to the women, with a few men on the outskirts of the gathering, who heard her with manifest interest.

Pleasant is the word that perhaps describes Mrs. Greenwood best. She had a pleasant voice and a pleasant, friendly manner of address. There was a pleasant twinkle in her eyes and a very feminine atmosphere about her. She quoted poets, preferably Tennyson, three or four times during her address; she had a calm, confident poise that carried her very nicely through a talk whose constant interruptions by passing cars and by a coterie of playing children at the corner seemed to be quite unnoticed by the unflurried lady, and she had an attractive costume that harmonized very finely with a pastel type of prettiness, in its pale pink blouse with midnight blue suit, its large pink mohair hat, and long earrings.

Mrs. McNeely in the Chair

The chairman of the evening was the president of the Liberal Women's Association, Mrs. B. F. McNeely, who spoke briefly at the outset and also presented the vote of thanks at the close, moved by Miss L. Hurley and seconded by Miss Marita Collins, president of the Young Women's Liberal Association.

J. J. Duffus spoke in introduction of Mrs. Greenwood. Mr. Duffus asked the ladies to join the different poll organizations and he also enjoined on them the duty of studying very carefully the policy and record of the present administration and to note also the lack of policy presented by their opponents.

Mr. Duffus promised, if elected, to do all he possibly could, at any and every time, that will make for the progress of the city, the province and the Dominion as a whole.

Prior to her speech, Mrs. Greenwood was presented with a lovely bouquet of pink roses and gypsophila, by Isabel Duffus.

Organization Important

"The only way in which we can oust the present occupant of Queen's Park is by going ahead with district organization," declared Mrs. Greenwood, in urging the women present to take more interest in this branch of political activity. She went on to declare that the majority of Liberals could give the best of reasons for their political faith, whereas Conservatives as a rule could only point to hereditary inheritance of their political leanings. She also spoke of the many taunts and jibes directed by the Conservatives at the Liberals as being an incentive to any fairminded person to look further into the platform of the latter party.

Mrs. Greenwood referred to the consideration which was given to all classes in the community by the Tariff Board when studying the needs of the people and of the fair-minded Liberal policy which placed consideration of special needs in the hands of those who were cognizant of the situation, rather than in the hands of lawyers, as is usually done in the case of such commissions.

"The Liberal administration has been one marked by construction, as contrasted to the Conservative policy of obstruction."

Speaking with regard to the unemployment issue, the lady tagged Mr. Bennett's proposition of holding a special session to consider the question as an idea that would result in benefit only to the members, without any assistance accruing therefrom to the parties most interested; the unemployed. Quoting a letter in The Globe from an Oakville woman whose daughter had been killed in a level crossing accident, she recommended the construction of safer crossings as a measure badly needed and also a help to the unemployed.

A high tariff country, she declared, was, without exception, a country in which unemployment reached a higher level than in a low tariff country. Unemployment in Canada to-day had reached a total of 8 per cent. while in Great Britain 12 per cent. and in the United States 26 per cent of the population were unemployed.

Mrs. Greenwood quoted comparative figures to show the increasing tide of prosperity in the Dominion since the incoming of the Liberal regime in the Fall of 1921. Exports had increased in that period, up to the end of 1929, from 754 millions of dollars to one billion, 145 millions. The total consumption of manufactured and semi-manufactured goods, from $2,602,000 in 1922, had increased to the end of 1928, to $4,022,000. The total production in iron and steel, which was about 332 millions in 1922, was 526 millions in 1927, and 609 millions in 1928, while the total production in figures in textiles had increased from 334 millions to 415 millions.

With regard to social legislation, the Liberal party had brought in ameliorative measures in the Old Age Pensions Act, which was designed to relieve the wants of many of the aged residents of Canada and was not in any sense a charity measure, as it had been labelled by Mr. Bennett, and had brought much relief to labor in the inauguration of the eight-hour day. It had done much also for the Returned men in the working out of the decisions of the Pensions Board, which, according to the desire of the Premier, had always given the benefit of the doubt to the returned man, in case of any divergence in opinion.

Far-Reaching Effects

The rejection of the Budget and of trade with the Empire would have a far-reaching effect upon the Dominion, declared the speaker, who went on to say that the United States was already feeling the effects of a heightened tariff wall. Canadians, she asserted, should take pride in the representation of Canada made in the Old Land by Premier King and should regard Canada's place as the pivot of the Empire so far as economical questions are concerned.

But as well as these questions of representation at the Imperial Conference and the matter of the Budget, there was the important matter of the St. Lawrence Waterways to be considered.

"Mr. Bennett sees this question only from a political angle and wishes to make all he can from it for political ends," she said. "But the best statesmanship that Canada can offer is none too good for the deciding of this important question. Tennyson's words warn us in this regard :'Deliver not the tasks of the mighty to weaklings.

"I feel that the women of to-day are aware of these problems which effect their country and its people. As women are the budgeteers of the home, so they should know much of the budget of the nation. War brought women forward to take their places in the world and no women secured the franchise more easily than the women of Canada. But with the privilege of the vote goes a tremendous responsibility—that of using the franchise intelligently.

"A difference in opinion as to the proper way to vote should not detract from the domestic calm. My own husband is a Conservative but he urged me to enter this campaign as a candidate on the Liberal platform."

Mrs. Greenwood finished with a strong plea to her hearers to do everything in their power to see that the ties of Empire were cemented more strongly.

"The Mother Country and her Colonies are like a mother and her daughters," she said. "The Conservatives used to do a lot of flag-waving before the Liberals. They are not doing so much of that now."

BIG DECREASE IN U.S. EXPORTS

Decline of $28,000,000 is Reported for Month of May.

IMPORTS ALL LESS

WASHINGTON, D.C., July 15 (C.P.)—Canadian imports from the United States declined nearly $28,000,000 during the month of May as compared with those of the previous year. Canadian exports to the United States dropped about $7,000,000.

Department of Commerce figures issued yesterday give the following comparative figures as between the United States and her best customer:

Canadian imports—May, 1930, $69,559,025; 1929, $97,904,978.

Canadian exports—May, 1930, $37,357,987; 1929, $44,330,153.

May exports of the United States dropped more heavily to the countries of North America, Canada and Mexico, than those to any other part of the globe.

Exports to Great Britain were $47,001,968, against $54,430,924, and imports from Great Britain $21,353,376, against $29,762,229.

Exports to France were $15,109,543, against $13,248,343. Imports from France were $10,302,026, against $13,953,724.

Exports to Germany were $17,225,765, against $24,085,806, and imports from Germany $13,045,761, against $20,626,869.

One of the most remarkable changes in the trade figures affecting a single nation was that shown as to imports from Japan, which in May amounted to but $13,874,426, or nearly $20,000,000 less than Japanese shipments to the United States in the same month last year.

Here also the market fortune of a single commodity—silk—contributed the principal cause of the extraordinary fluctuation. Silk prices have touched points that are classed as new lows in commercial history during recent months.

SITUATION IS GRAVE THROUGHOUT EGYPT

Former Minister of Finance Issues Warning at London Conference.

LONDON, Eng., July 15.— (C.P.)—A warning that the situation in Egypt is "very grave and indeed critical" was issued to-day by Makrim Ibeidv Bey, former Egyptian Minister of Finance and leading member of the Egyptian delegation to the recent Anglo-Egyptian conference which attempted in vain to negotiate an Anglo-Egyptian treaty.

Makrim, who is at present in London to take part in an international parliamentary conference, said:

"It must not be forgotten that the "Wafd" is not a party as understood in England. It has a majority of 95 per cent. in parliament and is, in fact, Egypt itself. The present ministry represents nobody except its own individual members."

Regarding the Wafd program, Makrim stated that the National Congress, consisting of Senators, Deputies and Provincial Councillors throughout Egypt, had decided on a program of non-cooperation, the enforcement of which would begin to-day.

COST OF LIVING HAS INCREASED

order to minimize their beneficial effect on the Bennett "Canada First" platform.

"If we put Canada before everything else," stated Mr. Strickland, "we are benefiting the British Empire in the sanest way." Mackenzie King claimed that Mr. Bennett sought to "force a policy on Great Britain" in attempting to abrogate her free trade. But nothing could be farther from the truth. Intra-Imperial preference was the only hope for Britain as well as for Canada. The appeal must be on the basis of individual benefit.

Mr. Strickland scored what he termed "extravagance" and "show" on the part of the King government abroad, quoting figures to show that the Canadian High Commissioner in London cost more annually than the U. S. Ambassador there.

The speaker did not want, he claimed, the Liberal party "to have a monopoly of back-slapping in this riding. We are just as proud of our candidate as they are of theirs," he said. He stressed Mr. Peck's honesty, integrity, and ability.

No Farm Protection

Mr. Peck, in his address, decried the Government's attitude toward farm protection, unemployment, and immigration.

He quoted The Ottawa Citizen, a Liberal organ, which declared that 10,000,000 pounds of butter were now on the sea en route for this country and that other such cargoes would pour in through the summer to take advantage of the cent-a-pound tariff. "You can thank the Mackenzie King administration for that," he said. Only protection would permit the return of Canada's vanishing dairy-farming industry.

The government's immigration policy and lack of protection against the flood of U. S. manufactured goods were blamed for the present unemployment situation. When the matter had been brought up in the House, the Prime Minister had refused to discuss it, asserting that it was not good business to discuss unemployment because of its effect in keeping capital out of the country. Mr. King's attention to unemployment as result of "dumping" of immigrants had been forcibly drawn in the course of his recent Western trip, declared Mr. Peck.

Regarding the million-dollar-a-day unfavorable trade balance which Canada had with the United States, Mr. Peck stated: "There is nothing in the new tariff to alleviate that condition. This is a very serious thing indeed. Radical steps must be taken. We must not be dependent on the United States any longer."

"Despite certain good features, the Dunning budget was not enough. Mr. Bennett had been criticized for declaring that we should co-operate with Great Britain for mutual benefit—"not at the expense of our own people. Mr. Peck asserted that there was "nothing in the Dunning budget to assure that Great Britain will open her markets to you."

Bruce Preston of Selwyn was in the chair.

Beckstead of Eldorado, George White of Madoc, Rev. J. F. Everson of Queensboro, the Hon. J. R. Cooke, M.P.P., and the Millbridge fife and drum band; the latter furnished several selections between the speeches that were given. Mr. Cooke, who was the principal speaker, briefly outlined the foundation upon which the Orange Association was built up and stated that the order by constitution was strictly religious and closely affiliated with the Christian church in the principles it advocated. He stressed the teaching of Orangeism in relation to the great Creator and to our country.

Sports and games were held in a nearby field. The gathering dispersed about 4.30 p.m., everyone feeling that the ideal day and genial atmosphere had made possible a very pleasant time.

BE SURE KLIM IS ABOARD!

Motor tourists and campers who have once tried Klim would as soon think of travelling without a spare tire as of starting on a trip without an ample supply of this powdered whole milk safely packed in the kit.

Just add water to Klim and you have rich, full-cream, dairy milk; sweet, pure and wholesome. Use as much or little as you wish; there's no waste with Klim. It keeps without ice; is light in weight and easy to mix.

The Little Breadwinner

THIS little chap of twelve, hawking papers in the midst of the city's maelstrom, his clothes in tatters, his eyes eager and shifty, his voice hoarse with shouting—can you see the tragedy of his life? He left school at ten to help earn bread for his mother and brothers.

Yet, Daddy had great hopes for him. Looking down at the wee baby face he had said: I'll give the lad a good start in life—a lift on to the first rung of the ladder."

That was eleven years ago. Daddy had not counted on dying, you see. But he did die—died at the wrong time before his plans had worked out. Are you willing to take a chance like that with your wife and little ones? An Imperial Monthly Income Policy will safeguard them from a danger you dare not ignore.

Just write your name and address on the coupon and mail it to us. Then we'll send you our booklet which tells all about it.

W.M.S. JULY MEETING HELD IN FORM OF SUCCESSFUL PICNIC

Members of Millbrook Church Society Gather at Wallace's Point.

ENJOY JOLLY TIME.

MILLBROOK, July 15. (Examiner Correspondence.)—The July meeting of the Woman's Missionary Auxiliary of Saint Andrew's Church took the form of a picnic outing at Wallace Point, Otonabee River, on Thursday, July 10, over seventy of the members and friends being in attendance.

Cars left the village at 2.30 p.m., and shortly after all had gathered at the picnic grounds the meeting was called to order, the pavilion being used for the formal program through the courtesy of Mrs. Cardwell, the better hearing facilities and the use of the piano being determining factors in deciding the company to go indoors for this section of the afternoon's proceedings.

The president, Mrs. (Rev. W. W. Jones) was in the chair, and read the Scripture lesson from I Corinthians 13, the president of the Golden Links Mission Circle, Miss Jean L. Burnham, leading in the opening prayer; the members of the Circle joined with the Auxiliary for the picnic-meeting.

For a number of reasons it was thought best to dispense with the usual business period, Miss Charlotte Luxon, secretary protem, looking after the minutes in the absence of the regular officer Mrs. C. W. Richards. A chorus by the Circle girls, "Has Anybody Found a Trouble?" with Miss Phyllis Kidd at the piano, preceded the "Watch Tower," for which only two of the appointed Heralds were present, Mrs. Offa Williamson giving some interesting items on "The World's Day of Prayer in Africa", and Mrs. C. C. Garside reporting on "A Vision of India."

A duet "Weary One Come," by Mrs. G. W. Sayles and Mrs. P. Stinson, was followed by the introduction of the speaker of the afternoon, Miss Viola Cardwell, the daughter of the hostess who had so kindly given the use of the grounds and the pavilion for the gathering, who was introduced by the president, and who gave a very informative address on missionary work in Korea in which country she had spent over four years, ill health compelling her return to Canada.

Stating in her opening remarks that she found many people ill informed as to the geography of Korea, 'which hangs like an ear-ring from the east coast of China.' Miss Cardwell went on to tell some very interesting facts regarding this little country with a population of ten million people, yet with an area of only eighty thousand square miles. 'It belonged to China as far back as 122 B.C. but in 1910 was annexed by Japan, and though many improvements have been effected by the Japanese, yet the Koreans are really losing their language, their national identity, and their land. All the officials are Japanese, and there is a bitter resentment growing in the hearts of the thinking Koreans."

Reforestation is an interesting feature of the Korean landscape, its need being apparent since the people have used nothing but wood for fuel for centuries. The products include wet rice, beans, milk, barley and cotton, with ginseng and tobacco as more recent enterprises, these being totally under the control of the Japanese. There are few large cities the people are for the most part quite poor: "it takes more to keep a cow than a child, because the bean-cake fed to the former is very expensive and if a man owns an ox, and a bit of land he is considered fairly well off." The Koreans are not tea drinkers like the Chinese and the Japanese.

It was somewhat of a surprise to the listeners to hear that snow and plenty of ice for skating feature Korean winters, though the latter are not as long as in Canada, but the summers are very hot, with incessant rain in July and August resulting in disastrous floods.

The amazing loads which the women carry on their heads, often requiring two men to lift the heavy sack of grain for instance into position, after which the woman, who usually has also her baby strapped to her back, walks off and carries the burden for miles. Miss Cardwell told of feeling ashamed to have her trunk taken up the mountainside by human carriers, but added, 'My humiliation was complete when I took ill and they had to finish the journey carrying me in the same manner."

The religions of the country, the wonderful blessing that a message of peace and comfort such as Christianity brings to these troubled hearts and lives, and especially what medical missionaries do for them after the cruel and ignorant methods of their native doctors, were dealt with in some detail.

Miss Cardwell was three years in active service as superintendent of nurses at the hospital at Ham Heung, after she had been long enough in the country to master the language, and she spoke particularly of her pleasure in working with Dr. Murray who was the head physician of the hospital. The very fine work accomplished in training native nurses, and doctors, the heavy duties which each day brought, Miss Cardwell including art classes twice a week at the High School with her other activities, the wonderful success in operation cases though proper equipment and assistance were both lacking—'sometimes the only one to hold the light, if we could not finish the list by daylight, was a relative of the patient; if they happened to faint, as happened once or twice, well it just was so and we got along as best we could, that was all"—the start in public health work, and the splendid results from teaching young mothers the proper care of their babies, were among the many interesting items of which first-hand knowledge was imparted by the speaker.

Miss Ada Sandell, R.N., took Miss Cardwell's place when the latter was obliged to return home for recuperation after months of over work, and is carrying on successfully; Miss McEachern, who was with Miss Cardwell two years ago at the Point, and whom many of the Auxiliary members had met, was able to return to Korea last fall, finding the much wanted new school all ready for her. Government recognition being now granted, a boon decidedly appreciated by the staff of the mission school. A new nurses' home has been built since Miss Cardwell left the field, but for this she had prepared the plans before her resignation and this necessity for the nurses' comfort brings equal satisfaction to the worker whose heart is still with the mission field where she worked so hard and so successfully for three years, as it does to those benefiting directly by the improved quarters.

Mrs. H. W. Johnston contributed a solo, "Somebody Whispered That Jesus Loved me", and the formal vote of thanks to Miss Cardwell for her inspiring address was moved by Mrs. J. H. George, seconded by Mrs. J. A. Brown, and sustained by a hearty clapping of the hands. Mrs. Cardwell's courtesy was included in the motion also.

Misses Magraret Lang, of Toronto, and M. Haw, of Peterborough, pleased the listeners with their duet, 'All Through the Night," and Rev. W. W. Jones dismissed the gathering with prayer.

The picnic tea was served on the long tables under the trees, and a ball game, with the girls of the Circle and some of the men who had driven car-loads to the grounds participating, created entertainment and interest following the supper hour.

Bathing facilities attracted some of the younger folk, and little groups here and there over the grounds were being 'snapped' by kodaks, the resulting pictures being promised as souvenirs of the outing, the initial one of its kind under W.A. auspices so far as Saint Andrew's church is concerned.

Tidbits, Interesting and Humorous CAMPBELLFORD

Driving into town on Monday morning with cheers that expressed a happy week in the open, twenty-five boys of the town came back from the camp at Oak Lake, tanned up and full of praise for the week's holiday. A. J. Abernethy brought the boys back in his truck.

July the 12th was very quiet here, with the local lodges away celebrating. For a little while in the morning the drum and fife band entertained the people, playing outside their lodge rooms on Front street. Some of the local Orangemen went to Colborne, while others celebrated at Havelock.

Mrs. H. W. Lapp returned on Friday from Toronto, where she has been visiting for a few days.

Mr. and Mrs. F. N. Brown were visitors to Cobourg on Sunday.

POST'S BRAN FLAKES

That Body of Yours

By James W. Barton, M.D.

ANOTHER METHOD OF GETTING TO SLEEP.

You will remember the old system of trying to get off to sleep, in which you counted sheep going through a hole in the fence or jumping over a wall.

Of course the whole idea in this was to get so interested and absorbed in this counting, that you wouldn't have a chance to think of other things. And it was these other things that really kept you awake.

In mental institutions where the patients are deficient in brain substance, morons, imbeciles, and idiots, there is not any difficulty getting them off to sleep, because they have really nothing to think about, nothing with which to think.

And sleeplessness is really caused by the brain remaining active when it should be at rest.

For this reason any little annoyance in the home or bedroom should be removed if possible—a leaky tap, a flapping blind, a loose window, an uncomfortable mattress, a sagging spring, poor ventilation.

Even with these removed, you may still remain awake because you have certain definite things—worries, cares, plans—on your mind.

It is for this reason that counting sheep, making large capitals on an imaginary blackboard or other mental acts have been suggested and often with success.

Another recent method comes from Dr. E. E. Cornwall of Brooklyn. The idea is to concentrate on certain muscular acts so that the brain cells occupied in thinking, being deprived of your regular serious attention, more easily subside into relaxation and sleep.

These muscular acts do not disturb the body as a whole, as you can lie quietly relaxed as you do them.

There are four muscular acts, all done at once.

(a) Raise corners of your mouth as in smiling.

(b) Breathe more slowly and deeply than usual)—as if you are very tired-exhausted.

(c) Close the eyelids

(d) Raise or turn eyeballs up slightly.

These acts are kept up continuously—no rest or intermission—and as they do not disturb the body as a whole, mental and physical relaxation causes them to stop without shock.

Naturally, if you keep up these four simple acts at the one time for any length of time, you just can't think of other things, and so you get off to sleep.

It is certainly logical, and may be of help to those to whom the hot bath, heat to feet, food in stomach and other means of drawing blood from brain have been tried without success.

Lakefield Social Is Much Enjoyed

LAKEFIELD, July 15 (Examiner Correspondence)—The garden party held under the auspices of St. John's Church on Wednesday afternoon was a successful and most enjoyable social event and was financially very successful.

Mrs. Langley and Mrs. Connell served tea, Miss S. Hetherington and Mrs. S. White were in charge of the home made cooking, Mrs. Chappell and Mrs. W. Smith sold delectable home-made candy and Mrs. Stenner and Miss Amy Watson had a thriving trade with ice cream and cold drinks.

A novel and most attractive feature was the table of hand work done by Mrs. R. L. Mason and sold by her daughter, Miss Lillian. Not only did Mrs. Mason do all the work herself but she donated it to the garden party. Bright hued flowers which looked like living blooms, fret work of tasteful design and workmanship and vases in the new style of handcraft, all attracted the admiration of the crowd.

THE RHYMING OPTIMIST

By Alice Michaelis

OLD FRIENDS

Old friends are here; I greet them day by day, as they come back to smile at me again; their fragrance breathes thro' every garden way, their colors riot down each field and lane. The rose, the hyacinth, the daffodil, the marigold, the poppy and the rue have all come back, their loveliness to spill across a land that throbs and thrills anew. Old friends, more dear with each recurrent Spring, they come renewing beauty, youth and bliss, and in their squandered wealth of blossoming they bring a promise that men elsewhere miss. A glimpse of life abundant is revealed by all this joyous company of flowers, and shall man's soul be lesser than the field? Shall soil of Earth be more renewed than ours?

Cheaper Than Ever

Telephone service is always improving. An out-of-town call now is as easy to make as a local one and almost as quick. The cost is surprisingly low. The evening rates, starting at 7.00 p.m., are cheaper to-day than ever before. For about the price of a movie you can talk a hundred miles or more.

OUR CHILDREN

By Angelo Patri

HABITS OF ILLNESS

"Ever since John Henry had scarlet fever he has been very nervous. He gets into a temper easily and cries for the least little thing."

"How long ago had he the fever?"

"Oh, it must be five years now. Yes, fully five years." You see habits set during illness are hard to break unless they are given immediate attention at the time. Children like to dominate grownups and they will do it if they get half a chance. During a severe illness they get more than a full chance. The whole household is at their service and they know all about it.

But illness does not last forever. Children recover very quickly. As they mend we must withdraw the special privileges shown an invalid. Gradually discipline is restored and the child shown that he is quite well again and expected to behave as well as ever, if not better.

A bit of firmness is needed. The convalescent child wants to read too long, wants to have windows open too far and for too long a time, or he demands food that is not good for him. Shall you let him have his way or tell him firmly that what he wants is not what is for his good therefore he is not going to have it.

Suppose he frets himself into a fever? There is not much danger. If he does excite himself he will learn that it does not pay. He did not get his own way and he was inconvenienced greatly. Try to change his thought. Divert him to other things. But don't let him set up a habit of domineering, of demanding and receiving, because it is as bad as the illness.

Once a child is recovered consider him as well again. Try not to carry over the sick room habits yourself. Let him play as he always played and work as he always worked, unless he has been actually incapacitated. It is fatal to give a child an idea that he has been marked for life because he has had a severe illness. It is over and gone, let it go. It is a great mistake to keep mentioning it before him, to keep telling in his presence how high a temperature he had, how many nurses and doctors it took to keep him alive. The child gets to think about his illness was some specially good job he did and takes pride in it. Better forget all about it.

I know a young lady who cannot go up the stairs on an errand for her mother because the fever which she had ten years ago left her heart weak, but who can dance every dance from ten until three and on far into dawn. Both mother and daughter believe in that fever stricken heart. You and I and the neighbors know better. But how about our own child?

THE moment the talkies "arrived," many of the most famous stars of the Broadway stage were signed by the great motion picture studios. Then, under the glare from the huge incandescent close-up lights, they faced the cruelest test a skin can possibly meet.

Unless their skin showed alluringly smooth and fine on the screen, they could scarcely hope to "get across" in talking and singing pictures.

These Broadway stars passed the test, needless to say. Theirs was the flawlessly smooth skin demanded for the innumerable close-ups of sound pictures. And never were they more appreciative of the gentle care Lux Toilet Soap has given their skin.

For long ago the famous women of the theater made Lux Toilet Soap their own. Long ago it was made the official soap in 71 of the 74 legitimate theaters in New York alone—and in other leading theaters throughout the country.

Hollywood found out years ago that no girl ever becomes a motion picture star unless her skin shows perfect on the screen. That is why, of the 521 important actresses in Hollywood, including all stars, 511 are devoted to Lux Toilet Soap. It keeps the skin lovely and smooth as a flower petal.

It was at the request of the actresses themselves that all the great film studios made this white, delicately fragrant soap official in their dressing rooms.

You will be delighted with Lux Toilet Soap, too! You can keep your skin attractively clear and smooth just as the famous women of the stage and screen keep theirs—by using it. And it does lather so very generously, even in the hardest water! Order several cakes—today.

LENORE ULRIC (The Sandy Hooker): "It keeps my skin always exquisitely smooth."

HELEN MORGAN (Sweet Adeline) says: "—a wonderfully satisfactory soap."

ANN PENNINGTON, adorable star, says: "I wouldn't be without this lovely white soap!"

JOAN BENNETT says: "Lux Toilet Soap keeps my skin so smooth. It is certainly a joy!"

JEANETTE MACDONALD says: "I consider it a real find. It keeps my skin lovely."

HELEN CHANDLER says: "I'm devoted to Lux Toilet Soap. It's delightful!"

IRENE BODONI says: "It is so soothing and it leaves your skin just like velvet."

HELEN KANE says: "Lux Toilet Soap keeps my skin so very softly smooth and clear."

PEGGY WOOD (London production of Bitter Sweet) says: "I always use Lux Toilet Soap."

WHEN THE DAYS are hot and sultry it is hard for the housewife to know just what to give her family that will be both tempting and nourishing for the main course at dinner.

• • • • • • •

I have heard more people discussing the meat question this Summer than ever before, I believe, and some say there is a certain satisfaction in having a roast of any sort one day for then the problem of the next day's dinner is solved with cold slices from what is left!

• • • • • • •

If there is not enough meat remaining for the family, add slices of other meats that can be bought from the butcher, or used from canned meat.

• • • • • • •

In restaurants and hotels a dish of varied kinds of sliced cold meats is served under the name of assorted cold cuts. The assortment of course, depends upon the place where such a dish is ordered.

• • • • • • •

For instance, fowl is sure to be included at the best places, while cold fresh pork or veal is substituted where the price is less.

• • • • • • •

In arranging a platter of cold cuts remember that color is an element in its tempting quality. For this reason either ham, tongue or rare beef should always be included. White meat from fowl gives a decided contrast. There should be at least three kinds of meat for the name cold cuts to be applicable.

• • • • • • •

Garnish a platter with water cress preferably as this is the green most suggestive of coolness, but if one cannot get this succulent green parsley or lettuce may be used or any edible green such as small well wash nasturtium leaves.

• • • • • • •

Instead of using the slivers of meat from a roast to make into croquettes, ragouts, stews, or hash (all of which are excellent but must be served hot to be good) use the small pieces as suggested in the recipe below. It can be given different flavors and different appearances according to the condiments used, and the kind of molds and garnishes.

• • • • • • •

Make an aspic jelly by adding enough gelatine to clear soup or consomme to stiffen it when cold. If you do not have either on hand a can of consomme or chicken broth can be substituted.

• • • • • • •

Pour enough of the aspic into a mold to line the bottom. When it is nearly stiff, cover well with a layer of cold lamb, sprinkle with salt and and pepper, and brush with tomato ketchup or Chili sauce. When done sprinkle with minced parsley.

• • • • • • •

Continue filling the mold with alternate layers of the aspic and the meat mixtures always seeing that the aspic is nearly stiffened before putting in the meat. Chill on ice, unmold and garnish the platter with parsley.

• • • • • • •

Cold fresh peas may be used to surround the meat aspic if preferred.

• • • • • • •

The meats best suited to aspic dishes are chicken or other fowl, veal and lamb. Pork can be used, and bro iled beef, roast beef that is rare is seldom used, ham is sometimes, and tongue frequently.

• • • • • • •

The beauty of the dish consists in the clearness of the aspic and the arrangement and color of the meat preparation.

Something Different For Sun Basking

When we take to the water, we are quite uniformly clad in our swimming suits, but, when we bask in the sun, we may express our personalities along various lines. For instance, we may adopt trousers—long, full ones that fall like a skirt, if we would be smart, this season. And, of course, navy blue shantung suits the water perfectly in color and fabric. A white sleeveless blouse with a V neck-line slips over the trousers in middy fashion. It is virtually backless, the tapering shoulders forming crossed suspenders in the back. And a jacket of polka dotted shantung tops it all, as shown in the Vogue sketch at the left. The jacket has seven-eights length bell-shaped sleeves and a small standing collar. But perhaps milady is more conservative and prefers to wrap herself in a beach robe, such as the one shown at the right in the sketch, of novelty cotton, cut with a mannish air. On the right is a photograph of Bessie Love wearing a unique slip-on printed jumper which hides her bathing suit, but which reveals the low-back cut of the suit.—Sketch is by Vogue.

WELL BABIES' CLINIC IS OFFERING SYSTEM OF MATERNITY INSURANCE

Help Provided is Regarded as Real Blessing in Many Poor Homes.

CLINIC NURSE AVAILABLE.

A system of assisting expectant mothers and removing from their minds some of the worries incidental to the arrival in the family of a new member to augment already her large family circle, was commenced last year by those in charge of the Well Babies' Clinic, when they decided to promise each woman who wished to avail herself of the opportunity, additional monetary assistance.

The scheme of Maternity Insurance works out like this: For a period approximating six months before the birth, the mother places in the hands of the Clinic authorities any sum up to $10 which she is able to save for the emergency. This is doubled. The maximum amount is $20 which is paid out from the Clinic funds to any one person, but to gain that the woman need only pay in $10. The other $10 comes from the Clinic treasury, which has its sources from civic grants and from donations made from time to time by interested societies or citizens.

A Real Blessing.

In a home where necessity provides only for the barest living, the help thus provided might well be regarded as a real blessing. The Clinic does the work quietly and unostentatiously and provides also the much-needed pre-natal and ante-natal care, free of charge. The nurse goes about in the homes, assisting the mothers in any way, both before and after the birth.

In Canada, fifteen hundred women die every year in childbirth. For every 1,000 babies brought into the world in the Dominion each year, six mothers give their lives. This is a larger percentage than that of any part of the British Isles, Norway, Sweden or Italy. The contributing causes are described as lack of pre-natal care, lack of medical attention at the time, and lack of post-natal care. Twenty-five per cent of the deaths are caused by toxaemia, a condition which could be changed by proper care. Out of 795 cases of women who died in childbirth, study revealed that the causes, in their order of persistent repetition, were: General bad health, heart disease, previous attacks of influenze or pneumonia, tubercular trouble, exhaustion from care of children and house, exhaustion from lack of sleep and rest, exhaustion from too frequent pregnancy, and, finally, poverty and under-nourishment.

Septicaemia, caused by lack of hygenic care and improper care at birth, or from blood-poisoning, was accountable for forty per cent of the deaths; 347 had no doctor in attendance at the time; in 128 cases the doctor was not called until the last moment; in 91 cases, not until several days later, and in 101 cases, no physician was summoned.

Clinic Nurse Available.

To offset some of these difficulties, the local Well Babies' Clinic is making a brave attempt to do everything possible to help. The nurse keeps track of the condition of the expectant mother, when the woman has been a patron of the Clinic, and does what she can, both before and after the birth of the child, to make her comfortable, healthy and at ease.

The mother should be relieved of the anxieties of home and family care for at least six weeks after, and it is in this way that the recently-established Visiting Housekeepers of the Red Cross Society do so much good. A branch of this society is badly needed in Peterborough.

In Australia, a system of bonusing expectant mothers was tried out and proved to be a failure, as the funds provided were often used for other purposes, or were taken by the hisbands, who, in many instances, are said to be the most indifferent of all the parties concerned, to the welfare of the wife and mother.

In Peterborough, a wise care provides that the money is paid by those in charge of the Clinic, to anyone of the agencies, the doctor, the hospital, or the nurse, that the woman may choose. She does not handle the money, but she gets the direct benefit, and physicians declare that babies whose mothers have relief from anxiety and proper pre-natal attention, are much better, physically, morally and mentally. Lack of nourishment in the mother in many cases leads to bad cases of rickets in the child and other diseases have their origin also in the came cause.

Death Rate High in City.

It has been estimated that in every one thousand births in the city of Peterborough, 70 are born dead or live for only a few hours after birth. It is to combat this and other conditions that the Clinic works, year in and year out, for the benefit of those who will be future citizens of Canada.

The report of Miss Mamie Foote, nurse of the Well Babies' Clinic, for the half-yearly period just ended, is as follows:

House calls made, 291; telephone calls answered, 149; Clinic attendance, 572 (an increase of 94 over the same period in last year).

"Maternity insurance, which is enlarging the activities of the Clinic, is giving a better opportunity for the pre-natal work, having supervision of the mother's condition and also teaching the personal care and feeding of the mother, during that time.

"The financial feature is also proving a boon and the efforts in thrift made by the mothers are commended.

"Layettes numbering 13 were given out and a baby carriage, kindly donated, was immediately placed, giving the baby a chance to enjoy the open air. A number of food preparations were made and supervised and in all cases the babies are doing remarkably well.

"A croup tent was made, giving good results.

"Several large families have been noted in the city. In one instance, there are fourteen children, the mother being only forty years of age. Another family has ten children and still another eight. All are well.

"In March, a talk was given to the Peter Robinson Chapter I.O.D.E. relating to the objects, work and results of our Well Babies' Clinic. We received $25 from this chapter, and from the Otonabee Chapter the sum of $28, when they sponsored a picture for us at the Regent Theatre. For these we are very grateful."

At the semi-annual meeting, presided over by the president, Mrs. A. Mowat, Mrs. F. C. Neal also gave the financial report for the half year and Dr. Jessie Birnie spoke of the work being done at the Clinic, of the constantly-increasing demands upon its funds and of the need of augmenting the sources of income, so that the good work inaugurated last year in the way of Maternity Insurance may not be allowed to decrease.

"For six months I'u been out of sorts generally and was so weak and nearly exhausted I could hardly get around. Redwings Overhaul Orioles To Gain Loop Lead

Record Set In Yankee-Sox Game

ROYALS DEFEAT READING 4-1 TO DISPLACE LEAFS FROM 3RD POSITION BY THREE POINTS

Newark Breaks Six-Game Losing Streak By Beating Toronto 4-1.

7-4 WIN FOR BISONS.

Heavy Cannonading Enables Wings to Win 12-7 Victory From Orioles.

The Rochester Redwings, led by Billy Southworth, once more have overhauled the Baltimore Orioles and taken the lead in the hot International League pennant race.

A 12 to 7 victory over the Orioles in the opening game of the series yesterday, boosted Rochester into first place by a margin of two percentage points. Another shift in the standings saw the Montreal Royals displace Toronto in third place by three percentage points.

Heavy cannonading at the expense of Richmond, Coumbe and Wertz in the early innings enabled the Redwings to win over the Orioles without particular difficulty. Richmond was relieved in the first inning with none out after he had walked two men and permitted two hits. Coumbe came in and was touched for six hits in less than two innings. By this time the Redwings had scored six runs. Wertz stopped them temporarily in the third inning but was pounded for three runs in the fourth. That made the score 10-0 and Tex Carleton simply breezed through blanking the Orioles until the eighth when they tallied three runs. Collins had a perfect day at bat with three singles in as many trips to the plate.

Sixth Win for Royals

The Royals won their sixth straight game, beating Reading, 4-1 although outhit 10 to 7. Herb Thormahlen went the route for the winners and was very effective in the pinches. In addition he won his own game when he tripled with two on base in the second inning, scored another run in the fifth and singled to drive in the fourth in the sixth. The Royals made four double plays to bring their season total to 107.

Newark broke a six game losing streak by beating Toronto, 4-1. Southpaw Frank Barnes was slugged for 13 hits while Roy Parmalee, although wild, pitched effectively. Parmalee granted only five hits but walked seven. Twice he fanned a man for the third out with the bases loaded. Zitzmann led the Newark attack with two doubles and a single.

In a night game at Buffalo, the Buffalo Bisons beat out Jersey City 7-4, chiefly because of a seventh inning rally that netted four runs. Bream was sailing along with a four-two lead when he began tossing a home-run ball and before the frame was over Rube and Mills had hit homers, the Bisons had four runs and Bream was in the club house. The Skeeters pounded Leverett out of the box in three innings, scoring twice in the first inning and twice in the third when Walker hit a home run but they could do nothing at all with Mills.

Herman Ties Klein For Second Place

Babe Herman, the hard-hitting Brooklyn outfielder, took advantage of the jull in the National League yesterday to move into a tie for second place with "Chuck" Klein in baseball's Big Six. Both Klein and O'Doul, the leader, were idle, while Herman pounded out two hits in five times at bat to tack one point on to his batting percentage. That one point gave him an average of .396. The American League half of the sextette were in action, but Simmons and Ruth lost ground, while Rice failed to move up or down. Simmons got one hit against St. Louis pitching, and lost four points, falling to .387, while the Babe got one hit in a double-header at Chicago, dropping from .367 to .363. Rice's two safeties in five times at bat left his .378 average intact.

LEAD OF TWO GOALS TO HAMILTON TEAM

Fort William Beaten By 2-0 in Connaught Cup Fixture.

HAMILTON, July 15. — Playing in the first game of the Ontario finals in the Connaught Cup series here last night, Hamilton Thistles defeated the Canadian Legion team of Fort William by the score of 2 to 0. Nearly 1500 soccer enthusiasts witnessed the game which was played under almost ideal conditions. The return game is to be played at the Ulster Stadium, at Toronto, on Wednesday, and the winners of the round, goals to count, will meet Montreal C.N.R. next week.

The visitors were not subdued without a terrific struggle. Thistles had to throw everything they had into the fray to win. Where Fort William failed principally was in punch at goal. They showed a defence equal to anything that has appeared at the stadium. Simpson, their right back, a giant in stature, repeatedly saved dangerous situations by clever play. He was the outstanding defence player on the ground and there was a number of good ones.

At the start the play of the visitors was a revelation to those who expected Fort William would prove easy for Thistles.

DUNKERLY CLOUTS THEM OVER PARK

Dunkerley's hit was a tremendous drive and went right out of the park. It was hit to deep left field. Not since "Hap" Harrison used to drive them out of the park have the fans witnessed such a mammoth hit.

Good ball is being played by the juniors and juveniles in the City League and fans would do well to drop over to James Stevenson Park to see the boys in action.

The Kiwanis Juveniles took a fall out of the Kiwanis Juniors by beating them 9-6 at King Edward School grounds last night.

The game wast a fast, interesting engagement, featured by good solid hitting and excellent fielding.

Foley and Huggins hit home runs for the juniors, but they were not enough to win.

Cripps and Battle were the battery for the juniors while McIlwain and Cadd did the battery work for the juveniles.

Clock Makers Play Again This Evening

Tonight at Central School grounds Westclox and Brintons will be in action. This is the Westclox's second game in a row and they are anxious to turn in another win and climb up on the top rung with Harrison's. Brintons need tonight's game to keep in the league race, which is growing hot. Fans can be assured of a good exhibition from these two teams.

The game will start at 6.30 sharp. Wednesday night Harrison's and C.G.E. hook up.

WESTCLOX WINS FIRST FIXTURE

Darling Holds Good Form on the Mound, Holding Generals to Nine Hits.

FINAL COUNT 13-5.

Westclox got away to a good start in the second half of the local softball league by defeating the C.G.E. 13 to 5 at Central School grounds last evening.

Darling showed good form on the mound for the Westclox, holding the Generals to four runs, nine hits, and had seven strikeouts.

Martin was starting pitcher for the C.G.E. but retired at the seventh inning in favor of Richmond. Martin had one strikeout, and Richmond two.

Gord. Webb and Max Wilson were the fielding stars for the Generals. Webb has been playing nice ball for the Generals. He has played practically every position on the team, and he was at third base last night, where his work was an outstanding feature of the tussle.

"Chuck" Dorrington treated the fans to some nice hitting. He collected six hits, which included a triple, a double and four singles. He drove in most of his team's runs.

The line ups:

Westclox—Dorrington, 3b; Cooper, rf; White, c; Vinette, ss; Kitchen, 1b; Fowler, 2b; Goodson, cf; Foley, lf; Darling, p.

C.G.E.—Webb, 3b; Wilson, 2b; Miller, ss; Griffin, cf; Millard, rf; Routley, c; Thornton, lf; McLeish, 1b; Martin, p; Richmond, p.

BOMBAY COTTON MILLS TO CLOSE

Action at End of July Will Leave 15,000 Indians Jobless.

MERCHANTS LAY PLANS.

BOMBAY, India, July 14 (C.P.).—As a consequence of the continued industrial depression in the cotton trade seven mills here will be closed indefinitely at the end of July, depriving 15,000 persons of work.

Nationalist quarters show no softening in their hostile attitude toward the approaching London Indian conference. Vallabhai Patel, acting president of the All-India National Congress, Sunday said that there was nothing in the Viceroy's speech before the Assembly last week to justify the slightest change in their feeling.

'Those who go to the conference will in due time be completely disillusioned," he said.

Merchants to Close Shops

The Federation of Merchants' Associations to-day discussed a three months' hartal (suspension of work) in protest against the Government's repressive "campaign."

The Federation declined to issue a general order at present, it being left to members to observe the hartal if they wished. The federation claims to represent sixty groups. Another resolution recommended that the members shall not deal in Government securities or treasury bills, in view of the grave political situation.

The federation appointed a committee to draft representations to the League of Nations drawing attention to the Indian Government's policy.

SIXTY-ONE MEN LEFT ON BASES IN FIVE GAMES IS TOTAL SET BY THE CHICAGO WHITE SOX

While Same Team Equals Double-Play Record For American League.

YANKS SPLIT TWIN BILL.

Indians Take Third Straight Victory By Defeating Red Sox 3-2.

The Chicago White Sox may be struggling along in the second division of the American League, but they still have the profitable faculty of doing the unusual at the unusual time to pep up an otherwise drab game.

Always known as a team capable of playing championship ball one day and then going to the other extreme 24 hours later or even sooner, the Sox yesterday produced a few more varieties in the way of baseball entertainment as they divided a double bill with the New York Yankees.

The opener went to the Sox 10 to 9 in a long, weird affair that lasted one minute short of three hours while the Yankees took the nightcap—a tame affair compared with the first—by the score of 7 to 2 in two hours and four minutes. It was in the first game, however, that the Chicago Southsiders did the unusual.

They started off by pulling four errors that gave Yankees a big lead. This advantage was soon wiped out by a savage attack with the result that the teams went into the last half of the ninth tied at nine all. With two out and Reynolds, the fleet Texan, perched on third, Watwood came through with a hit that went for a single although Lazzeri juggled the ball for a moment and the game was over. To aid the cause of their three pitchers, the Sox also tied the American League double play record, pulling five. Fourteen men were left stranded on the base paths, however, which with the nine in the second game gave the Sox a grand total of 61 left on bases in five games—which is probably some sort of a record.

Lou Gehrig featured the Yankees' part in the double-header, getting his twenty-second home run in the opener and his twenty-third in the second contest. Incidentally Manager Bob Shawkey found a pitcher in Charles Ruffing, that could go 9 innings, the Boston cast-off winning the second.

It took the Athletics eleven innings to defeat St. Louis Browns but they finally managed to eke out a 9 to 7 decision and increase their lead in the Junior circuit to two full games as Washington fell before the up-and-coming Detroit Tigers, 8 to 4.. The Browns tied the champions in the eighth and again in the ninth, but could not equal the two runs in the eleventh. Lefty Grove went to the rescue of Quinn, who had relieved Earnshaw, in the eighth and received credit for the victory.

Walter Johnson tried two pitchers against the Tigers but Detroit found the pair for 13 hits to make it three to one for the current series. Dale Alexander, the Tigers' big first sacker, had a gala day with his giant war club, driving in three runs with three singles and a double. Hadley started for the Senators but gave way to Brown.

In the other American League contest the Indians made it three straight over the Red Sox, winning 3 to 2 when Wesley Ferrell bested Milton Gaston in a hurling duel. It was Ferrell's 13th victory.

Robins Increase Lead

Only one game was played in the National, but the Brooklyn Robins increased their lead to three games as they downed the Pirates 12 to 8. Given an early lead Dazzy Vance breezed along without much trouble behind the powerful bat of Glenn Wright, who drove in seven runs and scored four on two homers and a like number of singles. Traynor also hit for four bases.

TILDEN IS OUT OF CONTEST.

PARIS, France, July 15.—(C.P.) — The last prospect that Big Bill Tilden could reconsider his decision and play with the American Davis Cup team vanished to-day when the veteran champion, maintaining his previous attitude, told the Associated Press he was positively eliminated from participation.

WALLY HAMMOND STARS IN PLAY

Accounts For 113 Runs to Add to England's Total in Yesterday's Play.

CONVINCING COMEBACK.

LEEDS, Eng., July 15. — (Canadian Press.)— England fought with their backs to the wall against Australia at the Headingley grounds to-day. They scored 391 in answer to Australia's first innings total of 566.

Wally Hammond, whose batting in the tests at Trent Bridge and Lord's was not up to the form he had previously displayed in International matches, rose splendidly to the occasion in England's emergency in this match. He completed an innings which began on Saturday and lasted through the critical forty minutes' play in failing light yesterday by scoring 113. It was a most convincing comeback and an almost flawless exhibition, full of discretion and hard hitting against the cleverest kind of bowling. It surpassed the gallant effort of A. P. F. Chapman to save the match at Lord's. The English captain on that occasion made 121 in a last ditch stand. Critics gave Hammond credit for playing the finest innings yet seen for England in the present series against Australia.

Cruickshank Wins On Jones' Parley

NEW YORK, July 15.—Bobby Cruickshank, the wee Scotch professional Bobby Jones defeated in a play-off at Inwood in 1923 to win his first open championship, won $10,500 through the Atlanta wizard's victories in three straight major tournaments this year.

Cruickshank, who failed to qualify for the tournament Bobby won at Interlachen on Saturday, parlayed $50 last April on Jones to win the British amateur crown, the British open and the United States open. Bobby's triple triumph brought Cruickshank $210 for each $1 of his own investment.

"I saw Bobby in the Savannah open, knew the shape he was in, and made the best bet of my life," Cruickshank said yesterday at his club at Purchase, N.Y. "I let my father-in-law have half the bet, but that's all right, it's all in the family."

BOBBY JONES IS GIVEN GALA RECEPTION ON ARRIVAL HOME

Champion Arrives in Atlanta Before Expected But Celebration Is Staged.

NEGRO CADDIES ATTEND.

ATLANTA, Ga., July 15. — There have been many "red letter" days in the life of Robert Tyre Jones, Jr., but Bobby yesterday expressed assurance that July 14, 1930, will be the greatest in his memory. That statement was part of his brief and hesitant message of thanks to possibly 40,000 persons who formed the greatest crowd ever to welcome a returning hero in this city's history, and to some 300,000 more of his fellow-citizens who found it impossible to receive him first hand. And the spontaneous cheers answering the greatest golfer's brief speech were something more than those of ordinary hero worship; they were tempered with a sort of next-door-neighbor regard, which added sincerity.

Bobby Jones came home from Interlachen, Hoylake, and Royal Liverpool with three of golfdom's major titles in his pocket. By some quirk in railroad schedules, he arrived three hours before the reception committee had expected him and he entered the city by automobile, going directly to his home. The welcome at the railroad station had to be omitted consequently.

The celebration was not long delayed, however. It began at the downtown section. There Bobby, surrounded by his wife and children, Clara Malone and Robert T. Jones III.; his parents and grandparents, sat for a siege of continuous photographs while he reviewed Atlanta's new high mark in parades.

At the stroke of noon, pre-arranged signal for bedlam of noise from whistles, bells, auto horns and sirens, the parade began. There were police officers, regular army troops from Fort McPherson, American Legion and disabled veterans, firemen and apparatus, Chamber of Commerce members, and scores of business and civic groups.

Negro Caddies Attend.

The feature of the parade, as far as Bobby was concerned, was a squad of 250 negro caddies marching behind the Negro Elks' Band. They carried a banner reading: "Mr. Bobby's calamity Jane done brought de bacon home again." Bobby's face, set in a half-grin during the march, broke into a broad smile then, and some said his eyes glistened.

MOORE OUTLINES LIBERAL POLICY

Claims Dunning Budget Almost Taken Tariff Out of Politics.

EXPLAINS AUSTRALIAN PACT.

WHITBY, Ont., July 15 (C.P.)—The Liberal Government ever since it assumed office has followed a tariff policy, essentially based on business principles, declared W. H. Moore, Liberal candidate for this riding in his second and final campaign meeting here last night. The Liberal party, the speaker said, did not believe in any general upward revision of tariff schedule nor a drastic downward revision. Rather it believed in treating each item separately and in a business-like manner.

"The Dunning budget," Mr. Moore continued, "has almost taken the tariff out of politics, admittedly it would be impossible to take the handling of the tariff away from the people's elected representatives, for then we would not have true democracy.

The speaker declared that the countervailing duties provided in the Dunning budget were "examples of sound common sense." They would serve to show the United States that Canada was not going to let her have all her own way, and Europe, he said, was preparing to follow Canada's lead.

Mr. Moore maintained that spokesmen for the Conservative party "had greatly misrepresented the situation of the dairying industry in Canada. "It hasn't gone to the bow-wows by any means," he said.

Acted after Complaint.

When the National Dairy Council complained to the Tariff Board that the imports of butter from Australia and New Zealand under the terms of the treaty, were seriously affecting the Canadian dairying, a hearing was granted on January 15 of this year, Mr. Moore said, and six months from the time the complaint had been made the Dominion Government in bringing down the Budget gave notice that it would cancel the treaty. "But Australia buys almost four times as much from us as we sell to her," he said, "and her trade is valuable. Shall we, as Mr. Bennett has suggested, "try to bluster and blast our way to her markets—the markets of our kin—or shall we, as the Liberals propose, get together in round table conference and bring this matter to an amicable solution. The Liberals have always had their eye on the value of the dollar, the former Tariff Board chairman said, and it was the policy of the Government to make the dollar go farthest for the average citizen by the lowering of the tax on the necessities in comparison with luxuries.

PICTORIAL GOLF

Shifting of Weight at Proper Moment Secret of Driving Success.

To produce the successful drive one must make a study of the stance, first of all, then the transference of the weight of the body. First we start the club back and then there comes a lateral movement of the hips. This definitely places the weight on the right leg at the top of the swing.

This is the position from which we hit, holding the body in check until the clubhead is nearing the ball. Holding the body back means only keeping it from making a sudden jerky motion. It moves, of course, but at no time should it get in ahead of the club. At the moment of impact then, it can do its part, which will be considerable towards making a substantial follow-through.

YOUNGEST DRIVER

For a year or more most of those interested in the thrilling outboard hydroplane racing motorboat game have been of the opinion that young J. R. Ardiel, son of Harris Ardiel, Windsor, was the youngest race driver in the game in Canada but it now transpires that the credit should be given to Kitchener Russell, the fifteen year old son of John E. Russell. "Jerry" Ardiel started last year at fifteen years of age, and of course is now sixteen years old, while "Kitchie" Russell started last year at fourteen and is now only fifteen. He is a quiet youngster and rates as one of the best and coolest race drivers in Ontario, though at that his first big win was in the Class "C" event at Port Dover, where he drove his boat brilliantly over rough water.

On Friday night, the Caledonians versus Canadian Packing in a league game. Kick off at 6.45 prompt. Referee Alexander McKinley.

On Saturday afternoon, Brinton Athletic meet the Canadian General in the league. Referee, James Hawthorne. Kick off at 3 o'clock.

Next Wednesday evening, Final of Phelan Charity Cup, on King Edward Park. Kick-off at 6.30 prompt. Referee Alexander McKinley. Linesmen, James Hawthorne and Tom Stewart.

New Appointments.

Alexander McKinley retired from the board and made application to the executive as an official referee. He informed the examination board that he was willing to undergo his test whenever the members desired to put him through the examination. It was decided that all applicants must go through the examination—oral and practical. The executive regretted the loss of Mr. McKinley as an executive member but were glad to know that he had decided to act as "knight of the whistle" under the jurisdiction of the P. and D. F. A.

Bond Signed.

All cups won by the clubs must be bonded and the Spalding Cup won by the Canadian Packing has been fully registered and signed. The Canadian General, winners of the Holloway Cup have signed the necessary form.

Transfer Granted.

The application from W. Grant of the Caledonians that he be transferred to the Canadian Packing was granted after the board had instructed him to conform to the rules. He is eligible to play Wednesday evening.

Only Officials Allowed.

During any contest, no club official is permitted to go on the field of play unless ht is authoried to do so by the referee. Three distinct whistles indicate that the services of the trainers are necessary; also that the ambulance men are needed, when referee notifies them. No spectators are allowed on the field of play.

Wanted-A Pay Day Budget

Mr. Dunning is going around the country dilating on the alleged merits of what he is delighted to speak of as the May Day Budget.

By the evening of July 28 he will have learned if he has not already begun to sense it that what the people of Canada are interested in just now is not a May Day but a PAY DAY BUDGET.

And the Dunning Budget is most certainly not that. THERE IS IN IT NOTHING THAT PROVIDES A JOB FOR CANADIANS NOW OUT OF WORK, NOTHING THAT PROTECTS THE JOBS OF THOSE FORTUNATE ENOUGH TO BE EMPLOYED AT PRESENT, NOTHING THAT SAFEGUARDS CANADIAN INDUSTRY FROM OUTSIDE COMPETITION.

Remember those countervailing duties sometimes mentioned by Liberal speakers when they think of them, do not stop the flow of American manufactured goods into this country.

They apply only to sixteen specified articles, most of them agricultural products.

Goods from the United States and other countries will continue to keep our factories idle or running short time until we put into office at Ottawa a GOVERNMENT THAT WILL DO SOME LEGISLATING FOR CANADIANS a government that will consider its first duty is to look after the unemployed in the cities and the hard-pressed farmer in the country.

IT'S TIME FOR A CHANGE—Time to substitute action for words.

ALL CANADA NEEDS IS A CHANCE and she'll get it from Hon. R. B. BENNETT and the Conservative party. In West Peterborough vote for that chance and for an Empire trade policy that is based on common sense business lines and not on sentimental flapdoodle designed for the deception of those who do not think.

A BEDTIME STORY

by Howard R. Garis

UNCLE WIGGILY GOES UP.

Mr. Twistytail, the fat pig gentleman, tumbled out of the clothes basket cockpit of Uncle Wiggily's ironing board aeroplane and rolled over and over on the ground. Mr. Twistytail laughed very hard.

"What are you laughing at?" asked Uncle Wiggily, who still sat in the cockpit of the air machine that he had tried to make by nailing two ironing boards together. "What's so funny?" asked the rabbit.

"Your—your aeroplane!" chuckled Mr. Twistytail. "Oh! Oh! Ha! Ha! How my ribs ache!" and he laughed until tears came into his little fat, squinty eyes. "It's so funny!"

"What's funny?" asked Mr. Longears, and he did not smile. "Is it funny because my aeroplane won't go up?" For that is what had happened. Or, rather, it was what had not happened. For after Uncle Wiggily and Mr. Twistytail had worked hard making two ironing boards, a clothes basket and some old baby carriage wheels into an aeroplane and when they had climbed into the clothes basket cockpit, the thing wouldn't go up, and the pig laughed so hard he fell out of the basket.

"No, it isn't funny that your aeroplane won't go up and give us a ride," said Mr. Twistytail when he could stop laughing. "But it's funny to think of what you and I forgot to put in the aeroplane to make it sail. It's funny that we forgot."

"What did we forget?" asked Uncle Wiggily.

"Ha! Ha! Ho! Ho! We forgot—Oh, it's so funny I have to laugh again—but we forgot the engine!" chuckled the pig. "An aeroplane isn't like a balloon airship. An aeroplane must have an engine or motor to whirl the propeller and that is what takes it up," said the pig. "But, Oh, dear me! How funny! We forgot the engine, Uncle Wiggily! Ha! Ha! Ha!"

The rabbit gentleman looked up from where he sat in the clothes basket cockpit. Then he smiled. Next he laughed with the pig.

"Ha! Ha! Ha!" chuckled Mr. Longears. "True enough, I forgot all about a motor on my aeroplane. But that is easily fixed. I'll take the electric fan I used in my balloon airship, and that will be a motor and a propeller at the same time. Now we shall soon go up, Twisty!"

It did not take long to fasten the old electric fan on the front end of the nailed together ironing boards. Once more Mr. Twistytail and Uncle Wiggily got in the clothes basket cockpit just as Lindy sits in his real aeroplane. The pig and the rabbit gentlemen waited. Uncle Wiggily looked anxiously at the electric fan.

"It doesn't seem to buzz around any," he said to Mr. Twistytail.

"No, it doesn't," agreed the fat pig passenger. Then, all of a sudden he began to laugh again.

"What's the matter now?" asked Uncle Wiggily, twinkling his pink nose sort of exasperated like and impatient.

"No wonder the electric fan doesn't buzz!" grunted the pig. "You haven't plugged the wire into a socket. You need some electric current to make the fan buzz. How did you used to make it whirl around when you had it in your old balloon airship?"

"I used a storage battery," the rabbit said. "But that is worn out. But you are right. We must connect the electric fan to a light socket in my bungalow. I forgot that. However, it will not take long to do that. Wait a minute."

Jumping out of the clothes basket aeroplane, Uncle Wiggily took the long, green electric cord that was fast to the fan, and put the end into a floor socket of his bungalow kitchen running it through an open window. All of a sudden the electric fan on the end of the ironing board plane began to buzz very fast.

"Hurry up! Get aboard!" grunted the pig who sat in the basket. "Jump in, Wiggy, or you'll be left behind!"

Faster and faster buzzed the electric fan. The aeroplane began to shake and quiver on its baby carriage wheels. Uncle Wiggily made a jump and landed in the basket beside his fat pig friend.

"We're going up!" shouted the rabbit. Hurray! We're going up!"

"Truly I believe we are!" grunted the pig, looking down over the side of the clothes basket cockpit and seeing the ground moving. "I didn't believe you could do it, Wiggy, but you have! Up we go!"

The queer aeroplane was really moving a little, not very fast, but some. Uncle Wiggily was delighted. He felt quite proud.

"Hurray!" he shouted. Then, all of a sudden, the aeroplane dropped to the ground with a bump and thud. The electric fan had stopped buzzing. "What's the matter?" asked Mr. Longears in surprise.

"Ha! Ha! Ha!" laughed Mr. Twistytail, giggling so hard that he again fell out of the clothes basket and bounced up and down on the ground like a puffy, rubber ball. "Ha! Ha! It's so funny, Wiggy! Ha! Ha! Ha!"

No Action Is Taken On Daylight Saving

LINDSAY, Ont., July 15 (Examiner Correspondence). — At last night's session of the Council no action was taken by that body in connection with the request of a number of merchants that the municipality revert to standard time. Daylight saving will therefore continue until September 1. The citizens were divided into two camps on the question, and the aldermen felt it would be unwise to make the change since daylight saving had been observed for the past several weeks.

Voice of the People

Letters to be printed in the Voice of the People column must be received at The Examiner Office on the day before it is desired to have them published.

Peterborough, Ont., July 14th, 1930

OPEN LETTER TO MR. PECK

E. A. PECK, Esq., City.

Dear Sir.—On Friday night, apparently you thought you answered some questions I asked you, but you did not.

You said I voted for the Australian Treaty, and I did. How has it affected our trade? In 1925, the year before the treaty was negotiated, our total trade with Australia was $14,669,799. In 1926, after the treaty had been in force one year, it increased to $18,453,800. In 1929, the last year the figures for which are available, it increased to $22,955,141.

But that is not the whole picture. Our exports to Australia in 1925 amounted to $12,035,086. In 1926 they increased to $15,411,746, and in 1929, to $19,479,395.

What about our imports from Australia? No country may sell in world markets unless it buys—unless it converts its products into money with which to make its purchases. In 1925, Canada imported from Australia, goods valued at $2,634,713; in 1926, $3,042,054, and last year, $3,484,836.

In other words, comparing the trade figures for 1925 and 1929, our exports to Australia increased $7,435,310 and our imports increased $850,123. Was it a good bargain for Canada? Did it provide a lucrative market for Canadian goods? Did Canada gain by the treaty?

This is a mighty sight better than your record, because you voted against every movement in the interest of the working man and of the City of Peterborough.

You voted against:

(1) Reducing postage from three cents to two cents.

(2) Saving $100.00 on each automobile of a $1000.00 or less.

(3 Reducing the income tax.

(4) Reducing the sales tax.

This year you voted against protection for the market gardener, and voted in favor of the importation of fruits and vegetables from the United States, and you also voted against the British preference.

You also voted against the reduction of sales tax, saving the Canadian workers $22,000,000 per year.

You also voted against the bounty for the iron and steel industry of Canada, while the three Conservative members representing these districts in Parliament and who knew conditions best, voted in favor of the bounty.

Yours truly, G. N. GORDON.

TARZAN OF THE APES No. 11 (Metropolitan Newspaper Feature Service, Inc.) By Edgar Rice Burroughs

In the forest of the table-land a mile back from the ocean old Kerchak the Ape King was on a rampage of rage among his people. The younger and lighter members of his tribe all scattered to the higher tree branches, risking their lives to escape his uncontrolled anger.

The other males scattered in all directions, but not before Kerchak had crushed one between his foaming jaws. A luckless young female slipped from an insecure hold. With a wild scream he was upon her, striking her viciously with a broken tree limb until her skull was crushed.

Then he spied Kala, returning from a search for food, with her young babe. Ignorant of the state of the King's temper, the shrill warning of her fellows caused her to scamper madly for safety. But Kerchak was close upon her—so close that he almost grasped her ankle.

She made a furious leap far into space—from one tree to another—made it successfully. But as she grasped the limb of the further tree, the sudden jar loosed the hold of the tiny babe. She saw the little thing hurled—turning, twisting—to the ground thirty feet below.

With a low cry of dismay, Kala rushed to her babe's side, thoughtless now of danger. When she gathered the wee, mangled form to her bosom, life had left it. Nor did Kerchak attempt to molest her. Her fit of demoniac rage passed as suddenly as it had seized him.

OBITUARY

JAMES ANDREW.

James Andrew passed away at the residence of his son David, 164½ Simcoe Street, early this morning at the patriarchal age of 94 years. His end, which came peacefully enough following a short illness and terminates a long and honored connection with this district extending over a period of 82 years, which goes back to the day when as a small boy of twelve he arrived in Canada with his parents, the late Mr. and Mrs. William Andrew, who hailed from County Douro, Ireland.

He was an active member of the Orange Order until poor health intervened some few years ago.

The late Mr. Andrew leaves four daughters, Mrs. George Irwin of Harvey Township, Mrs. William Tushington of Toronto, Florence at home, and Annie of Toronto, also two sons George and David of this city.

The funeral will be held on Thursday, July 17, from his son's residence, 164½ Simcoe Street, at 2.00 o'clock (D.S.T.), with Rev. A. E. Moorehouse, of St. James' United Church, officiating. Interment will take place at Zion Cemetery, Keene Road, Otonabee.

Jabs and Jottings as Picked Up by an Examiner Reporter

BOARD OF HEALTH MEETS.

There are only six cases of contagious diseases, two of scarlet fever, chicken pox and measles, in the city at the present time reported Dr. T. W. H. Young, city M.O.H., at the meeting to-day of the local Board of Health.

A favorable report was also received from Dr. C. B. Waite, of the Provincial laboratory, on the quality of the milk being vended in the city. All samples tested were up to standard except which contained considerable sediment.

The Board is continuing its campaign to have sanitary conveniences installed in every house in the city.

TO ADDRESS 8 MEETINGS.

J. H. Burnham, seasoned politician of many campaigns and one time Conservative member in the Federal House for this constituency, whose enlistment in the Liberal ranks in the present fight in support of the policy of British preference and Empire trade, has caused quite a stir among the Opposition, is to address a series of eight meetings, commencing on July 17 to July 25 inclusive. It is quite probable that many of these addresses will be broadcast, although Mr. Burnham is not informed on this point. It will be recalled that he made his debut on the air recently at Aurora.

His schedule is as follows:
Woodbridge, North York—July 17.
Kingston—July 18.
St. Catharines—July 19.
Belleville—July 21.
Guelph—July 22.
London—July 23.
Hamilton or Paris—July 24.
Lindsay—July 25.

FREEDOM OF EXCANGE.

TORONTO, Ont., July 15 (Canadian Press). — General prosperity is dependent on freedom to exchange wealth, and unemployment and economic distress cannot be remedied by impediments to exchange, declared W. C. Good, of Paris, Ont., in his presidential address at the annual congress of the Co-operative Union of Canada, which opened here to-day. General prosperity is also dependent on freedom to produce wealth, he added, in outlining the co-operative movement's solution of economic depression throughout the world.

The co-operative movement stands not only for freedom of exchange between as well as within nations, Mr. Good said, but also stands for freedom of production, in its two-fold and mutually harmonizing aspects of equality of opportunity and equity of remuneration.

Industry for Social Service.

"In fact," he continued, "it goes on record quite definitely that industry shall be for social service and not for private profit, and is steadily working out the application of this idea in our economic life. The opposing idea embodied in the motto of 'Everyone for himself' has been conspicuous, and no doubt useful in the lower organic world. Among men it is, however, now out of date, and the system of capitalism, which is its recent concrete expression in the field of human industry, is breaking down by reason of its of inherent weaknesses."

In the opinion of Mr. Good, economic distress, with its unemployment involving much unnecessary misery and demoralization, is due to the out working of those plausible but fallacious ideas represented in that unholy alliance of protectionism, militarism and capitalism." "All of these deny the fundamental basis of civilization itself," he continued, 'namely, the interdependence of men and of nations, and against them the co-operative movement sets itself as adament. Reason as well as religion supports the cooperative motto upon whose application civilization depends."

Special Privileges to None.

Elaborating the movement's solution of economic depression, Mr. Good said freedom to produce wealth meant in the first place, the world's resources, which constitute the invitation and the opportunity for useful labor should be accessible to all on equal terms, with usual opportunities for all, special privileges for none. There would be no cornering of natural resources, and while peaceable possession must be guaranteed to the worker so that he may reap the fruits of his toil, it must be on terms which are just to all and which will enable no one to lay his fellowmen under tribute.

"Freedom to produce, therefore, means equal opportunities for all." Mr. Good continud. "It means also should be guaranteed a just reward in the second place that everyone turn for his labor. No one will sow where he cannot reap and to the extent that insecurity prevails industry and enterprise are discouraged. That is the reason why political disturbances are so disastrous to industry. No one knows whether if he plants a crop he will reap a harvest, or if he builds a house he will be able to live in it. It is our privilege of course to distribute any wealth which has been produced as we may choose, inequitably if we like. But to the degree that injustic prevails in the distribution of wealth, to that degree wealth production will inevitably fail. This is a natural law and no legislative enactment involving even general slavery, can nullify it."

Pilot Saves Train Carrying Golf Hero

ST. PAUL, Minn., July 15. — (C.P.).—A young airmail pilot was credited to-day as being responsible for stopping the Limited train that carried Bobby Jones just short of a burning bridge over the Chippewa River.

E. M. Pardis, conductor on the Burlington Railroad train that brought the new national open golf champion and a host of other famous golfers from here to Chicago, revealed how Mal Freeburg, Twin City-Chicago route pilot, zoomed and dove until the train stopped.

FERGUSON TERMS LIBERAL TACTICS AS FLAG WAVING

Falsehood to Describe Tories as Opposed to Empire Trade Premier Says.

SPEAKS IN TOWN OF BIRTH.

Claims King Has Had a "Vision" While on Western Tour.

KEMPTVILLE, July 15.—(By Frank Flaherty, C. P. Staff Writer.) — It is a slander and a falsehood to describe the Conservative party as opposed to Empire trade, Hon. G. Howard Ferguson, Premier of Ontario, declared here last night. The Conservative policy was one of Empire co-operation in trade and one aimed at mutually beneficial agreements. Moreover it had been endorsed by leading British financiers and by Rt. Hon. Stanley Baldwin, leader of the Conservative party in the British House of Commons.

Mr. Ferguson spoke in the town of his birth and in the audience were many who had known the Premier in his boyhood. The meeting was arranged in the interest of A. C. Casselman, Conservative candidate in Grenville-Dundas

Assails "Flag Waving."

Assailing what he termed the "flag-waving" tactics of Liberal speakers and Liberal newspapers, the Ontario Premier declared every move in the direction of separations from the Empire had been made by the Liberal party and had been fought by the Conservatives. Only recently the Liberal Government had promoted a proposal for a Canadian flag.

"The Prime Minister speaking at Prince Albert, in his new western home, has had a vision," he said. "He is going to sweep this country from coast to coast. Well, the election is two weeks away and he has plenty of time to change his mind. It reminds me of a time here years ago when some of the boys walking through the graveyard at night whistled to keep their courage up."

Taking up a copy of the Toronto Globe in which the caption, "Let Uncle Sam Go His Way, Ours is With John Bull,' was displayed, Mr. Ferguson launched into a vigorous onslaught on what he termed 'Liberal pretentions" of loyalty.

"This means," he said, "that they have abandoned every issue and are going to try flag waving. They are trying to give the impression they are the only people in the country who stand for closer consolidation of the British Empire. When people take a position like what we are forced to examine their record, distasteful though it may be.

Can you point to any act in the history of this country that has threatened to jeopardize the unity of the Empire that was ever fostered by the Conservative party? Can you point to any movement against the solidarity of the Empire the Conservative party has not fought tooth and nail? Can you point to anything threatening the continuance of our connection with the Empire that was not promoted by the Liberal party?"

Refers to Sir John.

One had only to go back to the last days of Sir John A. Macdonald, he said, to see which of the political parties stood for loyalty to the Empire. Sir John had sacrificed his life fighting an election campaign in the winter but had awakened the people of the country to the danger of commercial union with the United States. Then in 1911 it had been the Conservative party which had stood against unrestricted reciprocity, which, he said, was "much like this tinfoiled policy of Dunning's. It looks good until you examine it."

representation made by the Province of Manitoba. A reply had been sent to Mr. Tolmie promising consideration of the request for co-operation.

"But," added Mr. King, "up to this very hour I have not received a single request from any province asking Federal Government assistance."

Briefly, Mr. King dealt with the May budget of Hon. Charles A. Dunning, Minister of Finance, and a candidate in the constituency of Regina. Great Britain had rejoiced at the gesture of good will contained in the budget, which the Prime Minister declared would increase trade with the Motherland, and provide markets for the province of Canada.

Wider markets offered one solution for the unemployment situation facing Western Canada, and the development of trade with Great Britain would assure a market for Canadian wheat.

Lapointe Speaks.

Preceding Mr. King, Hon. Ernest Lapointe, Minister of Justice, who brought greetings from the "Province of Quebec to the Province of Saskatchewan," and Mr. Dunning spoke briefly.

From a local radio station, Premier J. T. M. Anderson of Saskatchewan broadcast an address last night immediately after the Prime Minister had spoken at the Armories, declaring that the leader of the Liberal party had made a 'vigorous attack' on the Government of the Province, and had attempted to use the unemployment situation to further political interests.

To-night the Conservatives occupy the spotlight in Regina with a rally in the Armories, at which Hon. H. H. Stevens of Vancouver, one of the most prominent members of the party, will be the principal speaker, supporting the candidature of F. W. Turnbull, K.C. It will be Mr. Stevens' first address in the southern section of the province.

GAS REVENUE IS DOWN $1,100

Decrease is Due to Reduction in Rates Made By Commission.

SALE HAS INCREASED.

The sale of gas in the city this year is in advance of last year except to the industrial consumers it was reported by H. L. Beal, manager of the Gas Department, at a meeting this afternoon of the Utilities Commission. The consumption of gas by the C.G.E. this year is up but it is lower in the other plants.

During the first six months of this year the revenue from gas has suffered a reduction of $1100. This decrease is due to the reduction in rates brought in by the Commission this year, which on the same consumption as last year would have meant a reduction of $500 monthly in the receipts.

Commons since 1922, Mr. Lemieux has now gone to the Senate.

Nominated in South Renfrew was Hon. T. A. Low, a figure in the first administration of Premier King, as Minister of Trade and Commerce.

Three In West.

Three members of Premier King's present administration face three-cornered fights in the West. Hon. C. A. Dunning, author of the budget, has both a Conservative and an Independent to face. In addition to a Conservative, Hon. T. A. Crerar, Minister of Railways, is opposed by a woman Labor candidate. Hon. W. R. Motherwell faces in Melville both a Conservative and a Saskatchewan Farmer candidate.

Candidates nominated have still an opportunity to withdraw. When the Dominion Elections Act was amended last session, a proposal was made to repeal the section giving such opportunity, but the proposal came to nothing.

London Factory Is Swept by Fire

$250,000 LOSS CAUSED BY FIRE WIRING IS BLAMED

Twenty Five Workmen Are Temporarily Thrown Out Of Employment.

SPREAD RAPIDLY.

Blaze Is Believed To Have Originated In One Of Office Rooms.

LONDON, Ont., July 16 (C.P.). — Damage that is likely to amount to $250,000 was caused by a spectacular fire which broke out at the E. S. Leonard and Sons boiler factory on York Street about 12.05 a.m.

The fire, starting in the office of the plant, spread with lightning-like rapidity. When the firemen arrived the central portion of the structure was ablaze. The flames were thought to have started through defective wiring, though this could not be confirmed.

Spread Rapidly.

As the fire spread, all available firemen from the day shift were called out to cope with the roaring flames, the head of which hampered the firemen's work in the early stages.

Tons and tons of water were poured into the blazing building. While firemen concentrated their efforts to keep the flames from reaching the newly constructed addition to the rear of the office reaching the newly constructed addition to the rear of the office quarters.

In this the firemen met with success, though the blaze ate its way along the western portion of the building. Further progress was checked shortly after 2 o'clock.

Col. Ibbotson Leonard, head of one company, was unable to state definitely what the loss would be.

Robert North, the night watchman, and the only person in the building at the time the fire broke out, had gone to the costs office to get a drink of water when he discovered the flames shooting from behind several office drawers.

The roaring flames shot high in the sky and could be seen as far west as Strathroy.

Col. Leonard stated 25 men would be temporarily thrown out of employment. These, he said, were all employed in the central machine shop where the heaviest damage was suffered. In the store-room also the loss was considerable, though the finished products were in another part of the building.

The firm is one of London's oldest industries, having been established in 1834 by the late Senator Elijah Leonard.

LT. BURKE LEADS IN KING'S PRIZE

Former Winner Scores 98 Out Of Possible 105 In First Stage.

HAWKIN'S SECOND.

BISLEY CAMP, England, July 16 (C.P. Cable).—With a total score of 98 out of a possible 105, Lieut. Desmond Burke of Ottawa was leading the early Canadian scorers in the first stage of the King's Prize today.

Company-Sergt.-Major Hawkins of Toronto was another early finisher, second to Burke among the Canadians with 97. Burke won the King's Prize in 1924 and Hawkins won it in 1913.

The first stage to-day was fired at 600, 500 and 200 yard distances. Burke scored 33, 34 and 31 respectively, and Hawkins 31, 32 and 34. The 300 best scorers out of 960 entrants go into the second stage Friday.

Messenger's Action Saves Train Wreck

HAILEYBURY, Ont., July 16—(C.P.)—When a mail car of the Toronto to Timmins passenger train leaped the rails on the trestle over Dickson's Creek near here yesterday, disaster was narrowly averted through the presence of mind of Express Messenger Wilfrid Dickey, who leaped to the signal cord and brought the train to an emergency stop.

For three hours traffic was tied up after the accident. Examination revealed the car balancing at the edge of the ties on the trestle. Much difficulty was found in rescuing the car from its precarious position over the gorge,

LABORITE GOV'T IS FORCING CRISIS ON TORY MOTION

Gov't May Survive As Liberals Expected To Vote Against Resolution.

SLIP-UP NOT IMPOSSIBLE

Censure Motion Made For Failure To Provide Safeguarding Duties.

LONDON, Eng., July 16. (C.P.)—The Macdonald Government after a brief flurry on the Egyptian situation, late to-day was plunged into debate on a Conservative motion of censure in the House of Commons for its failure to provide safe-guarding duties.

Notice Made July 7.

Notice of the motion was given by Right Hon. Stanley Baldwin,, Conservative leader, on July 7. The Conservatives were sure to support the motion solidly, but it appeared doubtful if it would receive support from any other quarter.

While there have been many surprises this session and the government has come so near defeat on more than one occasion that a slip-up to-night was not impossible.

Most political observers were of the opinion that there was no likelihood of the government being overwhelmed this time. This belief was held because of the general opinion that the Liberals will vote against the resolution.

FIERY ATTACK MADE ON KING BY MRS. FALLIS

Scoffs at Explanation of New Zealand Butter Imports.

SPEAKS IN GUELPH.

Guthrie Urges Stable Tariff as Cure for Unemployment.

GUELPH, Ont., July 16 (C.P.). — An enthusiastic reception greeted Hon. Hugh Guthrie, Conservative candidate for re-election in Wellington South, when he made his first campaign speech in his home city here last night. Other speeches were delivered by Mrs. Howard Fallis, Peterborough, and H. G. Fester, Hamilton.

Mr. Guthrie devoted the major part of his address to criticism of the Dunning budget and the countervailing clauses. He described it as unlike anything in "the heavens above and the earth below," and declared the British preference "prefers" articles which Great Britain had never produced.

"Cannot we get down to realize that a country's greatest market is its home market," he asked. "Keep up your fences," he urged. "Give us a stable tariff, and a generation or two will pass before there is any cry of unemployment."

Predicts Greatest Majority

After rejoicing to see Mr. Guthrie again active and predicting for him the greatest majority in his 30 years of political life, Mrs. Fallis averred she spoke for a Conservative victory "as a woman, a farmer, and a good loyal Canadian citizen." As a women, she took issue with the Liberal "bid for the woman vote," by claiming credit for advanced social legislation benefitting women and for extending the franchise to women.

"Mr. King and Mr. Lapointe are suffering from acute lack of memory," she remarked, "for it was Mr. Guthrie himself who introduced the bill which extended the full franchise to all the women of Canada."

Women, she continued, were interested in the same things as men equally if not more so. Farm men wanted to see better markets and better prices for farm products. In the cities, women wanted to see plenty of jobs and good wages and steady work for their menfolk.

"This is a bread and butter election," she said. "Any issue which affects the pockets and prosperity of the home, affects the women. When there are hard times and a money stringency, you don't see the men giving up smoking. They tell their wives to try and make $10 go farther than before. Don't worry; women are taking a keen interest in this election."

Mrs. Fallis took exception to the attitude of the Liberals to the farm-

FURTHER ADJOURNMENT IS GRANTED IN PAVING COMPANY INJUNCTION

Motion Can Be Brought Up Again With 48 Hours Notice.

IMPROVEMENTS MADE.

A further adjournment of the motion of an injunction to prevent the Warren Bituminous Paving Company operating its asphalt plant on the west bank of the Otonabee River was granted this morning by Judge Huycke to permit the installation of addition appliances for the elimination of smoke, dust and noxious fumes. At the same time Joseph O'Brien, acting for complainants, was granted the right to bring the matter up again at any time within 48 hours.

Steps have been taken to remedy the trouble since the action was instituted and the nuisance has been curbed to a certain extent, Mr. O'Brien said, in suggestion the adjournment this morning. He made it clear, however, that he and his clients will look for further improvements.

To Make Further Efforts

The assurance was given by F. D. Kerr, K.C., on behalf of his clients, the Warren Paving Company, that further efforts will be made to confine the smoke, dust and fumes which have been carried across the river by the prevailing wind to the property and homes of the plaintiffs. The officials of the company are endeavoring to deal with the matter as fairly and squarely as possible, he stated.

Mr. Kerr mentioned that one of the steps taken has been the installation of appliances to dampen the dust as it comes from the stacks of the plant and cause it to fall in the river rather than float across. He also said that the plant is being studied with a view to devising a number of other improvements.

"We are not out after blood," Mr. O'Brien stated. "If we were we have grounds for a suit for damages."

Claiming that dust and smoke has penetrated the houses on Engleburn avenue as well as damaging the property on the outside, Mr. O'Brien was supported by Judge Huycke who said, "I think the householders will bear out Mr. O'Brien in this statement."

J. N. Gordon of the company's head office in Toronto, who was present, endorsed Mr. Kerr's assurances that the matter would be settled in a manner absolutely satisfactory to Mr. O'Brien and his clients.

"I have found almost universal sympathy with Mr. O'Brien with regard to the fact that he has been eating tar with his meals," was the humorous offering of Mr. Kerr.

EARLY MORNING FIRE DESTROYS OMEMEE GARAGE

With Great Difficulty Surrounding Buildings Are Saved.

EXPLOSION FEARED.

Property Loss Estimated at $2,500 Along With Two Automobiles.

OMEMEE, July 16 (Examiner Correspondence).—A mass of twisted and charred ruin was all that remained today of the Smithson Nurse White Rose Service Station, following a spectacular blaze which broke out at one o'clock (E.S.T.) this morning and raged for almost five hours, reducing the structure to a total loss and seriously threatening and damaging neighboring buildings.

The property loss was estimated at $2,500. In addition, two big cars were completely lost, only one of which was covered by insurance. The building was not insured.

Gas Explosion feared

The Omemee fire apparatus was called out, battling until after six this morning in an effort to save adjoining residences and to avoid the serious threat of gasoline explosions from the tanks which were directly under the blaze. Three gasoline pumps and a quantity of oil rendered the work extremely dangerous. Sparks flew in all directions, while intermittent belches of thick smoke and flame, resulting from the oil, rendered the issue in doubt for some time. The building had been recently constructed, and a quantity of new lumber was reckoned among the loss.

The service station is located on King street, in the eastern portion of the village.

Although much excitement was occasioned by the blaze, only a comparatively small crowd risked the danger of explosion by witnessing the operations.

The Weather

While there has been little excessive heat this summer—90 degrees having not yet been reached—some low night temperatures for the middle of July have been recorded. This morning the thermometer showed 47 degrees as the low temperature for the night, while yesterday morning the figure was 45 degrees. A number of people informed me that they noticed traces of white frost in their gardens, and this morning also there were such traces. This is somewhat unusual. Highest point yesterday, 75 degrees. The countryside is now looking its best, and a view from the summit of Armour's Hill will reveal a picture of nature's beauty unsurpassed in Eastern Ontario. — W. P.

TOKYO, Japan, July 16—(By Mail) This year's celebration of Dominion Day by Canadians in Japan, particularly in Tokyo, was featured by an address by Hon. Herbert Marler, Canadian Minister which was broadcast from local station JOAK over a nation wide hook-up. Stations in the hook-up included those at Osaka, Nagoya, Hirshima, Kunamoto and Senbai on the mainland, Suporo in Hokkaido, and Keigo (Seoul) in Chosen (Korea)

It was only the second time in history that a foreign envoy had spoken over radio in Japan. The address was in English and was translated in Japanese by R. Yoshinura, a member of the Canadian Legation staff.

Little Hope Left For Lost Aviator

RANGOON, Burma, July 26 (C.P.)—Only a slender hope remained to-day of finding the missing British airman, Erick Hook, alive in the jungles where his friend and planemate, Jimmie Matthews left him dying last Saturday while he sought aid for both of them.

Ill and injured as Hook was, it was felt he would be no match for Bengal tigers, felines famed for their ferocity, with which the jungle is populated. There was some question even of finding his body, since the area abounds in striped hyenas, which leave little trace of their depredations.

LEADERS RETURN FOR FINAL FIGHT IN KEY PROVINCE

Two Provincial Conservative Administrations Take Up Cause.

CAMPAIGN SPEEDS UP.

Bennett and King Start Over Ontario From Opposite Sides.

(By George Hambleton, C. P. Staff Correspondent.)

Ottawa, July 16. — Ontario and Saskatchewan are to see the climax of the campaign. In both key provinces, the Provincial Conservative Administration is now in the battle. For weeks, Premier Ferguson of Ontario has been in bitter attack on the Government of Premier King. Last night, Premier Anderson announced intention to bring his reinforcements to the fray.

Ontario is Battle Ground.

And in the great battling ground of Ontario Liberals and Conservatives alike are marshalling their strength.

From the West Premier King returns to Ontario to-day. To-night he speaks at Kenora.

Hon. R. B. Bennett comes to Ontario and the Maritimes. He speaks twice in Ontario—at Perth and Renfrew. "The call has gone out for all hands to man the pumps," Premier Ferguson charges, as he predicts the defeat of the King Administration. "The ship is sinking. They are rushing into Ontario from all quarters—the Dunnings and the Crerars, the Lapointes and the Cannons. Premier King knows what is going to happen to him on July 28—but he does not know how hard he is going to be hit."

Campaigning like Premier Ferguson in North Ontario, Hon. Peter Heenan charges him with 'Mexican methods.' Mr. Heenan publicly challenges Premier Ferguson to make public the date and text of his 'protest' to Ottawa against trainloads of Central Europeans being transported to Canada.

In his farewell speech to the west Premier King declared that the Dominion government has not for years contributed a single dollar towards bringing foreign immigrants to Canada.

Bennett Warns Quebec.

Mr. Bennett as he leaves for Ontario warns Quebec against false cries of 'war with India.' At Manitu Hon. H. H. Stevens of Vancouver, charges that seeds of Communism are being planted by the policies of the King government.

All over the country the campaign is speeding up. Dr. Grace Ritchie England will be the second woman candidate on the Isle of Montreal. As official Liberal she is to oppose R. S. White in Mount Royal.

LONDON, Eng., July 16.—(CP)—The British Government has ordered the battleships Queen Elizabeth and Ramillies to proceed to Alexandria for the protection of foreign lives and property endangered by disorders at that place.

Prime Minister Macdonald, in announcing the dispatch of the vessels, also informed the House of Commons that Sidky Pasha, the present Egyptian Premier, and Nahas Pasha, former Premier and Nationalist Leader, had been warned they would be held responsible for the protection of foreign lives and interests.

14 KILLED YESTERDAY

During rioting in Alexandria yesterday thirteen natives and one Italian were killed and many natives were injured in clashes between Egyptian soldiers and police and strikers.

The Ramillies is a 30,000-ton vessel and is armed with eight 15-inch guns while the Queen Elizabeth is a 28,000-ton ship and also carries eight 15-inch guns.

King Emphasizes Importance of Developing Foreign Trade.

REVIEWS ACHIEVEMENTS.

Dolar For Dollar Policy Again Promised to Aid in Unemployment.

WINNIPEG, Man., July 16 (By Roy Brown, Canadian Press Staff Correspondent). — This morning Premier Mackenzie King said farewell to the Prairie Provinces, and turned his face once more to the East. The Prime Minister and members of his party left for Kenora, where Mr. King will be the speaker at a meeting to-night in the constituency of Hon. Peter Heenan, Minister of Labor. With the single exception of a meeting in Montreal, it is expected that all of the remaining speeches of the Prime Minister during what is left of the campaign will be made in Ontario.

Final Manitoba Speech.

Last night here Mr. King made his second and final speech in the Province of Manitoba. It was a hot night and since Manitoba and particularly Winnipeg had been celebrating the 60th birthday of the Province with a holiday, a good many people were out of town. In spite of the fact the Liberal meeting drew a good crowd which listened with attention, and at times enthusiasm, to speeches by the Prime Minister, by Hon. Ernest Lapointe, Minister of Justice, and by Hon T. A. Crerar, Minister of Railways and representative of Manitoba in the Federal Government.

The importance of developing Canada's foreign trade was emphasized once again by Mr. King. In it lay the solution of the unemploy-

HEENAN CRITICAL OF TORY LEADER

Claims Bennett Only Recently Awakened To Importance Of Unemployment.

Denies Ferguson's Charges.

CHAPLEAU, Ont., July 16 (C.P.)—That Hon. R. B. Bennett has only recently awakened to the importance of the unemployment problem was the assertion of Hon. Peter Heenan, Federal Minister of Labor, when he addressed a meeting here last night in the interests of A. E. Whytall, Liberal candidate for West Algoma.

"Mr. Bennett now promises work to all," said Mr. Heenan, "when last winter he sat through whole discussions on unemployment in the House and far from offering any suggestion to find work for the unemployed, he never even so much as spoke in the discussion."

Premier Ferguson's attitude on the immigration question came in for severe criticism. Mr. Heenan denied the Ontario Premier's statement that immigrants are being taken West in trainload after trainload at the expense of the Federal Government. Most Europeans coming to Canada have relatives here, said Mr. Heenan, and their small capital is their own. The Minister of Labor denied that Premier Ferguson had ever protested to Ottawa about the influx of immigrants.

For a time he conducted a foundry here. He was very prominent in municipal circles and was elected mayor in 1923, 1924, 1925 and 1926. For the past three years he has been engaged as a government inspector He is survived by his wife and grown-up family.

THREE SUCCUMB TO GAS FUMES

Victims Entered Montreal Apartment Too Soon After Fumigation.

FOUND BY JANITOR.

MONTREAL, July 16. (C.P.) — A deadly gas used to fumigate an apartment house on Park Avenue, last night claimed the lives of Noah and Nasha Myers, brother and sister, aged 27 and 26, and a friend of their's, believed to be Katherine Theresa Boff.

The company which fumigated the building had issued instructions that no one was to enter the apartments until late at night, and the janitor had been instructed to keep watch that nobody entered. The victims entered when he was not about, and it was not known that they were in the house until the janitor heard a noise and went to investigate. He found all three unconscious on the floor.

The windows were open showing they were in the act of airing the dwelling when they were overcome.

Alexander Nears End Of Great Career

DALLAS, Texas, July 16.—(CP) —Old Grover Cleveland Alexander, idol of major league baseball fans for two decades, appeared today to be at the end of the long trail.

Unless some Texas League club claims "Old Pete" at the waiver price of $1,500 by sundown tonight he is through in this circuit. Baseball men were doubtful any minor league club would be willing to give Alex another opportunity such as was afforded him by the Dallas steers when the Philadelphia Nationals cut him loose more than a month ago.

MOVE BY SASKATCHEWAN'S TORY CHIEFTAIN OUTCOME OF DOMINION PREMIER'S ADDRESS ON MONDAY

Claims He Will Deal With King's "Glaring Misrepresentations."

TO DEFEND MINISTERS.

Labels Subway Proposals as Foolish to Assist Unemployment.

SASKATOON, July 16. — Hon. J. T. M. Anderson, Conservative Premier of Saskatchewan, has taken the field in out-and-out opposition to the Mackenzie King Government. "In view of Premier King's address on Monday night, when he openly attacked my Government, our policy and myself," announced Premier Anderson yesterday, "I find it my duty as a citizen of Saskatchewan to meet this attack on the public platform. It will be my pleasant duty from now until election day to do all in my power to bring about the defeat of the King Government."

Statements Change Mind.

Mr. Anderson asserted that it had not been his intention to take an active part in the campaign until the Prime Minister made statements which reflected on Hon. A. C. Stewart, Minister of Highways, and Hon. M. A. McPherson, Attorney-General for Saskatchewan. These statements, he forecast, will be dealt with in detail during the next few weeks and the instances of "glaring misrepresentation" by the Dominion Government of the Province of Saskatchewan will be fully explained.

Referring to Premier King's outline of the amount of money handed over to the provinces of the West by the Dominion Government in the past eight years, Mr. Anderson said: "He did not tell the people that the Prairie Provinces had contributed to the Federal treasury during the past eight years under Liberal administration two hundred and twenty-eight million dollars more than was contributed by these provinces during the previous eight years of Conservative administration."

Hits Subways Proposal

The proposal by Premier King regarding construction of subways for relief of unemployment was labelled by Premier Anderson "just as foolish and absurd as his policy in general." He considered that "at this stage of our provincial development the expense of building subways throughout the province would be beyond reason." Plans for Winter work, to be announced shortly, would give work to all, he said.

Premier Anderson concluded his announcement by saying that the meeting at Regina last night, when Premier King denied that Saskatchewan and British Columbia had asked unemployment relief aid, demonstrated that Hon. Charles A. Dunning, Minister of Justice, will be defeated

FERGUSON'S NOTE CANNOT BE FOUND STATES HEENAN

Ontario Premier Challenged to Produce Date of Immigration Protest.

COUNTER CHARGES.

"Mexican Methods" Used In Ontario Electioneering, Labor Minister Says.

CHAPLEAU, July 16 (C.P.). — A challenge to Premier G. Howard Ferguson to make public the date and context of his protest to Ottawa regarding trainloads of Central Europeans being transported into the heart of Canada, as charged against the Dominion Government by him, and a charge that Ferguson was using "Mexican methods" in his electioneering in Ontario, were made last night by Hon. Peter Heenan, Minister of Labor at Ottawa, to an audience which taxed to capacity a Chapleau hall.

"A close search of the files at Ottawa has failed utterly to reveal one message, or a single word of protest against these conditions which Mr. Ferguson charges in his Smith Falls address of Friday night last," said Mr. Heenan, "and I hereby publicly challenge him to make public the date of the message and the matter in it."

Counter Charges.

Mr. Heenan brought this point into his remarks upon a discussion of immigration policies of the Dominion and the Ontario Governments, in which he charged that the Ontario authorities were holding open offers of free transportation to British emigrants and saying that jobs here were plentiful, while condemning the Federal Government for bringing in any immigrants whatsoever.

Contrary to Mr. Ferguson's charges, too, stated Mr. Heenan, the Federal Government was not giving, and for several years had not given one cent to assist continental Europeans to settle in Canada. The Minister charged that Mr. Ferguson had made contrary statements repeatedly to mislead the public.

WHY IS GORDON NOT IN CAMPAIGN ASKS SPEAKER

Hon. G. N. Gordon, J. H. Burnham and Toronto Globe Under Conservative Fire.

FRED BOWEN SPEAKS.

Matthews Says Canadian Producer Should Be Given More Expert Guidance.

Liberal trade policies shared the limelight with severe strictures of the Hon. G. N. Gordon, K.C., J. H. Burnham, and the Toronto Globe at a meeting in Centreville last night in the interest of E. A. Peck, Conservative candidate for Peterborough West. The meeting was addressed by Mr. Peck, F. D. Bowen, Conservative nominee for Durham County; J. F. Strickland, M.P.P., F. J. MacArthur, M.P.P., Dr. M. A. Morrison of Peterborough, and Gordon Matthews, president of the local Conservative Association.

Alexander Anderson, of South Monaghan, was in the chair.

"G. N. Gordon has the mistaken idea that he can engage in a little free-for-all with anyone he likes," declared Mr. Strickland, referring to certain published letters from Mr. Gordon in the course of the present campaign. "Why, asked Mr. Strickland, "does Gordon make no effort to contest this riding? Why doesn't he take the stump more often for Mr. Duffus instead of directing his platform efforts elsewhere? Why does he spend his time writing paid ads for the paper? Why does he let Duffus hold the bag?

"Because," Mr. Strickland announced, "he sees the handwriting on the wall for the 28th, and he is too shrewd a politician to be caught holding the bag himself."

An Individualist.

Regarding Mr. Burnham, The Globe had hailed him as an "outstanding Tory" who had joined the King ranks on the Empire question, Mr Strickland said. But Mr. Burnham was no party follower; he was an individualist in politics if ever there was one. He had been elected in 1911 and 1917 through no great efforts of his own; had deflected from Meighen in 1920, and had subsequently been refused the endorsement of the Conservative Party to contest this riding.

"It is easier," Mr. Strickland felt, "to prophesy the weather than to follow the workings of the mind of J. Hampden Burnham."

The editorial directors of The Globe were taken to task by the speaker for being "so worked up over an idea that they can't see a plain fact staring them in the face." Many Liberals would like to see The Globe "dead and buried." They felt it was "doing them more harm than good."

Provincial Prime Ministers had been censured for taking the stump against Mackenzie King, while the Premiers of Quebec and Prince Edward Island were alleged to be keeping out of the campaign. Mr. Strickland felt that the waterways issue was enough to keep the Quebec leader out, and that Prince Edward Island Liberals had no love for King since his Government had had to be "black-jacked" into accepting the report of the Duncan Commission.

"Mackenzie King has been hopping about like a pea on a hot griddle since this campaign started," declared the speaker. The people were having a hard time trying to reconcile some of his statements. Mr. Strickland characterized as 'hot air' Liberal allegations of Bennett's disloyalty to the Empire on the grounds

WARDNER BLOCK IS SWEPT BY FIRE

KELLOGG, Idaho, July 16 (C.P.).—A fire which started in a dwelling-house and swept through an entire city block of Wardner, near here, late yesterday, leaped to a timber-covered mountainside and was raging uncontrolled. Fire-fighting units of Wardner, Shoshone County, and the Bunker Hill and Sullivan Mining and Concentrating Company, were massed against the flames as a heavy wind carried them from the dwelling-house to an apartment building.

Later three other dwellings were destroyed.

The flames also levelled a garage and destroyed an automobile and consumed everything in the buildings.

LAD LOST WEEK FOUND IN WOODS ALIVE AND WELL

Seven Year Old Boy Too Tired When Discovered to Give Details.

LIVED ON BERRIES.

Boy Scouts Given Great Praise For Insistence in Search.

RENFREW, July 16.—The 7-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. James Warren, ho has been missing since a week ago, when he disappeared after visiting his uncle's farm fifteen miles from Renfrew, was found yesterday afternoon near Springtown, which is halfway to his home here. He was so exhausted that up to late last night he had not recovered sufficiently to give details.

The credit of finding the boy is due to insistent endeavor of Boy Scouts, who enlisted aid of all willing workers, and a recent call by Provincial Police. The boy is in a semi-conscious condition, but resting apparently peacefully in hospital here. Doctors are of the opinion that he will recover. They form opinion that life has been sustained by the boy eating foodstuff wherever obtained.

The boy had subsisted on berries and had plenty of water to drink. There were no barns nor any haystacks in which he could find shelter at night, and how he survived the ordeal is a mystery. There was, however, the shelter of plenty of evergreen trees.

U. S. CHILDREN BEING TAUGHT RED DOCTRINES

Special Committee Told Communists Started Work in 1928.

IN NEW YORK SCHOOLS.

"Young Pioneers of America" Started to Offset Boy Scouts.

NEW YORK, July 16. — Evidence tending to show that Communists have been seeking for several years to lay the groundwork for the overthrow of the United States government by propagandizing school children in New York city and elsewhere in the country was laid yesterday before a special House investigating committee.

The hearing which got under way late yesterday at a branch of the Justice Department, developed that the "Young Pioneers of America," encouraged by Moscow representatives, were operating in 21 States and 63 cities to spread the doctrine of modern Russia.

Alien Schools Attacked

All twelve witnesses were officials in New York public schools, and included Dr. William J. O'Shea, the Superintendent of Schools. They testified that an intensive campaign to inculcate into the minds of young pupils the teachings of communism was inculcated in the spring of 1928. It was brought out that activities were centred largely in three of the 810 public schools. The three are situated in Russian, Slav and Polish districts.

Edward R. Maguire principal of Junior High School 61 in the Bronx declared the "Young Pioneers of America" were receiving strong financial support and intrigued boys and girls barely in their teens to join the organization. The group, he said sought in every way to counteract the influence of the Boy Scouts of America.

Warns of Danger.

Maguire said the Communist movement was "dangerous" because of its potentialities. With intelligent adults secretly directing the propagandizing in teaching based on emotionalism, he said, the possibilities of spreading the doctrine were favorable.

MANITOBA HOLDS CELEBRATION FOR DIAMOND JUBILEE

Premier King Hands Over Control of Natural Resources.

HISTORY REVIEWED.

Thousands Gather in Winnipeg For Gay Event on 60th Birthday.

WINNIPEG, July 16. — Manitoba yesterday celebrated her diamond jubilee, with Premier Mackenzie King as one of the central figures in an impressive ceremony in front of the Parliament Buildings.

The Dominion Prime Minister formally handed to the Premier of Manitoba control of the Province's natural resources, and a cheque for over $4,000,000. The title to the great domain which now becomes the property of Manitoba includes lands, forests, minerals, water powers, game and fisheries. The Province, which half a century ago consisted of a few isolated settlements and Indian tepees, now enjoys equal status with older Provinces, like Ontario and Quebec. Picturesque Red River carts, York boats and yokes of oxen have given place to tractors, trucks, aeroplanes and limousines. Winnipeg is the third city of Canada, preceded only by Montreal and Toronto, and enjoys all the culture and conveniences of modern invention and science.

City En Fete

The Western metropolis was en fete. Union Jacks flew from fifty flagstaffs. Portage Avenue was colorful in bunting. Ten thousand people gathered under smiling skies in front of the Parliament Buildings, including legislators, churchmen and soldiery. The Princess Pats' Band played martial music and hymns, a girls' choir of fifty from St. Joseph's Academy sang "Praise Ye the Lord," and the Archbishop of Rupert's Land prayed "that the heritage received from our fathers may be handed down unimpaired to our children and that Canada may remain united and loyal to Throne and Empire."

His Excellency Lord Willingdon sent warmest greetings and congratulations from Anticosti Island.

Premier Bracken referred to the fact that 60 years ago yesterday there was no Province of Manitoba. The furtrapping business was about the only one of any importance. He contrasted the conditions today. He spoke of the great advance in business, education and discovery, and he paid a tribute to the pioneers who had stood the hardships of the early days and had helped to establish the Province on a sure footing. He was happy that some of those pioneers were present, he said.

WELLAND PASTOR TURNS SMUGGLER

Hungarian Alleged to Have Used Position to Get Aliens Over Line.

FACES 10 YEAR TERM.

BUFFALO, N. Y., July 16.—Rev. Stephen Csutoros, former pastor of the Hungarian Presbyterian Church, Welland is in jail here facing a term as high as 10 years in penitentiary.

Immigration officials allege the Rev. Mr. Csutoros employed his position and church to smuggle aliens into the United States. Two of those smuggled in have been apprehended, and it is alleged by immigration officials, their statements have revealed Csutoros profited to the extent of $500 upwards on each individual he brought into the country.

His system was unique. He would first write the dean of a theological college in New Jersey, stating he had a student for entry. He would then ask the dean to send a written letter of approval to the immigration officials and the supposed student would be eligible to enter under non-quota laws covering students. Once on this side of the border the alien would vanish.

FARMERS SEEKING TO IMPROVE HERDS BY IMPORTING LIVESTOCK

J. J. Duffus Holds Rallies at Bensfort and Stewart Hall.

Magnifying Unemployment.

At Stewart's Hall in Otonabee and also at Bensfort in South Monaghan last night J. J. Duffus said that Conservative "literature" was being circulated among the farmers alleging that livestock to the value of $2,000,000 had been imported into this country instead of being raised here.

The Liberal candidate explained that there had been importations of purebred stock for the purpose of improving herds of cattle in this country. Every farmer would realize the necessity of such purchases because the breeders of cattle in this country were building up their herds with stock from the country where such cattle were developed, such as Jersey, Guernsey and Ayrshire cattle, as an example.

"Livestock for exhibition purposes and also for racing have been imported to the value of $1,500,000, and for breeding purposes the cattle imported were valued at $693,000". Mr. Duffus said. "The balance includes bees, foxes, turtles, gold fish, and other things of that kind. I am sure that is all the explanation that I need to make to the intelligent farmers in this riding."

Beecher Matchett was chairman of the meeting at Stewart's Hall and Mr. Duffus was assisted by Mrs. J. Forbes Allan and Mr. W. J. Abel of Toronto, who is holidaying at Balsam Lake.

Mrs. H. F. Doig sang two numbers at the Stewart's Hall meeting which were heartily applauded. They were "Land of Hope and Glory" and "There is a Land", and their Empire theme was chosen by Mr. Abel as the subject to his address urging the rural community to vote for Mr. Duffus and the Dunning Budget not only for the broader markets the Liberal policy sought for the produce of Canada's farms and factories but also to assist in relieving the business depression in Great Britain and to build up a new era of trade within the Empire. Mrs. Doig was accompanied by Miss Gwen Donley.

Mr. Duffus thanked the farmers and their wives for coming out to hear him. "I know", he said "that it is easy for you to hear the political leaders over the radio, and I also appreciate the fact that you are in the midst of a busy season on the farm. If you elect me I assure you that I am prepared to devote two-thirds of my time in the service of the people of this riding, and I ask you to judge for yourselves whether my efforts in the past are likely to be of assistance in carrying out the duties which I suggest.

I think you must know by this time that many Conservatives are going to vote for the Liberal party because in this election the Liberal policies are more than ever in line with Conservative ideas. I may also tell you that many heads of industry are voting Liberal because of their desire to see the Liberal policies put into effect."

Mr. Duffus pointed out that the Conservative speakers were placed in the position of being unable to find a single fault with the record of the King Government in the efficiency and honesty of its administration.

"They are trying to magnify the present temporary unemployment condition in the hope that some electors will blame this condition on the Government. Everyone, however, knows that there is far less unemployment in Canada than in the United States, Great Britain, Australia and practically all the other countries of the world.

No reasonable citizen will blame the King Government for the failure of Canada to sell its western wheat crop last fall and winter; no reasonable citizen will blame the King Government for the crash of the stock market, which was another serious factor in the present depression on this continent; and no one will blame the government for the fact that labor-saving machinery is displacing many workmen. It is absolutely false to blame the King Government for whatever degree of unemployment prevails in Canada.

The Conservative speakers do not mention these factors. They merely blame the Government, and let it go at that. Mr. Bennett and Mr. Peck said not one word about the relief of unemployment in the last session of Parliament. Mr. Bennett is telling the people that he will call a special session of Parliament to talk over the unemployment situation. He will have to wait forty days first, if he is elected, and no one knows better than Mr. Bennett that his plan will get nowhere. If there was any hope in that plan it would surely have been found by Premier Ramsay MacDonald of Great Britain who as head of the Labor Government has been unable to find any solution for unemployment in Britain, and the Parliament there is still in session."

Mr. Duffus said that one of the most noticeable features of the election was the Opposition's lack of a constructive policy. The only issue before the people was the Liberals' policy of intra-Empire trade and the question of whether Mr. King or Mr. Bennett was to be Canada's representative at the Economic Conference to be held at London this Fall.

Mrs. J. Forbes Allan.

Mrs. Allan directed her remarks chiefly to the women's interests in the election. "I am glad to be here to say a few words in behalf of Mr. Duffus. We know that as the Government's representative in Peterborough during the last four years he has accomplished a great deal. And in this election we will have the opportunity of electing a representative to the Government's side of the House. Naturally his opinions are listened to more readily than those of a man on the Opposition side.

Mr. Duffus is an honest straightforward man who has made a success of his business. No one can say a word against him as a man and as a business administrator, and I think he will be one of the best members Peterborough ever sent to Parliament, if we all do our duty on July 28. I am glad to see so many ladies present tonight, for I understand that at the other meeting a few night ago there was only one

The Conservatives are so short of sound arguments at the present time that they take anything and use it any way that will add to their political power."

Mrs. Allan spoke of the chaotic affairs of the country when Mackenzie King assumed the leadership of the Government. She reviewed the tax reductions he had accomplished, and dealt with other details of the financial record of the King administration.

The women of Canada were already aware of the benefits of the Dunning Budget. It had made a large reduction in the cost of tea as a result of the removal of the tariff on this staple commodity of the average Canadian home. There were also considerable reductions on sugar, blankets, boots and shoes, refrigerators and other articles of special interest to women.

As a tribute to the ability of Mr. Dunning as Minister of Finance, Mrs. Allen said he had paid off two loans amounting to $80,000,000 out of the current revenue within the last year, thereby effecting a saving in interest of $4,200,000, had made a reduction in the public debt, and after meeting all the financial obligations of the government Mr. Dunning showed a surplus of $44,507,000.

FIERY ATTACK

er as exemplified by the Liberal candidate opposing Mr. Guthrie. This Liberal, she said, had berated farmers for always expecting help from the government, trying to get something for nothing, never working to help themselves.

Treaty Worthless

The New Zealand trade treaty handed to the farmers by the Liberals had resulted in the farmers getting nothing for something, she retorted. It had had a disastrous effect on the dairying industry here, reducing Canadian dairy herds by 140,000 cows and increasing New Zealand herds by 100,000 cows since the treaty went into effect. In four years, she asserted, exports of forty-five million pounds from Canada yearly had been converted into forty million pounds of imports.

She mocked at explanations quoted from Premier King that the people were so prosperous that they ate more butter, from Mr. Dunning that milk was being used for ice cream, and from Mr. Crearer that the farmers were really more prosperous than ever.

"Our 200,000 unemployed are now no doubt spreading butter—but New Zealand butter—on both sides of their bread, if they have any," she remarked scornfully. And all their children are walking about with an ice cream cone in their hands every minute of the day.

The speaker declared the Conservatives had continued to believe in protection even after their defeats on the subject in 1925 and 1926, feeling that they were right and that the country would see it the same way some day. "That day has come," she prophesied. Referring to Premier King's assertion that the record of his Government as one of the three great issues, Mrs. Fallis hoped that the record would be kept in mind by all classes when ballots were being marked.

WEDDING BELLS

BOYCE—FAIRBAIRN.

LAKEFIELD, July 16 (Examiner Correspondence).—The marriage took place in the parsonage of the Regent Street United Church on Saturday morning at 9.30 of Frances Hilda, younger daughter of Mr. Richard Fairbairn, and the late Mrs. Fairbairn and Arthur Roland Boyce, son of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Boyce.

The Rev. S. A. Kemp officiated at the ceremony, which was very quiet owing to the recent bereavement in the bride's family. The bride was attended by Miss Alma McCracken, while Mr. Harry Gill supported the groom.

The groom's gift to the bride was a platinum dinner ring with triple diamond setting; to the bridesmaid, a French beaded bag, and to the best man a gold cigarette lighter.

Mr. and Mrs. Boyce will make their home on Prospect Street.

of his 'Canada First' policy.

Price of Cattle Reduced.

The government's attitude to U. S. tariffs and the highly touted countervailing duties of the Dunning budget were scored by Gordon Matthews. "Commodity prices have practically all taken a drop," he declared. "The new U.S. tariff has reduced the value of every head of cattle on the land in Canada at least one cent a pound."

Countervailing duties would help Canada temporarily, he believed, but when the American farmer has a surplus all he had to do to flood this country with his goods was to force down his own tariff on the particular commodity for the time being.

Mr. Matthews felt that the Canadian producer should have been given more expert guidance by the government—although, he pointed out, "We have government inspectors at the C.P.C. to watch what goes into our sausages."

Mr. Bowen, who spoke first, asserted: "Never since Confederation have we had an election which meant so much as this one." He scored the Liberal Government's attitude on the butter question. He himself, he said, had been on the Conservative Committee to investigate farm conditions. The report of that committee had been incorporated in an amendment introduced in the House demanding that the New Zealand order in council be rescinded. The government had defeated the motion, and six months later had included the same proposals in the Dunning budget. "How can we trust this government?" he demanded.

Mr. Peck in his address minimized the importance of the Imperial conference, declaring that the issue of the present election was not —"Who will go to the Imperial Conference?" but "Who do you want to control this country's government for the next four or five years?" He accused the King Government of having ruined the domestic market —"our best market"—in favor of 'artificial markets" created by the preferential treaties. After millions of dollars loss to farmers the King government now admitted it had been wrong on the butter question. He scored Mackenzie King's attitude on unemployment and termed the Dunning budget ineffectual.

Regarding countervailing duties, he asserted: "I do object very strongly to the Americans having the right to say what our tariff rates shall be."

Could Alleviate Depression

Dr. Morrison admitted depression cycles, but claimed that governments could do much to alleviate them. He scored the government's failure to take advantage of the Thomas visit last year. As far as the favored nation treaties were concerned "apparently the government has been worsted in every treaty." Bennett had promised to kill these treaties if the nations refused to co-operate.

Mr. MacArthur praised Peck and foresaw a Conservative victory throughout the country.

MONTREAL PRODUCE

MONTREAL, July 16.—The following price changes were made yesterday on the Montreal cash grain market: Manitoba No. 6 wheat, up 2c per bushel; feed wheat, up 1c; No. 4 C.W. barley, up 1c; extra No. 1 feed oats, up 2c.

Prices of hay were reduced $1 per ton for extra No. 2 Timothy, No. 2 Timothy and No. 3 Timothy.

The butter market ruled steady at 28c per lb. for Eastern Townships No. 1 pasteurized creamery butter, wholesale. Recently the market has been advancing fractionally each day. Prices to retailers were unchanged at the higher prices put into effect yesterday. Receipts were 822 boxes.

Egg prices remained steady, with receipts at 4,414 cases.

The cheese market was quoted at 16¾c for Ontario cheese and 15¾c for Quebec. Receipts were 9,611 boxes.

Home-grown new potatoes were getting more plentiful on the potato market, and imported stock was becoming less a factor. Local and near-by-grown potatoes sold at $2 to $2.25 per 80 lbs., in bags. New importers were unchanged at $5 per 160-lb. barrel. Old potatoes commanded $2 to $2.25 per 80 lbs., in bags.

TORONTO, July 16. — There was real activity on the local egg market yesterday and carload lots changed hands often at 31c for extras, 29c for firsts and 25c for seconds. Ontario graded, in free, used cases. But buying was just so good, and receipts of Ontario eggs so few, that western eggs in new storage cases, were able to command the prices of 31½c for extras, and 29c for firsts. These prices showed the strength of the market. Last week western eggs were selling locally at a great premium over Ontario supplies, but yesterday western eggs obtained a premium of only ½c on one grade, the western extras taking the higher price.

Low Production

These western eggs that have been rolling in to this city have been finding favor with many buyers. Lately these buyers have been able to buy on spot and for shipment, and have paid a price much higher than they would for Ontario eggs. But now even Ontario eggs are scarce, and if these buyers are to get supplies they will have to pay higher prices. Production is very low and consumption is fair, even in a year of poor tourist travel.

Prices

Dealers had little trouble in securing 31c for extras, 29c for firsts and 25c for seconds, yesterday, and these prices will most likely be up at least another ½c before the end of the week.

Retailers were quoted 34c to 35c for extras, in cartons; 32c to 33c for extras, loose; 30c to 31c for firsts, loose; and 26c to 27c for seconds, loose.

Butter

And now the butter market. Butter buyers were not the least bit less active yesterday than buyers on the egg market. They wanted butter, and as there was not too much Ontario offering, they had to pay for it. Ontario No. 1 sold at 27¾c to 28c, and No. 2 brought 26½c to 26¾c. The Montreal market yesterday was strong at 28¼c, and the Toronto market was in sympathy with its big neighbor. Many buyers offered 27¾c, but found that dealers would not sell very often for less than 28c. This meant that Ontario butter was selling almost on a basis with western butter on the local market.

Cheese

The cheese market was stronger and dealers were quoting 17c for new large, 17¼c for twins, and 17½c for triples. This was ½c higher, locally, for supplies, but the prices to retailers were unchanged.

CHICAGO GRAIN.

CHICAGO, July 16. — Corn instead of wheat became the price maker yesterday. The chief reason was apparent likelihood of a new hot wave threatening serious curtailment of the 1930 corn crop. Besides, the stock of corn now on hand here is meagre, and the present difference between quotations on July delivery of wheat is said to be the smallest since 1895, when corn sold at 5c a bushel over wheat for a brief period. Later in the same year, wheat went to 15c over corn.

Wheat closed unsettled 1¼c to 1⅝c advance, oats ½c to ⅝c up, and provisions unchanged to a rise of 12c.

PLEASURE AND POLITICS TO BE MIXED AT CAMPBELLFORD

(By Examiner Staff Correspondent)

CAMPBELLFORD, July 16.—Pleasure and politics will be somewhat mixed on Thursday, when a dance is being staged in the Campbellford pavilion in honor of W. A. Fraser, the Liberal candidate for the riding of Northumberland.

This is expected to draw a big crowd, which Mr. Fraser is scheduled to address at 10:30 p.m. after which it is anticipated that the dance will proceed. This is the first function of its kind staged here during this campaign.

Rev. W. G. Martin To Address Big Rally At Campbellford

(By Examiner Staff Correspondent)

CAMPBELLFORD, July 16.— The Conservative party are scheduled for a big time here on Tuesday, July 22nd when a mass rally is being staged, with the Rev. W. G. Martin, Conservative member for Brantford, as the special speaker.

This will be the first big meeting staged by the party in Campbellford, and it is expected that it will draw a large crowd. Milton Maybe, the Conservative candidate for the riding, will be on the platform, as well as other prominent leaders of the party.

Markets For Farmers The Liberal Policy In 1930 As In 1911

Skidding around the riding Mr. Peck is saying to the farmers—"Cut off your nose to spite your face."

It is almost the same gold-brick, negative appeal as in 1911, and if the farmers fall into the Conservative trap this time the results will be even more disastrous than when, 19 years ago, we slammed the door on Uncle Sam.

In 1911 the Liberal government staked its life on a trade treaty with the United States that offered our farmers a market for their produce — grain, cattle, lumber, dairy products.

IF WE ONLY HAD THAT MARKET NOW!

In 1911 the Conservative party offered the farmers absolutely nothing and they got away with it. But by 1913 the farmers and factory workers of this riding were worrying through a stretch of Conservative unemployment that lasted until the Borden Government discovered the "shell game" with all its profits—and money scandals—for their friends who had old nags to sell as army mounts and other shady deals that gave us the word "profiteer".

Well, there's no use crying over spilt milk or mutilated noses.

Uncle Sam didn't immediately bang his door. He closed it by degrees with successive tariff increases. But a few weeks ago he slammed it the rest of the way with a noise that was heard round the world.

So, instead of reciprocity in trade, as the Liberals proposed in 1911, we have reciprocity in tariff-door banging as the Conservatives persuaded us. We put on a good show in the banging line, but look what it cost us.

OUR FARMERS ARE EXCLUDED FROM THE RICHEST MARKET IN THE WORLD

Farmers of this riding! You know that every word of that is true. Many of you trusted Sir Robert Borden rather than Sir Wilfrid Laurier and today you can count up the cost—the loss of trade with our next-door neighbour.

Well, with the slamming of Uncle Sam's door still in our ears, and a mighty harsh noise it was, the Liberal party is now asking the farmers of this riding to endorse their policy of increased trade within the Empire.

Thank goodness we have the British family of nations, "our ain folk", to turn to in this crisis of world trade.—And if we don't sell our wheat crop to John Bull this fall—but let us not think of the calamitous consequences.

Farmers, men and women remember, the Liberal party has already paved the way to assured purchases from the Mother Country and sister Dominions through the Dunning Budget. Wherever the Union Jack flies today there is a deep feeling of goodwill towards Canada.

BRITISH PRAISE FOR THE BUDGET

If some Conservative tells you this is bunkum, drown his evasive jargon with the chorus of praise that has flowed to Mackenzie King and Mr. Dunning from the political leaders in Great Britain, the editors of the British newspapers, and from British business men and also from the legislatures of sister Dominions who have already responded with trade concessions to Canada. And this is only the beginning—smoothing the way and creating a warm and confident atmosphere for the Empire Economic Conference to be held in London this Fall.

Mr. Bennett on the other hand talks of "blasting his way" to trade, and in The Examiner's report of the Madoc meeting the Hon. J. R. Cooke accuses Mackenzie King of throwing away the "only weapon" Canada possessed with which to force trade concessions from the British people.

Mr. Bennett and his friends are talking in the terms of trade warfare with the Motherland. That's a fine spirit of gratitude to the nation which for years has admitted our products free.

Conservative farmers especially. If you thought Sir Robert Borden was right and worthy of your confidence in 1911, you can't consistently believe the Hon. R. B. Bennett is right in this election. Come over this time with the other Conservatives who have publicly declared their intention of voting Liberal.

WEDNESDAY, JULY 16, 1930

THE BATTLE IN ONTARIO.

If campaign oratory and radio broadcasts can turn the trick, Ontario people should establish a new record in the number of votes cast at the coming election.

The political strength of the two great parties will be concentrated in this Province for the balance of the campaign.

The Prime Minister, turning eastward from his tour of British Columbia and the Prairie Provinces, and Mr. Bennett, moving westward after two weeks in the Maritimes and Quebec, will spend the rest of the pre-voting period in putting their case before the people of Ontario.

Quebec members of the Federal Cabinet will assist Mr. King and Premier Ferguson and his Provincial Ministers are all in the fray on behalf of Mr. Bennett.

The next ten days will see the most intensive campaigning the Province has known.

Headquarters of both political organizations are swamped with demands for speakers, and the amount of oratory showered upon the voters of Ontario from now until the night of Saturday, July 26, is only dependent upon the number of speakers the party organizations can dig up and send out.

MANITOBA'S DIAMOND JUBILEE.

Canadians everywhere will share with the people of Manitoba in the enthusiasm with which the diamond jubilee of that Province is being celebrated.

The fact that this prosperous Western member of the Canadian Confederation has only been a Province for six decades carries its own story of the comparative youth of this Canada of ours.

As the Globe points out, "men living to-day can recall the time when the soil of its prairies was undisturbed by the ploughshares of the white pioneers, when the first adventurers built their rude dwellings along the Red River, when Winnipeg was Fort Garry and all the surrounding country a roving ground for the Indian."

What a change has transpired in that brief time!

Winnipeg is now a modern, alive city with stores and public buildings equal to those to be found anywhere; the Province is settled with a successful farming population, and over the plains are strewn thriving cities and towns.

The outstanding progress recorded in Manitoba in the comparatively brief history of that Province challenges the world to produce a better record, and it is the fond hope of Canadians generally that when the one hundredth anniversary is celebrated the same story of growth and expansion will be told upon that occasion.

MORE SUPPORT FOR CRICKET.

It is a pity that when the Peterborough Cricket Club has the enterprise to bring to this city such a well-known club as the touring Philadelphia cricketers that less than a score of people should consider it worth while to patronize the event.

When Peterborough has such a fine ground as Nicholls Oval and a club that contains—despite their somewhat disastrous showing yesterday—some colorful and clever players, a greater interest in the game on the part of citizens generally might will be expected.

The local Cricket Club deserves considerable credit for the firm basis upon which it has revived the game, and for the prestige it has won in competition with outside clubs.

Through the efforts of the organization in recent years, Peterborough, for years off the Canadian cricket map, has become known as the home of a sporting and hospitable club with whom other clubs are eager to arrange matches.

That is a nice reputation to win, and it has added to the fame enjoyed by this city in other branches of sport.

The cricketers, of course, get their own reward in the playing of the game and in the opportunity of fraternizing with other sportsmen, but at the same time a livelier interest on the part of their fellow-citizens would doubtless be appreciated.

A fine old game with traditions that few other sports enjoy is cricket, and it should have more followers here.

UNITED STATES APPLES BANNED.

An apple of discord seems to have been found in the United States, says the Kingston Whig-Standard. It consists of the embargo which Great Britain has placed upon apples from that country on the alleged ground that it is necessary as a safeguard against the importation of that pernicious pest, the fruit fly, which has caused such serious losses in California and other parts of the United States. But it has been pointed out that this pest is not unknown in Canada, and yet Great Britain has not put an embargo on Canadian apples. Therefore it has been suggested by some Americans that the embargo is really one form of retaliation against the Hawley-Smoot high tariff. It might perhaps be said that the Americans who are doing this may have some excuse when it is remembered that it was said that the embargo on Canadian cattle, which Great Britain kept on so long on the alleged fear of disease, was really in the interests of British cattle breeders. However that may be, it is interesting to see how closely the United States are looking for retaliatory measures, and they need to, seeing that close upon forty countries are up in arms against this latest United States tariff act.

It can be pointed out that if it be true that the action of Great Britain is as these Americans say, it is only a case of their being hoist with their own petard. The United States has placed an embargo on Spanish grapes on the allegation that, if admitted, they might bring with them the scourge of the Mediterranean fruit fly, but the Spanish growers claim that the real object is to help the United States grape growers.

There is more than one way to kill a cat.

AGGRESSIVE IN SUMMER TIME.

Ordinarily the Times-Journal accepts the vagaries of the weather man without complaint. With even a finer submission to things as they come the weather man himself registers no formal protest against the performances of the calendar department of the universe. The weather and the coming and going of the months he looks upon as commonplaces that have a way of taking care of themselves.

This year it's differerent. Here, the Twelfth, of glorious, pious, and immortal memory, has come and gone. The Dominion's natal day is a thing of the past. The longest day of the year has swept by with quiet indifference. Already the days of the summer are shortening. Some of the gay flowers of late summer are greeting us.

For some reason we have not been allowed to forget the "flannels" of our last period of hibernation. Frosts have been in the offing. Hailstones and rumors of hailstones have been abroad. Of course, the crops have done well, but we humans are not getting what is coming to us out of the summer. Of course, we have an election, but the election has been such a nice, quiet, orderly affair that one is reminded of a picnic of one's maiden aunts.

Business has been as usual, but its fun has been spoiled by conversation regarding the hungry bow-wows alleged to be just ahead. If we haven't crept into the jaundice by being peevish it isn't our fault. We had hopes that the good old summer time would have cured us of our brooding melancholy, but it hasn't. And now the old lady is leaving. Some way the summer hasn't given us a square deal. Everything is strictly all right for the workers, but the calendar man is playing a mean trick on us and we don't mean to take it lying down.

We're pitching for a good time, election or no election. The nimble trout is challenging us and we're off to the backyard to dig bait. Miles and miles of roads, over hill and through dale, invite us to visit the best Province under the sun. Those baseball matches must be witnessed. Those horse shoes must be pitched. Yes, sir, if there's a kick in the summer of 1930 we're going to get it. No calendar man is going to get the bulge on yours truly.—St. Thomas Times-Journal.

SPEAKING OF WATERMELONS,

At the moment a good many people are displaying intense interest in the elections and are busy saving the nation from the perilous situation bound to come about if the other fellows win. This is all very well, and no doubt it is necessary and desirable that the nation thus should be saved, but there are other matters of vast moment worthy of serious thought at this time.

Take the watermelon; at its best a fruit fit for gods, at its worst very bad indeed. But how to distinguish between the good and the bad without conducting a major operation in the melon's midriff is a problem still to be solved and one to test the inventor's mettle.

Those who pursue the elusive ideal of the perfect watermelon, red, ripe, sweet and delicious, will not have failed to observe certain curious circumstances. The melon drawn and quartered for display in the dealer's window inevitably appears to be precisely the sort of melon for which one has been looking. Furthermore the dealer, approached concerning his uncut stock, invariably is positive they are all gems of the first water, prize stock of the watermelon family, succulent thirty-pound morsels for the connoisseur. How does he know? He taps his melon with an expert knuckle, listens with an authoritative ear and a learned air to the resulting hollow note, and so far as is known he has never been obliged on the evidence to pronounce a verdict unfavorable to his till.

Everyone knows the outcome. There are prizes in the lottery, but also there are lamentable blanks. There are melons ripe and sweet, red and delicious, and also there are melons which, when tested, prove green and leathery, or half-ripe and rubbery, a delusion and a disappointment, something uneatable and destined to be uneaten.

And so we maintain one of the crying needs of the age is an unfailing means of testing watermelons for good and evil before completion of the monetary transaction which accompanies the change of ownership. Anybody can recognize the fine specimen when it is cut and tasted. What is required is a system, device, or method of putting the melon to the proof while there is still time to switch to bananas or cherries or somehing else of more visible quality.—Ottawa Journal.

EDITORIAL NOTES AND COMMENT.

The "Stein" Song, to which objections are being made in Toronto, may not hurt the children, but it is driving their elders to drink.

The Progressive party may be the smallest of the three, but right now it is the only one to have a member elected. The Progressive leader, Robert G. Gardiner, is returned in Acadia, Alberta, without a contest.

With all the political speeches that are being broadcast it is doubtful whether radio receiving sets will ever be the same again after the campaign is over.

And now they are talking about the opening of the Canadian National Exhibition. We'll soon be asking where summer has gone.

It is evident that the West can raise a crop of hecklers as well as of wheat.

Besides his other duties, King Carol will be useful as a judge at Rumania's beauty contests.—Toronto Telegram.

A Thought

FOR TODAY

Above all, that I may not be a coward. That I may have courage—courage to be unmoved by the uncertainties of life, and without dread of loss, whether of friends, or health, or of fortune. That I may come with a firm and tranquil mind to the work of this day, fearing nothing—ready to meet bravely failure or deprivation.

That I may bring to the day's efforts good humor and a cheerful regard for all with whom I may come into contact.

That I may be diligent in the performance of duties and cheerful in manner. That I may be earnest in pursuit of the right.

That I may stand with open mind ready to receive the Truth in small affairs and in large—whether in learning new and better methods, or in receiving that philosophy necessary to a brave, tranquil, well-posed, well-harmonized life.—John Brisben Walker, in Cosmopolitan.

What To-day Means To You.

"CANCER."

If July 16 is your birthday, the best hours for you on this date are from 9:30 a.m. to 10:30 a.m., 3:30 p.m. to 4:30 p.m. and 10 p.m. to 11 p.m. The danger periods are from 11 a.m. to noon, and 6 p.m. to 7:30 p.m.

Powerful influences will be in force on this date, which will lead to all manner of excesses, and scandal will be rife. Many journeys taken, and the signs are auspicious for such. Extravagant tendencies. Financial world good.

The child born on this July 16 will have a domestic temperament and cling to parental ties. It will be loyal, faithful and conscientious, but too shy to become popular or to enjoy sociability. It will be passionately fond of animals.

You are a delightful being, but not an ambitious one and you will drift with the stream. You seek ease, leisure, comfort and security, and you only "buckle into things" to enable you to have these. Work in itself holds forth no attraction to you. You frankly like "cushy" jobs, and you shake off all unnecessary obligations and responsibilities. You are too kind hearted and warmly sympathetic to be cruel to anyone, and you yield to right influences, tactfully administered.

You will never become a typically self-made man or woman, but you may climb to a considerable height, if dynamic forces are behind you, and magnetic ones pulling you. The right man or woman may so disturb your lethargy that you will wake up and show the world what you really can do. The wrong man or woman, however, will kill the last spark of ambition, and you will slide down the ladder. Choose your exact opposite.

You have a good will-power when you care to use it, but it is usually only displayed in a negative way, when you do n not want to do something and stubbornly resist. It is not the driving force it should be. You have a very stable nervous system, and are not addicted to worry. You will never be very unhappy, no matter what happens. You are easily amused, and laugh with, and not at, the world.

LAD 14, SHOOTS YOUTH

OROMOCTO, N.B., July 15.—Donald E. Kimball, 14, was arrested yesterday, on a charge of manslaughter, resulting from the fatal shooting of Goerge E. Goan, in front of the Kimball home late Sunday night.

The boy, being a juvenile, his father appeared for him, and bail was granted in the sum of $2,000. The preliminary hearing has been set for July 17.

EMBARRASSING MOMENTS

THE GRINGO PRIVATEER

By PETER B. KYNE

CHAPTER 16.

Ken Burney telephoned the king.

"Well, what now?" His Majesty demanded.

"I want to borrow your car for the day."

"Sorry, Ken. I haven't one, but I'll ask my daughter to loan you hers. Wait a minute."

The minute passed and then Muriel Bardin came on the line. "Father tells me you want to borrow my car, Mr. Burney?"

"If you please, Miss Muriel, provided it's a five passenger one."

"It is. What do you want it for and where do you wish to go?"

"Want it for a murder car. I'm going into Mexico," he replied jestingly.

"You can't have it."

"Not to save me a forty-mile ride on horseback to Huachita?"

"No."

"You have a heart of stone," he replied and hung up. Half an hour later she saw him, on his pinto horse accompanied by three heavily armed riders, pass down the road in front of the king's castle. He waved at her; she shook her small fist at him, whereat he drew a carbine from the saddle boot and exhibited it. "I may never come back," he called.

"Who cares?" she cried back.

"I do," the king, from his seat on the eastern veranda, reminded her. "Seems to me you're unnecessarily nasty toward that boy."

"When you get through with him, Dad, you should buy him a first-class passage to China and give him a letter of introduction to Chang-tso-lin. Chang could doubtless use him at a huge salary to murder missionaries."

"Is that so?" said the king. "Well, well, well. Notice that horse he was riding? That's the one you fall heir to after Burney's been killed.

"I shall not accept him. What are he and those three ruffians with him going to do now?"

"I should say, offhand, however, that he's going down to El Cajon Bonita to bump off Miguel Gallegos."

"Oh, Dad, this is dreadful."

"Interesting, at any rate."

"You must stop him."

The king dropped his chin on his breast and commenced to snore loudly.

"Then I'll stop him," the girl cried.

His Majesty opened one eye and gazed upon his progeny. "Why?"

"I don't want him to kill Miguel Gallegos."

"That the only reason?"

"I don't want Miguel Gallegos to kill him."

"Why?"

"Because —"

"Who cares?" he taunted her and commenced to snore again. Muriel commenced to weep. "Hey! Hey! said the king. He was instantly distressed. "Very well, honey. You hop into your car and overtake Sir Knight and tell him your father says he is not to kill Miguel Gallegos to-day unless Miguel Gallegos kills him first; in which event I imagine those three rowdies with him will take care of Gallegos."

Ten minutes later Ken Burney and his riders pulled off to one side of the road to let a car go by. To Ken's amazement it stopped and Muriel Bardin was in it.

"My father says you're not to kill Miguel Gallegos to-day," she cried excitedly.

He touched two fingers to his forehead in the Oriental sign of fealty. "I hear and I obey. I hadn't intended killing him to-day, anyhow."

"And you are not to permit him to kill you, either, Mr. Burney."

He turned to his men. "Boys, you hear that? Guard me well. My respectful compliments to His Majesty and tell him, please, that I'll be back when I return."

He lifted his hat and rode on, but not before the girl had detected a mocking light in his black eyes and a shrewd little smile on his humorous mobile mouth. Furious, she returned to the king.

"Well," he greeted her, "what did he say?"

"He said he'd obey."

"Good. Did he say anything about laying off Martin Bruce?"

"No."

"Gosh, I forgot to tell you to tell him to lay off Martin. He's gone to Huachita and Martin and some of his braves are there, I hear. My, my, I'm afraid I'm liable to lose my new general manager before I've even had a chance to break him in. There's only one thing that will comfort me for his loss, however, and that's the death of Martin Bruce." He sighed and tucked in his napkin. "We will hope for the best," he added piously.

His daughter gazed at him in wide-eyed horror and left the room.

At Huachita, about four o'clock, Ken Burney and his bodyguard put their horses up at the livery stable, and in single file walked up the middle of the street to the International Hotel. On the front porch Martin Bruce sat with two friends, discussing cattle and the weather. He eyed the approaching quartet, decided he was outnumbered and nodded affably to Ken Burney, who came up alongside him and said arrogantly:

"Mr. Bruce, you're leaving town at once. I can't feel comfortable in Huachita with you here, so take the next train west if you care to pull out under your own power."

"I was goin' to take the next train west anyhow, son," Bruce replied evenly, "but just for that I'm going to stay and see how you like it." His blue eyes bored upward at Burney from under his shaggy eyebrows; to the veriest tyro it would have been apparent he meant exactly what he said; that he preferred to stay and die, fighting an army, rather than leave town under compulsion.

"You four-flusher," he continued. "What dude ranch did you hail from? The idea of a half-baked desperado like you trying to drive Martin Bruce out of town? That for you and your bodyguard," and he directed a thin stream of tobacco juice down one leg of Ken Burney's white chaps. "Go home and tell your mother to wipe your nose."

Ken Burney stared at the terrible old man for a few seconds, then turned to his men. "Well, I guess I'll let him stay, boys," he answered, "seeing he's so set on having his own way."

Bruce laughed softly as Burney and his men entered the hotel. The bodyguard looked at the new general manager somewhat askance. It was plain that they did not think well of him, for in public he had warned an enemy to leave town or take the consequences, and when that enemy had replied with a contemptuous refusal, he had backed down. To their direct and primitaive way of thinking, he did, indeed, require a bodyguard, nor were they at all pleased to have been appointed to that task. Plainly, here was a general manager who might, conceivably, emboil them in a footless fight. They stood aside, in low voices discussing Ken Burney while he registered their names and his; then he joined them.

"Come on up to my room," he ordered, and they followed sullenly. He herded them in before him and closed the door. "You are entitled to an explanation of my extraordinary conduct, boys," he began. "You heard me pull off a boob play—throw a monumental bluff on a man who wouldn't be bluffed. Well, I knew that in advance. Whatever that old coyote's faults, a lack of animal courage isn't one of them. He has a high pride; he has a repution for courage and audacity to sustain, and his record both as a citizen and as a peace officer has earned him that reputation fairly. He spat on me and I backed water. I had to. I was the aggressor and if I had killed him I would have been tried for murder and, doubtless, convicted. Besides, he had two friends with him and one of them didn't look to me like a preacher; who was the big dark man on his left?"

"That was Miguel Gallegos," one of his bodyguard replied.

"I had a suspicion it might be. But no matter. Bruce would have fought if I had resented his spitting upon me; he would have taken a chance on beating me to the draw, knowing his friend, Gallegos would help. And the other man, too, for all I know."

Uncommon Sense

By John Blake

THE BOOK BY THE BEDSIDE.

Only children and uncommonly healthy grown-ups can go to bed at night, pull the bed-clothes over them and drop off to sleep almost immediately.

To the most of middle-aged humanity getting to sleep is quite an undertaking.

The "cares that infest the day," to quote Mr. Longfellow, "do not immediately fold their tents like the Arab and silently steal away."

Instead they stick around for hours, and must be considered and worried about until the clock downstairs is striking two or three.

There are various means employed by bad sleepers to lull themselves to rest after they lay their heads on their pillows.

The oldest one is counting sheep. Some men I know pick out a word of seven or eight letters and try to see how many smaller words they can make out of the elements that compose it.

Others review long motor or steamship trips, or walks that they have taken recently. Not a bad way, either, for it refreshes the memory of things that have been worth seeing, and is in effect living over an interesting excursion.

But a better plan than any, I think, is to keep a few books at the bedside, and, if it is difficult to "steep the senses in forgetfulness," choose one of them and read it for a while.

Do not choose a detective story, if you are of an excitable nature and must find out how it turns out before you can lay it down.

Do not select a love romance if you are young and sentimental.

Rather pick a book that you know you ought to read, and probably would never read unless it was handy when time hung heavy on your hands.

Best leave out fiction and read a book of travel, or a book of essays—some book which other people have read and talked about, while you sat dumbly staring at them, wishing you had read it too, so you could take an intelligent part in the conversation.

If you spend half an hour a night reading Emerson's Essays, or a new book about science or discoveries, you will find presently that your appetite for reading has been whetted while you were trying to get to sleep.

After that you will read good books for their own sake, instead of using them for only soporifics.

Of the well-known men I have met and interviewed, most of them have told me they read in bed.

I remember that Mark Twain did a great part of his reading that way, but he spent more time in bed than most people do.

As for the choice of books that you can settle for yourself. But be sure that the bed-side books are good ones, some classic, some recent.

That will enable you to broaden your education, and at the same time keep abreast of progress.

And I am sure you will find that it will be of great assistance in wooing "nature's sweet restorer."

PRICE OF BREAD

Editor, The Examiner.

Dear Sir,—A short time ago the Local Council of Women protested against keeping bread prices at the same level as when wheat was $2 a bushel. No reply has yet appeared in your paper. Has any been received?

Will it be necessary to solicit the aid of Government officials as was done in the famous A.B.C. investigation before getting a square deal?

Householder.

LET FERGUSON LOOK AFTER ONTARIO

To the Editor of The Peterborough Examiner,

Dear Sir:

Of all the people of Ontario there is nobody who has less reason to oppose the King Government than Premier Ferguson.

Mr. Ferguson has a farm of his own to look after, namely, Ontario, and if Mr. Ferguson has a large number of unemployed people on his farm he should be ashamed of it, instead of asking the King Government to give more than 5 cents to support his ignorance.

There is nothing to stop Mr. Ferguson to provide his unemployed with sufficient land and timber, and with the help of a few experienced farmer's (I mean real farmers, not like Drury) those unemployed could live in plenty, provided that all they had to do, was to grow and manufacture their own living necessities.

But don't expect the unemployed to pay 5 per cent interest on land, timber and equipment, besides paying back the capital. It was that 5 per cent interest which made the soldiers and settlement scheme an infidelity and proved so disastrous to many an honest toiler.

As long as Ontario has such an ignorant man for minister of education, most of the money expended for education is wasted.

The money which Premier Ferguson and his Government is wasting foolishly year after year would inside of 200 years buy half the United States. Thanking you for your space, I remain a taxpayer of Ontario.

MAX WEISS

INSULT TO ELECTORS

The Editor, The Examiner.

Sir:

In your issue of the eleventh inst., I read an account of the meeting held in Campbellford in the interests of the Conservative candidate, Mr. Maybee. One of the "speakers" was called the "Boy Orator", "Sandy" McDonald, son of Dr. McDonald, Hastings. Mr. Maybee and the Conservative organization must have a great idea of the intelligence of the electors of that district, when they expect an intelligent audience of voters to be influenced by anything that a boy in his early teens can tell them regarding the political situation. Personally, I make it a practise to hear both sides of the question and would consider it a downright insult, if a school-boy was called on to make a speech. Surely the average man and woman voter has sufficient intelligence to at least equal that of an ordinary school-boy? However I am sure a large number are of the same opinion and think that it shows a lack of appreciation of the seriousness of a political campaign. What a contrast between the two parties, The Mackenzie King Government and Liberal Party appealing to the country on their record and the Dunning Budget; then the Conservative Party led Mr. Bennett pulling the Liberal Government and all their doings to pieces. Mr. Bennett must think the people are bigger fools than the late P. T. Barnum, who said regarding the circus: "You can fool some of the people all the time, but not all the people all of the time." The idea of telling the people, if he is returned to power he will immediately call parliament together and introduce legislation to do away with unemployment. Why, if he is such a wizard does he not offer his services to the United States or Great Britain, who are looking for a man like that. I feel sure that he could ask his own figure for his cure-all for unemployment? In Great Britain the Dunning Budget was hailed by all parties, Labor, Liberal and Conservative, as the finest thing done as yet, towards greater trading within the Empire.

Thanking you in anticipation, I am,

Yours truly,

E. BRAITHWAITE

COMMENT ON THE MORNING STOCK MARKETS OVER BIGGAR & CRAWFORD WIRE

Continuation of any forward movement on the Toronto Exchange yesterday failed to materialize this morning. There was a considerable decline in volume as leading issues such as International Nickel, Brazilian, Imperial Oil and British American Oil suffered fractional losses from yesterday's closing prices.

Reactionary tendencies which developed in New York in late Tuesday's trading were extended in early dealings this morning. Profit-taking was ascribed to operators prominent in recent bullish demonstrations. Prices in the pivotal issues showed small recessions but the market absorbed the selling in good style and in the second hour it developed a quiet but firm tone.

SELLING STORM IS NOT VIOLENT

Bull Forces On Wall Street Are Regarded With Cautious Attitude.

OILS ARE ACTIVE.

NEW YORK, N.Y., July 16 (C.P.)—The bull leadership which recently has endeavored to pilot the stock market, hove too for a brief spell of nasty weather to-day, but the storm of selling was not particularly violent, and by early afternoon the voyage was resumed.

On the whole the speculative community was inclined to regard the cautious attitude of the bull forces as highly salubrious, for the market had had a substantial advance without benefit of any notable change in business, and too rapid an advance might invite large scale bear selling.

Oils were active features of the early afternoon upturn. Standard of New Jersey rose more than a point, and Mexican Seaboard and Sinclair rose moderately. General motors also advanced a little in heavy trading. Radio and Radio Keith were also actively turned over, although showing little change.

Columbia Carbon, American Rolling Mill, Byers, Penick and Ford, Auburn and Northern Pacific showed afternoon advances of about 2 to 4 points, U.S. Steel regained an early loss of 1½, and Dupont converted an early loss into a moderate gain. Such issues as American Can, General Electric, Westinghouse, Allied Chemical, American Telephone rallied after sagging 2 to 4 points.

The steady rise in the French franc finally brought the expected announcement of a shipment of gold to France, amounting to 4,000,000.

HEAVY WINDS PREVENT PREPARATION OF R-100

CARDINGTON, England, July 16.—(C.P. Cable).—Adverse winds are still preventing the removal of the giant airship, R-100, from the great shed at Cardington in order to prepare for the flight to Montreal.

Handling parties were ordered in readiness every morning this week, but the orders for to-day were cancelled last night owing to a forecast of unfavorable weather.

It is believed there will be little chance of removing the ship from the shed before next Saturday.

FINANCIAL NEWS AND BRIEFS

A SPECIAL SERVICE TO THE EXAMINER

Second quarter earnings reports that Wall Street feared might have a depressing effect on the securities are beginning to make an appearance and the exhibits so far have been such to create encouragement rather than discouraging. Canadian corporations on the other hand are not in the habit of supplying their stockholders with profit and loss figures at periods throughout the year and at present we are in between seasons for the publication of yearly financial statements. In about a month time companies who end their fiscal year with the end of June, will forward statements to their shareholders covering the final six months of 1929 and the first half of 1930 and as these will cover eight or nine months of the depression periods the profit and loss accounts will be scanned much closer than ever before. In the meantime it is to be said to the credit of a great many executives that they have forwarded reassuring letters along with dividend cheques and the tenor of these notes and what few figures given tend to allay the fears of shareholders. The correspondence is representative of a wide range of industries and not a few letters speak of increased sales over the corresponding months of 1929. Chain stores sales for the first six months of 1930 held up remarkably well despite the drop in commodity prices and a consequent reduction in the dollar value of sales making necessary an increase in unit volume to maintain the total close to that for the first half of 1930. From all appearances the first half of the year has not been too bad for Canadian industry.

Small Investor Buying.

The official sheet of transactions on the Toronto Stock Exchange for Tuesday presents an interesting sidelight on the type of present day trading and comes as close as anything in giving the answer as to whether or not the small investor is out of the market following the crash of last autumn and the reactions of 1930. An analysis of individual transactions for the day discloses the fact that 52.01 per cent of all individual sales were for odd lots or less than 25 shares with approximately 60 per cent of these transactions for 5, 10 or less shares. Out of 348 individual transactions, exclusive of mining stocks and rights on the list and unlisted department, 182 represented odd lot purchases. Taking the listed section, where the higher priced securities are traded, 143 sales out of 267, or 53.33 per cent were in odd lots. Most stocks listed on the curb are selling at comparatively low prices but even here almost 50 per cent of the days transaction were in small lots. Out of 81 sales on the curb, 39 or 48.15 per cent were transactions of less than 25 shares. This clearly indicates that the man of moderate means, who in the bull market was speculating in 25 and 50 share lots, has changed his tactics and to-day is investing his funds by purchasing for cash a few shares of a number of securities. A year ago funds were being used to carry large committments on margin where as to-day the same individual is paying cash and taking less securities greatly diversifying his holdings and operating for a long pull and not with the object of selling at a quick profit.

STRONG UNDERCURRENT APPEARS ON MINING MARKET LIST

Rumours Of Gold Discovery In North-Western Ontario Arouse Keen Interest.

ACTION EXPECTED.

TORONTO, July 16. (Special to the Examiner.)—On two or three occasions during the last few weeks, the absence of general interest in the mining market at the present time has been evidenced in poor response to favorable news. Traders who anticipated some sort of a flurry following publication of important reports are rather discouraged, but the fact remains that the list, as a whole, is showing a surprising amount of underlying strength, indices of representative groups of stocks have fluctuated back and fourth within a narrow range, and an upward tendency is beginning to put in an appearance present prices are in no way discounting the future, and the accumulation of important information guarantees some interesting action when things return to normal again.

Rumors of a spectacular gold discovery in Northwestern Ontario have aroused keen interest in local mining circles and have led several representative groups to do some private investigating. The location and exact scope of operations is being well guarded but the meagre details available indicate major potentialities for the new find. If, as those informed in the situation believe an important gold camp has been discovered, it will provide new impetus for the mining industry in this province.

The find is known to be not far distant from rail transportion, and the original strike is understood to have been traced for a distance of over a mile. An important mining corporation which had the opportunity of studying the data so far available is rumored to have been sufficiently impressed with its possibilities to send scouts north from Toronto last night by aeroplane. More power to them, is the attitude of the street, for the great need of mining is bigger and better discoveries.

Giving as a reason for the change present world wide adverse financial conditions, Huronian Mining and Finance Co., has notified shareholders of Pioneer Mining Corp., and Huronian Belt Co., that the time for exercising the option certificates on Huronian stock has been extended one year, the offer to expire on December 13, 1931, instead of December 12, 1930. Shareholders of pioneer received Huronian share for every five pioneer held, and an option to purchase one of the former companies shares at $1 for every ten of the latter held.

WHEAT ADVANCES AT WINNIPEG

Market Is Strong After The Diamond Jubilee Holiday.

ABOVE DOLLAR MARK.

WINNIPEG, Man., July 16.—(By the Canadian Press)—Wheat jumped as much as three cents a bushel when the Winnipeg Grain Exchange opened this morning after Tuesday's diamond jubilee holiday. The rise following the upswing of the last two days at both Liverpool and Chicago carried both the October and December futures above the dollar mark. A fair amount of export business was reported.

December registered largest of the early gains, going 1¼ to 3 cents up to $1.01 to $1.02½. October rose 2¼ to 2 3-8 cents to sell one-half cent above the dollar mark. The advance in July futures was 2¾ cents to 97.

All other grains joined in the upshoot. Barley was as much as 1¼ cent up, flax 2½ cents higher, oats 1¼ cent and rye 1¾ cents.

CHICAGO WHEAT AGAIN STRONGER

Premature Ripening of Big Crop Has Tendency To Force Up Price.

UNEASINESS PERSISTS.

CHICAGO, Ills., July 16. (C.P.)—Uneasiness over persistent dry weather in spring crop sections both north and south of the Canadian border led to higher prices early to-day for wheat. Particular notice was taken of dispatches from Bismark N.D., that the condition of wheat in surrounding territory is going back fast, as a result of premature ripening. Starting 1-4-7-8 cents up; wheat afterward reacted somewhat, but then rose higher than before. Corn showed decided strength, opening at 3-8-1 3-8x gains and later holding near to the initial figures. Oats were firm. Provisions advanced.

SPECIAL COMMITTEE GIVEN CENSURE MOTION

LONDON, Eng., July 16 (C.P. Cable)—The Labor Government's policy in dealing with unemployment was upheld at a meeting of the Parliamentary Labor Party at Westminster today. By a vote of 80 to 38, however, the meeting referred to a special consultative committee an earlier motion which was tantamount to a vote of censure on the Government. A suggestion by Hon. Herbert Morrison, Minister of Transport, that the party hold a series of meetings to discuss various aspects of the problem and possible solutions, also goes to a consultative committee.

Big Maskinonge Is Caught In Little Lake

The first entry for The Examiner maskinonge fishing contest, which opened on Friday last, and for which is to be awarded a Winchester fishing rod equipped with a Meisslebach targe; reel and line and a Pike Wabbler plug, was landed this morning at Little Lake by Charles Leibers, of 293 Lake Street, this city.

Weighing 13¼ pounds, the fish is a beautiful specimen, measuring from tail to tip of head three feet, and with a girth of corresponding proportions. This variety of fish, noted for its gamey propensities, gave quite a stiff battle before it finally lay panting on the lakeshore in mute surrender, to be held as an unwilling contestant in the competition.

BETTY CARSTAIRS DRIVES BOAT AT 90 MILES AN HOUR

Second Speed Test of Estelle IV On Lake Muskoka Quite Successful.

TRIAL HANDICAPPED.

Has Full Throttle In Choppy Water For About Three Quarters of a Mile.

Gravenhurst, Ont., July 16. — (C.P.) — Churning the waters of Lake Muskoka at 90 miles an hour, just short of the fatal speed which cost the life of Sir Henry Segrave, Betty Carstairs, British hope in the International races for the Harmsworth trophy, put her speed-boat Estelle IV through its paces.

Miss Carstairs' trial was handicapped by the presence of many pleasure craft on the lake, carrying crowds of spectators. She complained that "You can't see a boat until you are right on it," and abandoned further attempts to demonstrate the speed of her craft.

The Estelle IV had full throttle in about three-quarters of a mile, driven by two 900-horse power Napier engines. As she came roaring past the eager watchers, the driver could be seen hanging on desperately to the wheel as the rudder was buffeted by the waves. The mechanic Joe Harris, sat low in the cock pit manipulating the throttle. When opened up the speedy craft travelled so fast that the cloud of spray she kicked up was left far behind. The speed boat's performance was satisfactory said Miss Carstairs afterwards, and she feels ready for her third attempt to wrest the Harmsworth trophy from Gar Wood of Detroit, who has held it since 1920.

Many Issues Encounter Fractional Set Backs On Standard.

DOMINION STORES FIRMER.

TORONTO, Ont., July 16. (C.P.)—On a declining turnover, prices of the principal stocks on Toronto Stock Exchange went back a short distance from the close of last night, wiping out nearly the whole of the gain made at one time yesterday. Stocks were not pressed for sale, but a moderate amount of profit did result from yesterday's rise, sufficient to more than offset orders to purchase.

International Nickel, Noranda, Ford of Canada, Imperial Oil, B.A., Oil, McColl-Frontenac encountered fractional set-backs. Brazilian held to the price at the close last night, as did Bell Telephone, C.P.R., Consumers Gas, Service Stations, Loblaw, Massey-Harris were other unchanges. Dominion Stores was firmer at 20⅛.

TYPOGRAPHICAL UNION EX-PRESIDENT IS DEAD

SYRACUSE, N.Y., July 16 (Canadian Press). — James M. Lynch, for many years president of the International Typographical Union, died in hospital here this morning of blood infections.

Probably the outstanding feat in his long career was his supervision of the famous fight of the I.T.U. in the early 1900s for the 48-hour week.

CANADIAN APPLE CROP SHOWING BIG DECREASE.

OTTAWA, Ont., July 16 (C.P.). — The commercial apple crop of Canada estimated for 1929, as compared with 1930, indicates reductions of 40 per cent. in Nova Scotia, 23 per cent. in Quebec, 33 per cent. in Ontario, less than the 5-year average in New Brunswick, while in British Columbia the crop is expected to yield an increase of 22 per cent. The total crop is estimated at 3,113,380 barrels, as ARTICLE LXX.

Q.—In case a company has consolidated bonds, first mortgage bonds, preferred and common stock, and deventure bonds, give the order in which the holders of each class would ordinarily be called upon to contribute money in case of reorganization.

A.—In case of reorganization the stockholders as a rule are called upon first to contribute money because after all they are the owners of the business. Usually the common stockholders are assessed first, but if their stock is not worth an assessment—that is, if they would rather give up their ownership than be taxed, the preferred shareholders would then be assessed. The debenture bondholders are merely glorified preferred stockholders and they would be taxed next in order. Consolidated bonds are usually issued as the result of a reorganization and are secured by first, second, or third mortgages on various parts of the amalgamated company. The holders of such would next be assessed. The last ones to be taxed would be the holders of first mortgage bonds.

PLANE CRASHES ON RECORD TRIP TO BUENOS AIRES

Three In Crew Take To Parachute As Gas Supply Runs Out.

SHIP WRECKED.

Smashup Occurs In Georgia. -- Planned Flight in 4 Days.

BOSTWICK, Ga., July 16 (C.P.) — The monoplane "K" of New Haven crashed here to-day, but the occupants escaped by use of parachutes. The plane was en route to South America on an endurance flight.

Jimmy Garrigan, one of the pilots, said the ship got beyond control after it consumed all its gasoline and that he and his companions decided to desert it. All three floated to safety one mile from here.

The ship was demolished.

Headed for Buenos Aires.

The ship left Roosevelt Field, New York, yesterday on a refuelling nonstop flight to Buenos Aires.

Bostwick is a village about sixty-two miles east of Atlanta.

Carrigan was accompanied by Garland Reed, another pilot, and Randy Enslow, a pilot and radio operator.

Help reached the flyers soon after they landed. Their ship ploughed into the ground about a mile west of Bostwick.

The men had planned to reach Buenos Aires in four days, with Panama, Lima, and Mendoza among the refuelling points along their 9,000-mile route.

The ship had 125 gallons of gasoline in its tank when it left Roosevelt Field, making a total of 550 gallons taken on the hop to Havana, another scheduled refuelling point.

MANITOBA CROP OUTLOOK BRIGHT

Wheat Fields Are Headed And Only Need Good Weather.

PLENTY OF RAIN.

WINNIPEG, Man., July 16.—(CP)—Manitoba's present crop outlook is described as "very encouraging" in a report issued today by the Provincial Department of Agriculture.

Wheat fields are headed, although heads are not long, and are of a good appearance, how well they will fill depends on the weather, the report adds.

Although rainfall has taken the form of local showers rather than being general in character, they have been more evenly distributed than in most years and today there are neither any very wet nor very dry areas. Hail entailed only local losses and conditions for re-growth in damaged districts are said to be very good.

No Rust Alarm

A few correspondents report traces of rust, the crop summary continues, but there is no ground for alarm. Rust development depends entirely on the weather from now until harvest. Present prospect is that the crop will be about medium as to date of ripening and well up to average in quantity of straw, it is said.

The corn, backward until lately, is now growing fast. Potato prospects are good except for the fact potato bugs are numerous, sweet clover growth has been good, hay outlook is fair to good, animals are doing well and pastures are good, the summary concludes.

Paris has a new vogue for gorgeous butterflies realistically embroidered on glove cuffs.

HOME OIL WEAK ON MINING MART

Trading Remains Light Through out Season Of Mining Exchange.

AJAX OIL GAINS SIX.

TORONTO, Ont., July 16.—(C.P.)—Weakness in HomeOil was the outstanding feature on the Mining Market during the early period to-day, the price dropping under heavy selling pressure to a loss of $3.50 and standing at midday at $3.60, 50 below last night's close. Though nothing official was available at the time of writing, it is expected the softness is connected with the fact no announcement has been made regarding the dividend which is due.

Other changes on the board were relatively unimportant, and trading remained light throughout. Ajax Oil gained 6 to $1.91 and Acme a point to 44, but Calmont was off 8 to $1.05 and Nordon was just holding at $1.03.

Hudson Bay was a comparatively strong member, repeating yesterday's firmness and gaining another 40 to $8.10. International nickel eased a quarter to $25.

Vipond recovered a portion of its recent recession, selling up to $1.29, 4 above last night's close. Columario, following reports of good assays at the property, was up 10 to 65.

Teck Hughes dropped 5 to $6.55, however, and Granada and Howey were down a few points each. Lower-priced base metals were only lightly traded, Sudbury Basin and Amulet sustaining minor losses.

ARUMENT ENDS WITH STABBING

Westminster Township Man Charged With Wounding Neighbor Woman.

LIES IN HOSPITAL.

LONDON, Ont., July 16. — F. R. Steele, resident of Westminster township, will face charges of assault, doing actual bodily harm and carrying concealed weapons, when he appears in police court to-day. The charges were preferred by police following an altercation at his home last evening which resulted in Mrs. Earl Mackenzie, a neighbor, receiving knife wounds in the back. Hospital authorities stated to-day her condition was serious.

According to the police Mrs. Steele, who is employed in this city during the day, returned home yesterday to find Mrs. Mackenzie and Steele in the house together. Her husband, Mrs. Steele alleged, flourished a revolver and Mrs. Mackenzie attacked her, using her fists and feet. Becoming frightened Mrs. Steele claims she picked up a knife from a table to defend herself and during the melee Mrs. Mackenzie was stabbed.

Police say no charge has been preferred against Mrs. Steele pending the outcome of Mrs. Mackenzie's injuries. The latter is under police guard at the hospital.

F. A. RALPH HEADS IMPERIAL BANK

President Of Toronto Board Of Of Trade Succeeds Late Peleg Howland.

DIRECTOR 11 YEARS.

TORONTO, July 16. (C.P.)—Frank Augustus Rolph of this city is the new president of the Imperial Bank of Canada, succeeding the late Peleg Howland, it is announced, following a meeting of the Board of Directors, at the head office this morning.

Sir James Wood, vice-president of the bank, requested in view of his advancing years, and his desire not to assume added responsibilities, that his name should not be considered for president. He will continue, however, to fill the office of vice-president.

Mr. Rolph is well known as President of the Board of Trade of the City of Toronto, former President of the Canadian Golf Association. At president he is general manager and treasurer of Rolph, Clark and Stone, Ltd., lithographers. He is also a director of the North American Life Assurance Company, and many other firms. He served with the Canadian war mission at Washington, and with the Queen' Own Rifles.

Mr. Rolph has been a director of the Imperial Bank since 1919.

CUBA TURNS TO CANADA MUCH OF U. S. TRADE

LONDON, Ont., July 16.—(CP) — Cuba, resentful of new United States tariff on sugar, is turning to Canada for goods it formerly bought from the United States, according to James Cormack, Canadian Trade Commissioner to Cuba, who is here on a visit.

Mr. Cormack cited figures to show the falling of Cuban-American trade in the last three years. During that time trade has been slashed by 50 per cent. Two important items mentiond are butter and eggs, which are now beginning to go into Cuba from Cannada.

MRS. WM. HARPER IS 92 YEARS OLD

Aged Couple Will Celebrate Diamond Wedding In 1931.

BORN IN LOWER CANADA.

Quietly, with her husband in their home at 196 London Street, Mrs. William Harper is observing her 92nd birthday to-day. A year from Friday week, July 25, Mr. and Mrs. Harper will celebrate their diamond wedding anniversary.

On July 16, 1838, Mrs. Harper was born, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Wilson, in Stoxton, Lower Canada. She was the second youngest sister of a family of 4 boys and 5 girls, of whom the oldest sister had been born in London, England. Nine years previously her father and mother had come out from England, making the crossing by sailing vessel in not less than three months.

Thomas Wilson, her father, came to this section of what was then Upper Canada, as an overseer of public works under the Colonial Government, and built the first lock in Peterborough. Mrs. Wilson remembers distinctly the trip down from Fenelon Falls where her father had constructed the first slide. He subsequently built for himself and his family a little white cottage in Lakefield on the site of the present C.N.R. Station there. There were Indian camps aplenty in those days, Mrs. Wilson remembers, and opportunity enough for a child to get lost among them, as she found out to her sorrow.

All Been Long Lived.

With the exception of her father, Mrs. Harpers people have all been long lived, although she has to-day reached the greatest age of any of them. Her father died when she was 6 years old; her mother lived to be 77, one sister reached the age of 88. To-day Mrs. Harper is the last surviving member of the sons and daughters of Thomas Wilson.

Following brief periods of residence in Dundas, Blandford, and Peterborough — where she was in the millinery business—Mrs. Harper married and went to live in Lakefield, where she stayed for 54 years. Eleven years ago she returned to Peterborough.

Her oldest brother, the late Ned Wilson, was a contractor in this city for many years, as was his son, the late T. J. Wilson. Her husband was born here 85 years ago on the 21st of January last in the first brick house ever erected in the city. This was on Charlotte Street—but Peterborough was only a little village in those days.

Mr. and Mrs. Harper recall when English's Creek, which meanders mildly through the centre of the city to-day, was a river of respectable enough proportions to provide power for two sawmills, a grist mill, and a woollen mill. The Otonabee was more than twice the size it is now, according to Mrs. Harper.

Mr. Harper was formerly in the saddle and hardware business in Lakefield. He thinks the horse will return to supplant the machine on the farm. He and his wife remember when every farmer had his yoke or two of oxen, and often rode to town behind them.

Mr. and Mrs. Harper have been members of the George street church since about 1862.

A news item in the Examiner files for 1921 records Mr. and Mrs. Harper's golden wedding anniversary, noting that one of the features of the festivities then was a four storey wedding cake made by Mrs. Harper from the same recipe used at her marriage in 1871.

CRICKET

LONDON, Eng., July 16 (C. P. Cable).—Batting first in their cricket match against the Players, the Gentlemen to-day made 106 for three wickets before tea time. The game is being played at Lord's. Rain played havoc with matches in other parts of the country. Tea time scores were:

Surrey versus Somerset at the Kennington Ovel—Surrey, 8 runs for no wickets; rain.

Gloucestershire vs. Yorkshire, at Bristol—Yorkshire 152 for 1 wicket (Oldfield 91 not out; Holmes 57).

Glamorganshire vs. Sussex at Pontypridd—No play; rain.

Northamptonshire vs. Essex, at Northants—Northants 64 for 1 wicket.

Worcestershire vs. Leicestershire, at Worcester—No play; rain.

Australians vs. Scotland, at Edinburgh.—Scotland 129 for 3 wickets.

PICK OF CANADA'S SONS GO INTO U. S. BENNETT STATES

No Work Reason For State of Affairs Three River's Audience Told.

QUEBEC TOUR ENDED.

Conscription of Canadians If War Starts in India, a False Cry.

MONTREAL, Que., July 16 (C.P.)—Hon. R. B. Bennett last night closed a tour of Quebec which has taken him from east to west in the province. He spoke in the principal cities, such as Quebec, Sherbrooke, and Three Rivers, and half a dozen smaller places, notably in the eastern townships. Mr. Bennett addressed a gathering in Montreal on his way to the Maritime Provinces. Yesterday the Conservative chieftain spoke at Three Rivers. Dealing with the employment situation, Mr. Bennett said:: "Do you believe in a fair deal, and even chance for Canadians? Do you believe Canadians should have a chance to work on the raw materials of this country in Canada? Do you believe Canadian industry should have the opportunity to supply the wants of Canadian consumers? If you do, vote for us. But if you believe our boys and girls should grow up to manhood and womanhood estate and then have to go to the United States to find jobs, vote for the Liberals. If you want to give work to Japan, Checho-Slovakia or some other country in place of Canada, vote for the Liberals."

Pick of Sons Leave.

Mr. Bennett quoted Premier Taschereau as saying at Queen's University that if the number who had left Canada were known it would cause a surprise. Mr. Bennett said one million and a quarter Canadians had left this country since the advent of the King Government into office. "And," said Mr. Bennett, "they were the pick of our sons and daughters. Why did they not stay here?

"Because there was no work."

The Conservative leader referred to claims that if the Conservatives were returned to power and war broke out in India, Canadian youths would be conscripted and sent there. He said such claims were "false cries."

Mr. Bennett was surrounded on the platform by the Conservative candidates in the nearby constituencies of Three Rivers and St. Maurice, Yamaska, Nicolet, Drummond, Arthabaska and Champlain. To-day Mr. Bennett will speak at Perth and Renfrew.

LT. BURKE LEADS

brightened up for the opening of the 1930 King's Prize Competition over the Bisley ranges almost one thousand marksmen—960 to be exact—entered the first stage. Fifteen of the entrants were former winners of this prize, the highest award for marksmanship in the British Empire.

Among the Canadian entrants were two former King's Prize winners: Lieut. Desmond T. Burke of Ottawa, 1924, and Company Segt.-Major W. A. Hawkins of Toronto, 1913. Canada had won this shoot on three former occasions, with Private Hayhurst, 1895, Private J. Perry, 1904, and Private W. J. Clifford, 1911.

Canadians Well Up

Five competitors had perfect scores of 35 at the first range, 600 yards. The Canadians as a team were fairly well up, however. Lieut. Desmond Burke of Ottawa scored 33. Company Sergeant-Major Hawkins of Toronto slipped back a little with 31.

Besides Burke, 33 was marked up by Captain W. G. Holland of Victoria; Company Sgt. Major F. Jamieson of Toronto; Sgt. Major W. H. Ruffell of Victoria, and Quartermaster-Sgt. C. Moore of St. John, who is not a member of the Bisley team.

Scores of 32 were recorded by Sgt. C. W. Foam of Montreal, Company Sgt. Major H. A. Timbrell of Toronto and Lieut. G. A. Molesey of Winnipeg, who is not a member of the Canadian team.

Going to the 500 yard range Lieut. Desmond Burke kept in front of all Canadians with a good 34 for a two-thirds total of 67 out of a possible 70. Lieut. Bowen of Edmonton, Company Sgt. Major Emslie and Capt. J. E. Foremon also had 34's at this distance. Sgt. J. H. Regan of Victoria scored 33.

In a recent rifle shoot at Ham, England, 14-year-old Joan Burley scored 192 out of a possible 200.

GROUNDS IMPROVEMENTS.

MADOC, July 16 (Examiner Correspondence)—Through the untiring efforts of Sam Rollins and other officials of Madoc Agricultural Fair, a new building is being erected on the Fair Grounds and will be used for exhibiting cheese, roots, grain and other farm products, and will do much to lighten the congestion so noticeable for the last few years in the main building.

Many improvements have also been made to the main building. A new hardwood floor has been laid and the removal of cheese and grain exhibits will make a change in the display of ladies' fancy work and other exhibits, especially the painting, floral and children's school exhibits.

Other improvements are planned for the near future and all things point to a bigger and better fair for 1930.

THE SCOUT JAMBOREE AT ARROWE PARK.

"Canada's Scouts at the World's Jamboree, 1929: The report to His Excellency Viscount Willingdon, G.C.S.I., G.C.M.G., G.C.I.E., G.B.E., Chief Scout for Canada." That is the contents of the frontispiece of a splendid volume received a few days ago by District Commissioner John T. Hornsby, and issued by the Dominion Jamboree Committee of the Boy Scouts' Association.

Following the title page are remarkable likenesses of Viscount Willingdon and the beloved Daddy of Scouting, Lord Robert Baden-Powell of Gilwell, K.C.B., K.C.V.O., LL.D., etc., Chief Scout of all the World.

The volume naturally tells of the place occupied by Canadian Scouts in the Jamboree, from the time of the departure from Ottawa, where they were reviewed by Viscount Willingdon and W. L. Mackenzie King, until the return of the contingent—July 18 to September 1. The letter of the Governor-General to the Scouts selected for the occasion occupies a prominent place in the front of the booklet, together with the farewell epistle by Lord Baden-Powell on the departure of the Scouts to their homeland.

The group undertaking the visit are shown on the steps of Parliament Buildings, Ottawa; and on the opposite page are the names of the Dominion Jamboree Committee—eight leading enthusiasts of the Commonwealth.

Excellent Photographs.

The two succeeding pages are of greatest interest to the "boys who went"—the names of the staff and contingents, with the names of the troops and patrols to which they were attached. In this list is the name of King Scout R. J. Groves, of Lindsay, who represented this district (Byng Troop, Moose Patrol).

Several groups of Scouts have a place on the roster, and are excellent examples of photography and printing.

Summary of Events and Dates.

It might be interesting to summarize the movements of the Scouts during the period of the events incident to the great gathering at Birkenhead:

Day in Glasgow, August 22.
Sail for home, August 23.
Arrived in Quebec, August 31.
Debark and demobilize at Montreal, September 1.

On page 15 of the publication will be found the report of the committee to the Chief Scout of Canada, with the composition of the contingent of 153 Scouts and 32 leaders forming the Canadian aggregation.

Many snapshots are reproduced of the varied and interesting activities during and prior to the Jamboree; basis and selection of Scouts; insurance was not overlooked, each of the boys being insured to the extent of $1,000 with Lloyd's; in addition, hospitalm medical and similar expenses were looked after by a private donation; mobilization, daily program, training, courts of honor, church parade and bus ride, reviews, comments on Ottawa Camp, inspection, the voyage across, the arrival, the layout of the Arrowe Park, popularity of Canadian displays, and camp in operation, the uniforms, the great march past, the Prince of Wales in camp, thanksgiving services, presentation of Totem Poles by the Chief Scout, excursions, banquets, presentations to B.-P., Canada gets a cenotaph flag, Farewell Wheel of Friendship, special mention of committee and officials, post-jamboree tour to places of interest, the voyage home, and finally our own Chief Scout's part—with many other activities, and an excellent and interesting account of the various departments covered, all compiled by Chairman Lt.-Col. H. W. Snow, C.M.G., D.S.O.—a report so clear and concise as to give one the idea of having witnessed the Jamboree proceedings.

Premier's and King George's Message.

The message of W. L. Mackenzie King to the Scouts at Ottawa occupies page 54—that of King George at the Jamboree holds the centre of page 55. On page 58 the Prince of Wales' address is captioned: "Stick to Your Scouting — Play the Game," was one of the highlights of the addresses; and the Scouts gave their hero a tremendous ovation.

The Duke of Connaught's welcome was typical of his love for Scouts. Concluding a great address he said: "If I ask myself the question, 'What does the future hold for our countries and for humanity?' I read in your faces the hope and promise of a better world, and in the light of your eyes is the dawn of a better day."

Addresses were also given on the special occasions by the Archbishop of Canterbury, Cardinal Bourne, Jack Hayes, M.P., and the closing words of the Chief Scout, his farewell to the "ambassadors of peace and goodwill." The words of all speakers were laden with hope, faith, and confidence in this great gathering as an omen of world betterment and goodwill among the nations,—whose Scout representatives mingled with each other to a splendid degree of good fellowship.

The Jmaboree premiere film showing also came in for favorable comment by the Governor-General Viscount Willingdon.

The report is in truth a souvenir of the highest type and worth retaining as a record of the Great Scout Jamboree of 1929.

TIDE IS ROLLING UP MORE STRONGLY AGAINST THE KING GOVERNMENT

Wave of Sentiment Toward Mr. Bennett Appears to Have Developed Rapidly and is Steadily Gaining Momentum and Volume, Declares Financial Times, Well-Known Financial Paper

The Ottawa bureau of the Financial Times, one of Canada's leading financial publications, predicts the defeat of the King Government. That prediction and the reasons for it are worth reading. The Times says:

Indications are increasing that a tide has set in and is rolling up strongly against the Government. Even Liberal politicians who are not slackening their efforts on behalf of the party admit this. There are two distinct reasons for this development: First, the economic conditions obtaining in the country, and second, the manner in which Mr. King and Mr. Bennett respectively approach these conditions and propose to deal with them.

During the first month of the campaign there were scarcely any signs of a trend of popular sentiment either way. Among politicians and observers in the Capital and elsewhere apprehension was entertained that the election would result in a stalemate, with the independent groups holding the balance of power and controlling Parliament, as they did prior to 1926. About the end of June, however, the commencement of a wave of sentiment toward Mr. Bennett became discernible. It synchronized with, if it was not signaled by, the Conservative Leader's great speech and remarkable reception in Montreal. Since then it appears to have developed rapidly and to be steadily gaining momentum and volume.

One finds evidence of it practically everywhere. Liberals who were confident at the commencement of the campaign, depending on the budget and on the hitherto reliable oratory of the Prime Minister to bring another victory to their cause, are frankly acknowledging that the outlook has changed. They admit that business conditions and unemployment are operating against them. The budget is still being held up as the great issue of the campaign, but even its authors have found themselves unable to indicate how it is affecting or is likely to affect these conditions.

NO EVIDENCE OF WIDER MARKET.

Mr. Dunning declares that he framed the budget primarily with a view to the marketing of Canadian wheat, but there is nothing in it to ensure the wider opening of the British market. Evidently he assumed that the enlargements in the British preference would meet with a sentimental response in the Old Country, but it has not been forthcoming. The tariff provisions of the budget have been in operation two and a half months, and they have not affected the British demand for Canadian wheat, as the shipments from the Port of Montreal since the opening of navigation clearly show. Mr. Dunning evidently overlooked the well established fact that Great Britain does not do business on sentiment, even with her blood relations.

Mr. King's performance in the campaign has also been a disappointment even to his most loyal admirers. It is common comment that he is not putting up anything like such a fight as carried him to victory against heavy odds in 1926 and as prevented the Conservatives from securing a clear majority in 1925. Mr. King's difficulty is that he has been on the defensive from the outset and has been unable to escape from that position. He has found it impossible to get away from the issues presented by Mr. Bennett. The Prime Minister has never been on the defensive before in any of his campaigns and he obviously is not at his best in that situation.

UNEMPLOYMENT A FACTOR.

The Prime Minister first approached general economic conditions and unemployment in particular by denying that they were serious or required special consideration. He deprecated Mr. Bennett's discussing them, suggesting that somehow this was calculated to make them worse. Then he got around to admitting that something should be done and to offering a conference of "unemployment experts" as the remedy. Going west and evidently finding conditions more serious than he had supposed, he progressed to the length of promising special financial assistance to the Provinces if they would ask for it.

The general public, and particularly the business community and those affected by prevailing conditions, seem to have become impressed by the contrast between this manner of dealing with the questions with which they are most concerned and the manner in which Mr. Bennett deals with them. At any rate, there is widespread comment on the fact that Mr. Bennett has faced these questions squarely and has stated his attitude and his proposals definitely and distinctly and without qualification. His first concern is for unemployment, and he does not propose to trifle with this through the medium of conferences. He has given an undertaking that if he heads a new administration he will call a special session of Parliament immediately after the election to take emergency action for the relief of unemployment. He has declared that he will commence the construction of an all-Canadian transcontinental highway as one means of providing work.

As a means of providing permanent prosperity for Canada, Mr. Bennett has solemnly committed himself to enact fiscal legislation at the first session of Parliament designed to ensure the production in this country of a large part of the six hundred million dollar volume of manufactured goods annually imported from the United States. On top of this, he has pronounced against British preferences which secure no benefit to Canada. He has asserted that preferences must be reciprocal. He is not trusting to sentiment to bring response to gestures of good-will from this country to the other parts of the Empire. It is well known that devotion to the British Empire has characterized Mr. Bennett's career, and for that reason, perhaps, his "Canada First" attitude is making all the stronger impression, especially in the business and industrial community.

LITTLE WOULD BE ACCOMPLISHED.

Even under Mr. King's extended program, little would be accomplished for the relief of unemployment in time to do much good. He would call conference of "experts" and set it to work. Then he and his favorite Ministers would proceed to the London conferences—representation at which he conceives to be the second most important issue of the election. Parliament would meet, probably toward the end of February, and during the course of the session he would have opportunity of proposing legislation to implement the advice of his unemployment conference, and also of asking Parliament to vote special financial aid to the Provinces. Thus, his measures of relief would be in effect along toward spring, when the greatest severity in the unemployment situation may be expected to have passed. Mr. Bennett, on the other hand, proposes to deal with it in an emergency way before he has done anything else.

On the whole, therefore, business depression and unemployment, coupled with Mr. Bennett's definite assurance of certain and immediate action for emergency and permanent relief and the failure of the Government to meet the situation seriously, may be said to be responsible for the turning of the tide in favor of the Conservative Leader. With this tide developing, fear of a stalemate is passing, at Ottawa at any rate.

West Peterboro will Vote Conservative and Vote to Give Canada a Chance.

LAKEFIELD LODGES GO TO HAVELOCK

Glorious Twelfth Celebrated in Railroad Town by Many Orangemen From District.

LAKEFIELD, July 16 (Examiner Correspondence)—On Saturday the members of Beresford L.O.L. No 122, the Northern Light L.O.B.A. No 380, the Juvenile Orange Lodge went to Havelock to celebrate the anniversary of the Battle of Boyne.

Headed by the Citizens' Band the combined lodges marched from the Lodge room to the centopath where they formed a hollow square and placed a handsome wreath on the Memorial while the band played, "Abide with Me." The ceremony was dignified and very impressive and as soon as it was concluded the procession re-formed and proceeded up Bridge street to Albert street, east on Albert street to Regent street going north west to Queen street and thence back to the town hall where they disbanded, going to Havelock by motor.

The ladies wore white dresses and hats and orange sashes, the Juveniles were also in white with blue and gold sashes while the members of Beresford Lodge wore navy blue suits, elaborate sashes and the traditional silk hat.

A mechanical-construction strike in the Ghent district of Belgium recently threw 7,000 men out of work.

OBITUARY

MRS. ELIZA JANE HILL.

YOUNG'S POINT, July 16 (Examiner Correspondence).—There passed away on Thursday morning, July 10, in her 77th year, one of Burleigh's well-known residents in the person of Eliza Jane Dawkins, wife of the late Thomas Hill. Mrs. Hill was born in the village of Warsaw, and lived there until her marriage, when she and her husband paddled up Deer Bay Creek and built their home there, where they both lived all their lives.

Mr. and Mrs. Hill were two of the pioneers of Burleigh Township, and had lived through many hardships and privations to raise their large family of four sons and seven daughters, namely: Charles and James, who died some years ago; John and Richard, who live on the homestead; Mrs. Robert Freeburn and Mrs. Arthur Duggan of Young's Point; Mrs. Ireland of Deer Bay; Mrs. J. Thompson of Mount Julien; Mrs. W. Lytle of Deer Bay; Mrs. Stinson of Peterborough, and Mrs. W. Lytle of Toronto.

Mr. Thos. Hill predeceased his wife seven years ago. He was a great hunter, trapper and fisherman, and many the thrilling story he could tell of his experience in the backwoods.

The funeral of the late Mrs. Hill, which was in charge of Rev. Mr. Walker of Lakehurst at the house and the Rev. W. J. Creighton of Lakefield at the graveside, was very largely attended. Interment was at the Hillside Cemetery, Lakefield.

Besides her family, Mrs. Hill leaves to mourn her loss, one brother, George Dawkins of Belleville and three sisters: Mrs. John Millage, Mrs. Ed. Galvin and Mrs. G. A. Welbourn, all of Lakefield.

The pall-bearers were all old neighbors of the deceased, namely: William Windsor, Arthur Bolton, M. Traynor, Mr. Gillespie, Joseph Johnston and Thomas Gordon.

The floral tributes sent in love and remembrance were many and very beautiful, showing the respect held for the late Mrs. Hill.

SHOWER IS HELD FOR CHURCH GIFTS

Home of Alban Sisson, Lifford Line, is Scene of Happy Gathering.

LIFFORD LINE, July 16 (Examiner Correspondence)—The doors of the hospitable home of Mr. and Mrs. Alban Sisson were again thrown open on Thursday evening when a large number of those interested in St. Mary's Church gathered to tender a miscellaneous shower.

It was decided that in view of the coming garden party a number of essentials must be added to the church property and the idea of a shower suggested a novel and interesting means of providing them.

Among the gifts received were articles of china including cream pitchers, sugar bowls, pepper and salt shakers, a splendid supply of linen chiefly tea towels were prominent contributions.

Dainty refreshments were served by the ladies and a social time was enjoyed. Among those present were: Mrs. Cephas Staples and Lawrence Staples, Doris Tims, Thomas Mulligan and sisters, Mr. and Mrs. George Peters and Aileen, Mr. and Mrs. Lang, Mr. and Mrs. Richard Vance, Miss May McGill and Bruce, all of Lifford Line, as well as several from the Eighth Line and a few from Bethany.

OUR CHILDREN

By Angelo Patri

GOING VISITING.

"John, Cousin Emily has invited Ruth to go to her for a two weeks' visit this vacation. What do you say?"

Father looked at Ruth sitting so tensely on the edge of her chair, eyes pleading, lips tightly locked to prevent any word of appeal from escaping. Ruth had been trained to control her impulses. Mother was strict, but kind and loving.

"Well, I vote she goes. The farm is a grand place to spend a vacation what with the cows and the horses and the chickens and the dogs and the creek and the boat—"

"Oh, you darling daddy," and Ruth hurled herself at her father's breast.

"Mother, can I go? Can I?"

"Of course, when father says so."

Later, when Ruth was not by mother said, "She is so glad to go away, John. I didn't think she would be glad to leave us. It makes me feel as if she didn't—as if I hadn't—"

"Feel nothing. The child likes to go visiting. Didn't you go visiting when you were a little girl? I know we did when we were Ruth's age. Every summer and fall, families swapped children and we had a hilarious time, two in a bed, sometimes four. When we went home we took the others back with us and had another visiting time.

"We learned a lot too. We had to get used to different things, different people, different ways of doing things, without letting on they were different to us. I remember the first time I was given an egg to eat out of the shell. In our house mother turned them into a tumbler and gave us the spoon to eat them with. Aunt Molly gave us the egg standing up in its shell and we had to open it and season it for ourselves.

"The first time I got egg all over myself and the tablecloth, but the next time I was ready. I could take the top off an egg as neatly as the next one. I stole some out of the nests and practised down behind the henhouse.

"The first time I ever saw a faucet was on a visit and I was scared almost to death when I managed to turn the water on and found I didn't know how to shut it off. Oh, we learned lots. We practised our company manners. You know when a child goes visiting he puts into practice all the manners, all the righteousness you have been dinning into his ears for the past year or so. You'd be surprised to see how good children are when they go visiting. Fine chance to try themselves out on a new audience and win praise. People are always ready to applaud the other family's children. Yes, I think Ruth is glad to go and I'm jolly certain she will be gladder to come back."

All of which was quite true. Going a-visiting is a very fine experience for children. The more independent they can be about the preparation and the traveling, the better. A visit can be a whole term's worth of education if you head it the right way.

That Body of Yours

MAKING AN UNPOPULAR WORD POPULAR.

One of the words that is really not very popular is 'exercise'. If you speak of play of some kind—golf, baseball, tennis—there may be a pleasurable thrill go through your brain and body, but exercise to many individuals simply mean work.

And yet the Creator of that body of yours had in mind that if you were to be happy, and healthy, you must keep the body active.

To that end therefore, the entire covering of your body was made of muscles, some places inches thick; in fact the biggest and heaviest part of your body is muscle.

It wasn't put there as a covering, but as a means of moving your bones, so that you could walk, run, throw, lift, and leap.

Did you ever realize what actually happens when you take some vigorous exercise or do some real work.

In your liver is stored up a considerable amount of sugar. When you exercise or work this sugar is given immediately to the blood for use, and the liver immediately gets busy in storing up more sugar for future needs. Think then of the activity created in your liver—the biggest organ in the body—when you exercise. No chance for sluggishness if it must immediately store up more sugar.

And the liver's filtering apparatus must keep busy in filtering more wastes from the extra blood passing through.

Then all the extra heat created by the exercise must be gotten rid of by the body, and the skin must do this job. Think of how active the skin becomes as it opens its pores and lets the heat and moisture get away from the body.

Think of what exercise means to the working of the heart, as it increases the number and force of its beats, so that it is doing many times the amount of work that it does when you are at rest.

Similarly with the lungs, as they open wide their little tubes to carry the extra air in to purify the used blood.

Think of the spleen, which immediately pours out a large number of blood corpuscles to be used by the exercise and then proceeds at once to make and store more for further need.

Your common sense tells you that Nature intended you to take exercise so as to keep heart, lungs, liver, skin, spleen, intestine, all the tissues in fact, active and healthy.

So think of exercise as a means to health and happiness.

Play some game if you can, take brisk walks, but in any case do some work or exercise every day.

PARISIAN FOIBLES

Lelong makes this afternoon ensemble in black broadcloth and trims it with real ermine. The model can be reproduced successfully in wool crepe trimmed with summer ermine

BROADCLOTH TRIMMED WITH ERMINE.

This afternoon ensemble is black, always so beloved by the women of Paris who season after season, return to it as the most reliable, practical and oftentimes smartest in the whole range of colors. But the material is broadcloth, which changes it from the usual model in crepe de chine, crepe satin or crepe marocain, and trimmed with real ermine, which gives it a further rarity. For those however, who want to reproduce the model without paying for ermine, the much cheaper shaved rabbit or 'summer ermine' is used.

Just Between Us Women

A daily chat with Examiner neighbors conducted by Anne Wilcox

THERE IS A subject that is much discussed in many circles in Peterborough and that is whether children of the poor or those who are in very moderate circumstances are better off in many ways than those of the rich, or of parents who are in affluent circumstances.

• • • • • • •

What is your opinion? It has been so long since many of you wrote and gave your opinion on any of the subjects that I discuss, I feel I must remind you again.

• • • • • • •

Neither the parents nor the children, according to some, fully appreciate just what these advantages are, but they exist most decidedly.

• • • • • • •

They can be had by the children of wealthy parents, but in most cases they do not have them. Since the vast majority of families are in modest financial circumstances, it may be interesting to know what the advantages are that accrue to their children—advantages that money cannot buy.

• • • • • • •

One great advantage the children have is that while not neglected they are left sufficiently alone to develop their own individualities.

• • • • • • •

They are not hedged in by a barbed wire fence of "don'ts" and "do's". They learn by experience as well as by precepts. They are not over-supervised.

• • • • • • •

Parents have not the time to notice every smallest fault in each child. They learn to guide their children, not to force them into special avenues of rectitude.

• • • • • • •

In this age there is a tendency where there is time and money, for parents to be over watchful of their children, and to note what they do under varying conditions and circumstances.

• • • • • • •

If their reactions are not in accord with whatever theory of child study the parents are interested in, the children are considered either marvellously endowed with intelligence or ability, or else they are thought to be below normal.

• • • • • • •

If the theories themselves were absolutely correct and without flaw, the judgments might be right. Unfortunately or perhaps fortunately theories are continually undergoing changes.

• • • • • • •

To gauge a child's mentality or moral stamina by a faulty theory or method is unhealthy for the child. Also if he feels himself constantly under supervision he gets super-conscious, and does not act normally.

• • • • • • •

He is put at a disadvantage. If he were let alone he would get his poise. The child of less well-to-do parents avoids those harassments. He is given a normal and sufficient amount of care but not intensive study.

• • • • • • •

In another group of wealthy families, children receive little parental care, which is just the reverse. A child who belongs to the family of average means, however, has the personal upbringing of mother and father.

• • • • • • •

He is not relegated to the care of servants or nurses. It is amazing how little some children of wealthy parents see of their father or mother. A few hours a day may be all.

• • • • • • •

Money may be plentifully given to them or spent on them, but companionship is lacking. These parents are too busy to really know their children The necessity of looking after them is gone.

• • • • • • •

The blessed privilege of friendship and understanding is missed. By the loving personal care of one's own children, there gradually develops mutual understanding. Parents and children, then, are alike.

• • • • • • •

But yet there are parents who have means and who put homelife above every other social obligation.

• • • • • • •

In these homes where parents allow their children to develop naturally and become their individual selves, under fine guidance, a double advantage prevails.

THE LINDSAY BOAT TRIP

(By Frank Russell.)

The first water trip to Lindsay via the Stoney Lake and returning by the Canadian National Railway, was held on Monday. This is a favorite trip for many and one which is run three or four times a season, being very popular when given fair weather, and more specially enjoyed by the older folks.

At 7.30 Standard Time, a good crowd was assembled on the George street wharf anticipating a good trip. Unfortunately, however, the morning was dull and somewhat cool, and had the appearance of remaining dreary all day. In fact a general desire for overcoats which had been left at home was heard and felt.

Making the best of it, the passengers embarked. The wind was decidedly strong and cold, and in the middle of July as it was there was more or less shivering and some even murmured, "I wish I hadn't come."

We made a start and in a few minutes passed through the Lift Lock. It looked gloomy and I could not refrain from thinking of the lines "Abandon hope all ye that enter here" For it did look forbidding. However we all seemed determined to make the best of things and chatted cheerfully and in due course the clouds showed an inclination to lift and by the time we had reached Lakefield the sun was peeping out.

Soon we were enjoying luncheon, and by the time it was finished the sun shone forth warming the passengers up, although the high wind that prevailed was cool.

I found a chair set out for me in a cosy corner of the engine-room, thanks to the thoughtfulness of genial Al. Harris, chief engineer, and soon one of the cooks brought me some coffee which was very acceptable, indeed.

Then the sun seemed to warm up the wind, and we began to speak of it not as a cold wind, but rather as a strong breeze. You see, like the children the adults were all getting happy. Soon we arrived at Young's Point when the ringing of the dinner bell announced the serving of dinner.

We went on and on through the various lakes which are now looking very pretty in the brilliant sunshine, for the country round about was a mass of glorious verdue At last we came to a place named "Hell's Gate," and we were all thankful we were not going through the gate, for the good old Stoney Lake carried us safely past.

In due course we reached Lovesick Lake and as I had always imagined that there must be some old story in connection with such a name, I hunted up my old friend, Mr. Smith, the purser of the boat, and from him I learned the old legend which I am going to briefly relate to you. Once upon a time there was a lovely Indian princess named Manita, who fell in love with an Indian prince of another tribe. The result then was a great deal of jealousy, and the prince was murdered, and Manita was driven to attempt to find peace by throwing herself into the lake, which ever after bore the name it now possesses.

Although there was no orchestra on board there was a piano and we had some music. When we reached Bobcaygeon, it appeared as if the whole population had turned out to welcome us. Bear in mind, dear reader, it was the opening trip of the season. After a while we entered the Scugog River to begin our ten mile steam up to Lindsay. We strolled up their fine streets from the pier to the railway station and there found a special train in readiness to carry us back to Peterborough, where we arrived at 8 p.m. Standard time.

Notwithstanding the apparently adverse weather conditions when we started, we thoroughly enjoyed ourselves at the end of the trip. This trip will be run again next Monday, and if you can manage to go, by all means take advantage of the opportunity.

As usual Captain Scollard was indefatigable in his efforts to please everyone, and was ably assisted by Mr. Holland, Mr. Harris, Harold Mackintosh and Jack Heffernan. Good luck to them all!

AFTERNOON TEA IS SUCCESSFUL AFFAIR

Mrs. C. M. Westmacott Hostess at Function Held in Aid of St. Thomas' Church.

MILLBROOK, July 16 (Examiner Correspondence)—Mrs. C. M. Westmacott, president of the W. A. of St. Thomas' Anglican Church, was hostess for a delightful social occasion on Friday, July 11, at her home, King street, when an afternoon tea was held the proceeds from which added considerably to the Auxiliary funds.

The large rooms were fragrant with summer blossoms beautifully arranged, and a musical program was an attractive feature of the enjoyable event.

Mrs. Westmacott received in the hall, Mrs. J. W. Hilton opening the door to the large number of guests who came and went between the hours of four and six p.m. Mrs. E. Whyte and Miss Annie Armstrong poured tea, and assisting in serving the guests in the room were Mrs. H. R. Scott, Miss Muriel Smith, Miss Marguerite Lang, and Miss Nancy Whyte, the latter a visitor in town from Battle Creek, Michigan.

Among those who contributed to the musical program were Mrs. Manson Cathcart and her sister, Miss Marguerite Lang, who played piano duets; Miss M. L. Collins whose piano solos are always enjoyed, and who was also the accompanist of the afternoon; Mrs. E. G. Britton who gave much pleasure with her mandolin-guitar selections; Rev. P. W. A. Roberts, who gave solo numbers, and also sang in trio selections with Mrs. Britton and Mrs. Scott

Warm personal friends of the hostess motored over from Cobourg and were present for the tea were: Mr. and Mrs. F. W. Hayward, Mrs. Spragge, Miss Grace Boggs, and Mrs. Nevin. Mr. and Mrs. Hayward expect to leave shortly for their home in England after two years' residence in the lakeside town.

The social side of the event was one of its most pleasurable aspects, affording opportunity not only for friends to enjoy conversation together, but also for meeting several visitors in town during the holiday season, and new residents recently moved to the community to make their homes.

Mrs. J. A. Vance, treasurer of the W. A., had a share in greeting the guests in the hall, and Miss Rose Macnamara assisted the hostess in looking after the service and entertainment of the many who enjoyed the well-known hospitality of Mrs. Westmacott's comfortable home.

WOMEN WOUNDED IN BANK ROBBERY

Five Minnesota Bandits Use Machine Gun in Daring Raid.

GET $50,000.

WILLMAR, Minn., July 16.—Five machine gun bandits, moving swiftly in a well planned raid, descended on the Bank of Wilmar yesterday, shot up the town in a fashion reminiscent of the James gang, wounded two women, one probably fatally, and escaped with $50,000, after exchanging shots with citizens.

Although it was estimated that more than 100 shots were fired by the bandits, the only casualties were the two women—mother and daughter—who were shot down in the final burst of firing as the robbers sped out of town.

Despite the close watch kept on the roads no trace of the bandits had been found last night.

The Rev. Harton took for this topic the subject, "Glory in the Gloom," which proved to be very inspiring and helpful to Sunday School workers. The address was presented especially to the younger Sunday School members and the teachers.

During the service special music was rendered by the choir assisted by a quartette which were much enjoyed.

C.G.E. WIN NINTH STRAIGHT E.P.L. VICTORY

DEFEAT COGS 5-4

Utronki and Frost Play Major Roles in Final Frame Rally.

OVERCOME EARLY LEAD.

Garden Men in Both Outfits Turn in Some Smart Fielding Work.

Staging a batting foray in the final innings that netted them four consecutive hits and two golden runs, Art Primeau's C.G.E. nine squeezed out a 5 to 4 victory over the Cognawagas at Exhibition Park last evening.

Two pinch hitters, Utronki with a double and Frost with a smart single, played major roles in the seventh-inning win. Things happened quickly after Rose had opened up the Electrics' last chance with a single. Utronki followed with a double. H. Hollingsworth singled, and Rose crossed with the tying run. Frost rapped a single into right field scoring Utronki and the ninth straight win was nestled in the C.G.E. bat bag.

Up until that time the winners had been trailing and everything pointed as though the Cogs were going to carry the day. At the end of the third the Cogs were breezing along having amassed four runs to the C.G.E.'s one. Vannest, twirling for the Cogs, was showing great form and had the batters saying "uncle." The whole Cog outfit was hitting along on high and their many supporters were in great glee.

Cop Two in Fourth.

In the fourth after he had tossed out the first two batters at first, Vannest eased off and immediately he was in difficulties. Before the third man was retired, he had walked two and had been touched for two hits, which brought two runs and placed the C.G.E. back on fighting terms. The Cogs failed to add to their total in the following frames and in the seventh the C.G.E. broke loose with results so disastrous to Bill Cripps' team's cause.

Jack Crary hurled for the winners. Starting off, the Cogs were reaching for his wide balls and lacing them for sound hits. His curve gathered more break as the game progressed and during the last four innings he eased along nicely. He whiffed eight batters and walked but one.

New Infield Berth.

The C.G.E. infield was twisted around, Rose and H. Hollingsworth exchanging berths at second and short and "Shiner" Johnston covering the initial sack.

Both outfits turned in smart fielding work, Harvey Smith's catch of Cripps' hard smack into left field being perhaps the tidbit of the evening's entertainment.

Cogs opened up in the second innings to get their first run. Rooke, first up, singled behind second and stole that bag. He scored on Starr's rap into left field. Starr advanced to second Williams' grounder to Rose, but Wilson and Cripps struck out.

In the next frame the Cogs boosted their total to four and would have got more had it not been for a double play. Vannest was walked, and he went to third when H. Hollingsworth let Cuthbertson's rap go through his legs. Billingsley's third strike was dropped by Hatton and he tore for first. Hatton's throw was returned by Johnston in time to get Vannest, who had chanced home on the play. Corbett singled to score Cuthbertson. Rooke followed with a deep triple into left and Corbett crossed the platter. Starr singled, scoring Rooke. Williams rolled to the pitcher.

Hatton Scores First.

The C.G.E. obtained their first run in their half of the third. Hatton singled and stole second. He went to third on Corbett's low throw of Crary's grounder. Rose's liner was taken by Williams. Johnston rolled to second and Hatton scored on the play. H. Hollingsworth walked, but Smith fanned.

In the fourth after Jones and Harmer had rolled to the pitcher, L. Hollingsworth drew four balls and stole second. He scored on Hatton's single. Hatton stole second and came in on Crary's single. Rose walked and Johnston rolled to short.

A double by Starr in the fifth and one by Corbett in the seventh was the most the Cogs could do in the way of offensive in the succeeding innings. In the seventh the C.G.E. came through to win.

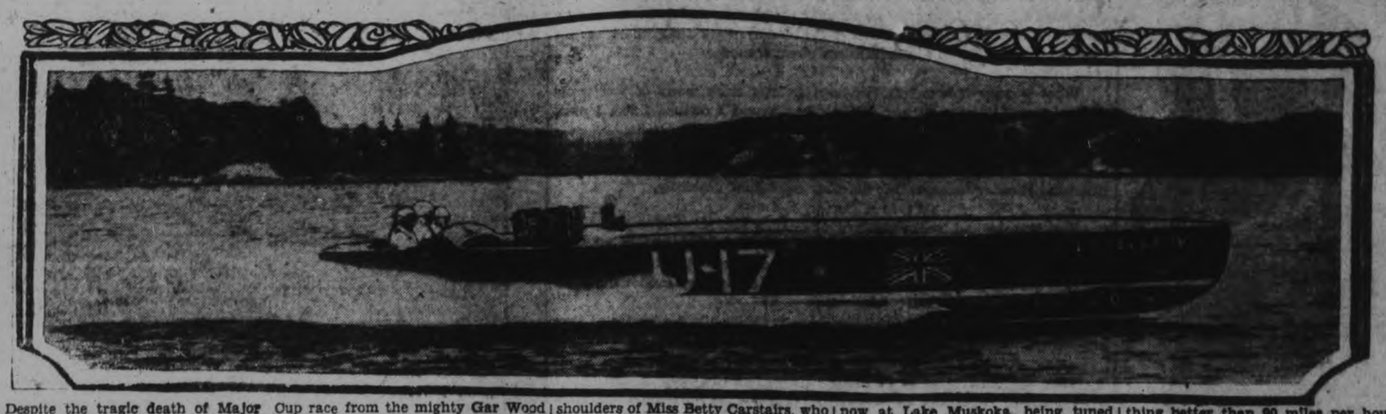
ESTELLE IV. WITH MISS CARSTAIRS AT WHEEL IN MUSKOKA LAKE TESTS



Despite the tragic death of Major Segrave and the wrecking of Miss England I., England now seems to have a better chance than ever before in the history of motorboat racing to win this year's Harmsworth Cup race from the mighty Gar Wood and his fleet Miss America, at Detroit on Labor Day. When the Miss England crashed Major Segrave to his death the burden of the task of winning the cup fell upon the shoulders of Miss Betty Carstairs, who has been racing for the cup for several years. This year she has two boats in the competition—Estelle IV., which was beaten last year, and Estelle V., a new boat. Both boats are now at Lake Muskoka, being tuned up for the big race. Estelle IV., last year's boat, has been lightened and improved. The photograph above shows her on her trial trip, when she was clocked at a rate of something better than 90 miles per hour. This speed is about eighteen miles an hour better than a boat was ever driven before in Canadian waters. Estelle was not extended on this trial.

CONNY SMYTHE'S CONTRACT IS EXTENDED FOR TWO YEARS

Maple Leaf Hockey Club Manager and Coach is Re-engaged.

AT ANNUAL MEETING.

TORONTO, July 16. — The shareholders of the Toronto Maple Leaf Hockey Club met in annual conclave yesterday at the offices of the club. President Edward W Bickle presented his report of the year's activities, concluding with a detailed financial statement which was favorably received. Harmony was the keynote of the gathering, every one present expressing absolute confidence in the directorate and team.

During the address Mr. Bickle pointed to the growth of the attendance figures of the National League games, while Conny Smythe touched upon the team's friendly relations with the amateur authorities of the O.H.A. and the T.A.H.A.

E. W. Bickle, in resigning from the presidency, nominated as his successor W. A. H. MacBrien. The meeting endorsed this resolution, appointing Mr. MacBrien as president for the coming year. Messrs. M. S. Haas, P. G. Campbell, and E. W. Bickle were elected vice-presidents.

After electing the present board of directors to carry on for another season the meeting adjourned and was followed by a meeting of the board of directors.

The directorate passed a resolution expressing their deep sympathy to Mrs. Barker in the sudden death of her husband, Col. W. G. Barker, V.C., D.S.O., M.C.

Mr. Smythe was re-elected as managing director, his contract being extended for a further period of two years. Mr. Smythe has been responsible for the team's gradual improvement in a playing sense, while his business deals have been instrumental in solidifying the club in a financial way. In National League circles Connie's judgment of young players ranks ace-high, the Leafs being considered the best young team in existence.

Brantford Loses To Guelph By 4-1 Count

BRANTFORD, July 16.—The masterly pitching effort of Schafer gave the Guelph Biltmores a 4-1 victory here last night, the Brantford hitters failing to connect when hits meant runs. Schafer was not as well supported as was Sarsfield, but he kept the hits scattered.

In the second, Leslie led off with a three-bagger, but the next three men were disposed of in order. In the eighth Bower led off with a single, but Kovacic hit into a double play to spoil this opportunity. Haas three-bagger followed, but Leslie popped up. In the ninth, two walks were given, the first received from Schafer in the pastime. Force outs at second base turned this danger aside. The Brants got the one run in the first inning, when Bower and Kovacic singled coupled with a poor play in the field on one of the hits. Sarsfield had two unearned runs against him, when Kuzmas toss, after a good pick-up, went to the rails. This should have been the third out.

July Frost Sets Record in London

LONDON, Ont., July 15 (C.P.)—For the first time in history this district has experienced a July frost.

From low lying areas in the outskirts of the city comes reports of tender plants being nipped; one market gardener reported losing several hundred head lettuce plants.

Walford and other points west of the city also reported slight damages.

The temperature in London was 40 degrees, the coldest July night since 1913, and only 5 degrees above the coldest on record.

Crowd Boos As Fernandez Is K'oed in Fifth Round

HURLEY STADIUM, East Hartford, Conn., July 16.—"Bat" Battalino, featherweight champion, successfully defended his title last night by knocking out Ignacio Fernandez, rugged Filipino, in the fifth round of a 15-round contest. The crowd booed lustily and roared "fake" as the brown-skinned warrior, never before knocked out, took the count of 10 in the fifth after going down six times in the second.

WATSON CLARK HOLDS PIRATES TO SINGLE HIT

Result Disproves Belief Pitching Unimportant Factor in Winning Ball Games.

14-8 WIN FOR REDS.

Marberry Holds Tigers to Five Hits and Senators Blank Detroit 3-0.

In these days of terrific clouting, there has been a tendency among the fans to think that pitching has become a relatively unimportant factor in winning ball games, the records of some of the major league clubs, however, go a long way toward disproving this belief.

The hitting can be checked, as several pitchers have shown on various occasions, and the teams with the good hurling to lend aid to their batters are the ones that are making progress pennantward. The Brooklyn Robins, whose moundsmen have played important parts in keeping them at the head of the National League, produced the season's best example of what a pitcher can do yesterday when Watson Clark pitched a one hit game against the Pittsburg Pirates to gain a 5 to 0 victory.

Clark's hurling performance missed perfection by a very slim margin. Pit Traynor touched him for a single in the second inning and promptly was thrown out attempting to steal. A little later Engle drew Pittsburgh's only walk. Only once before this year has a team failed to make more than one hit in a game. Bob Grove of the Athletics limited Detroit to a single blow in a five inning affair, July 1.

In contrast to Brooklyn there are the Phillies, the leading hitting club of the National League, who are clear down at the bottom of the standing because their rivals hit just as hard against them. The Phillies were on the short end of a 7 to 6 score against the St. Louis Cardinals yesterday to take their twentieth beating in their last 25 games. They used three hurlers ineffectively while Burleigh Grimes went the route for the Cards. Chicago and Boston played a similar game, the Cubs winning 5 to 3 as young Bob Osborn outlasted three Brave pitchers although each team made nine hits.

Cincinnati and New York didn't give the throwers a chance in their slugging match, which went to the Reds by a 14 to 8 count. The winners made 15 hits off four pitchers, while Larry Benton finally had to rescue Ray Kolp as the Giants started hitting home runs late in the game.

In American League.

The pro and anti-pitching contrast in the American League comes principally from Washington and St. Louis. The Senators have won fame as well as a high place through the ability of their hurlers to last the full distance. They have suffered a bit since starting west, losing a series to Detroit, but Fred Marberry got them back into their stride yesterday, holding the Tigers to five hits to win 3 to 0.

The St. Louis Browns, weak both in hitting and pitching, have a record almost as bad as that of the Phillies, although they are keeping out of the League cellar by a few points.

The Athletics made it 20 defeats in 27 games for them, as Walberg and Rommell bested Blaeholder and Stiles, 11 to 6, in an odd game. Walberg did not yield a hit but wildness drove him out in the third inning, and Rommell continued the hitless performance until the ninth inning when the Browns made all of their four blows.

Herb Pennock of New York continued his unique hurling record yesterday to lead the Yankees to a 9 to 5 victory over the Chicago White Sox. He gave 14 hits but no walks, making 14 games and 92 2-3 inning this season with only six passes. The humble Boston Red Sox did some real hitting in the remaining game, making 16 blows for a 13 to 4 decision over Cleveland.

BRYDSON WINS GOLF HONORS

SOMERVILLE THIRD.

TORONTO, Ont., July 16.—(C. P.)—For the first time in the eight years' history of the Ontario open golf championship, the title was won by an assistant, when Gordon Brydson of the Toronto Golf Club won the 18-hole play-off yesterday afternoon over his home course with Lex Robson, the Islington professional, second, and C. Ross Somerville of London Hunt, three times provincial amateur champion and twice Canadian amateur titleholder, third. The trio were tied at the end of the 72-hole competition on Monday with 151's and yesterday, Brydson scored a popular victory when he turned in a card of 74, one over par, against a 75 for Robson and a 77 for Somerville.

FAULKNER HOLDS TORONTO CLUB TO FIVE HITS

Former Leaf Southpaw Registers Second Straight Victory For Bears.

WINS GAIN AGAIN.

Come From Behind Three Times to Defeat Orioles For 11-7 Count.

Another general engagement on the International League battle front to-day found the Rochester Redwings the only real gainers.

Leading by a margin of only two percentage points when the firing began yesterday, the Redwings turned back Baltimore 11 to 7 for the second straight day, and gained a full game not only on the Orioles, but on Montreal and Toronto as well, both of whom lost.

To-day the Redwings lead Baltimore by one game, and Montreal and Toronto by thre and one-half.

The Baltimore-Rochester battle was a slugging affair in which the Redwings came from behind twice to tie the score before they put on a six-run splurge in the fifth inning to take a five-run lead that Baltimore could not dent.

The Orioles pounded Berly for nine hits in less than four innings and had scored five rruns before Littlejohn entered the game in the fourth. Littlejohn went to the mound just in time to benefit by the Redwings' six-rrun rally that won the game. In all, 33 hits good for 55 bases were hammered out, Rochester's total showing 17, of which Wilson got four including a homer.

Second Straight for Bears.

Newark made it two in a row over Toronto, 5 to 1. "Lefty" Faulkner pitched brilliant ball, giving up only five hhits. For eight innings Faulkner held the Leafs so completely under subjection that not a man reached second base.

Reading hit Pomoroski at opportune intervals to down Montreal 5-2. Nelson Green pitched good ball until the ninth, when he found fault with Umpire Derr's decisions on strikes and balls. Upset apparently by his argument, Green filled the bases with only one out and one run across the plate.

Buffalo pounded out a 12-4 victory over Jersey City in a night game that started out like a pitcher's battle, but wound up with Fussell of Buffalo doing the only pitching worthy of note.

PHILADELPHIA CRICKET CLUB DEFEATS LOCALS BY 69 RUNS WITH TWO WICKETS TO PLAY

Wickets Fell Fast and Runs Came Slowly for the Home Team.

FINE GROUP OF SPORTSMEN.

Dugdale a Veteran Bowler Was in Rare Form for the Game.

That aggregation of good sportsmen and clever cricketers, the Philadelphia Cricket Club, had no difficulty in winning the second game of their Canadian tour here yesterday, defeating Peterborough by 69 runs and two wickets.

Whether through stage fright or because it was just one of those days that befall all clubs at one time or another, the bats of the Peterborough eleven were singularly impotent and wickets fell fast and runs came slowly; the steady bowling of Dugdale and Woodhead backed by brilliant fielding on the part of the whole Philadelphia club, proving a proposition that the Peterborough attack never succeeded in solving. Dugdale, a veteran bowler, was in rare form as his feat of taking seven wickets for eight runs clearly shows, while Woodhead's service while not so effective from the viewpoint of wickets taken, had to be treated with every respect by the Peterborough players. The visitors' defence was airtight and they gave nothing away. Garrett and Rev. J. Hart especially distinguishing themselves by running catches.

Peterborough won the toss and elected to bat first. Their start was a disastrous one. Gore being run out on the first ball of the game, and just after Jefferson went in, Larmouth retired without scoring on a catch by Eaton. Thorpe fared little better, being bowled by Dugdale after he had scored a single. Jefferson held up his end well and when Howarth joined him and cut out vigorously for a pair of 2's, it looked as if the two might make a stand. Finally, however, Howarth succumbed on a nice catch by Rev. J. Hart, after he had scored five. Dyer, one of Peterborough's most useful batsmen, was soon taken care of on a running catch by Garrett, and the remaining members of the side did little in the run-getting line, the disastrous innings finally petering out with a total of 23, of which Jefferson made 9 by careful cricket.

Captain Garrett of the Philadelphia club sent Hey, his wicket keeper, and Dugdale, the club's ace bowler, in to open the inning against the bowling of Dyer and Howarth. The start was not auspicious, for Hey retired scoreless when he was caught out by Dyer off the latter's delivery. Frank Ashton joined Dugdale, however, and the two opened out an offensive that soon saw Peterborough's total eclipsed. The telegraph showed 34 runs before the partnership was dissolved; Dugdale being caught out by Jefferson after he had compiled a useful and cleverly made 17. Ashton continued to bat to advantage and when he was finally retired on a deceptive ball by Dyer, he had amassed 31 runs, the top score of the day. At the request of the Peterborough Club, the visitors decided to play on until 6.30 o'clock and by that time had scored 92 runs for the loss of 8 wickets. Wilkins and Woodhead contributing fifteen and ten respectively in quiet style.

Dyer did some very effective bowling, taking five wickets, and his analysis would have been much better if his support had been perfect. Several visiting batsmen should have been run out and a number of catches were missed.

However, despite Peterborough's weak stand at the wicket it was an enjoyable game and the Philadelphia club made a most favorable impression as cricketers and sportsmen. The score:—

WESTCLOX RALLY TO BEAT BRINTONS

Take Second Straight Win To Tie League Lead With Harrisons.

Scoring six runs in the last two innings Westclox punched out an 11-7 win over the Brintons. It was the Westclox second win in two days and places them on the top of the heap with Harrison's.

Darling, although touched for fourteen hits, won his second straight game. He was given excellent support by his teammates.

Sturgeon, heaving for the Brintons, might have turned in a win had it not been for his wildness. He issued four walks and had a number of wild pitches, which accounted for runs. Up till the sixth inning Westclox had only collected four hits off his delivery.

Chuck Dorrington continueud his hitting spree with three hits and a walk in five times up.

An unassisted double play by Gimblett was one of the features of the game.

The line ups:

Brintons—Creighton, 3b; Jones, c; C. Shaughnessy, lf; V. Rose, rf; C. S. Shaughnessy, ss; Sturgeon, p; Gimblett, 2b; Corbett, 1b; H. Rose, cf.

Gallant Fox Is Sour and Mean; May Not Run in Arlington Cup Race On Saturday

ARLINGTON HEIGHTS, Ill., July 16.—There is a serious doubt of William Woodward's champion 3-year-old, Gallant Fox, going to the post in the mile and a quarter of the Arlington Cup, Saturday.

The son of Sir Gallahad III. was decidedly sour and mean this morning when brought out of his box and George Tappan would not give any definite reason of his plans until he hears from Fitzsimmons, trainer and developer of the colt.

Gallant Fox evidently is beginning to show the wear of his campaigning. It appears to be a question of temper, more than any other stalling off of training, but with such a task as the Arlington Cup before him, it is acknowledged that he must be at his best to meet such sterling older horses as Blue Larkspur, Misstep and Sun Beau and for that reason his temper is of vast importance.

He sulked in the running of the Classic, just as he was turned into the stretch, and it was by reason of that Sande had to rouse him with the whip sharply. He came out of the race in excellent shape except for his temper and his actions this morning create the doubt of his being sent to the post.

But it will be remembered in his final work before his victory in the Preakness he showed a like disposition and there is just a chance that the fears of his not being brought to the post will prove groundless. In the meantime, a decision is awaited from Fitzsimmons, whether he will be started in the Arlington Cup or not.

ESTELLE IV CHURNS UP LAKE IN MUSKOKA LAKE SPEED TESTS

British Sportswoman Puts Boat Through Its Pace at 80 Miles Per Hour.

DETROIT NEXT WEEK.

(Special to Examiner Copyright 1930).

GRAVENNURST, July 16.—Lake Muskoka never before saw such speed as when Marion B. Carstairs, Britain's hope in the Harmworth trophy races at Detroit next month, churned ita waters in her boat, Estelle IV., at 80 miles an hour last Saturday.

This young woman, the Sir Thomas Lipton of motor boating, declared herself well pleased with the craft's try-out, as did its designer, A. H. "Bert" Hawker, of Orillia.

The precious craft, only 36 feet long, shiny with many coats of paint, was carefully lowered into the water by means of a cradle and just as carefully and slowly towed several miles out through the "Narrows" into the lake proper. Miss Carstairs was the coolest of those present as the boats stopped and she began to buckle on the special life-belts, the fibre skull protector and the goggles. She calmly smoked a cigarette and chatted with her friend, Miss Mabel Jenkins. Two skilled mechanics from the Napier plant, where the two 900 horse-power giants were made, started them into life. Joe Harris, her head mechanic, took his place beside her and the machine shot off, its nose high in the air and its stern buried deep in the water.

It moved off across the lake several miles, gradually gathering speed, then turned back along its course to give the experts in the attendant boat an idea of its ability.

The roar of the motors increased until it sounded like a fleet of army pursuit aeroplanes. A sheet of water shot up on either side and a deep depression was left in its wake.

Just Skims Surface.

Its nose was no longer pointed upwards; the keel was almost level, but of its 36 feet, only the back six were in the water. The boat seemed on the point of taking to the air. It passed like a streak, the figures in the back somewhat obscured by the wall of water that shot up on either side. Scarcely any swell was felt from the speeding craft.

The roar died down and the boat turned and came back to where Mr. Hawker, Captain C. Marshall, Miss Carstairs' manager, and the mechanics were. Miss Carstairs was jubilant.

"I'm delighted," she cried when she got near. "It was wonderful. Behaved far better than I ever hoped it would." "How fast did you put her?" eagerly demanded her crew.

"Twenty-nine hundred revolutions," she replied, and then for the benefit of the Examiner explained that this represented a speed of about 80 miles an hour.

"I think it will do over ninety," she said.

Mr. Hawker then took the wheel, bringing it down over the course at a slightly slower clip.

"Just to study the steering gear and see if it needed anything," he remarked as he unbuckled the gear from his body.

Back in the boat houses, Miss Carstairs again declared her satisfaction with her craft's performance.

Speed is Increased.

"She's faster this year since Mr. Hawker redesigned her," she said. "More speed for the same number of revolutions. All we have to do now is experiment a bit to get the right propeller."

Her vernacular in talking of the sport is that of an aviator. The try-outs are "hops," the propellors are "props," revolutions are "revs," and speeding the craft up she calls "giving her the gun."

"The Examiner to discover from Miss Carstairs and the other speed demon exactly what is the thrill of speeding in the water. According to them the thrill of driving a motor car at 90 or 100 miles an hour cannot compare with fast motor boating.

"I don't get any particular thrill only a burning up feeling," Miss Carstairs stated."

"In a race, of course, the only feeling is to get out in front."

Captain Marshall unreservedly declared that the aquatic sport was much more thrilling.

"It's nothing to go 90 or 100 in a car but it's a different proposition in a boat," he said.

Mr. Hawker, too, confessed to the thrill of skimming the waves.

"At 75 miles an hour in the water," he explained, "you are not even conscious of the water thrown up, the foamytrack behind; nothing but a terrific roar that throbs everywhere and makes speech impossible."

Seeing Miss Carstairs standing upright on the flood of the Estelle, her hands in the pockets of the gray flannel trousers she wears, cigarette in her mouth unconcerned as the boat rocked perilously under her, one realized that Car Wood had better look to his laurels when he meets her in the international boat races at Detroit next week.

Dallas Club Suspends The Veteran "Old Alex"

DALLAS, Tex., July 16.—Grover Cleveland Alexander, former big league pitcher, now on the payroll of the Dallas Club of the Texas League, again has been suspended for breaking training rules.

Old Alex recently was signed by the Dallas management at a considerable salary—bith in the hope that he would prove a good gate attraction, and that he would stage a comeback. His suspension was announced last night.

CANADA'S STRONG HAND FOR EMPIRE GAMES AT HAMILTON

Maple Leaf Should Give Fight to Opposition From Overseas.

STARS IN TRAINING

(Special to Examiner, Copyright 1930).

Hamilton, July 16.—Canada's athletic team in British Empire games gives promise of being the strongest that has ever represented the Dominion in any international or inder-empire competitions. The wonderful showing of the Canadians at the Olympic games of 1928 has proven a great stimulus. More athletes are in training than ever in the country's history, with the result that there is a greater scramble to gain a place on the national team for Empire games than there has ever been the case in connection with the assembly of any of Canada's Olympic teams. Canada will be strong this year in all track events, from the sprints to the six mile event, with the possible exception of the quarter mile hurdles.

Never has there been such a host of good sprint material. Percy Williams, Olympic sprint champion; Johnny Fitzpatrick, Leigh Miller and Ralph Adams, head a list of most promising speed merchants, with threats to the "Big Four" coming from all parts of the country. The struggle for places in the sprint section of the Canucks team will exceed anything ever witnessed in the Dominion. And the same remark applies to the quarter and half mile distances. Jimmy Ball, second in the 400 metres race at Amsterdam, will head the squad of quarter miles, and will have as company Alex. Wilson of Montreal; Fred MacBeth of Hamilton; Buster Brown, of Edmonton, Bellamy, of Owen Sound; Johnston, of St. Catharines; Burrows and Lewis of Hamilton, and others. Ball has done little of an outstanding nature since the 1928 Olympics, mainly because he lacks the opportunity, but report has it that he retains all his speed.

Wilson's Success.

Wilson has been one of the season's sensations. At Amsterdam he gave indications of developing into a marvelous athlete, and this year as a student at Notre Dame University, fulfilled the promise of two years ago. In the U.S.A. Intercollegiate championships he finished third in 48 2-5 seconds—fast enough to place him in the front rank of quarter milers. He will be one of the stars of Empire games. Fred MacBeth, the Hamilton schoolboy who made the 1928 Olympic team, but failed to deliver as expected, because of an injured foot, went through his freshman year at Notre Dame without defeat. Brown, of Edmonton, has a rare burst of speed, but suffers, as does Ball, from lack of competition. He must be considered. Lewis, the Hamilton colored runner, has great natural ability, and along with the rugged Johnstone and equally strong Bellamy, figure as the best of the younger fight.

Star Half Miler.

In the half mile division, the outstanding performer should be Brant Little, of Winnipeg. Little is also a student at Notre Dame University and his achievements during the many Intercollegiate competitions in the United States were most remarkable. He finished second in the U.S.A. national intercollegiate 880 yards championship event and is regarded as a consistent 1.54 performer for the distance with ability to do 1.53 under right conditions. Little has been handicapped by a nervous disposition, but is gradually conquering this trouble, and to-day ranks as Canada's leading half miler. He will not meet with the opposition in the Canadian trials that Ball and Wilson can look for in that quarter, but he will have capable runners alongside of him, including Percy Pickard, of Hamilton, who has returned to form after two bad years, and is now running better than ever. Big and strong, Pichard should break 1.55 during the summer. At present these two appear to be the best of the field.

Strong in Milers.

Pleasing as are the prospects with regard to the sprinters, quarter and half milers, the outlook as it concerns the mile runners is just as encouraging, in fact, Canada to-day can rightly claim possession of the best lot of milers in the country's history. In the days of Jack Tait and others—twenty odd years ago—the Dominion had runners capable of beating 4.20 consistently. Then came the period when athletics suffered a decline, and it was not until the development of schoolboy athletes began five or six years ago that any real prospects at the distance appeared. Now it is a different story. Heading a great field are to be found the two Walter boys—brothers from Listowel, Ontario, now attending Marquette University. Of the two, Jack is possibly the best, although the margin between the pair is very small. In the Central Intercollegiate championships of the U.S.A. held recently, Jack won his race in better than 4.18. Brother Pete was prevented from competing owing to illness; in fact, he may not be available this year because of throat trouble. Ranking next to the Listowel pair comes Eddie King, Canadian Champion, and Art Keay, the Toronto policeman, who were very prominent all last year.

Marathon Selections.

Canada's representation in the six miles race will, strange to say, depend largely upon the marathon team selected for Empire games. Two of the country's best men at any distance from 5 to 26 miles are Johnny Miles, of Hamilton Canadian 10,000 metres champion, and double winner of the Boston marathon, and Harold Webster, Canadian five mile champion, who finished fourth in the Boston marathon this year. Miles has always been a marathoner who dropped into the odd five or ten mile race as a training stunt. Webster has confined nearly all his attention to races at 3, 5 and 10 miles, but has started in four marathons. He was second in the Canadian Olympic marathon trial of 1928, although he had never trained for the race over ten miles. At Amsterdam he was forced out by an injured leg. In April, last, he was fourth in the Boston marathon and in the Canadian championship marathon was forced to quit at the end of ten miles because of muscle cramp.

Of the marathoners, Percy Wyer, M'Lellan, Taylor, Hughes, Dack, Cuthbert, Hughes and others figure. Then there is Joe Pearson, the little Englishman, who arrived in Canada six or seven weeks ago and finished third in the Canadian marathon trial on June 7. A former Birchfield Harrier, he merits consideration. He is not eligible, under the rules of British Empire games, to run for Canada. The residence rule calls for six months' residence in Canada. The attention of the British A.A.A. has been called to him, however, and the suggestion made that he be included in the British team or that the A.A.A. agree to his inclusion in the Canadian squad. Pearson is a likely athlete and is entitled to every consideration.

A BEDTIME STORY

by Howard R. Garis

UNCLE WIGGILY'S EAGLE SHIP

Uncle Wiggily's ironing board aeroplane had come to such a sudden stop that the rabbit gentleman was nearly bounced out of his clothes basket cockpit. As for Mr. Twistytail, who was having a ride with Mr. Longears, that fat pig had laughed so hard that he had fallen out on the ground. And there he was, bouncing up and down like a puffy rubber ballk, still chuckling and saying:

"Oh, it's so funny! It's so terrible funny! Ha! Ha! Ha!"

"I wish you would tell what is funny so I can also laugh," spoke Uncle Wiggily, who was so serious and solemn like that his pink nose almost stopped twinkling.

Uncle Wiggily, as I told you in the story last night, had made an aeroplane, something like Lindy's, out of two ironing boards, a clothes basket to sit in and an electric fan on front for a propeller and motor. The rabbit gentleman had connected the electric fan to a socket in his kitchen, running the green cord through the open window.

The aeroplane started up, but did not sail very far before, all of a sudden it stopped and flopped and fell with a bump. Uncle Wiggily was nearly bounced out and Mr. Twistytail jiggled himself out when he laughed.

"Well, I'll tell you what's funny!" chuckled the fat pig when he had stopped bouncing up and down like a rubber ball. "We forgot that the electric fan propeller was fast in the kitchen floor socket, Wiggy. We sailed along as far as the cord would let us and, as we kept on going, we pulled the end of the wire from the socket, just as I've seen my wife do when she pushed the vaccum clearner too far. And when the plug of the electric cord was pulled out that stopped the electricity from whizzing your fan and we came down just as Lindy's ship would come down if his motor stalled on him."

"Check and double check!" said Uncle Wiggily with a laugh. "You're right, Twisty. We can't sail my aeroplane without electricity and if we go far we would need an electric cord for the fan a mile long. That is too much. So I guess we can't have any sky rides."

"You used to work the electric fan on the old airship you had, made with this same clothes basket and toy circus balloons," grunted Mr. Twistytail.

"Yes," agreed Uncle Wiggily. "I did. But I had a storage battery then, the storage battery isn't strong enough to sail this aeroplane which has no balloon to keep it up. I guess this is the end.

Up in the air soared the eagle.

Twisty. My ironing board plane is no good! Too bad!" and he began to take the boards apart, for one belonged to Nurse Jane and the other to Mrs. Twistytail.

"Dear me!" grunted the fat pig gentleman. "I so much wanted a ride up in the air to cool me off. It is very hot to-day."

"Yes, it is," said Mr. Longears. "But there will be no aeroplane rides for us. We had better make some lemonade to cool us."

All of a sudden there was a swooping, swishing sound in the air. Uncle Wiggily looked up, thinking perhaps Commander Byrd or Colonel Lindy might be coming along, but what he saw a was big bird, a bald-headed eagle, zooming toward them.

"Helloo! Hello, down there!" screamed the eagle, not to be impolite, but because an eagle always screams when he talks. "What's the trouble down there, Uncle Wiggily?"

"Oh, I tried to make an aeroplane with ironing boards, a clothes basket and an electric fan so Twisty and I could ride and cool off," explained the rabbit. "But it wouldn't work."

"Would you like a ride around the sky?" asked the eagle, swooping down close to the rabbit and pig, so they could see how big and strong he as. "Would you?"

"Yes, indeed, thank you!" said Uncle Wiggily.

"Then climb up on my back and hold tight, Uncle Wiggily!" invited the bald-headed eagle. He wasn't really bald headed, but the white feathers on the top of his head made him look so. The rabbit got aboard his eagle ship and held to the eagle's back.

"May I have a ride?" grunted the fat pig.

"You are too heavy for me to carry you and Uncle Wiggily also," screamed the eagle. "But I'll call another bird for you, Mr. Twistytail. Here comes a friend of mine," he went on as a second eagle dropped down out of the blue sky. Then Mr. Twistytail got on the back of this bird. There was a flapping of strong wings. Up in the air soared the eagle ships, taking Mr. Longears and Mr. Twistytail for a fine ride above the clouds where it was very cool.

"How do you like it, Twisty?" called the rabbit from the back of his bird.

"Wonderful!" grunted the pig. "But we're pretty high up. I hope nothing happens."

Trent River

TRENT RIVER, July 15. — The Trent River Branch of the Women's Institute was held on Thursday afternoon at the home of Mrs. J. Ward with 14 members present, and visitors, which brought the attendance up to about 30.

There was much discussion as to ways of raising money. A social half hour was enjoyed with the serving of a ten-cent tea, of which Mrs. Meyson, Mrs. Wilfred Cook, Mrs. Victor Scott and Mrs. H. Seabourne were the hostesses. The August meeting will be held at the home of Miss Doris Scott.

The institute is holding a bridge and euchre at Coral Gables Casino, on Wednesday afternoon, from two until four o'clock. Lunch is being served from four-thirty until seven.

GOOD PROGRESS WITH HAYING

Bumper Crop Expected by Farmers in Most Parts of District.

RAPID GROWTH

(Examiner Correspondence.)

ROSENEATH, July 15.—The fine weather recently has enabled farmers to make good progress with their haying, which will be a bumper crop in most parts of this district.

Heavy rains, coupled with the hot weather, has proved exceptionally favorable for all spring crops and fall wheat. The latter, in some places, is commencing to turn, and in some sections will be ready to harvest very shortly. Barley, rye and oats are heading out and give promise of a great yield.

The fruit crop is coming along nicely; apples are setting well, also pears and plums. Cherries are now ready to pick, along with early raspberries, gooseberries and currants, which, in general, are as good as former years.

Fretting about HAY FEVER?

Or Summer Asthma? Stop fretting. Stop the Hay Fever. Take RAZ-MAH CAPSULES before the attack is due. We know people who had Hay Fever 20 years who stopped it with RAZ-MAH. You either get relief from one $1 box or your money back. No sprays, snuff, smokes or serums. No harmful or habit-forming drugs. DON'T LET THAT HAY FEVER START..... USE

Work, Not Promises Wages, Not Charity

"I have well-considered proposals to submit to Parliament; otherwise I would not have said I would call a special session after July 28, if elected, to deal with unemployment. We propose to anticipate many of the national undertakings we have to perform in order that men may get work, not promises, wages, not charity.

"There is no need for a conference on unemployment. What you want is work, not conferences, and you are going to get work."—Hon. R. B. Bennett, Conservative Leader, at Quebec, July 12.

TARZAN OF THE APES No. 12 (Metropolitan Newspaper Feature Service, Inc.) By Edgar Rice Burroughs

When the tribe saw Kerchak's rage had ceased, they came slowly down from their arboreal retreats. They had passed an hour or so pursuing again their various occupations when Kerchak called them together and with a word of command to them to follow him, set off toward the sea.

And all the way Kala carried her little dead baby hugged closely to her breast. Shortly after noon they reached a ridge overlooking the beach where below them lay the tiny cottage which was Kerchak's goal. He made up his mind to explore the interior of that mysterious den.

He wanted very much to own that little black stick that had often roared out its terrible message of death to some member of the tribe. Today there was no sign of the man about. Slowly, cautiously and noiselessly they crept through the jungle toward the little cabin.

Kerchak himself slung slowly to the very door and peered within. Behind him were two males and then Kala clasping her dead babe. They saw the strange white ape lying half across a table and a figure covered by a sail cloth. A plaintive wailing came from a tiny cradle.

Kerchak entered. Greystroke rose with a sudden start and faced them. The sight that met his eyes must have frozen him with horror! His revolvers and rifle hung on the far wall. Within the door stood three great bull apes. Behind them crowded many more—HOW MANY HE NEVER KNEW!

A TRUE FISH STORY.

One big "whale" of a show is scheduled to visit this city under the direction of Larry Boyd and Sullivan, who will arrive over the week-end bearing with them what they term the California Marine Exhibit, which consists of a 60-foot mounted whale, caught in the waters around San Francisco.

The whale, which is transported in a specially fitted freight car, will be exhibited at the stop block on the C.N.R. railroad at Charlotte Street for three days, including next Monday, Tuesday, and Wednesday.

LARGE TOURIST MAIL.

The summer tourist traffic brings extra work for the post office workers, Charles Lacheur, local postmaster, told The Examiner this morning. Incoming and outgoing mail of the tourists has noticeably swelled the volume of mail handled, he reports, although nothing in the nature of a mail rush has resulted.

THE LAST LINK.

Under A. Beausoleil, supervisor of the track, the C.N.R. sectionmen are busily engaged in relaying the two sets of tracks at Charlotte street crossing to conform to the splendid surface of the roadway since paving by the Warren Bituminous Paving Company. Old rails have been entirely displaced and new ones laid on equally new ties. Negotiations are proceeding between the parties concerned, for the crossing to be completed with a paved surface, failing which the railway company will use planking. The crossing gates which were splintered some time ago, are also being repaired and renovated.

'Y' GIRLS GO FOR SAIL.

Last evening, Mr. Rye's large motor boat was simply packed with 'Y' indoor and outdoor girls who had the sail down the river and camped at T.A.S. Park for swim and bonfire supper and what eats! Homeward bound after sunset, the boat rang with songs and ukes. The girls all declared it to be the jolliest outing. Miss C. F. Littlefield, who conducted the group, is planning a bumper affair next Tuesday. Will all senior girls of the city please notify the 'Y' office if they wish to come.

MAY SHORTEN CAMPAIGN TIME

Complaint is Common That Present Federal Campaign is Far Too Long.

MANY SUGGESTIONS.

(By George Hambleton, Canadian Press Staff Correspondent.)

OTTAWA, July 16. — Amendments to the Dominion Elections Act are suggested which would shorten the next general election campaign by ten days. Compaint is common that the present campaign is too long. Hook-ups on the radio made the issues generally known early in the fight. Interest waned only to revive towards nomination day.

The proposal is to cut out urban registration. An act passed on the eve of dissolution established a new system of preparing voters' lists in urban districts. Voters names are obtained by joint enumerators representing both parties. They then go for urban registration and are arranged alphabetically. Subsequently they are sent to the revision officers.

It is argued that the lists might go directly from the joint enumerators to the revising officers and the urgan registration eliminated without risk. With joint enumerators, urban registration is described as the fifth wheel of a coach.

Long as it may seem to the radio fan the present campaign is really only one day longer than that of 1926, as measured between the date of issue of writ and election day. The campaigns compare: 1930, 58 days; 1926, 57 days.

PREMIER LEAVES WESTERN CITIES

ment problem. A sure market for Canadian wheat in the Mother Country—that was the great abject behind the widening of the British preference. Canada had done this, not in a spirit of bargaining, but in a spirit of good will, sure that she would meet a response from the Mother Country. If the Government was returned, certain of its members would go to the Imperial Economic Conference and the Imperial Conference armed with the Canadian people's Budget. They would say, asserted Mr. King, "We have not come to bargain, but we have come to point to what has been done in Canada yonder and to ask what we may take back to them."

Reviews Aid for Soldiers.

Unemployment occupied a considerable part of the time during which Mr. King spoke. He went carefully into the accomplishments of the Government on behalf of the aged and of the returned soldiers. While not claiming that the large amounts expended for these purposes had been given for unemployment relief, he asserted that their effect had been, in many cases, to prevent unemployment.

Once more Mr. King announced that the Government is willing to give "dollar for dollar" with the provinces and municipalities to meet the unemployment situation.

This was contingent on a province declaring that the situation was such that it could not cope with it. Thus far, repeated Mr. King, he had not received from any province such representations.

ARTHUR GRIMES MAY FORCE THIRD TRIAL.

TORONTO, Ont., July 16 (C.P.).—Provincial Police are investigating evidence which may necessitate a third trial of Arthur Grimes, 23-year-old orphan immigrant, on a charge of murdering his employer's wife, Mrs. James Stuart, on a North Grimsby Township farm in February, 1929. He is now being held in St. Catharines jail, where he has been since the time of the slaying, awaiting the decision of Attorney-General Price. At two previous trials the jury disagreed, with a majority in favor of acquittal.

AUTO INDUSTRY RUINED BY KING SAYS FERGUSON

Change of Policy on Part of Liberal Government Cited By Ferguson.

SHIP IS SINKING.

Liberal Leaders Being Rushed to Ontario to Aid in Campaign.

(By Frank Flaherty, C. P. Press Staff Writer)

TIMMINS, Ont., July 26.—"Uncertainty, vaccilation, and, weakness has characterized the King Government throughout its career", Hon. G. Howard Ferguson, Premier of Ontario, charged here last night. Repeated changes of policy on the part of Premier King and divergent views expressed by different ministers had destroyed the confidence of the people in the administration, Mr. Ferguson added. As instances of the "Instability of Government policy and the inconsistency of the Liberal ministers", Mr. Ferguson cited a number of extracts from the speeches of Premier King and his colleagues.

Co-Operation Necessary

Co-operation between the Dominion and Provincial Governments was necessary to the promotion of national unity." Mr. Ferguson said until the King Government came into power co-operation had been easy.

If unemployment was world wide as the government claimed ,this put a great degree of responsibility on the government to take extraordinary measures to provide work for the people.

In attributing unemployment to the tariff policy of the King Government Mr. Ferguson referred to the automobile industry. Five years ago ,Canada had an automobile industry and was importing $8,000,000 worth of automobiles a year. Then in 1926 the Government lowered the tariff. Now Canada was importing $40,000,000 worth of automobiles and most of the factories were closed.

"The call has gone out for all hands to man the pumps", he said, predicting the defeat of the government. "The ship is sinking. They are rushing into Ontario from all quarters, the Dunnings and the Crerars, the Lapointes and the Cannons. Premier King knows what is going to happen to him on July 28th, but he does not know how hard he is going to be hit".

Criticising the government's refusal to aid in the construction of highways, Mr. Ferguson declared a trans-Canada highway was an important a part of the country's trannsportation system as a railway or a canal. This refusal was in line with the action of the government in withdrawing the grants for technical education and agriculture and had resulted in the province of Ontario being required to raise between $1,000,000 and $2,000,000 to meet expenditures which should have been borne by the Federal governmnt".

Voice of the People

Letters to be printed in the Voice of the People column must be received at The Examiner Office on the day before it is desired to have them published.

Mr. Peck charges me with having "misrepresented Bennett." How could I misrepresent him when I quote his own words? Bennett said these words at Vancouver and surely there is no doubt about them. "Be warned in time. Introduce any other issue at your peril. There is but one issue at this election—a Greater Canada."

There is no mention of Empire at all. Bennett even went so far as to say that the development of the home (Canadian) market is the only sensible policy and if the rest of the world does not like it he will make them. Mr. Peck was enthusiastic at Douro over that policy. But a change came over him. At North Monaghan he declared: "Our only hope is the Empire." He has either blundered or repudiated his leader. I have given his words. Let me advise him always to give his opponent's own words as I do. It is the only fair way. When he charges me let him give my own words not his. I am willing to make the usual allowance which the public makes for Mr. Peck, but no more than that.

BIRTH.

COATES—Born to Mr. and Mrs. Eric Musgrave Coates (nee G. Audrey Meredith) in Grace Hospital, Toronto, on June 26—a son.

In Police Court

Pleading guilty to having liquor in an unlawful place on Saturday, July 12, Cecil Patterson, aged 26, laborer of this city, paid a fine of $100 and costs amounting to $6.50 in City Police Court this morning, when he appeared before His Worship Magistrate O. A. Langley.

Two local young men drew fines of $10 each and costs amounting to $4.50 on a charge of being intoxicated on Water street on Monday, July 14th. Both pleaded guilty and had nothing to say.

Abraham Cherney, charged with driving a motor vehicle without a driver's permit, was fined a minimum of $10.

Appearing on a charge of vagrancy an 18-year-old girl whose case had been adjourned previously for the attendance of her father, was given a sympathetic hearing after the magistrate had cleared the court. After hearing the father's version of the affair, His Worship allowed the girl to go home, warning her that she must be of good behaviour and that she must report to the Police Matron every other night and appear before the court on Wednesday next, when she will be dealt with as the circumstances of the case warrant.

IN COUNTY POLICE COURT

"Let me know by return mail your best terms of settlement", wrote Harry LaPlant of Toronto, charged with driving a motor vehicle on King's Highway 28 at a greater speed than 35 m.p.h. contrary to section 23 (2) of the Highway Traffic Act on July 5th 1930.

Traffic Patrol Officer E. A. Hornick in evidence stated "Defendent was driving in North Monaghan township at a speed of 63 m.p.h."

A penalty of $15 and costs amounting to $3.25 was imposed.

A similar penalty was drawn by W. F. Spry, 30, Southwood Drive, Toronto who according to the Traffic Officer came down the hill by Springville Garage at an excessive speed. "The driver slowed down as he came past the spot where I was visible. Another car was following closely and I swung in behind it. I found the speed of both cars at that time was 45 m.p.h. I passed the rear car and was pulling up to the front car with the idea of warning the driver of the car in front about his excessive speed, when he went up to 60 m.p.h. I overtook him and stopped him and when asked for his permit he could not produce one. I gave him a warning concerning the permit and told him I would issue a summons for speeding".

The traffic officer further added that it was a holiday and the road was crowded with traffic at the time of the occurrence, which was 9:40 p.m. The offence took place on a stretch of road where all the fatal accidents have been this year.

Magistrate Langley: From defendents letter, he seems to think he is going to get off with a warning. Such a thing cannot be done. In addition to speeding he was driving without a permit.

In his letter defendent stated that when he saw the headlights at the rear of his car, which he afterwards found were the lights from the traffic officer's machine, he thought that it was a friend of his following who wished him to travel a little faster. As soon as he realized that it was the traffic officer he slowed down and later came to a stop.

"Plead guilty. Check in mail", was the announcement received by the magistrate in a telegram received this morning from A. W. Bremmen of Toronto who was charged with speeding on Highway 28 on June 11th. He was fined $10 and $3.25 costs.

HINTS ARE MADE OF LAND OPENING

Saskatoon Liberal Candidate Charges Premier Trying To Influence Votes.

MADE TO MENNONITES.

SASKATOON, Sask., July 16 (C.P.).—Promises of school grants and even hints of land-openings are being made to Mennonites by Premier J. T. M. Anderson of Saskatchewan in order to influence votes in favor of F. R. MacMillan, Conservative candidate in Saskatoon, charged A. M. Young, Liberal candidate and member for Saskatoon in the last House of Commons, here last night.

Mr. Young read a letter from the Premier to Abe Driedger, of Osler, formerly member of the Liberal Executive, outlying his proposals regarding school grants and lands for the Mennonites. He also read the letter of resignation of Mr. Dreidger, leaving the Liberal Association, and ascribing his move to the Premier's promises.

VESSEL TO SAIL OUT OF ORILLIA

Ferdinand Tied Up at Local Dock to Take on Coal.

FROM CORNWALL.

Bound from Cornwall to Orillia, the steamer Ferdinand, tied up in local waters yesterday afternoon, taking aboard a new stock of coal. In charge of Sailing Master J. W. Joslin, during the voyage through the Trent Waterway system, she will be handed over to Captain T. A. Wood, her owner, who plans to put her on passenger excursion work on Couchiching Lake, Severn River and Sparrow Lake.

The steamer left Cornwall on July 10th at 3 p.m., and her master expects to dock her at Orillia on Thursday night. Having been on ice-breaking service during the past winter, prior to which she was in ferry service between Prescott and Ogdensburg, the craft is somewhat dilapidated looking, but her master describes her as a very good sea-going craft, stating that when on Lake Ontario they experienced some rough weather, and that the craft handled exceedingly well.

She has a length of 87 feet, with an 18-foot beam and a five-foot draft, and can accommodate 210 passengers and two automobiles. Her crew consists of captain, engineer and four deck hands. The boat is driven by a 28 h.p. triple expansion marine engine, which will propel the craft at a speed of 13 knots per hour.

J. W. Joslin, in command, is a captain in the service of the Canada Steamship Lines, having had charge of the Chapleau for many years. The Chapleau is at present tied up at Kingston.

COBOURG LADIES DEFEAT TWEED

Twenty Rinks Of Lady Bowlers Take Part In Belleville Tournament.

LOCAL RINKS WIN.

Four rinks of Peterborough lady lawn bowlers motored to Belleville yesterday morning for the annual tournament of the Belleville Ladies' Lawn Bowling Club. They were favored with ideal weather conditions, the day being bright but cool enough to make bowling a pleasure. Twenty rinks were entered from Cobourg, Stirling, Madoc, Tweed, Deseronto, and Peterborough, and some fine games were greatly enjoyed. The tournament was opened by Mr. Sullivan, who warmly welcomed the ladies of the visiting rinks. This was followed by a few remarks by Miss Hurley, president of the Ladies' Club, and soon all were engaged in the merry game.

Mrs. McLeod of Cobourg and Mrs. Wagar of Tweed had to play off for the cup. Mrs. McLeod's rink won the cup, and each member of her rink received beautiful silver tree platters. Mrs. Wagar's rink, the runners-up, received pretty silver trays. Mrs. Duff's rink of Belleville had the highest score for the winner of two games, receiving sandwich trays, and Mrs. Wright's rink of Peterborough, composed of Mrs. Wright (skip), Mrs. Miller (vice) Mrs. Gregson (second) and Mrs. Cheverill (lead) were fortunate enough to bring back one prize to the city. OBITUARY

PATRICK HEFFERNAN.

Patrick Heffernan, aged 72 years, was found dead at eight oclock this morning at his late residence, 640 Reid Street, under circumstances which Coroner Dr. T. W. H. Young considers warrants an inquest, which he has accordingly ordered to be held on Friday evening at 8 o'clock.

MAGYAR MINISTER IS FINED $500 ON CHARGES OF ALIEN SMUGGLING

Judge Also Suspends Sentence Of Year and Day In Atlanta Penitentiary.

FORMER WELLAND PASTOR.

JAMESTOWN, N.Y., July 16 (Canadian Press). — Rev. Stephen Czuturos, 35, pastor of the Magyar Presbyterian Church, Cleveland, pleaded guilty in Federal Court here to-day to an indictment containing two county charges of alien smuggling. Judge Simon L. Adler imposed a fine of $500, and suspended a sentence of one year and one day in the Federal Penitentiary at Atlanta.

The first count charged that on September 19, 1927, and June 16, 1928, Mr. Czuturos made false statements to the American Consul at Niagara Falls, Ont., in connection with applications filed by Alexander Marko and Joseph Daraby for immigration visas. The second count charged the Magyar minister with bringing Daraby into this country illegally.

Misled Seminary Officials.

It was charged that Mr. Czuturos, while pastor of the Hungarian Reformed Church, Welland, Ont., by misrepresentation induced officials of the Bloomfield Theological Seminary, Bloomfield, N.Y., to certify to the American Consul that arrangements had been made for acceptance of Marko and Darby as students at the Seminary.

The Government charged that neither of the two men intended to become students ,but used that subterfuge to gain illegal entrance to the United States. Marko was said to have returned to Canada, but Daraby, an artist, was said to be living in Cleveland, under a Government immigration bond.

GARDINER IMPROVES.

CALGARY, Alta., July 16.—(C.P.)—Robert Gardiner, elected by acclamation to the next House of Commons for Acadia constituency, is recovering from his slight indisposition. LIBERALS FAILED TO ASSIST FARMER

Hon. H. H. Stevens Scores Dunning on Wheat Pool Problem.

REGINA, Sask., July 16.—(By Canadian Press). — The Liberal Government had failed to assist the Western farmer in the marketing of his crop and Hon. Charles A. Dunning, Minister of Finance, had ridiculed efforts of the wheat pool to solve the problem, asserted Hon. H. H. Stevens of Vancouver, speaking here last night in support of the candidature of Frank W. Turnbull, K. C., Conservative, in Regina.

Mr. Stevens declared the Conservative party, when in power had always assisted in the marketing of the Dominion's crop and referred to the formation of the grain board and other efforts made in creating markets for western wheat.

Officer Fines Tourist $10 and Costs For Speeding on the Chemong Road

"Fine $10 and costs $3.75." This pronouncement did not come from the Magistrate as he peered over the top of the bench, but from Traffic Officer E. A. Hornick as he speedily dispensed justice on the roadside recently in accordance with the powers invested on traffic officers by the new regulations which have affiliated the splendid body of patrolmen with the Ontario Provincial police. This is the first and only case of its kind in this district.

The offender, Samuel Newman of New York City, was guilty of speeding on highway number 7 between Chemong and Peterborough on July 5th, and elected to be dealt with by the traffic "cop" rather than spend the necessary time in the district before his case came for hearing in the ordinary course before the Magistrate. The law is specially designed to meet such needs, and while the traffic officers are not invested with magisterial powers, they now have the authority to impose fines for speeding and other minor offences against the Highway Traffic Act in the case of persons resident outside the district. Should the Magistrate consider that the penalty imposed by the officer is too severe, he may refund a portion of the fine. The traffic officers now carry a receipt book in triplicate to meet the needs of the new duty, which has been placed on them. It is understood that offenders have the option as to how their case shall be disposed of, and that the fine can only be levied by the traffic officers with the offender's consent, although it will doubtless prove a boon to persons who do not desire to make a personal appearance in court.

Member Runs Off With Common's Mace

LABORITE ACT SCANDALIZES WHOLE HOUSE

Beckett Caught at Bar and Emblem Recovered Amid Excitement.

GIVEN SUSPENSION.

Scene is Protest Against Fellow Member's Suspension For Talk on India.

LONDON, Eng., July 17.—(CP)—The House of Commons was thrown into excitement this afternoon when Fenner Brockway, Labor Member, in the middle of the question period, insisted upon delivering a speech on India and Prime Minister Macdonald moved his suspension for disobeying the chair.

After a division, when the tellers were lined up at the table to give the result, one of them the Laborite, John Beckett, scandalized the chamber by seizing the mace which is the House's emblem of authority and running down the floor with it.

Cauht at Bar

A messenger caught him at the bar of the House and the Sergeant at arms recovered his mace amid scenes of great excitement.

The members, steeped in traditions of the sacredness of the Common's prestige and dignity, were horrified at the incident and loud protests came from both sides of the Chamber.

Beckett's suspension also was moved by Macdonald and carried 324 to 4. As Fenner Brockway's suspension previously had been declared carried he and Beckett left the House together.

Members who sat near Beckett as he snatched the mace reported him to the chair as shouting, "Mr. Speaker, it's a damned disgrace!" referring apparently to his Labor colleague's suspension.

When the Speaker arose to announce Beckett's withdrawal from the House there were cries of "he's run away"! from the Conservative benches.

Understanding orders in the House of Commons the suspension of Brockway and Beckett will continue until the fifth day. Neither will be able to sit again until next Thursday.

Today's suspension was the first during the present Parliament.

TO HALT DEBATE ON NAVAL PACT

Johnson Refuses to Enter Limitation Agreement—Petition Circulated.

APPLY CLOSURE RULE.

WASHINGTON, D.C., July 17 (C.P.)—A petition seeking the closure rule to shut off debate on the London Naval Treaty was circulated in the Senate to-day by Senator Watson, the Republican leader, after Senator Johnson, Republican, California, had refused to enter any agreement for a limitation of debate beginning next Tuesday.

An effort to fix a time to vote on the London Naval Treaty was blocked in the Senate by Senator Johnson, Republican, California.

Senator Watson, the Republican leader, immediately served notice that Treaty proponents had a clear majority to halt what he termed "time killing" tactics. He said an attempt to invoke the closure rule, restricting debate, probably would be made next week.

Train Wrecks Auto; Man and Pig Safe

KITCHENER, Ont., July 17 (Canadian Press). — Driving his automobile into a speeding train at a crossing three miles from here, William Patterson, of Alliston, had a miraculous escape from death. The car, reduced to wreckage, was hurled forty feet with every pane of glass shattered.

Horrified witnesses rushed to the scene just as Patterson crawled through the windshield, his only injuries a shaking up and a cut on the back of his head.

Shortly after Patterson emerged, a black pig which had been in a wooden box on the rear seat, also crawled through the windshield, apparently none the worse for its experience.

Huycke, accompanied by his daughters, Mrs. James Blaiklock of Montreal and Mrs. William Duffield of London, will leave the city tonight and sail for Europe on Friday aboard the White Star liner Albertic. AGRICULTURAL REVENUE $1,667,218,000 IN 1929

OTTAWA, Ont., July 17. (C.P.)—The gross agricultural wealth of Canada for 1929 is estimated at approximately $7,978,633,000, in a summary published to-day at the National Revenue Department.

Last year the total revenue from Agriculture was $1,667,218,000, of which Ontario accounted for $509,434,000.

The two principal items which go to make up the total of agricultural revenue are field crops, valued at $879,750,000, and dairy products with an estimated value of $290,000,000. Farm animals are third with a value of $210,437,000 and poultry and eggs fourth with a value of $109,346,000.

LIBERALS ARE GIVEN 14 SEATS IN SASKATCHEWAN BY W. J. ELLIS

Political Situation in Western Province Surveyed By Independent Writer.

FARMERS ARE HARD UP.

Believing that the provinces of Ontario, Saskatchewan and Quebec hold the key to the Dominion election result, The Examiner has requested from William Ellis of Regina, a former reporter on the staff of The Lindsay Post and The Examiner, to write an independent article on how he sees things in Saskatchewan. One from William Edgar of Montreal, on how he sees things in Quebec will appear in a few days.

REGINA, Sask., July 17 (By William J. Ellis, Exclusive to The Peterborough Examiner). — Saskatchewan is to-day, and for the next ten days will be the field upon which will be fought what is considered by political circles to be the most turbulent federal election battle in the history of Canada.

Almost unparalleled unemployment, a shortage of ready cash among farmers due to poor crops of 1929, are factors contributing to a situation which challenges and is very liable to upset the most careful pre-election forecasts.

Saskatchewan, the province which went solidly Liberal in 1926, if one will include the few Progressive members who later allied themselves with the King administration, is to-day a "political silk hat" from which the magic ballot may produce almost any arrangement of party representation in the future Parliament of the Dominion.

Conservatives Have High Hopes

Conservatives hope to break into the representation column for the first time, a hope at least partly based on the unexpected return of the provincial election of June, 1929, when a Tory majority was gained for the first time.

That hope may be realized to the extent of possibly three seats, but as the number of days before the electors go to the polls grows smaller, Conservatives are shifting their ground and are becoming more frank in admitting that a sweep of the province is too much to expect. Liberals, confident of returning a majority, are uneasy at the prospect of likely turnover in strongholds that have shown symptoms of fickleness. In the last parliament the 21 constituencies of Saskatchewan were represented by 16 straight Liberals.

FOUR PREMIERS ARE OUT TO BEAT LIBERAL PARTY

KING SCORES PREMIERS.

Conservative Leader Attacks the New Zealand Trade Treaty.

(By George Hambleton, C. P. Staff Correspondent)

OTTAWA, July 17.—Four Provincial Premiers are now in the Conservative campaign against the King Government. Premier Ferguson continues in North Ontario his long-distance duel with Premier King. Premier Anderson of Saskatchewan is planning a series of campaign meetings which will carry him to the principal Saskatchewan centres before election day. Premier Rhodes of Nova Scotia—so charged the Dominion Prime Minister at Kenora last night—has thrown his weight on the side of the Dominion Conservative party.

Premier Baxter of New Brunswick is the latest addition.

POISONING CASE TAKES NEW TURN

Anonymous, Threatening Letters Sent to Listowel Lad's Parents.

JEALOUSY MOTIVE.

LISTOWEL, Ont., July 17. (C.P.)—Revelation that the accused had led up to his alleged poisoning of their son by writing threatening but anonymous letters to Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Jackson of Listowel, furnished a new angle to the case here when Robert Freeman, 39 year old farm hand, was committed for trial on a charge of attempted murder of 17-year-old Gordon Jackson. The lad was saved by quick medical attention.

Reference to the letters at the preliminary hearing, at which Freeman did not plead, indicated that they had threatened harm to the boy if he persisted in associating with certain of his chums. They were signed variously, it was said, "K. K. K. of Kanada," and "A Friend."

In Freeman's confession, which was read in court he suggested that his motive may have been jealousy of the lad, in that his parents paid more attention to their son than to him.

Peterborough's Two Winners

The International Photographers' Association desired to find "the most attractive child in North America" so they asked photographers throughout Canada and the United States to submit their best. More than 20,000 pictures were sent in and of that number these Peterborough kiddies won second and third prizes among Canadian children. They are: Terrence Wilson Fox, two year old son of Mr. and Mrs. W. Reg Fox, 431 Stewart street, who won second prize, and (right) Dorothy May Dewdney, one year old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Dewdney, 485 Park street, third prize.

COAL MINES BILL AMENDMENT IS BEING DRAWN UP

Labor Gov't Expects Measure Will Pass Lords This Time.

NO CRISIS THIS WEEK.

If Not Satisfactory Bill Will Not Be Supported By 43 Mining Members.

LONDON, Eng., July 17.—(By Thos. T. Champion, C. P. Staff Correspondent.)—Under the watchful eyes of the Miners' Federation of Great Britain, the Labor Government is pursuing the delicate task of formulating suc han amendment to the Coal Miners' Bill as will finally pass the House of Lords. Three times now, the Upper Chamber has disapproved the 7½ hour day clause of the Mines Bill. Instead, the Peers want the clause to read "90 hours a fortnight." On the surface there does not seem much difference, but the crux of the argument is that the 90-hour a fortnight rule would permit mine owners to continue the present eight-hour day for five and a half days a week. And it is the eight hour day, instituted by the Conservative Government after the 1926 coal strike, at which the miners balk.

No Crisis This Week.

"There will be no crisis this week," says A. J. Cook, militant General Secretary of the Miners' Federation. "We have placed our position before the Government and we have accepted the recommendation of Rt. Hon. William Graham (president of the Board of Trade) for an amendment to the Lord's spread-over proposal."

Mr. Cook then gave an indication of the danger the Government faces. "We are waiting to see the exact form of the amendment to be submitted to the Commons by the Government," he said. "If it is not satisfactory 43 mining members of Parliament will neither be able to support it nor the Government."

OFFICER INJURED MAKING ARREST

Arrests Alleged Pickpocket After Scuffle in Which Car Drops Down Cliff.

TWO ESCAPE.

ST. CATHARINES, Ont., July 17.—(C.P.)—John Bonner is in the St. Catharines jail on a week's remand, awaiting recovery of Provincial Officer Robbie, who engaged in a scuffle with Bonner and two companions who were suspected of operating as pickpockets at Queenston Heights yesterday.

W. S. Shephard, ticket office employee, claimed to have observed the two working their trade and called Officer Robbie, who was in civilian clothes at the time.

While Shephard was chasing one of the trio, Robbie attempted to place the other two under arrest. Bonner endeavored to kick Robbie from the running board of their car, but the officer succeeded in getting inside. In the scuffle Robbie hurled both driver and Bonner and himself into the rear of the car, which, being driverless, backed over the cliff about 150 feet and brought up against a tree. Robbie hung onto Bonner, and with the assistance of Shephard, placed him under arrest.

The car was badly wrecked and Robbie sustained three broken ribs and severe bruises during the scuffle and drop.

The other two alleged pickpockets got away.

MAYOR B. WEMP DEFENDS POLICE

States Officers Did Not Infringe On Rights Of Communist Candidate.

MAINTAINING PEACE.

TORONTO, Ont., July 17.—(C.P.)—The Police Department of Toronto and its personnel were defended by Mayor Bert S. Wemp in a communication he has sent to Col. O. M. Biggar, legal adviser to the Chief Electoral Officer of the Dominion. The latter had previously communicated with the Mayor regarding allegations made on behalf of Charles Sims, local Communist candidate, that the police had interfered with several of his meetings. Col. Biggar stated if this were true the police were exceeding their authority.

The Mayor, it is understood, has informed Col. Biggar that the police did not infringe on the rights of Mr. Sims and that they would continue to uphold the law and maintain peace in the city.

ENTIRE SHIFT OF WORKMEN KILLED IN GAS EXPLOSION

Twelve Men Instantly Killed in San Francisco Water Tunnel.

STRUCK GAS POCKET.

System of Tunnels Being Built to Bring Mountain Water to City.

CAMP MITCHELL, Calif., July 17 (Canadian Press). — A gas explosion killed an entire shift of 12 men in a tunnel of the Hetch Hetchy project, San Francisco's municipal water area early to-day. Engineers said a natural gas pocket accidentally ignited.

Down 1,500 Feet.

The tunnel drops straight downward more than 800 feet from the surface and then branches into a drift to the east and one to the west. Those killed were in the east drift.

Thirteen men in the west drift, which goes down about 1,500 feet, were badly shaken and some were gassed, but all were brought to the surface. None was seriously hurt.

Two bodies were recovered almost immediately, but the gas flow soon drove rescuers to the use of masks.

The tunnel, in which the blast occurred, is one of a score being constructed to bring mountain water from the high Sierras to San Francisco and adjoining communities.

More than 87 miles of tunnels are included in the Hetch Hetchy project, which will furnish 400,000,000 gallons of water daily and one billion kilowatt hours of electric power annually.

EXPECT U. S. MINISTER LAST WEEK IN AUGUST

WASHINGTON, July 17 (C.P.). — The State Department to-day said that Col. Hanford MacNider, newly appointed United States Envoy Extraordinary and Minister Plenipotentiary to Canada, will probably assume his official duties at Ottawa during the last week of August or the first week of September.

Col. MacNider succeeds Hon. William Phillips.

WOULD INCREASE DUTY ON U.S. CARS

Essex Candidate Suggests All Cars Be 60 Per Cent Canadian Made.

HAS GOV'T APPROVAL.

WINDSOR, Ont., July 17 (C.P.)—Changes in the basis for levying duties on United States made automobiles which will have the effect of bringing manufacturers to Canada or to having more parts made in Canada, were outlined last evening by Edmond C. Odette, Liberal candidate in Essex East riding.

The proposal is to levy duty on the retail price of imported cars instead of the wholesale price as at present, and for increasing the requirements for Canadian content, in order to get the present 25 per cent. drawback on parts. At present the autos must be at least 50 per cent. Canadian made. It is proposed to raise this to 60 per cent. generally on all cars and 66 2-3 per cent. on cheaper cars. M. O'Dette declared that he had the approval of the King Government for such a change in the plan of levying duty.

Statement Not Confirmed.

OTTAWA, Ont., July 17 (C.P.)—In the absence of the Prime Minister and Mr. Dunning, Minister of Finance, from the capital no confirmation could be secured of the statement attributed to E. G. O'Dette, at Windsor, relative to the institution by the Government of a new basis of levying duties on automobiles.

It was pointed out here to-day by Government officials that the automobile hearing is still under consideration by the Tariff Advisory Board. The suggestion had already been made at previous T.A.B. hearings that duties on imported cars be levied on a principle similar to that propounded by Mr. O'Dette. Canadian industrialists asked that the "factory list" price, which is higher ordinarily than the importation price, be made the basis of the duty.

Victory Is Claimed By Largest Margin In Bisley History

Canadians Pile Up 51 Point Lead With a Total of 1,076 Against Rhodesia Second With 1,025—Competing Team Composed of 12 Men Each Firing at 90 Oand 1,000 Yards.

BISLEY CAMP, England, July 17 (Canadian Press Cable).—Canada won the Mackinnon Challenge Cup this afternoon. The victory atoned for the Dominion's loss of the Kolapore Cup on Tuesday, and was Canada's seventh victory in this great team shoot of the National Rifle Association meeting since the cup was first offered in 1891.

Canada won by the comfortable margin of 51 points. Her score was 1,076. Rhodesia was second with 1,025, England, holders of the cup, was fourth with 1,020.

The Northland Prize of $100, awarded in the same shoot for marksmen not qualified to compete for the Prince of Wales Prize, went to Lieut. A. J. Barlow of the Small Arms School, with a score of 68. Lieut. Barlow won the Army Championship's and the King's Medal at the Army meeting two weeks ago.

Company Sergeant Major G. M. Emslie of Toronto led the Canadians competing in this important feature of the National Rifle Association's meeting, with 67.

The match was fired at two ranges, 300 and 600 yards, with service rifles, seven shots each distance.

RANGERS PICNIC TO ROCHESTER IS BIG SUCCESS

Almost 300 Take in Excursion of the Peterborough Battalion.

TOUR "FLOWER CITY."

Sail on Lake Ontario Yesterday Was Most Delightful.

Officers and men of the Peterborough Rangers battalion with their families and friends, making a party of almost 300, embarked yesterday on the pleasurable cruise to Rochester and return.

Everything combined to make the long-planned excursion a great success; the sun shone from a cloudless sky and the lake was like glass. Officers and men found a new and closer fellowship as they fraternized with song and story on the ferry's deck, and the success of the excursion was but another example of the splendid esprit-de-corps of the local regiment.

Much of the success was directly due to Lieut.-Colonel Gordon Hall, former O. C. of the regiment, Col. M. H. Park, O. C., and Major G. G. Winterbottom, who looked after the many little details that added to the comfort of the party and who were always the leaders in the fun and frolic.

Lake Most Placid

The steamer, Ontario I, gaily decorated with flags for the occasion, left her berth at Cobourg sharply at nine o'clock D. S. T. and headed across the lake for Genesee Dock, the port of Rochester. The four-and-a-half hours' water trip was completed under the most delightful weather conditions. The lake was most placid and the passengers suiting their own inclinations either lounged on the breeze—swept decks or indulged in games and dancing in the cosy little salon amidships.

The cuisine in the ship's dining, well-known for its quality, was well patronized by the passengers whose appetites had enjoyed an added zest because of the bracing weather conditions.

As the steamer glided along the land-locked entrance to the Genesee dock, the ship's officers were most attentive to any questions asked con-

NEW TAX LAWS MAY BE REVOKED

German Socialists Introduce Motion of No Confidence in Gov't.

BERLIN, Germany, July 17.—(CP)—The Socialist Members of the Reichstag today introduced a motion to revoke the tax laws decreed last night by order of President Von Hindenburg under the dictatorial powers granted by articles 48 of the constitution.

The Socialists also introduced a motion of no confidence in the Government.

Under the rules of the Reichstag, these motions can not come to a vote before to-morrow.

In introducing their motion revoking the tax law decrees of the Bruening cabinet, the Socialists took advantage of a clause in Article 48 which provides that the measures decreed under the provisions of this article "must be revoked if the Reichstag so demands".

COBALT, Ont., July 17 (Canadian Press). — Permission to block off half of the width of Galena Street at Grandview Avenue in order to permit the mining of high-grade silver ore in that section, has been granted the Mining Corporation of Canada by the town of Cobalt.

According to Arnold Smith, underground superintendent of the company, the veins have been worked up to the street allowance, and it is proposed to continue operations through to the old shaft on the Nancy Helen property.

To carry out the work, it would be necessary to mine under the road.

Panic Reigns as Excited Ladies Pull Would-be Rescuers Into Pit.

OTTAWA, Ont., July 17. (C.P.) — Thirty five women were plunged nine feet into the basement when a portion of the floor of the Eastview Liberal-Conservative Association Committee Room gave way, during a card party last night. Panic reigned as husbands and friends fought to extricate the frightened women from the tangled mass of wreckage. Only one woman was badly injured.

200 Women in Hall.

Nearly 200 women had gathered in the committee rooms. When David Gincras, as chairman of the Association, started to give out the prizes a 12-inch beam supporting the east end of the floor, gave way, carrying everything above with it, and breaking a gas pipe in the basement.

Police rushed to the scene to restore order and assist in releasing the excited women. Many who sought to reach down into the basement to pull out the victims were themselves pulled in thus adding to the furore.

Police soon organized a human chain and by grasping each other's arms the rescurers reached into the pit to pull out the women.

LLOYD GEORGE OPPOSED.

Snowden, Ardent Safeguarding Foe Takes Active Part in Debate.

LONDON, July 17.—(C. P. Cable)—The Conservative members of the Opposition found themselves alone last night when they sought to have the House of Commons condemn the so-called failure of the MacDonald Government to maintain and extend the safeguarding duties.

The motion of censure was moved by the Rt. Hon. Stanley Baldwin, Conservative leader, and besides criticizing the adminstration for its lack of a safeguarding policy it sought expression of the House's regret that the Government had "arbitrarily excluded from consideration" the imposition of duties on foreign foodstuffs. The House defeated the motion by 312 to 241 votes, the traditionally free trade Liberals voting, almost of necessity, with the Government.

From the moment that the Rt. Hon. David Lloyd George, the veteran leader of the Liberals, termed the Baldwin motion "the most extraordinary and inexplicable proposal of censure" he had ever heard the motion was doomed. Mr. Lloyd George found "extraordinary" the fact that Mr. Baldwin reproached the Government for not considering duties on foreign foodstuffs while Mr. Baldwin himself, said Mr. Lloyd George, had refused to consider such taxes without reference to the people.

The chief figures in the debate were Mr. Baldwin, Mr. Lloyd George and the redoubtable Labor Chancellor of the Exchequer, the Rt. Hon. Philip Snowden, ardent foe of safeguarding.

SUMMER HOMES SWEPT BY FIRE

Detroit Woman has barely Time To Herd Children Outside.

$5,000 LOSS.

SARNIA, Ont., July 17 (Canadian Press). — Two fine summer residences at Lake Huron beach were completely destroyed by fire last night. The damage was estimated at $50,000.

Both houses were owned by United States citizens. That in which fire originated belonged to V. P. Rosasco, Detroit. Mrs. Rosasco was at home when the fire was discovered. She had barely time to pick up her young baby and herd the four other children out of the house when the fire swept through the entire lower floor.

The blaze then spread to the residence of Mrs. W. Mann, Dayton, Ohio, and it was also completely gutted before the apparatus arrived from this city.

FERGUSON LAYS WHEAT TIE-UP AT KING'S DOOR

France, Russia Sold Crops to Britain While Our Gov't Sat Helpless.

BACKS W. A. GORDON.

Ontario Premier Complains of Highway and Agricultural Grant Withdrawals.

COBALT, Ont., July 17 (By Frank Flaherty, C.P. Staff Writer). — Responsibility for the failure of Canada's wheat crop of last year to reach the market was laid at the door of the King Government yesterday by Premier G. Howard Ferguson. The fact that Argentine, France and Russia had been able to sell their wheat in Great Britain while Canada could not, indicated something was wrong in Canada, Mr. Ferguson maintained.

"These countries," he said, "are run by shrewd, capable business men, who looked to the interests of their people, while our Government sat helpless at Ottawa. That is the reason we did not sell our wheat crop."

General Attack.

Mr. Ferguson's comments on the wheat situation were part of a general denunciation of the Government in connection with unemployment and the tariff. Hon. C. A. Dunning, he said, had attributed unemployment to the wheat situation, but did not say that other countries had been able to sell wheat while Canada had failed. Then Hon. T. A. Crerar, Minister of Railways and Canals, had said if there was a bumper wheat crop this year unemployment would disappear, notwithstnding Mr. Dunning's contention that railway, steamship and elevator employees were out of work because last year's crop did not move to market.

"There is nothing wrong with this country," said Mr. Ferguson. "It is the richest country in the world, both in wealth and opportunity. But we want somebody at the head of affairs who will protect our wealth, our home and our factories from unfair competition from other countries."

Louis Cote, M.L.A., of Ottawa, speaking in French, said Mr. Ferguson had endeared himself to the French-Canadians of Ontario by his solution of the language problem in the schools. It was now possible for children to learn to read and write the French language well in the schools of Ontario.

Welcomed in Mining Town.

Kirkland Lake, Ont., July 17. (C.P.) — The mining town of Kirkland Lake turned out in force last night to greet the premier of Ontario, Hon G. Howard Ferguson, and thousands of people lined the streets as the premier drove through the town at the head of a parade. He spoke to an audience which packed a theatre and loud speakers carried his voice to those outside.

It was Mr. Ferguson's third speech in the constituency of South Temiskaming in support of the Conservative candidate, W. A. Gordon. One or two good humored hecklers in the audience vied with some enthusiastic applauders in making occasional remarks.

The premier charged the King

GERMAN FINANCIAL BILL PASSES AFTER BATTLE

BERLIN, Germany, July 17 (C.P.). —By the desperate measure of overriding Parliamentary opposition, the Cabinet last night, with President Hindenburg's authorization under Article 48 of the Constitution, declared its hotly contested financial program a law.

The action created a situation making the fate of the present Reichstag seem problematical. That body will be informed officially of the Cabinet's decision in the Gazette. The Reichstag then will have the opportunity, if unwilling to consent to the measure, of voting down the Government's application of Article 48.

REPORT OF THEFT LEADS TO ARREST FOR GIRL'S DEATH

Montreal Recognizes Man as Wanted For Washington Murder.

ROBBED OF $50.

Suspect Admits Identity But Denies Slaying Young Woman.

MONTREAL, July 17 (C.P.)—When he visited detective headquarers yesterday to complain of a theft of $50, Herman Henry Barrere, wanted in Washington, D.C., in connection with the murder of Mary E. Baker, was recognized and placed under arrest. The local police had been furnished with a complete description of Barrere in circulars sent out from Washington last month. Mary Baker's body was found in a culvert in Arlington county, Virginia, April 12 last.

Barrere admitted his identity, police stated last night, but claimed o have no knowledge of the murder. He said he had been under arrest in the United States and had been then questioned regarding the murder of Mary Baker, according to the local police, who questioned him.

When Barrere visited detective headquarters yesterday Inspector Foucault, Capt. Gorman and Sergt. McCoy were in the office. They listened to Barrere's complaint of having been robbed of $50 and then got a signature of the complainant. It tallied, the detectives stated, with the specimen of the signature carried on the circular sent out from Washington. Further investigation was carried out and it was found that numerous tattoo marks and other marks of identification described in the circular, were found on the complainant.

"I am Barrere," police quote the man as saying, "but the rest of that circular is wrong. I know nothing of that murder." Barrere is 37 years old.

Mary E. Baker was a young woman employed in the United States navy department and was last seen alive in her automblle, parked on "B" Street in Washington at six o'clock on April 11, 1930. Her body was discovered next day in a culvert on government property in Arlington, Va., she had been criminally assaulted and shot three times.

CANADA HAS HAD LAST WORD IN U.S. TRADE RELATIONS

Joseph Wearing Answers 'Cute' Remark Of Mrs. Howard Fallis.

A MARKET FOR WHEAT.

Germany Paid Bonus Last Year To Undersell Canadian Wheat.

"Mrs. Howard Fallis said a rather cute thing in her speech at Guelph Tuesday night that doesn't sound quite so cute on second thought", remarked Joseph Wearing at Indian River last night, where he addressed a capacity crowd in behalf of J. J. Duffus.

"Mrs. Fallis said that Mackenzie King had received a sound spanking from Uncle Sam and then turned to the Old Mother, England," Mr. Wearing proceeded. "The fact is that, in our trade relations with the United States, Mackenzie King has definitely had the last word. The Dunning Budget has been recognized by Uncle Sam as meaning a loss of Canadian business amounting to $250,000,000 a year; and the fact that the United States is going to lose that business which the Dunning Budget will divert to Great Britain means that Premier King has had the last word.

The effect of the Dunning Budget has been described by a United States Senator very differently from Mrs. Fallis' cute remark. He declared that the Dunning Budget means that Canada has given Uncle Sam a very decided kick in the place where it hurts the most. I don't like to introduce these terms into a discussion of our trade relations. In spite of tariff walls the peoples of the United States and Canada are friends, and on both sides of the border there is a common desire that we shall continue to be friends we have been for more than one hundred years."

Mr. Duffus spoke at Indian River and Lang in Otonabee last night. He was assisted by Dr. Donald Munro, Mr. Wearing and Alex Elliott. William Borland was chairman at

HEENAN ATTACKS ONTARIO PREMIER

Claims Ferguson Seeks To Become Figure Head of Dominion Politics.

LABOR MEN SPEAK.

PORT ARTHUR, Ont., July 17. —(C.P.).—Speaking here in the interests of John J. Carrick, Liberal candidate in the local riding, Hon. Peter Heenan, Minister of Labor, reiterated a recent challenge to Premier G. H. Ferguson to contest a constituency in the forthcoming election.

Mr. Heenan charged Mr. Ferguson was not as interested in the outcome of the election as he appeared to be. Instead, the Minister of Labor charged, the Ontario Premier sought to become the figurehead of Dominion politics.

James Southern, Port Arthur, and F. V. Kelly, Schreiber, prominent Labor men of the district, spoke in support of Mr. Carrick. They told the audience the interests of the Labor party were bound up in the policies of the Liberal party.

"I am going to advocate a separate Province for this part of Ontario. They are taking out many millions of dollars from this district and putting a very small proportion back," said Mr. Carrick, concluding his address during which he had criticized the Ontario Government of playing politics in the disposal of head of the lake timber limits.

EMPIRE LOYALTY ABLY DEFENDED

E. A. Peck And Speakers Reply To Allegations Made By Liberals.

DEPENDANT ON U. S.

Heated statements in reply to Liberal allegations of Conservative disloyalty to Empire and Motherland were made last night at a rally in Confederation School, North Monaghan, by speakers in behalf of the candidature of E. A. Peck, Conservative nominee for Peterborough West. The speakers were Mr. Peck; R. J. Soden of this city; J. F. Strickland, M.P.P., and Gordon Matthews, president of the local Conservative organization. Mrs. Andrews of North Monaghan was in the chair.

"I would rather cut off both my hands than see the ties between Canada and the Motherland severed," declared Mr. Peck, incident to his discussion of the Dunning budget, which he did not feel would succeed in its claim to substitute British manufactured goods for American in the Canadian market. The Liberal party, he said, was advertising "Patriotism before Party") and denouncing Tories as unpatriotic and disloyal. "We have a divided patriotism," he asserted, "and it has been Mr. Bennett's practical position that Canada is our first charge and responsibility."

Went to United States

"The only man in Canada to-day who needs to assert his loyalty and prove it," declared R. J. Soden, "is Mackenzie King." In 1914, when Canadian were proving their patriotism to Britain, Mackenzie King, who was of military age, "picked up all his little dishes," according to Mr Soden, "and hied himself to the United States. The trapper in the wilds heard the call; Mackenzie King

THORNTON SAYS GOOD CROPS MEAN PROSPERITY

VICTORIA, B.C., July 17 (C.P.).—Good crops on the Canadian Prairies will set Canada well on her way upward for the next year, in the opinion of Sir Henry Thornton, president of the Canadian National Railways. Expressing his conclusions on business conditions after a trans-Canada survey, he said that "things will probably mark time for a certain period until the public recovers its purchasing power.

"We can't expect the sun to shine all the time; there are bound to be showers. But so many people are mistaking the shower for a cyclone," he said. "We have got to look below the surface and see if there is anything wrong with our fundamentals."

PEERESSES RIGHT TO SIT IN UPPER HOUSE DEFEATED

Lord Astor, Champion of Cause, Urges Removing Bars of Sex.

VOTE IS 53 TO 49.

Conservatives Urge Waiting Till Reform Of Whole House Considered.

LONDON, England, July 17 (Canadian Press). — A Bill to admit women peeresses in their own right to membership in the House of Lords was defeated yesterday by the narrow margin of four votes, 53 to 49.

Lord Astor, who has been the womens champion for many years in their fight for recognition in the Upper House, introduced yesterday's Bill and made the plea that the bars of sex should be removed from the House of Lords as they have been from the Commons, the Cabinet, and most other public departments.

There are only 22 women who are peeresses in their own right and would be entitled to sit in the House of Lords.

Conservative peers opposing the Bill held that the question of the admittance of women should be left until the reform of the whole House was considered, a movement which has been considered for some time.

KING'S PROMISE BEING TAKEN UP

Winnipeg and St. Boniface Ask Dominion Gov't to Play Half of Bridge's Cost.

GIVE WORKLESS JOBS.

WINNIPEG, Man., July 17 (C.P.).—The cities of Winnipeg and St. Boniface propose to group themselves in an effort to alleviate the unemployment problem under Premier Mackenzie King's dollar - for - dollar scheme. Decision to start at once on the rebuilding of two bridges as relief work for the jobless, was reached at a conference of civic officials of the two cities.

Tentatively, it is suggested the Dominion Government, in line with Premier King's promise that the Treasury will expend an equal amount with provinces seeking to relieve unemployment, be asked to pay 50 per cent. of the total expended on the work. The Manitoba Government would be asked to meet 25 per cent. of the cost, with the municipalities putting up the remaining 25 per cent.

TRENT RIVER CONSERVATIVE RALLY STAGED

Milton Maybee Pleads Cause of Conservative Party at Summer Resort.

Mayor A. R. Willmott Present.

Major Belford Gives Stirring Address on Merits of Two Policies.

CAMPBELLFORD, July 17 Examiner Staff Correspondence).—Trent River was the scene of an enthusiastic meeting on Tuesday when Milton Maybee, Conservative candidate for the riding of Northumberland pleaded his and the Conservative Party's cause at a function staged in the Coral Gables Casino. Other speakers were Major W. F. Belford, Codrington, Mayor A. R. Willmott of Cobourg, and J. C. Anderson, Campbellford. The chairman of the Trent River Conservative Association, I. Lawson, occupied the chair.

Mr. Maybee, in a very determined address, considered the present Government in the light of a business proposition that had been mishandled. It had fallen down, he declared, and it was the duty of the people to change it. Of the way in which it had failed, the speaker drew attention to the state of depression that was prevalent in Canada to-day. This was not necessary in this country, with the vast wealth at its command. This was true of the agricultural situation. The markets were bad, and that one chief market, the home market had been exploited by the present Government. This was to be seen in the dairy business and in the New Zealand butter proposition. The exportation of Canadian butter had been gradually decreasing during the past nine years through the lack of proper protection.

Mr. Maybee also scored the King Government for the cancelling of the grants to good roads, agriculture, and education, and accused them of playing politics with the soldiers' pensions.

Of the unemployment situation today, he said, it was very severe. Men were looking for work in a season of the year that should find every man busy, and many farms throughout the country were idle, or not producing the amount of produce that they were capable of. The only solution to the problem in the speaker's mind was that offered by the Hon. Mr. Bennett, to call Parliament and create work for the unemployed of the country. Mr. King's method of a conference, which was non-legislative, was of no use to people who were hungry.

Mr. Maybee also spoke at length on the Dunning Budget, describing it as an absolute farce, and outlining the Conservative policy of Imperial preferences, which was a fair exchange of goods with the Motherland.

In conclusion, the speaker denied the statements that the Opposition were making against him, namely, that he had voted for the New Zealand Treaty, and pointed out that Parliament did not vote on the measure, as it was an Order-in-Council.

Contrasts Two Policies.

Major Belford, in a very forceful manner contrasted the two policies as they were offered to the people of the country. He pointed out that the candidate figured only to the extent that he was a supporter of the leader and his policy of the party for which he stood. Of the May Day Budget, he said that he could see no difference in the state of the country since it came into force.

"The Dunning Budget is simply the good old Tory policy of protection that has been camouflaged," said Major Belford, and went on to score Dunning as being a solid Free Trader who was now putting a tariff Budget forward to save Canada. "If you are going to have protection, get the party behind it who believe in it, he said for the King Government will never support it."

The speaker ridiculed the free list as it was exemplified in the Budget, to offer a free importation of such thing as washing machines, agricultural machinery, hay and straw was foolish.

Unemployment, thought Major Belford, was rampant throughout Canada at the present time. In Toronto alone to-day there are a thousand families who are receiving charity.

(Advocating the policy of the Hon. Mr. Bennett, the speaker said that the Conservative leader would kill the New Zealand Treaty, which was doing so much harm to the dairy industry of the country. He pointed out that there was a time when Canadian butter, cheese, and bacon were known on the London market, but they were now gone through the inefficiency of the King Government. For the solution of the unemployment problem, Mr. Bennett would call Parliament and create work, and do something definite such as the building of the Trans-Canada Highway. As for the trade policy of the party, it was the same old Imperial preference that Conservatives had always advocated.

Mayor Willmott, in a brief address, stressed the fact that the prospect for Mr. Maybee in West Northumberland was very bright, and deplored the lack of interest that was being taken in this campaign. He spoke of the promises made by the Liberal candidate W. A. Fraser, and pointed out that the real issues depended on the merits of the two parties.

J. A. Anderson also addressed the gathering, emphasizing the fact that the present campaign was being fought on the tariff question and scored the Liberals for their anti-British policy in the past.

stayed away until the last gun was fired. And to-day he accuses us of disloyalty."

The Liberal party had been reduced to dire straits for election material and were "asking for trouble they are going to get on the 28th," stated J. F. Strickland in his address, by questioning the loyalty of members of the Conservative party to the Empire.

Mr. Strickland further characterized J. H. Burnham's talk in this regard as "a lot of bombastice language." As for Mr. Burnham, the speaker declared: "He has, I am sure, outlived his public usefulness to this community. I should like to ask Mr. Burnham to explain how he reconciles his present attitude with that of the advertising of the Liberal Committee with reference to the 1911 'reciprocity' election." Mr. Burnham has been elected on the Conservative platform denouncing that policy, Mr. Strickland recalled, and now his Liberal associates were boasting of reciprocity as a high water mark among Liberal policies of the past, linking it with the present issues.

Mr. Peck, in his address, referred to attacks upon him by Mr. Burnham and the Hon. G. N. Gordon, K.C., saying: "I have never received so much attention from anyone as I have from those two fellows sitting on the fence. Open letter writing has become a daily habit with them." In answer to allegations, he quoted from Hansard a speech of the Hon. R. B. Bennett declaring in the House, following the introduction of the Dunning budget, that he commended the measures therein calculated to strengthen Empire ties and ties between Canada and the Motherland. Mr. Peck asserted that he was proud to follow Mr. Bennett.

Dependent on U. S.

"We have," Mr. Peck declared, "become economically dependent on the United States, and that condition will never be improved under the present administration. We are employing labor in another country when we might be producing manufactures here and employing the unemployed labor in our own country." He felt that Canada had got the worse of tariff exchanges with the U. S. and that this fact with that of the government's immigration policy were responsible for the present unemployment situation. There was nothing in the Dunning budget, which the Liberals had hailed as a panacea and made the basis of their platform, to alleviate this condition or increase trade with Great Britain.

Mr. Soden, in the course of his speech, arraigned the Prime Minister for his trade policies and his "childishness' in denying such statements as the famous "five-cent" speech, although Hansard had it in black and white. We must have a truthful man at the helm, Mr. Soden felt.

Declaring that Mackenzie King was "not fit to run a corner grocery store, let alone the Dominion of Canada," Mr. Soden blamed the Premier for the wheat tie-up and the coal situation.

When private subscriptions were being raised for the Welsh miners, the Prime Minister had had a chance for a patriotic act, since he wished to stress patriotism, while at the same time performing a signal act in the task of nation-building. There was unmined coal in the West, Canada was spending $96,000,000 yearly for U. S. Coal, and the C.N.R. was running behind to the tune of 35 to 65 millions of dollars a year. Mackenzie King might have summoned Welsh miners to mine this coal, the C.N.R. to carry it, with ultimate benefit to the Motherland, Canadian industry and the Canadian consumer.

Mr. King was responsible, Mr. Soden continued, for permitting U. S. short buying of Canada's surplus wheat when he knew that the States had to have the hard wheat to mix with their own for milling to fill their contracts. The Premier should have imposed export duties, according to the speaker, thus permitting the wheels of Canadian mills to turn again.

Gordon Matthews stressed the dwindling exports of Canadian produce. The King government was just about two years too late in urging increased exports. "A change of government will have a beneficial effect on the morale of the country," he declared.

TORONTO PRODUCE.

TORONTO, July 17.— A firm tone was shown by the local butter market yesterday, and prices were steady with quotations stated Monday. Ontario No 1 was quoted by brokers at 27¾c to 28c, and No. 2 at 26½c to 26¾c. But the majority of offerings changed hands at 27¾c for No. 1 and the higher price of 28c was only obtainable for a few lots of high scoring No. 1.

Butter buyers were taking on fair-sized lots at the above prices, and as usual, showed a preference for large lots, or straight carloads. No weakness was apparent anywhere yesterday, and some brokers were of the opinion that the market would steady at 28c for Ontario No. 1.

Cream.

Churning cream is to remain at the present spread in prices for some time according to an executive of one of the largest concerns. This gentleman stated that prices were too high before the advance in butter came into effect this week, and, therefore the present prices were just about right for the present butter market. Country shippers were quoted 27c to 28c for specials, 26c to 27c for No. 1, and 23c to 24c for No. 2, f.o.b, country points.

Eggs.

There was a good inquiry for eggs yesterday and some brokers found difficulty in meeting the local demand. Prices for graded eggs ranged from 31c for extras, 29c for first, and 25c for seconds, graded eggs, in old used cases, were quoted at 31½c for extras, and 29½c for firsts.

Country shippers were quoted steady prices at 29c for extras, 27c for firsts, and 22c for seconds, ungraded, delivered, cases returned. Retailers were offered extras, in cartons, at 34c to 35c; extras, loose, 32c to 33c; firsts, loose, 30c to 31c, and seconds, loose, 26c to 27c.

The cheese market has done a lot of changing—that is, on the country boards—but locally brokers claim 16½c to 16¾c is all the market will stand, all that they can possibly get for shipments of new, large. Twins would sell at 16¾c to 17c, and triplets, 17c to 17¼c.

CHICAGO GRAIN.

CHICAGO, July 17. —Rain reports from Canada came in the nick of time late yesterday to send wheat values downward after the market had averaged generally higher.

The dominating influence was continued uneasiness over prolonged dearth of moisture in spring crop sections both north and south of the Canadian border.

Closing quotations on wheat were nervous at virtually the day's bottom level, 7-8c to 1 1-2c a bushel lower than yesterday's finish. Corn closed 1-8c to 5-8c off; oats 1-2c to 3-4c down, and provisions unchanged to a rise of 2c.

WINNIPEG GRAIN.

WINNIPEG, July 17. — Late-session selling rubbed some of the bullish edge from the wheat market yesterday, knocking more than half of a substantial gain away. Values still in advance at the finish, were up 1⅜c to ⅝c. Reports of rain in parts of Saskatchewan brought about the belated bear rally.

Earlier, gains of 3c had been registered. Excessive heat in the West, combined with broader export interest and strong Liverpool cables, turned the market upward. Gains were held until the last half-hour of trading, when selling became general.

Cash wheat business was light, holders showing little interest in the lively demand. Spreads were unchanged to ⅛c better. Scattered sales of barley accounted for most of the business in the coarse grain market.

AUTO RUNS 59 MILES ON GALLON OF GAS

Automobile engineers who worked for years in an effort to reduce gasoline consumption have found the solution in a marvelous invention that fits all cars. An actual test made by one of the engineers showed 59 miles on a gallon of gas. Thousands of car owners have already installed this new invention. They not only report amazing gas savings but are also surprised to find quicker pick up, instant starting, smoother running motors and disappearance of carbon. E. Oliver, 999-597N Third St., Milwaukee, Wis., for a limited time is offering a free device to those who will help introduce it. He also needs men everywhere to make over $100 weekly in their own territory, taking care of local business. Write him at once for free sample and big money making offer.—Adv.

5-DAY WEEK SEEN AS UNEMPLOYMENT CURE

TORONTO, Ont., July 17 (C.P.).—That the five-day week in industry was coming rapidly and that it would be realized with fewer difficulties than other changes in labor conditions, such as the eight-hour day, was the prediction made by Matthew Woll, vice-president of the American Federation of Labor, in the course of an interview here.

Mr. Woll stated that there was probably a greater number of unemployed in the United States than the official figures issued by Washington would indicate. He also thought that unemployment was less acute in Canada than in the United States.

The remedy, he declared, lay in shorter hours of labor with pay equivalent to the present weekly average, if the buying power of the population was to be maintained.

CANADA HAS HAD LAST WORD IN U S TRADE RELATIONS

Indian River where the Peterborough Cheerio Entertainers provided a musical program that delighted the audience. Sam Armstrong presided at Lang.

Mr. Armstrong recalled the Liberal meeting at Indian River four years ago when he told Mr. Duffus he had not made up his mind to vote for him without hearing both sides. At length Mr. Armstrong did throw his support to the Liberals.

Supports Duffus.

"In this election I have no hesitation in telling Mr. Duffus that I intend to vote for him because of the importance of the Dunning Budget as a solution of the economic conditions that exist at this time," Mr. Armstrong said.

Mr. Wearing urged the farmers to consider the conditions of world trade as they have rapidly developed during the last years.

"The United States emerged from the war as the only victor", Mr. Wearing said, "and as a result of gathering in the spoils they are the richest nation in the world. They demand the last dollar in payment of war debts, but they refuse to accept the only payment which debtor countries in Europe can make, and that is in the form of goods. This attitude has engendered a hostile feeling toward the United States, and we find countries raising tariffs against American goods. There is no more bitter manner of waging war than by means of tariffs, but in turn they hurt the country that erects them."

The markets of Great Britain had been open to the world, Mr. Wearing stated, but in the last few years there had been growing in Britain an opinion to build up trade within the Empire and for the benefit of all parts of the Empire.

A Market For Wheat.

"Right now Canada has seized the opportunity of encouraging that sentiment, and we say "we will be the first to open our market and as members of the same family we will trust you to open your markets to us." Germany paid a bonus last year on every bushel of wheat they sold to Great Britain so they could undersell our wheat, and Britain bought large quantities of wheat from the Argentine. These facts show the importance of corralling the British market.' Mr. Dunning is an Englishman, and it was only natural that he should seize this time of crisis by bringing in a budget that powerfully appeals to the British people. One of the real jobs Mr. Dunning has set for himself after the Conference in London this Fall is to work out arrangements with Britain whereby they will open their markets to our wheat.

The Dunning Budget has already had its effect, for Ramsay MacDonald, the Prime Minister, has stated that there was in process a new trade treaty with the Argentine to take their wheat, but the negotiations have been held up, pending the results of the Empire Conference.

There have always been close relations between Britain and the Argentine. British capital has built up a great beef trade in the Argentine; but they are not of British blood. They are a foreign people, and it is far more natural for the British people to desire to trade with us in Canada. We are now extending our hand to Great Britain hoping that they will extend their hand out to us. That is the policy of the Liberal party in this election.

Hon. R. B. Bennett takes a different attitude. His motto is "us for ourselves," but Mr. Bennett apparently does not know that there is nothing so hard to get as trade. He talks of blasting his way, but the Liberal method is to win our way into the markets of the Empire. If we are going to depend on ourselves alone, how are we going to dispose of our great surplus wheat crop. The time is coming when we may have a billion bushels to sell instead of the 500,000,000 bushels two years ago. That is what the Dunning Budget is looking forward to this year and also for permanent markets."

Dr. Munro.

"In these days when business is of all importance I think it would be well to select men who have business acumen and experience," Dr. Munro said. "The choice of the Liberals of Peterborough in Mr. Duffus could not be improved upon in my opinion. There is a deep feeling among the people today that the time has come for greater trade within the Empire, and I feel certain that it will be the policy of this country in the years to come no matter how this election is decided. We have a great opportunity in Canada to express ourselves on this question, and I think it would be a mistake to let partyism influence us in our decision."

government with lack of co-operation with the Provincial governments. As premier of a province he had reason to complain of the withdrawal of grants for highways, technical education and agriculture. That was the reason he was taking part in the election campaign.

"I am on guard for Ontario," said Mr. Ferguson. "I am going to look out for Ontario's rights, and I am not going to see this province deprived of a five cent piece it is entitled to."

"You know I don't seem to be liked down at Ottawa, but I think I am a pretty decent fellow. I get along well with my wife and other ladies I come in contact with, but I can't seem to get along with the old women who are running affairs at Ottawa."

THE pure vegetable oils in Palmolive Soap are Nature's most effective safeguard for the lovely texture of the skin.

"When not enough soap and water is used," says Marguerite Hoare, "one risks oiliness, blackheads and similar disfigurements. When the wrong soap is used, one suffers roughness and irritation."

"My solution," continues Marguerite Hoare, "to the problem of cleansing without irritation is—Palmolive Soap. Its safe lather has wonderful cleansing properties, carrying all impurities from the pores."

London society frequents the beauty salons of Marguerite Hoare for the benefit of her advice and treatments, all of which include the use of Palmolive Soap. Her reputation has secured for her a clientele that includes many of the most famous names in England.

In the exclusive salons of Marguerite Hoare . . . as in the salons of beauty specialists all over the world . . . the use of Palmolive Soap is enthusiastically endorsed.

From their own experience, these beauty experts have realized that the first step in all facial treatments is skin cleanliness. And they know that only soap and water can cleanse the skin in the right way.

Beware of irritation

The wrong kind of soap, however, can do great harm to the skin—can cause irritation and roughness. That is why 23,720 beauty specialists recommend Palmolive Soap—whose palm and olive oil content cleanses the skin so gently and safely.

Here is the treatment advised by Marguerite Hoare, and so many of the beauty specialists in Europe and America: Massage a creamy lather of Palmolive Soap and warm water gently into the pores; rinse first with warm water, then with cold. Do this night and morning.

To this simple home treatment they ascribe much of their success in complexion care. No other soap, they explain, will bring the same results.

Follow Marguerite Hoare's advice. Begin to use Palmolive right away. It costs so little that you can use it for your bath as well.

SHOULD WORK WELL.

The new regulations by which traffic officers, if the offender so desires, may inflict a fine and save the motorist the trouble of appearing before a magistrate should work out well.

It provides an effective way of dealing with motor tourists who run foul of Ontario's traffic laws and who otherwise would be put to the inconvenience of delaying their trip until their case could be heard in court.

The traffic officers are as a rule experienced men who have reason to know just about what penalty would be inflicted by a magistrate, and they can be counted upon to hit pretty close to the mark; in any event the law provides for a refund should the court in reviewing the case consider that the officer has been too severe in the fine inflicted.

No part of the fine, of course, goes to the officer, so that in giving him authority to summarily dispose of minor breaches of the traffic regulations there is no risk of having the travelling public needlessly punished by over-zealous officials.

The change is merely a matter-of-fact means of meeting a situation that in other years has caused considerable inconvenience to motorists.

SOME PEOPLE ARE INTERESTED.

In Southeast Grey where the celebrated Miss Agnes MacPhail is again a candidate some 2,500 electors assembled at Durham for the joint meeting that followed the official nomination of herself and her opponent on Monday.

Such a large attendance on a week day at a time when the farmers are decidedly busy would seem to indicate a decidedly lively interest in the issues of the campaign.

From several other sections come similar reports of large turnouts for the nomination day proceedings, and yet the general impression is that this is a particularly quiet election and that the people as a whole are not greatly interested, leaving most of the work to the political organizations.

Whether the pressure that is being put on Ontario electors will result in an awakening of interest during the last week of the campaign remains to be seen.

It is to be hoped that it will, for the election is a momentuous one and it should be decided by a very large percentage of the electorate.

The seeming apathy that exists in many sections, according to reports, is not a particularly healthy sign, and it is hoped will be replaced as the campaign draws to a close by a livelier interest.

ONE STAGE UNNECESSARY.

In connection with the preparation of voters' lists in urban districts, the experience gained in the present election is expected to result in at least one change in the machinery now being used for the first time.

Under the new act as it was operated on this occasion there were three stages in the collection of urban names.

In the first place, joint enumerators made a house to house canvass to secure, if possible, a full and accurate list of every eligible voter.

Then registrars were appointed for the purpose of making any corrections or additions that might be needed in the preliminary list.

Finally, the revising officer in every constituency held sessions at which any voters whose names might have been omitted could apply to have their names added.

It is the general opinion that the second stage is unnecessary.

With two enumerators each acting as a check on the other, canvassing the sub-divisions the number of names missed was very small, and there is little doubt that so long as there is a chance to correct omissions, as provided by the sessions held by the revising officer, there is no need of going to the trouble and expense of appointing registrars.

YOUNG POLITICIANS.

A correspondent discussing the introduction of a boy speaker at a recent political meeting complains that to ask adult voters to listen to the words of a youngster in his 'teens is an insult to the audience.

With that view The Examiner ventures to differ.

In these days of indifference among young people as to political issues it is refreshing to find a boy who gives enough attention to the question of politics as to be able to get up on a platform and discuss public matters.

We don't care which side of politics he may be on, we take off our hats to any boy who takes the trouble to interest himself in the questions of the day.

In an age when young people have so many other interests to engage their attention any indication of a tendency to investigate political matters should be encourged and not condemned.

Boy orators may make mistakes but their elders are by no means immune in that respect.

At all events their entrance in the field deserves applause; may they be many more of them, because greater interest by young people soon to become voters cannot help to mean a more enlightened electorate.

And nobody will deny the need of that.

AN IGNOBLE DEBATE.

It is impossible to follow the proceedings of the United States Senate in regard to the ratification of the London naval treaty without regretting that it has become an object of petty controversy. Certain members of the Senate have announced their intention to oppose the bill to the utmost and, being unable to find any legitimate ground of opposition, have attacked President Hoover because he has refused to make public the preliminary negotiations which laid the foundation of the London conference. The President has given explicit assurance that the Senate is in possession of every provision in the treaty, and that there are no secret agreements of any kind whatever. In order to satisfy the recalcitrant senators he has offered to submit the documents in question for their private perusal provided they "will agree to receive and hold the same in the confidence in which it has been received and held by the executive."

This offer the opposing senators have refused to accept, thus proving that they are not concerned with the truth, but are seeking to organize factious opposition to the treaty. It is a descreditable state of affairs, and humiliates the United States in the eyes of other countries. Canadians who are used to the high standards of British statesmanship and diplomacy, which are the product of centuries of international procedure, cannot help but be astonished at the actions of the opponents of the treaty, who are apparently resolved to put it in an objectionable light, even if they have to resort to unworthy and unscrupulous methods. Conduct of this kind simply serves notice on other countries that no agreement, however solemn, can expect impartial and honorable treatment if by any manner of means its discussion can be made to serve the base political expediencies of senators who are seeking to strengthen their position with the electors. Even if a majority is secured for the treaty, the humiliating opposition to which it has been subjected will leave an unpleasant memory in connection with it.—Brantford Expositor.

NO ONE LOOKING.

What has gone wrong with the boys? On one page of a Toronto paper we noticed three stories which had to do with ten boys, and they were all in trouble with the police. Not one of the lads was over sixteen years of age, and in every case they had been stealing things.

In the first instance there were eight members of a gang, and by a peculiar coincidence all were fifteen years of age. They had found an old house which they used as headquarters for their activities. Making raids on a place where pop was made and bottled seemed to be their chief pastime, while on one occasion they broke into another plant and took away a number of boxes of confectionery.

There was system in their work. It could hardly be looked upon as the sudden desire of one boy, off on his own hook, to take something which did not belong to him. They had headquarters for their loot, they had plans whereby certain of the lads acted as lookouts while stealing was being done, and it indicated a desire to keep right on with that sort of living.

Police caught them, found their headquarters, and now these eight boys will have to answer to the bench. They are fifteen years of age, and, unpleasant as it may appear, they have a "record" at that early age.

* * * *

The next case has to do with a lad of fourteen, and it took two detectives to find him out. His first raid was when he took the screen out of a home and entered while the people were away. He did not have much luck, but on his second robbery he took a suit of clothing and some jewelery, which he afterward sold for a few dollars. It may have been that after he made the sale he conceived the idea that he was really getting a start in the business.

If he had any such ideas they have probably been cut short. He has found out that there are men in the detective department who are quite a good deal smarter than he is.

And he is just fourteen years of age—about the time of life when the average boy is passing from public to high school—about the time when the normal boy is interested in sports and innocent amusements.

In the third case detectives in Toronto were again called into action to find out who stole a diamond ring and a gold watch. This brings into trouble a lad of sixteen years. He went into a store and noticed the owner's vest hanging on a nail. From the pocket he took the watch and ring, and the value was about $250. He was apparently doing much better by himself than the eight lads who worked together to steal pop and confectionery.

* * * *

These ten boys have all found the same thing—they could not evade the results of their own mischief.

We have no doubt that the eight boys who were working and planning together were quite certain they were clever; they had a place to hide the loot; no one was living there, so no one would see them. When they started on a raid they posted one or two of their number to see that no one was looking.

The lad who went and entered homes by getting in through windows hugged the same idea. He made his visits when the people were away. He would be quite certain, we imagine, that no one was looking.

The boy of sixteen who went into the store and stole the diamond ring and watch would have the same idea. He waited until the man in the store was not looking and then he did his stealing.

Yes, that's the idea—wait until no person is looking. Then all will be safe.

Wonder if those ten boys ever stopped to realize that the best places in the world are for those who keep faith when no person is looking.

It is not much use having a man around who works only when some one is looking at him. People will not be bothered with men of that sort very long.

When it comes to the close of the day the man who pays the wages can tell what has been done all day, all he has to do is look at the production for the day. When he looks at that he is looking also at the man who has been doing the work.

The world can find room for boys who can be trusted whether they are being watched or whether they are by themselves.

Come out into the open, boys of all ages. Don't go behind people's backs and think you can do things there you would not do elsewhere. Keep your conscience clear and your mind clean. On no other basis can you find a decent place in the world.—Stratford Beacon-Herald.

EDITORIAL NOTES AND COMMENT.

Two things are unique in this election. Nothing has been said of bottles in the ditches and apparently nobody is out to reform the Senate.

Economists show that the dollar is worth more today than at any time since 1916. If you have any doubt about this, says The New Yorker, ask the man who owns one.

Anyway, both Mr. King and Mr. Bennett have the consolation of knowing that if things do not go right for them on the 28th there will be no wifely "I told you so" to face afterward.

The air is filled with challenges and counter-challenges, but there is one ray of hope in the situation. The fighting will soon be all over.

Deer are so plentiful in New Zealand that they are menacing the farms. Why not send out a shipment of those Soo wolves to take care of the situation?

A Thought

THE BEST.

A story is told of a king who went into his garden one morning and found everything withering and dying. He asked an oak that stood near the gate what the trouble was. He found that it was sick of life and determined to die, because it was not tall and beautiful like the pine. The pine was out of heart because it could not bear grapes like the vine; the vine was going to throw its life away because it could not stand erect and have as fine fruit as the pomegranate; and so on throghout the garden. Coming to the heartease the king found its bright face uplifted, as full of cheerfulness as ever. Said the king, "Well, heartease, I am glad to find one brave little flower in this general discouragement and dying. You don't seem one bit disheartened." "No, your majesty, I know I am of small account; but I concluded you wanted a heartease when you planted me. If you had wanted an oak, or a pine, or a vine, or a pomegranate you would have set one out. So I am bound to be the best heartease that ever I can."—William Moodie.

What To-day Means To You.

If July 17 is your birthday, the best hours for you on this date are from 8:30 a.m. to 10 a.m., 5 p.m. to 6 p.m. and 9 p.m. to 10 p.m. The danger periods are from 5:30 a.m. to 7 a.m. and 2 p.m. to 3 p.m.

This date may mark the beginning of a trade boom and prosperity. Success will come through your own particular work, and individual effort. Avoid borrowing money! Financial annoyance through an elderly person, a probable relative.

Children born on this July 17 will be energetic, but they will be too scatter-brained during their period of youth to crystalize their efforts to advantage. They will have a delightful sense of humor, and will get a great deal of pleasure out of life.

You have a very good mind and thought control; you do not often "wool gather." You alertly pay attention to what is happening around you and interest yourself in your tasks and duties. The minutest details do not escape your eye, and they do not bore you. Your interest and attention, of course, are the secrets of your reliable memory, which is such a time-saver. You seldom forget names or faces, and you are equally good on facts.

The firm and decisive part of your face is redeemed by the humorous twinkle in your eyes. You can be both stern and commanding, but somehow people are never afraid of you. It is very easy for you to discipline others, but you, of course, have excellent discipline over self.

Like most warm-hearted people you are quick to take offense, and you often foolishly give up friendships which have meant a great deal to you. You must learn to both forgive and to forget! Most of your faults proceed from an overactive mind, which can never be quiet—morning, noon, or night. If you have no one to love, you quarrel for want of something better to do. You are constantly planning for yourself and everybody, and your restlessness of spirit may wear you out. When in a good humor, you can be very charming. You will acquire a most extensive knowledge of nature. You can also be a most entertaining conversationalist.

THE GRINGO PRIVATEER

By PETER B. KYNE

CHAPTER 17.

"Why'd you crawfish, Mr. Burney? We'd have stood by you."

"I crawfished deliberately. It was part of my plan. I desire that Martin Bruce shall hold me cheap. I wanted to inculcate in his mind the thought that I am a cheap bully, and I think I succeeded. And I had more luck than I anticipated. I've inculcated the same idea in the mind of Miguel Gallegos."

"We don't get your strategy," another of his bodyguard growled.

"You will a little later. Meanwhile, don't be sulky. When there's shooting to be done I'll start it, but until I'm ready—until I can choose my own battleground—I shall proceed upon the principle that he who fights and runs away may live to fight another day. In other words, I am reserving you boys for a more important occasion."

"I wouldn't let no man spit on me, Mr. Burney," one of his men protested.

"You don't know what you'd do until the occasion arises. When it does, a wise man estimates the situation and plans accordingly. It just isn't possible for Martin Bruce to insult any gentleman."

"Somebody must have insulted him lately," another one of the bodyguard remarked. "He ain't quite over a black eye."

"I heard one of his riders manhandled him a week ago, Bill."

"I am the boy who did that," Ken Burney assured them. "I pulled him off his horse, took his gun away from him and slapped him around for five minutes; then quit in a hurry and rode over to El Ranchito for a new job. I secured that job—and if any of you boys have an idea that the king doesn't know what he's doing, I'll give you your time right now. Remember, the king is more than nine years old."

There was less resentment in the eyes of the bodyguard now. Apparently, by mutual consent, the trio decided to accept the general manager's explanation.

"Huachita straddles the international boundary," Burney went on after a pause. "I'm going to call on the 'jefe politico' across the line to-night. Can any of you boys lead me to his house?"

It appeared that one of them could. The 'jefe politico,' as Burney saw at a glance, was plainly a pure-bred Spaniard, well dressed, courteous, affable. Burney inrtoduced himself and Denor De Haro begged him politely to be seated and inform him in what manner he could be of service. Burney came abruptly to the point.

"Do you know a Senor Miguel Gallegos?"

"Senor De Haro spread his facile hands eloquently. "To my sorrow, I do, Senor Burney. He is a Mexican citizen by naturalization only and his real name is Michael Gallegher, although he is half Italian. Sicilian, perhaps, would be the word. You know the Sicilians?"

"Bad people, senor."

"You have explained Miguel Gallegos. He is half bandit, with a following of imported desperadoes and some deluded Mexicans, who follow him blindly because he provides them plentifully with food, clothing, excitement and, occasionally, some money. If I had my way I would send a detachment of 'rurales' against him, but the governor is loath to take any action until Gallegos behaves himself less peaceably than he has during the past two years."

"You are, perhaps, acquainted with Senor Bradley Bardin, the American cattleman?"

"Ah, yes. Bardin of El Ranchito. A fine fellow."

"Well, I am his general manager, and we strongly suspect Miguel Gellegos of branding our calves on that portion of El Ranchito that laps over into Mexico. It is known as El Cajon Bonita."

The 'jefe politico' nodded.

"Whether he does this for his own profit or has an alliance with Senor Martin Bruce we do not know."

"He dines to-night with Senor Bruce at the International Hotel, senor. You observe, I am not without information. I keep my eye on that fine fellow."

"Suppose, Senor De Haro," Ken Burney suggested, "that instead of involving your government in an annoying melee with Miguel Gallegos, you permit me to attend to the matter for you? Could that be arranged unofficially? If so, I will guarantee to relieve you of this foreign annoyance."

Senor De Haro gazed upon his visitor with new interest. "It is always desirable to avoid international complications, Senor Burney. You understand I am but a subordinate, yet I have a feeling that such a plan would be most agreeable to His Excellency, the governor."

"If you can give me his unofficial assurance of sympathy and silence, Senor De Haro, and through your own official influence, see to it that an armed party of thirty men, under my command, is permitted to cross the boundary without molestation——"

The 'jefe politico' smiled. "It is often an official mistake to see too much, my friend. Your government maintains immigration and customs guards only at the ports of entry, of which Huachita is one. My government does the same. You can cross elsewhere at your pleasure and if, unfortunately, my people should apprehend you, an explanation to me will satisfy."

"Thank you. Now, I am going to ask the same favor for Senor Martin Bruce and an armed party I have reason to suspect he will lead across the international boundary. It would be to our mutual interest if he should remain undisturbed on his journey."

"But why permission for Bruce? He is a bad egg, that old man."

"He will come to El Cajon Bonita to fight me."

"And you desire this fight?"

"I do not desire it but it is necessary, senor. If we fight on the soil of our own country there will be disagreeable results for those that survive, whereas, if we fight on foreign soil the survivors may return to their own country, which will ask no questions. And once we are out of Mexico your government will of course have no interest in making an investigation."

"True. Well, Senor Burney, I think the matter can be arranged. I will close my eyes to much, provided we get rid of this fellow Gallegos. And to get rid of him it is necessary, I suppose, to fight on Mexican soil. And it will be a private war?"

Burney nodded. "I have a plan for getting rid of Martin Bruce on American soil, provided he escapes the fight I am preparing for him in El Cajon Bonita."

"Provided he comes to the fight, senor?"

"He will come. I have laid my plans for that. While I live he is in danger. I am a menace to his enterprise, and must be disposed of. And he will prefer to dispose of me in Mexico, since, in the United States, he will be immune from punishment for the crime committed in Mexico. In the United States he is not so certain that I may not succeed in disposing of him. He is worried."

"But can you prove that this Senor Bruce brands the cattle of Senor Bardin?"

"I expect to prove it, Senor De Haro, within one week, and when the evidence is adduced it would please me to have Your Excellency and a number of competent Mexican witnesses present. There is still law and justice in Mexico and cattle thieves are as amendable to the law here as they are elsewhere."

Senor De Haro bowed. "I shall be happy to be present, senor."

"I will send you word in ample time. Meanwhile, may I hope that you will proceed immediately to confer with His Excellency, your governor? I should like to have his reaction to my plan before committing myself to it. I will return one month from to-day."

Uncommon Sense

PETRIFIED OPINIONS

A lawyer is paid for his opinions.

He must, therefore, if he is to attract any practice, be careful about making them.

No snap judgment will do before a judge. The lawyer must know his law and its application.

So he does not, as a rule, trust anything to memory. He looks up all the decisions that bear on the case committed to him before he advises his client, and, if the case is complex, often consults another lawyer.

If everybody would be as careful about opinions as a lawyer must be, we should hear fewer oracular discussions about this and that public question, and there would be real and intelligent debate on subjects which are not yet settled, but which some day will have to be settled.

You will find that most of the opinions you hear expressed so freely on railroad trains, around golf club locker rooms or wherever men gather, are merely petrified opinions which have been so set and hardened by time that nothing can change them.

It is difficult to look into the merits of disputes which have become so general that there are many people who take part in them.

It is so much easier to take an opinion from somebody else, hold it and talk about it until it gets rooted in the mind, and then maintain it, or try to maintain it, against all comers from that time forth.

I have attended many political meetings, and most of the speeches were stereotyped in substance, though sometimes differing in form.

Opposing speakers used the time-worn arguments of their party, merely insisting upon them instead of "making a case" as a lawyer must do in court.

I have heard the same kind of arguments on street corners and in smoking cars and on steamships. They all indicated that the talkers had held the same opinions for years, probably had forgotten how they were formed, and never had taken the trouble to find out if they were still sound.

It required many years to eradicate the opinion that certain people were "witches" and must be burned to save the community from their mischief.

It took longer than that to convince the supposedly civilized races that the world is round. Mr. Voliva, though he has circled it, still insists that it is flat. That is his opinion and he is going to stand up for it.

Our opinions are a part of us. They have much to do with our happiness and our well-being and our success.

It is worth while to form them carefully, and even after they are formed to hold them subject to change in the light of the new knowledge that is constantly growing around us.

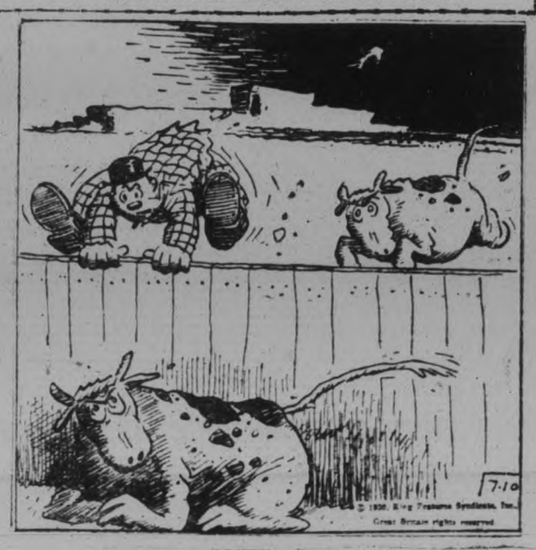
EMBARRASSING MOMENTS



OLD DOCUMENTS OF CHURCH ARE UNEARTHED IN KINGSTON BUILDING

Records Show Corner Stone of Original Church Laid on August 29, 1843.

INTERESTING PAPERS.

(Special to the Examiner.)

KINGSTON, July 17.—Some very historical documents have turned up through the renovation of the Archbishop's Palace, on Johnson street. One of the most interesting is the silver tablet that was placed on the corner stone of the original St. Mary's Cathedral. In 1891, when the front of the church was made ready for a tower, costing $125,000 the corner stone stood in the midst of the new architecture and the silver tablet was removed and after all these years has been brought to light. It records that the corner stone was laid on August 29, 1843, in the reign of Victoria, Sir. Chas. Metcalfe being Governor-General of Canada, and Gregory XVI the reigning pope. Rt. Rev. P. M. Gaulin was the Bishop of Kingston, his coadjutor being Rt. Rev. Patrick Phelan. Rev. Patrick Dollard was rector of St. Mary's. The plans of the church were drawn by J. Daly with G. Murray as architect in carrying out the work of building. Thos. Johnston, M. Forristile, J. Hopkins, M. Galvin and G. Burke were the members of the congregation who acted as the committee of building. The tablet is to be restored to a proper place in connection with the cathedral.

Written on parchment, under date of the 14th day of August, 1794, in the reign of George III and by His Majesty's command, the document being signed by one "Courtland" and adorned with a variety of seals from the British authorities, it appointed Alexander Macdonell chaplain of the Glengarry Regiment Fencible Infantry. The parchment is of splendid quality and the hand writing very distinct and clear. Another parchment issued in 1831 in the reign of William IV, summoned Bishop Macdonell, of the Diocese of Kingston, to membership in the Legislative Council for "advice and assistance". He was commanded to attend whenever the provincial parliament convened, no excuses being accepted for absence. The parchment indicated that the appointment was witnessed "by our trusty and well-beloved, Sir John Colburne, Lt.-Gov. of Canada". The date of the document was October 12, 1831.

There have been since 1791, when the diocese of Kingston was established, five bishops and four archbishops, and Father Corrigam, who is now having erected at the Archbishop's Palace, a splendid set of vaults, proposes to put in them the Archbishop's letters of all the bishops. These are bound and the manifold copies are on onion skin paper. Of course these are sacred and valuable and will never appear in print, though, as the rector of St. Mary's says, there in information of abounding interest and helpful instruction.

CONSERVATIVES MEET AT MADOC

Dr. A. T. Embury and Mrs. Howard Fallis Are Principal Speakers.

MADOC, July 16 (Examiner Correspondence).—Dr. A. T. Embury, the Conservative candidate in Hastings-Peterborough riding, and Mrs. Howard Fallis, of Peterborough, were the speakers at the public meeting held on Friday evening in the Town Hall at Madoc, in the interests of the Conservative party. T. E. Burnside acted as chairman in the unavoidable absence of the president of the Conservative Association.

Dr. Embury spoke of his long acquaintance with Hastings County, especially the northern part of the riding. After speaking briefly on the subjects at issue and soliciting the votes and confidence of the voters, Mrs. Howard Fallis was called on and spoke at length on the Conservative policy, as contrasted with that of the Liberal party.

Speaking to the women voters, Mrs. Fallis urged organization and co-operation with regard to local issues. Speaking as a woman, a farmer's wife and a Canadian citizen, she gave definite reasons why she should be interested in Canada's progress and Canada's greatness. The unemployment problem is the great problem for the world to solve, and takes world citizens to solve it.

A hearty vote of thanks was moved by Mrs. George West and seconded by Charles Thompson, followed by the singing of the National Anthem.

COMMENT ON THE MORNING STOCK MARKETS OVER BIGGAR AND CRAWFORD WIRE.

The Toronto market was firm in spots this morning with fractional gains registered by the leading issues. What small net rise there was was centered in Int. Nickel up 1-2 a point, Ford up 1-2 and Walkers' up 1-4. In the oil group Int. Petroleum had the largest up 1-4 at $23.50.

Operations for the rise in New York were received in many sections of the list until selling had been absorbed. U. S. Steel was bid up to $165 and Vanadium was treated to vigorous buying which carried the stock up to $100. Auburn featured the motor group while Electric Auto Lite displayed the most strength among the accessories. However, profit-taking continued in Westinghouse, Consolidated Gas, General Electric and other recent leaders and issues of this class displayed irregular tendencies.

FINANCIAL NEWS AND BRIEFS

A SPECIAL SERVICE TO THE EXAMINER

The Steel Company of Canada, under the terms of the trust deed securing the six per cent. first mortgage bonds, has paid to the trustee a sum of $331,671 to be used for the purpose of redeeming a portion of the outstanding bonds in accordance with the sinking fund provisions, as the bonds are callable at 110 and have ranged between 105 and 108 this year. The amount available should reduce the par value of outstanding bonds by somewhat over $300,000. As at December 31, 1929, the balance outstanding was $5,058,264, so that when the sinking fund operation has been completed the balance will have been reduced to around $4,750,000. When the bonds were issued in 1910 the total was $10,000,000 so that there has been a reduction of over 50 per cent. through sinking fund operation. The continued reduction in the funded debt tends to strengthen the equity position of the preferred and common stocks with the bonds the only capital liability senior to the preferred and common stocks. During the year the company has been reducing the funded debt but share capital has remained practically the same and shows only a split of four for one since the formation of the company.

C. F. P. Meeting.

The annual general meeting of the shareholders of Consolidated Food Products has been called for July 29th next when the annual financial statement for the fiscal year will be presented. The year has been one of re-organization for this company and under the circumstances it is understood that the profit and loss account will run into red figures. Officials, however, are more hopeful for this new year and anticipate plans made for strengthening the company's position in the past year will and the new management in making an altogether satisfactory showing in the current fiscal period.

Influence of new blood into the executive management has rounded out an organization that assures Consolidated Food of most capable management and rearrangement of stores to weed out the weak units is taking place. Consolidated Food Stores is an amalgamation of the old Arnold chains and Pure Food stores.

Canadian market movements continue within a very narrow range with the daily volume small and mostly restricted to investment buying. Speculative enthusiasm is at a low ebb and as yet showing no signs of quickening. To add to the business depression the Canadian exchanges have a summer election to contend with and the usual "bally-hoo" by the politicians; conditions in the Dominion are much better than across the line and it is unfortunate the public has to listen to stories of blue ruin by Canadian politicians at a time when American leaders are doing their utmost to help matters by making optimistic statements on all occasions.

Shares of Hiram Walker, Gooderham and Worts have a wide distribution and are known on both sides of the border but the principal market for the stock remains in Toronto. The stock is also listed in New York and up until recently has been traded on the Detroit stock exchange. Despite large holdings around the Border Cities and in Detroit, the company has withdrawn its shares from the Detroit stock exchange as most orders have been sent to Toronto for execution, even in the dullest times, there is always some activity in the stock locally.

The market is one of the narrowest on the board, fluctuations being by graduations of one-eighth and one-quarter of a point.

NEW GOLD FIND AT OPEMISKAW

Understood Option Has Been Secured By Interests Associated With Organization.

PLAN INSPECTION G. R.

TORONTO, July 17. (Examiner Correspondence.)—The casual observer of mining news was perhaps been struck with the chameleon—like qualities of some of the well-known mining fields. The Rouyn field was originally prospected on the strength of gold showings, and entered its hey-day when copper prices climbed into higher territory. Opemiskaw because it was discovered when copper was 18 cents a pound, was greeted as an outstanding red metal find, recent information from both districts has shown a tendency stress the gold values, however.

According to gossip in the north, an important gold showing has been found about 20 miles from the scene of activity at Opemiskaw Lake and an option secured by one of the large producers or interests associated with the organization. The initial payment on the option, understood to have already been made, is said to have been $5,000 and the total involves a sum running into several figures.

Officials of Granada Rouyn are planning a visit to the property in the immediate future, and will probably have some definite information as to operating results on their return. It is anticipated the first gold shipment from the mill will be made about the 15th of next months. Monthly production reports will be issued to shareholders by the company, the first to go forward as soon as the mill is in full swing.

From a reliable source it is learned that values of $31.60 over 25 inches in the foot wall and $240 over 48 inches in the centre have been secured in the stope on the 1,625 level at Barry Hollinger. The Winze is expected to reach the 1,750 horizon next Monday, and the initial objective of 6,000 feet should be reached by the fall. Operating conditions continue favorable and a small profit is being realized over all mining, milling and development expenses. Output in June was in the neighborhood of $20,000.

DULL TRADING IS FEATURE ON THE STANDARD

Price Trend is Irregularly Lower Although Some Stocks Hold Unchanged.

HOME OIL DROPS FIVE.

Sudbury Basin, Sherritt Gordon and Ventures All Suffer Light Reverses.

TORONTO, Ont., July 17. (C.P.)—One of the most featureless sessions seen on the mining market for some time was experienced during the morning to-day when even the specialties which have given a semblance of activity to the board failed to receive much attention. Price trend was irregularly lower, though a good majority of stocks held unchanged from last night.

Home Oil lost another 5 to $3.50, a report from Vancouver that the meeting of directors scheduled for to-morrow had been postponed indefinitely being taken as an indication that dividend action would also be held up. Ajax oil managed to gain a couple to $1.90, but Calgary and Edmonton and Associated were off 5 each to 70 and 45, respectively.

Price movements in the mines were even more confined. Noranda moved up 20 to $23.45 but Nickel as off a quarter to $24.50 and Hudson Bay failed to put in an appearance. Sudbury Basin eased 5 to $1.45, while Sherritt Gordon and Ventures sold up 4 each at $1.40 and $1.09, respectively. Amulet at 47, was down 5 from last night, Abana was up a point to 41.

Lake Shore recovered 20 to $21.75 in one or two sales. Other golds were either unchanged or easier. Hollinger dropping 10 to $6, Vipond a couple to $1.28, and Howey and Wright Hargreaves, a point each.

PRICE CHANGES REMAIN SMALL

Ford of Canada Registers Above 32 For Highest Price in Some Time.

BRAZILIAN UNCHANGED.

TORONTO, Ont., July 17. (C.P.)—Price changes were negligible on Toronto Stock Exchange to-day. Volume for the first couple of hours, was even below that of Wednesday. Ford of Canada above 32 was at its best in some time and the oils did better than yesterday. Improvement in both these groups being merely a reflection of Wall Street trend.

Brazilian sold unchanged for the most part, as did Gypsum, Massey-Harris, Service Stations, Walkers among others. International Nickel eased slowly from the point where it had left off last night.

Bell Telephone was firm and up slightly at 150½. C.P.R., new sold at 47¼ for a small gain. General Steel wares came out at 8. Hamilton Bridge, selling ex-dividend, was the highest in some time at 22¾.

YOUR INVESTMENTS

by R. M. DIXON, B.A. District Representative of BICKLE, CLARKE & CO., LTD. 330 Bay Street, Toronto INVESTMENT SECURITIES

ARTICLE LXXI.

Q.—(a)—In case you own ten shares of stock in a company and one $1,000 bond, and the company is foreclosed under the mortgage, and you refuse to enter the reorganization, will you lose all you have invested—1. In the stock; 2. What would be your status as a bondholder?

A.—1. If the investor refused to enter the reorganization he would lose his equity in the stock of the company. Sometime stockholders are able to bring action against the company before the courts, and in this way receive more favorable terms of reorganization. The corporation on the other hand usually makes it sufficiently attractive for them to enter into the reorganization program. The company experiences some difficulty however, in assessing the comparative values of preferred and common stock. However, if under the final agreement a stockholder refuses to enter the reorganization, everything is lost.

2. As a bondholder (except holders of debenture and income bonds) he can insist on his pro rata share of the sale of the business and receive it. The business after default might sell for a very low figure and net him only one-half of three-fourths of his original investment, but nevertheless he can secure his relative share.

(b) If the bond issue in the above case was for $500,000 and the expenses were $20,000, how much would each $1,000 bondholder receive if the property sold for 1, $420,000?; 2. $620,000?

A.—1. $800; 2. $1,000 plus accrued interest.

19 REPLY TO BRIAND'S U. S. OF EUROPE SCHEME

PARIS, France, July 17 (C.P.). — The Foreign Office this evening had in hand 19 replies out of 26 expected from states invited by Foreign Minister Briand to study the details of a European federation.

The replies indicated a general acceptance of the idea in principle with modifications or suggestions suited to the peculiar needs of the various responding nations. The French consider that none of the replies indicated real obstacles to the proposed "United States of Europe," although many knotty problems confront those who will go forward with the idea.

4 PASSENGERS INJURED WHEN PLANE CRASHES

PRINCE RUPERT, B.C., July 17.—(C.P.)—Four passengers were injured, one somewhat seriously, while the pilot and mechanic received bruises and cuts when a fisheries patrol plane crashed into a hillside at Butedale, while preparing to make a landing here yesterday. The most seriously injured passenger, Al Hager, of Vancouver, was rushed to Prince Rupert by plane for medical attention.

The plane was said to be a complete wreck.

Attempting To Defeat High Cost Of Living Youth Uses Automobile As Sleeping Abode

Despite a most original plan to defeat it, the high cost of living caught up to one local young man yesterday and so did the police. This chap was scorse on cash but nevertheless he wanted a motor car. He obtained one, giving a little down and promising more each for the next year or so. He couldn't pay his board because of the added expense, so he decided to make the car his home.

All went well for several weeks but late last night Provincial police routed him from dreams as he lay asleep in the parked car on one of the city's suburban roads. He admitted that the car had been his castle for several nights.

He was advised to return the car to the dealer and henceforth make his bed under a roof, or he would be forced to sleep in the jail.

MARKET RISES UNDER BULLISH PRICE TRENDS

Considerable Buoyancy in Display as Pool Favorites Work Higher.

SOME PROFIT-TAKING.

List Turns Dull During Early Trading This Afternoon.

NEW YORK, N.Y., July 17 (Canadian Press). — Bullish operations were pressed forward aggressively in to-day's stock market, although further flurries of profit taking hampered the proceedings at times.

The market was subjected to considerable selling in the first half-hour, but it was well absorbed and during the next few hours of trading the list showed considerable buoyancy as pool favorites were briskly worked higher.

The market turned dull during the early afternoon, and further profit taking appeared, but an upturn in the wheat market at that time, reflecting reports of rust in Manitoba, was a stabilizing development.

The Utilities encountered some pressure, perhaps in reflection of the power construction report. Such important shares as U. S. Steel, American Telephone, General Electric, Radio and Standard of N. J., sold off a point or so at times, but were firmly supoprted on slight sags.

The amusements were well bought, Loews and Fox rising 2 points or more. Wrigley one of thefewcompanies to report higher earnings than last year, rose more than 4 to a new high for 1930.

High flyers were such volatile issues as Auburn, Allied Chemical and Vulcan Detinning, making extreme gains of 7 to 10.

Call money was plentiful at 2 per cent. with some offered at 1½ outside.

FORESEE B.C. USING WEST INDIES FRUIT

Dominica Administration Hopes Direct Line Set Up Through Panama Canal.

VANCOUVER, B.C., July 17 (Canadian Press). — The day when British Columbia will consume the oranges, lemons, limes, and grapefruit of the British West Indies in preference to those of California is foreseen by Hon. G. E. Eliot, Administrator of Dominica, the largest island of the Leeward group Crown Colony. Mr. Eliot is now in Vancouver.

That day will be speeded, he states, when the fruit and vegetable trade between Canada and the West Indies is such to justify the establishment of a direct steamship line through the Panama Canal to Vancouver.

The action of the Canadian Government in removing all duties on West Indian fruits and vegetables has given a considerable boost to trade between Dominica and other islands and Canada, he stated.

No Welcome Sign

There's no welcome sign on the police station door and two young men rapped on it late last night to their sorrow. Young Americans they were and they had imbibed to freely of the drink that cheers.

Before enjoying the liquid refreshment they had parked their car on Simcoe Street. Later in their inebriated condition they could not locate the spot. Marking a light over the door, they politely rapped and asked assistance. It was the police station and this morning the lads paid $10 fines for their poor judgment.

Would-be Candidate Writes Governor-General Seeking To Get Safe Federal Constituency

OTTAWA, Ont., July 17 (C.P.)—Candidates and would-be candidates multiply in the Federal fight. Independent this or independent that, they come forward in numbers. Many will never reach actual nomination. Some, no doubt, will withdraw after nomination day. But odd as some of the candidatures are, there is perhaps none to equal one who has dogged officials here for days and declares that he has even submitted his case to the Governor-General—although, he admits, without result.

He wants a constituency. In a letter to hand, he describes how he has written to His Excellency about a seat "in the Deputy Chamber of the Federal Parliament." "I want to know from you," he writes, "if there are any vacant counties anywhere in Canada." He wants to represent one on his policy of "development of budding industries."

He has backed up his letter with personal application for a constituency. To humor him, he has been told that he will be notified if there is a constituency left.

But he will remain among the politically unemployed.

WESTERN CROPS VERY BACKWARD

Fifty Per Cent. Are Behind Their Normal Growth For This Time of Year.

CROP IS UNEVEN.

SASKATOON, Sask., July 17.—(By the C. P.)—Fifty per cent of the grain crops of Alberta and Saskatchewan are behind their normal growth for this time of the year and a percentage of this late crop will not make "contract" grade, says a crop summary published by the Saskatoon Star-Phoenix. The report, covering territory from Saskatoon north to Edmonton, south to Calgary and Medicine Hat and then east from Calgary to Saskatoon, says in part.

"One of the outstanding features of the wheat crop is in the uneveness of the fields due chiefly to spring winds. The winds put some of the crops so far back it can never amount to anything and this in some measure will reduce the yield per acre. The balance of the crop has been retarded by cold and unfavorable weather in the early part of the season".

The report further said that one district where growth was normal and wheat crops in season was that south of Calgary to McLeod and Lethbridge.

SYDNEY, N.S., July 17 (Canadian Press). — That within the brief period of one year the workers of Cape Breton will receive the benefits of the eight-hour day system, was the prediction made by Hon. Gordon S. Harrington, Minister of Mines and Public Works, in the Nova Scotia Government, who, with Finlay McDonald, K.C., Conservative standard-bearer for the constituency of Cape Breton South, addressed a meeting of citizens of the mining town of New Waterford.

Col. Harrington continued: "I hope that this arrangement will be satisfactorily effected between the management and the men, but I give you the assurance that it will be brought about in any event."

TROUBLE WITH CANADA.

LONDON, Eng., July 17 (C.P.). — The active campaign being conducted in the United Kingdom in favor of the use of home-grown agricultural products has "given rise to much awkwardness with Canada," stated Prime Minister Ramsay Macdonald in the House of Commons during debate of the Conservative motion of censure which asked the House to condemn the Government's failure to retain and extend the safeguarding duties.

Awakened by barking of their pet dog "Bob," members of the Litvak family were able to escape from their smoke-filled sleeping quarters at a Toronto home, where fire broke out. Here are shown: (1) Julia, 18-year-old maid of the house, and "Bob," who gave the alarm. (2) Abraham Litvak, and (3) Mrs. Litvak.

India's revenueC

SIMLA, India., July 17: —(Canadian Press Cable via Reuters.) — Concrete figures of the effect upon trade of the unsettled political situation were furnished the Indian House of Assembly today by Sir George Schuster, finance member of the Viceroy's executive committee. He said there had been a loss of 795,000 pounds (about $3,850,000) in the customs revenue during the three months ending June 30, compared with the estimated revenue. It was not improbable the loss was due to the civil disobedience campaign, he remarked.

"But the full effect of the disobedience campaign on trade was not being felt by the end of June," Sir George said "The most serious reactions of this movement are the destruction of confidence and the paralyzing of internal trade. According to my information the effects on Indian business are likely to be considerably more disastrous than those on Government revenues."

MISS SAINT JEAN OUTLINES POLICY

Claims Well Balanced Parliament Must Have Women.

BACKS PREMIER KING.

MONTREAL, Que., July 16 (C.P.)—To be well-balanced a Parliament must have women as well as men in its membership, Miss Idola Saint Jean, Independent-Liberal candidate in St. Denis division, told an audience composed mostly of men last night.

Miss Saint Jean was bombarded with questions, which she had invited.

Answering a question as to why she had entered the contest as an Independent-Liberal instead of a straight Liberal, Miss Saint Jean replied that although in the main she approved the policies of Premier King, there might be certain issues in which she would not be in agreement.

"On which side of the House would you sit, if elected?" continued the questioner.

"On the side of Mr. Mackenzie King," was the ready reply.

Miss Saint Jean is opposing the former member for St. Denis, Dr. A. J. Denis, Liberal, and J. A. Gauthier, Conservative.

WISH NAVAL PACT PASSED BY HOUSE

MacDonald Queried By Baldwin As To Necesisty of Action.

FINAL DECISION LATER.

LONDON, Eng., July 17.—(CP)—Announcement that a second reading of the London Naval Treaty would be taken in the House of Commons next Wednesday was made in the House by Premier Macdonald this afternoon.

Replying to a question by Rt. Hon. Stanley Baldwin as to the necessity for taking the bill before the House Mr. Macdonald said he would like to do so if possible.

The premier said he had not yet satisfied himself on the question but it undoubtedly had been the practice that Legislation arising out of treaties should be passed upon before the treaties were ratified. He said he did not think, however, that it was quite necessary that this should be done. He agreed to look into the matter still further and said that if Mr. Baldwin would put the question again he would be able to give the final decision.
